Volume XXXVIII

The Kansas State College of Agriculture and Applied Science, Manhattan, Kansas, September 15, 1931

NUMBER 1

RUSH PARTIES NOT INCLUDED IN FUNCTIONS

PANHELLENIC RULINGS FORBID ORGANIZATIONS TO HAVE DANCES

USE PREFERENTIAL BIDDING

Sorority Pledge List Will Be Announced Friday Morning; Fraternities Can Put on Ribbons Wednesday

Rushes of the fraternities and sororities during the first three days of the week will undergo one of the most concentrated, although not the most elaborate, rushing schedules of the past few years. Women rushes will be busy attending luncheons, teas, and dinners, while the men will attend similar affairs, substituting smokers for the teas.

Rush parties will be held by neither the men nor women's Greek organizations. Although the women's Panhellenic has ruled that lists of rushees may be furnished for fraternity parties at the request of a fraternity member, no rush parties are being held in the fraternity houses, and no dances shall be held outside of the fraternity house during rush week according to the men's Panhellenic rulings.

The ruling make it practically impossible for the new men and women students to become acquainted socially until the following Friday, when as is customary, parties will hold open house for fraternity members and their pledges.

Rush week for sororities formally ends Wednesday night at 10 o'clock, and for the fraternities Saturday, September 14. Preferential bidding will again be practiced by the women's organizations, and lists of pledges will not be announced until Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock. At that time the list will be available in the office of the dean of women.

Cars will play no part in the sorority rushing this year. Rushees must come to functions independently and unescorted by member of a sorority.

Rush week schedules among the fraternities are identical. Each house opened the week with a luncheon Sunday, which was followed by afternoon, dinner and evening dates. Today, tomorrow, and Wednesday, the events will conform with the same schedule, but the men are allowed morning dates.

The sororities, all entertaining yesterday with Panhellenic teas at the various chapter houses, will have rushees at luncheon this noon. Beach parties, carnivals, yachting parties and other individual affairs will be held in the afternoons, and dinners in the evening. The last functions of the busy week will be formal dinners Wednesday evening.

The sororities' rush week functions follow:

Alpha Delta Pi—Sunday, Panhellenic tea; Monday, Tee-off, a luncheon; Ming-Toy, tea; Eskimo Freeze, dinner. Tuesday, the Chase luncheon; Holland-Breeces, tea; Cabaret festival, dinner. Wednesday, La Boheme, tea, and Diamond Point, formal dinner.

Alpha Xi Delta—Sunday, Panhellenic tea; Monday, Rain luncheon, Collegian Capers, tea; Gipsy Dream dinner. Tuesday, Mother Goose luncheon; Balloon tea dance, and Snowball dinner. Wednesday, Clock dance in afternoon, and formal Rose dinner.

Negro Believes Sox Is Safest Place for Cash

Mention of the word "bank" makes the stellar athlete, Alex Nigro, former Kansas State football, basketball, and baseball player, cringe.

While a student here the past year, he deposited some money in the College State bank, and when the bank closed its doors last December 30 the money was still there. The other day in Toledo, where he is now playing with the Toledo club of the American association, he received his first pay check, deposited the $700 in a Toledo bank—it failed.

Nigro, in the opinion of the Kansas City Blues, is due to make a first class ball player. The Kansas City nine likes the way the former Kansas State student stands at the ball. He was one of the leading sluggers on the college nine.

BAGDAD DANCES NOT APPROVED SAYS COUNCIL

REGULARLY ENROLLED STUDENTS SUBJECT TO PENALTY IF THEY ATTEND.

RUSHEES NOT TO BE TAKEN

Rules Restrict Fraternities From Entertaining Guests Out of Town; Dean Van Zile Issues Statement.

Questions have arisen during the past week regarding the dances to be held at the Bagdad pavilion the first three nights of the week. Since the year's first meeting of the Student Governing council has not been scheduled until shortly following registration, according to Adolph Hrabec, East St. Louis, Ill., chairman of the council, and no action was taken on the dance situation prior to the closing of college last spring, all students regularly enrolled in Kansas State if they attend the dances will be violating the Student Governing association constitution which reads:

"Students are not allowed to attend public dances or dances which have not been approved by the Student Council. The varsity dances are approved by Student Council."

Fraternities have been restricted by men's Panhellenic council from taking rushees out of the near vicinity of Manhattan or keeping them out during rush week, which might limit the organizations from escorting rushees to the dance hall, situated approximately eight miles from here.

Women's Panhellenic council rulings provide that "no sorority member, or representative thereof, shall enlist or accept the services of men for rushing purposes, for escorting rushees to and from parties, or auto rides, etc." and in another clause states "automobiles must not be used for rushing." Should sororities desire to provide entertainment for their rushees at any of the dances, it will be practically impossible to arrange for dates without enlisting the services of fraternities, and without the use of automobiles transportation to the pavilion would be nil.

Dean Mary P. Van Zile, chairman, Faculty Council on Student Affairs, when confronted with the questions of what penalty might be levied upon students attending the dances, and thereby violating S. G. A. rules, made the following statement:

"I have been asked recently what the college standards are regarding student dancing privileges. The following regulations were adopted by the Students' Governing association several years ago. These regulations have not been rescinded. They are republished now for the information of students.

1—Permission from the Students' Governing Association Council must be obtained for all social functions given by student organizations.

2—Student organizations may not give dances out-of-town.

3—Students are not privileged to attend dances which have not been approved by the Students' Governing Association Council except during the vacation periods. Signed, Mary P. Van Zile."

Rules of the S. G. A. and the Panhellenic councils, however, do not apply to individuals not being rushed, and not having yet been registered.

Irene Todd, Topeka, is working as secretary in the art department.

UNPAID STADIUM PLEDGES CAUSE OF COURT ACTION

ACTION TAKEN ONLY ON THOSE DISREGARDED, SAYS CORTELYOU

LOCAL LAWYERS EMPLOYED

Graduate or Former Student Has Only to Indicate Time When He Can Pay on Note

Non-payment of pledges made to the Kansas State Stadium corporation for completion of the Memorial stadium has resulted in the filing of suits against former students who have failed to make their pledges good. Manhattan lawyers, while not divulging names of these against whom suits were brought, said action was being taken only after repeated requests were made for information regarding the date the pledge could be met, and that defendants had been given ample time in which to meet their notes.

Each year a special assembly period is devoted to the corporation at which time cards are passed out to the new students who pledge the average sum of $40, more or less, and designate when they wish to meet their pledges. The pledges can last over any number of years, and the payments are due when indicated.

In commenting upon the suits, Dr. J. V. Cortelyou, secretary of the stadium corporation said, "We never institute a suit until long after the note is due, and suits are not instituted unless the subscriber pays no attention to notices. The policy of the board has always been to give ample time for the making of payments and if a subscriber has misjudged his ability to pay at a certain time, all we require is the assurance that he intends to pay at some future time, and his request for further time."

GLIDER CLUB MEET TO BE HELD SOON

Organization to Consider Purchase of New Secondary Glider; Local Clubs Back Association.

Preliminary plans are being made by the local Glider club for the first meeting of the year when the organization will discuss the purchase of a new secondary glider.

The unanimous backing of the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce and the Manhattan post of the American Legion which has been obtained, promise to help the club start off the new year right. In addition to the support of those two organizations, the Glider club has the confidence and interest of its members strongly impressed by the successful year of 1930-31.

An announcement of the first big open meeting will be made soon.

ANDREWS HEADS BOARD

Prof. W. H. Andrews of the department of education, was re-elected president of the board of education of the city schools, at the regular monthly meeting Monday, September 7. Hal McCord was retained as vice-president of the organization. Dr. H. T. Groody was present but P. J. Newman, the fourth member, was absent.

NIBBLINGS

Bo McMillin sees football in everything. He looked at his infant son, Jerry, and the first thing he said was, "Gosh, he's got big hands." Rus Thackrey sees things too when he looks at babies. He's so observant he's writing articles on baby care from the standpoint of a harassed father. . . . H. W. D. got a haircut the other day, and then wanted to know who'd been telling things again when the improvement was mentioned. . . . He was accused of attending a bull fight this summer and falling into the arena. . . . He denies the story. . . . Clare Harner, who recently went moderate, says she's doing a lot of things she never thought she could. . . . Swede Anderson, upon the slightest provocation, will deliver a lecture on a coach never being better than his material. . . . Prexy went a fishing this summer and came back without a single story. . . . Murt Makins, Red Sullivan and some of the other boys took pictures of the unsuspecting 4-H kids this summer with the Royal Purple camera and charged them 25 cents a shot. . . . The camera contained no film. . . . One summer school student, keeping too late hours, not only went to sleep in class but fell out of his seat on the floor. . . . When asked to write a story, Ray Hadley Beals with his characteristic modest grin, suggested that of his life.

This, the first issue is given you by a new staff, eager to please you and fired with the desire to make this year's paper one of which you will join in unanimous acclaim.

Your approval and desire to participate in its ownership and management can only be expressed in your acceptance by subscription to it. Take it, its yours.

Dorothy Bills, Lenora, is in Manhattan for rush week.

F. D. FARRELL

PREXY SAYS WELCOME.

Dear Students: No two colleges are exactly alike. Each college has its own distinctive character. Its character develops year by year from the contributions, made by students and teachers, of idealism, scholarship, personality and spirit.

The character of the college you have chosen is definitely American and even more definitely Kansan. It has been developing steadily since the college first opened on September 1, 1863. It is wholesome, kindly, democratic and industrious. It stands for sound scholarship, hard work and vigorous, wholesome play. Above all, it stands for a genuine love of country as an indispensable basis for good citizenship.

This week, as the college begins its sixty-ninth year, it is a pleasure to welcome you young men and young women who have come here as students to share what the college offers and contribute to the further development of its character.

In welcoming you I wish to assure you of the desire of the officers and faculty of the college to help you to make this college year a pleasant and profitable one. I wish also to assure you of our confidence that, in your work, your play and your general behavior, you will be a credit to the state, to the nation and to the homes you represent.

Sincerely Yours,
F. D. Farrell,
President.

TAX HEARING NEEDED SOON

Suit in Supreme Court Will Test Legality of Assessing Fraternity and Sorority Houses

The suit in supreme court of local fraternities and sororities to determine the legality of taxes assessed against them, has been set for hearing during the October term of court.

The fraternity and sorority property was considered exempt from taxation until last year, when the question of constitutionality was raised, and Riley county tax authorities placed the property upon the tax rolls. The case pending in supreme court is to obtain an order upon the tax officers to remove the property from the tax rolls. The question at issue is whether the property is used exclusively for educational purposes.

The case has progressed through the preliminary stages, in which attorneys for the tax officers sought to have the case thrown out of court for various reasons. Fraternity representatives are endeavoring to secure an agreement with the other side upon the facts. The supreme court has issued an order restraining the county treasurer from selling fraternity or sorority property for delinquent taxes.

Fraternities at Kansas University and at Baker also have similar suits pending before the October term of court.

LAYTON'S ORCHESTRA PERSONNEL CHANGES

Two New Members Added; June Will Direct Band; Clark Porter to Washington University

June Layton's Varsity Club Orchestra will present to Kansas State dance crowds this winter a personnel altered somewhat from that of last year. Dick Gossett of Topeka and "Egg" Sorrells of Kansas City are the new members of the band. Sorrells formerly played with Arlie Simmonds' band at K. U. and will fill the vacancy in the sax section caused by the loss of Clark Porter, star performer of the past three years, who will continue his course in medical at Washington University, St. Louis. Gossett, the other member, will play banjo and violin.

Layton will relinquish his old post as banjo player and will take up the task of directing the band. A new feature will be the use of a violin trio, the other violinists in the band being Layton and Harold Hunt. A group of late dance numbers have been arranged by the versatile Ray Beals, pianist, and several new novelty stunts will be featured.

Other members of the band are: Sid Robinson and Ed Burke, sax players; Bill Guerrant, Jr., and "Pee-wee" Brewster, trumpets; Bill Kaeser, drummer; and Leroy Wilkinson, trombone player.

WHEAT MEANS MEALS

The college canteen has fallen in line with other business enterprises over the state in accepting wheat in substitution for cold, hard cash. J. M. Cain, proprietor of the Canteen has announced that he will accept wheat in exchange for meal tickets from the incoming students this fall. Elevator receipts will also be taken as guarantee of future payment of board bills from those students to hold their wheat for higher prices.

McMILLIN GIVES FOOTBALL MEN STIFF WORKOUTS

SECRET PRACTICE STARTED LAST THURSDAY FOR KANSAS STATE'S ELEVEN

FIFTEEN LETTERMEN BACK

Team Looks Like Best for Several Years; New Mascot Adopted This Year

With slight changes in the McMullin style of football the Kansas State football squad swung into action last Thursday to prepare for one of the stiffest years of competition since Coach A. N. McMullin took over the coaching assignment at the college. Some 35 veterans and first year varsity men labored in two practices a day last week to get in condition for the real workouts which will get under way this week. Coach McMullin this year has material more nearly like that which he believes is essential for a good team than at any time since he has been at Kansas State. Fans who are the Purple Phantoms this season can be assured that the team will present a more spectacular style of play and a team which will average more yards per down than any team in the last three years.

REDUCE ADMISSION TICKETS

Manhattan Theatre Management Announces Price as $2.50 Compared with $3.00 Last Year

Season tickets to Manhattan theatre productions, for undergraduate students this year are being reduced to $2.50 from the $3.00 charged last year, according to H. Miles Heber, director of the theatre. The new price will enable more students to take advantage of the worthwhile plays given by the organization, Heber believes.

Sale of tickets will begin October 28, and end September 2. All tickets will be sold at the box office in the college auditorium. There will be no solicitors.

The theatre has announced the dates of the five plays to be shown here this season, and has made plans for three one act plays to be given at student assembly September 29. The cast for the one act plays will be chosen and announced this week.

Contrary to other years, the theatre management will not announce its list of plays at the beginning of the college year. "Changes are always made for the benefit of the theatre, and announcing the list of plays beforehand frequently means a change later," Heber said.

The first play of the year will be given October 30-31. Other dates spoken for include November 20-21; February 5-6; November 11-12; and April 22-23.

Only undergraduates may purchase the theatre season tickets at the reduced price. One ticket only will be sold each student. Single admission to the plays will be the same as last year, $1.

MIXER SEPTEMBER 25

The annual all-college mixer, or student-faculty informal reception, sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and the Student Governing association is to be held this year on Friday, September 25, at 8 o'clock. The mixer will be held in Nichols gymnasium as usual, with a program of assorted stunts followed by games, refreshments, and a dance for those who care to stay for it. It was estimated that 1500 attended the affair last year.

THE COLLEGIAN OFFERS WEST VIRGINIA TRIP TO THIS YEAR'S SUBSCRIBERS

OTHER PRIZES, INCLUDING MANHATTAN THEATRE TICKETS, AND FREE COLLEGIANS, WILL ALSO BE GIVEN

OUTFIT OF CLOTHING TO BE ALTERNATIVE

Results of Contest Will Be Announced at Pep Meeting Preceding K. U.-Aggie State Game on October 17; Wearing Apparel on Display at Bell and Lutz, and Coles

Today's sale of Collegian subscriptions marks the opening of a gigantic circulation campaign in which many prizes are offered. In an attempt to swell its circulation the Collegian is offering 16 prizes to its subscribers. The first prize will be a free trip to the West Virginia football game to be played at Morgantown, West Va., on October 21. Other prizes offered are five season tickets to Manhattan Theatre's productions, and ten complimentary subscriptions. The grand prize, consisting of a paid trip to the West Virginia game, represents a cash outlay of $125.00. A full account of the expenses to be paid by the Collegian to the winner of the contest follows in this story. Rules of the contest are announced in the handbills being passed out at the campus gates this morning. The rules will also be announced by bulletins posted on the campus billboards.

STUDENT CAR DRIVERS MUST SECURE PERMITS

Board of Regents to Give Parents Responsibility of 'Joy-Riding' Students

Regardless of age, sex, or financial condition, all students married or single who expect to drive cars on the campus this year will be required to signify such intention on their registration cards, and their registration will be incomplete until permits sent out from the registrar's office have been signed and returned by the parents of the car drivers. The new application was instituted at a meeting of the board of regents held in Topeka during the summer.

At the same meeting the board requested that the all-state institutions live well within their budgets when it issued the following statement:

"Don't measure your expenditures by the amounts appropriated by the legislature, but by your own absolute needs, and don't spend one cent more."

Charles M. Harger, Abilene, chairman of the board of regents, explained the meeting:

"The times are such that the most stringent economy is needed and must be practiced. We expect every school to keep not only within but well under its appropriation for the coming year."

The schools have taken the attitude that for years the parents have been holding the schools responsible for educating and building character in their children. In passing part of the proverbial buck back to the parents who furnish their children with cars at the state schools, the board issued this statement:

"The board of regents believes that consideration of safety, economy and the maintenance of scholarly standards make it advisable to reduce to a minimum students' maintenance of motor cars while attending the state schools. We realize that any limitation to such genuine needs as physical disability, commuting at a distance and employment is possible only through co-operation of parents and guardians. The maintenance of cars for pleasure not only makes a serious drain on the finances of the student and tends to wastefulness of time that should be devoted to educational effort, but lessens the democracy of the student body which Kansas seeks to establish. Parents and guardians are asked to consider carefully the undesirability of the student maintaining a motor car at school except in case of genuine need and are requested to co-operate in the interest of economy and efficiency in limiting the student cars to warranted conditions. Every student maintaining a car shall have a permit for the same signed by parent or guardian and filed with the institution."

"Heads of institutions are instructed to send a letter to all parents and guardians including the above ruling and also the following permit, adapted to each institution."

Jo Clark is back in school after spending a year at her home in Leavenworth.

"The Collegian in past years has covered the campus twice a week with the news in a highly commendable manner," said H. C. Hoffmann, business manager of the Collegian, who is in charge of the drive, "but this year we hope to have alumni members and townspeople as well as every student and faculty member on our mailing list." The contest is open to anyone who is a Collegian subscriber. It was further disclosed that the contest is open only to those who subscribe for the fall year. One semester subscribers will not be eligible to win either the grand prize or any of the 15 lesser prizes offered. Collegian staff members and their relatives are not eligible.

Winners Announced Later
The winner will be announced at the pep meeting to be held before the annual K. U.-Kansas State game on October 17. The method by which the winners of the contest will be chosen is also announced in the handbills and on bulletin boards about the hill.

The grand prize will consist of a trip to Morgantown, West Va., to see the football game to be played there between the Kansas State Wildcats and the University of West Virginia team. All expenses, including a Gladstone bag and a liberal allowance for entertainment, are paid by the Collegian staff. The full account of the trip follows:

TOTAL.....$125.00

In addition to the grand prize there will be five season tickets to Manhattan Theatre productions and ten free subscriptions to the Collegian offered. The subscription price will be refunded to the winners of these prizes if they do not wish an advance subscription.

If for any reason the winner of the grand prize cannot or does not wish to take the trip alternate prizes will be given. The winner will have his or her choice between the football trip or a complete wardrobe. The clothing will soon be on display at Bell and Lutz store for men in Aggieville and at Cole's store for women, downtown. A complete list of the articles included in the wardrobe follows:

NEW CHI OMEGA HOUSE

SORORITIES ADD CHAPTER HOUSES TO NEW COLONY

CHI OMEGAS MOVED INTO TUDOR ENGLISH HOME LAST WEEK

TRI DELTAS START BUILDING

Phi Omega Phi's $40,000 House to be of Colonial Inspiration; Seven Greek Organizations Now in Heights

A radical change which occurred during the past summer in the new College Heights subdivision became apparent to returning Kansas State students in the form of new sorority house construction.

The new Chi Omega house at Eighteenth and Laramie, occupied less than a week by its owners, held its first social function in the form of a rush week tea Sunday afternoon. Although construction was under way last spring the structure did not assume definite form until during the summer. It is of Tudor English style designed by Archer and Gloyd, Kansas City architects. The house is three full stories in height and has accommodations for 30 occupants. It is faced with brick and has stucco trimmings. The woodwork inside the house is finished in walnut. The estimated cost of the sorority's new home is $45,000.

Phi Omega Phi has announced its intention of adding to the fraternity and sorority colony in the College Heights addition to Manhattan. The new house will be at 1815 Laramie street and erected at a cost of $40,000.

The architect for the house is N. W. Roberts, Jr., of Elmhurst, Ill., who is a graduate of Kansas State department of architecture, class of 1925. Roberts' parents live in Manhattan and Mrs. Roberts is one of the patronesses of the sorority.

The contract for the new structure, of colonial inspiration and built of soft red sand-mold brick, was let about two weeks ago and work will start immediately.

White wood trim with green shutters and a roof in variegated shades of green will be used in the exterior finish of the Phi Omega Phi house. It will include three stories and basement, 84 by 36 feet, with a circular brick walk leading to the front door. The entrance to the house is to be a replica of the Dalton House entrance at Newburyport, Mass.

Will Accommodate 30

A wide stair hall traverses the house from front to rear, having the dining room on one side and the living room on the other. These main rooms will be paneled and will open onto a large flagstone terrace at the south of the house. An enclosed porch opens from the living room on both sides of a large fire place with colonial mantle. The matron's suite and service rooms are off the dining room. The chapter room (with the property room adjoining) is located in the basement. The second and third floors are divided into study rooms and dormitory quarters. Accommodations are provided for from 25 to 30 girls. Construction of a sorority house radically different from any other of the other new buildings erected by Greeks has been started by Delta Delta Delta. The new Tri Delta house will be on Laramie street, between Denison and Sunset avenues, and will have a south front.

The design of the house is reminiscent of the Italian Renaissance, but will be done in native limestone with Bedford limestone trim. The Tri Deltas are the second to use native limestone, of which all Kansas State college buildings are constructed.

Colonial Lounge Included
The Tri Delta house will be two stories, as contrasted with the three of the other houses, but will be 117 feet long. Features of the first floor plan are a living room with fire place, a social room, library, a dining room, a roofed porch at each end of the house, matron's quarters, and guest room. The matron will be provided with two rooms.

Included in the second floor will be a colonial lounge room with fireplace, for small social affairs and for use as a club room by the girls, 13 study rooms, and dormitory.

The chapter room, in the basement, and the paraphernalia room, adjoining it, both will be in the shape of a Delta, the sorority symbol.

DYKSTRA HEADS AMERICAN VETERINARY ASSOCIATION

Dean of Division Here Elected to Office at Annual Meeting Held in Kansas City.

Dr. R. R. Dykstra, dean of the division of veterinary medicine, was elected president of the American Veterinary Medical association at the annual meeting, held in Kansas City, August 25 to 28. The organization is the largest of its kind in the world, embracing all of North America, Cuba, and the Hawaiian Islands. The convention was attended by 1,425 member veterinarians, the largest attendance in the 68 years of the association.

Doctor Dykstra was elected president over Dr. N. F. Williams, state veterinarian of Texas, by a vote of 112 to 97. Dean Dykstra succeeds Dr. Maurice C. Hall, chief of the zoological division in the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, Washington, D. C.

Although the office is mainly honorary, Doctor Dykstra as president will have certain duties other than those which usually devolve upon a presiding officer. During his year of office he will visit a large number of state veterinary meetings, thus making numerous contacts with veterinarians all over the country and learning the present problems of the profession. At the next meeting of the association, which will be held at Atlanta, Georgia, next summer, he will outline what he thinks should be the policies of the organization the following year. The protection of professional interests, the elevation of veterinary education, the direction of public opinion concerning veterinary problems, and the procuring of the passage of laws on the control of animal diseases are the principal functions of the American Veterinary Medical association.

Dykstra was born at Groningen in the Netherlands in 1879. In 1881 he came with his parents to the United States, settling in Orange City, Ia. There he attended the public schools and after graduating from high school, worked for a time in a drug store, becoming a registered pharmacist in Iowa. He graduated from Iowa State college in veterinary medicine in 1905 and remained as professor of comparative anatomy and obstetrics at the college for six years. For a short time he was a veterinary inspector in the United States bureau of animal industry. In 1911 he became dean of veterinary medicine and professor of surgery at Kansas State college.

Among the professional and scholastic fraternities of which Dean Dykstra is a member are Gamma Sigma Delta, national honorary agricultural organization, Sigma Xi, the national society of research workers, and Phi Kappa Phi, of which he was a charter member and is a past president of the local chapter. He also belongs to the Missouri Valley Veterinary association, the United States Livestock Sanitary association, the American Veterinary Medical association, and is an honorary member of the Nebraska and Iowa Veterinary Medical associations. At one time he served as president of the Kansas Veterinary Medical association.

Doctor Dykstra is well known to American veterinarians. Besides participating in numerous clinics and other state and national activities, he has written a great many articles for professional journals and some for lay journals. Doctor Dykstra is enthusiastic about the future of veterinary medicine. "It is one field, he says, which is not overcrowded. The American Veterinary Medical association, he stated, ranks Kansas State as one of the leading veterinary schools, placing fourth from the standpoint of student attendance.

SEMESTER CUT LIST ANNOUNCED BY MISS MACHIR

MUST HAVE B AVERAGE AND NO GRADES BELOW PASSING TO RECEIVE HONOR

UNDERCLASSMEN INELIGIBLE

Records Show That Honored Group Attend Classes as Regularly as Fellow Students; 166 On List

Cut privileges have been granted to 166 juniors and seniors at Kansas State this year, according to a list issued last week by Miss Jessie Machir, registrar. The list includes those students who have made an average grade of at least 32 points, per semester, or not less than two points for each credit hour and with no grades below passing.

Freshmen and sophomores are not eligible for cut privileges.

The practice of permitting those having satisfactory grades to attend classes at their own discretion was an experiment which has proved satisfactory. It was found that the privilege was not abused. In fact, the records show that the attendance of this honored group has been equally as regular if not more regular than that of their fellow students.

for this season, but instead of discussing the possibilities of the Purple clad team, he is spending most of his time working with various members of his team in order to make sure that each player knows his position and gives the best he has in him.

With a new mascot this season, the K. S. C. team should be expected to perform as it has never done before. The new mascot bears the name of the mentor of Kansas State and will be known as Jerry Robert McMullin.

Fifteen lettermen will form the nucleus around which Coach McMullin will build the team this year. At the present time the coach and his assistants are endeavoring to fill in the gaps left by graduation which resulted in the loss of nine lettermen. Veterans were lost from the line and the backfield both, so that the mentor faces a big task.

Included in the list of those lost were, W. W. Daniels, C. H. Errington, Price Swartz, and James Yeager in the line, and Lud Fiser, W. H. Meissinger, Alex Nigro, W. F. Platt, R. F. Sanders in the backfield. Frank Prentup, quarter-back will not return to school for the first semester but will be back for the second so will not be out for football.

Coach McMullin has a number of backs this year so that he can be assured of sufficient reserve material. Heading the list are Elden

Auker, Glen Hersh, Raymond McMullin, Russell Smith and George Wiggins from last season. B. J. Deters, and Jack Going are two other men who were members of the varsity squad last year. Robert Lang who was forced to leave the squad last season because of an attack of infantile paralysis, is back this season and is educated toe may be put to work this season.

Among the newer men are Emmitt Breen, Tom Bushby, Ralph Graham, and Leland Shaffer who are expected to do yeomen service during the coming season. It is believed that Graham will alternate with McMullin in calling signals.

Miss Jo Merryman of Topeka, Kansas, Mrs. Purcell will be a guest at the Alpha Xi Beta house this week.

HELLO, EVERYBODY!

This morning when the doors of Nichols gymnasium opened for registration, the college year officially got under way. Every individual walking through the east and west doors, came out the center entrance full-fledged Kansas State students. To these students, old or new, the Kansas State Collegian extends a sincere welcome.

After a summer's vacation, it'll be a little hard to get back into the swing of the college life. Classes will come too early, and studying will come too hard. But the sooner everyone buckles down and gets to work, the easier it'll be to make the honor roll and incidentally receive pats on the back from fraternity brothers and sorority sisters.

Kansas State, like any other college or university, is ambitious. It expects its students to possess a like trait. The more you do, the more you'll get for doing it. Enjoy your three days of freedom before the grind starts, but when it does, start with it. Then write home and tell the folks how glad you are to be back, or that you came here to acquire your higher education.

The Collegian sees a big year ahead.

THE COLLEGIAN'S PLATFORM.

The Kansas State Collegian, in this issue, comes forth with a platform. The staff, after careful consideration of the problems confronting the student body feels a need of some vital force to collect these problems and present them to the student body for its approval.

Visitors on the campus, during the past few years, have found the locating of buildings difficult. Proper naming of the campus drives will do much towards directing these visitors to the searched-for spot. The drives should be named after the men and women who have made Kansas and this college what they are.

Last year when the Student Council made an amendment to the Student Governing association constitution, ruling that two women and five men students should have a place on the council, a mistake was made. The constitution should have been amended to allow proportional division representation on the body. With the General Science division the largest on the hill last year, and with the engineering students numbering approximately 1,000, the Collegian feels these divisions should be allowed two members each on the council, with one member each from the other three divisions, the home economics, the agricultural and the veterinary medicine. The number on the council would remain the same as that at present.

It is the Collegian's belief students should take a more active part in the student government. When the council calls a meeting of the Student Governing association, all students should attend. More interest in the affairs of the college should be shown.

Varsity dances managed by the Student Governing association, with managers appointed by the council, and the proceeds to go towards a union building which might be erected at some future date, is by no means a novel idea. Many of the larger universities and colleges in the United States have employed this method to raise funds for union buildings.

Advanced degrees at Kansas State college should be awarded. The Collegian understands present library facilities are inadequate but with economizing on the college budget in some of the other departments, a larger library could be added. A chair in philosophy would also be necessary.

Such is the Collegian's platform.

Nobody has an idea that someone else hasn't thought of before. Ye worthy Kansas State administration called off the turkey way ahead of the board of regents in the effort to discourage the maintenance of cars by students when the parking ground south of the engineering building was closed, thus making it closer to Aggieville or home from the classroom than to the waiting automobile.

MANUFACTURED TRADITIONS.

Pitiful indeed has been the evolution of our school traditions as set forth in the K books and student directories. Freshmen and new students during the coming months will doubtless come to cherish in the depths of their hearts such strange "traditions" as calling at the college postoffice every day, removing hats, and attending meetings of the Student Governing association.

This last named tradition became so important at the last meeting, that five students out of a student body of three thousand were in attendance. As for calling at the postoffice, most students are unable to get their mail, dean's notices and similar sad news without doing this very thing. In fact, as a tradition, it might be compared to going to meals, bed, etc. As for removing one's hat, if one is so fortunate as to have such a thing, while in the various buildings, practically all Kansas State students come from homes where hats are not worn in the house. The student directory disagrees with the K book here in requiring hats off only in Anderson hall.

If the truth were known, various editors of the K book and directory with a bent for the new and different in college traditions, have in the past apparently taken it upon themselves to add whatever their consciences dictated to the list. The present contorted list of what-todos is the result.

Way back in 1924, the K book stated only the traditions regarding smoking, being democratic, wearing of freshman caps, the then Aggie Wildcat as a symbol of Aggie Fight, observance of "Hello Day," since dropped, the point system, and a brief reference to the wearing of hats. In a similar way, the student's directory of 1922 listed as "suggestions" all the rignarole as to attending meetings, visiting the postoffice, keeping the campus clean, joining organizations, etc. Some time in the years since, these suggestions have been mixed in with the real traditions, giving us now a ridiculous conglomeration.

Let us hope that those in charge of making up the new student's directory this fall will make a clear cut distinction between our genuine traditions, and the innumerable suggestions which after all deal only with habits, tastes, and manners.

Here they are, back again! The assumption that college students read the newspapers has become a proven fact—at least many took to heart President Hoover's suggestion of a few weeks ago that the younger generation should return to school and let somebody work that wants to. The hidden feature of the president's statement is the fact that everybody now has a perfectly legitimate excuse for being in college.

THE SNOOPER

Welcome, You Suckers! The old Snooper lays company in his misery. And if, for any reason, you question our age we'll tell you: This is our first birthday. Only a year old but we have a great bushy brush of whiskers. Our hearing is just as acute, and the old optics have not lost a bit of their keenness. We hear and see just as well as ever, and after a year's practice, find that we can tell all of it with even a greater gusto.

For the benefit of you freshmen, just come up seeking asylum from the depression, we'll tell you all about it. We are the self-appointed censors, critics, and commentators on everything. If we want gripe, by gosh, we gripe—and plenty. We just don't give a damn whether school keeps or not.

Our new roommate insists that we pass along a little fatherly advice to you saps—so here goes.

No matter what you do here, you simply MUST get along with the faculty. Let the Dean's office go to the dogs if you will but get along with the instructors. This may be accomplished in many ways. Some of the old boys are just swell fellows who will get along with you regardless. And again some of them are old Devils who wouldn't get along with anybody. But most of them are just plain old college profs, wrapped up in their confounded pedagogy, but still subject to all human platitudes. This kind of bird (longbeaked spectacles) is simply scared pink of you freshmen anyway, all you have to do to impress him is to look him squarely in the eye, throw back your chest and demand in your best courtroom manner, "What's your hobby?" Having opened the conversation in this manner, the rest is simple. Just slouch down in a chair and go to sleep. In three or four hours wake up and exclaim, "How nice, Professor Winoski, (call 'em Professor, instructors and all) that's just what I like to do too. Why, I know a man at home that does the same thing." After this just rave about his hobby.

Or, if your instructor is a woman the above procedure is quite as effective on the gals. The boys have only to assume their very best tea-room manners, strut their shoulders, (like the Phi Deltis do) straighten their ties and wade in with an invitation to dinner "some time."

The freshman co-ed need only to look girlish to the baldheaded class-room supervisors in order to spur them to their best paternal (?) efforts to get acquainted.

As we said before, there are a few regular fellows up here on the hill, and by the same token there are quite a few old so and so's that no one can get along with; but all in all the big share of them respond to the same treatment as ordinary men and women.

Our pet gripe this year is that someone around the hill gave Jim Bonfield, Elmo, his degree and now we haven't a soul to pick on. Red Sullivan has been suggested but we don't know yet.

Happy registration!

EUGENIE COMES TO KANSAS STATE IN COLLEGIATE FORM

College Clothes are Dominated by Gay French Style; Dignity and Poise Come Too

Co-eds and Collegiates are coming to Kansas State this year with the same old college spirit and the same gay nonchalance, but they are wearing different clothes. The Co-Ed has grown up and is wearing the new renaissance fashions with poise, and of course the Collegiate is close beside her with suits which reflect the dignity of the age.

The Empress Eugenie (wife of Napoleon III) is much in evidence at the rush parties at Kansas State this autumn. Plumes, laces, and satins make the sorority parlor resemble a court salon. And although the Empress Eugenie stayed in seclusion a good part of her life, you won't find the Co-Ed wasting any precious moments in a fun-forsaken place, for the plumes dip merrily and the satins rustle gayly as she hurries from one party to another. Black satin or velvet with white satin or lace is a high spot in style for dinner or afternoon gowns. Sleek, slenderizing lines predominate to make the Co-Ed a sophisticated young lady.

Evening gowns for formal parties are following the trend of the rest of Co-Ed's clothes, feminine from the shoulder strap to the tip of the hem which flirts with the dance floor. Satins and velvets again are predominating, but flat crepe in diagonal lines is also correct.

For school and sport jaunty three piece knit suits are worn with a knack. Sheer woollens and jerseys in two-tone stripes and plaids will also be seen flashing about recreation center.

Woolen suits in Oxford, brown, or blue may be tailored in single or double breasted fashion, but most of them have deep fur collars of fox, or caracul.

Sport coats are soft woolen weaves in the wide lapel style of polo coats or with large fur collars.

Pajamas are important too and at the gossip fests at Van Zile hall and the sorority bedrooms new one piece affairs with metal rope belts of printed silk or satin will cut a figure.

Hats don't even need to be talked about. Over the right eye, off the left ear, a feather behind, and there you are. Black, brown, green in derbies and tri-corns are jaunty for sports and the same colors with a plume will go to church and dress affairs.

As for the Collegiate, he will beau Co-Eds about with clothes which make a fitting compliment for their new found dignity. Double-breasted suits are back in Oxford gray or blue. Brown has had its season and is giving way to the other colors. Single breasted suits will be seen and the two button coat is best. Peaked lapels are not as popular as formerly.

Shirts and ties match or blend with the suits. Polka dot cravats are still in high favor with Dame Fashion and its just possible that a fellow's best girl will take notice of his new tie if it's in a gay dotted pattern.

CATHERINE COLVER FIRST

Catherine Colver, Manhattan, who will enroll as a freshman at Kansas State this fall, won first place in the flute solo contest conducted annually at the national high school band and orchestra camp, Interlochen, Mich., recently. Miss Colver attended the camp for the second time this summer. She is the daughter of Dr. C. W. Colver, of the chemistry department, and Mrs. Colver.

modern father, he has left Lily's husband to her own choice and she does not choose to choose.

Lily comes to Kansas State highly recommended by Miss Helen Hostetter, a former teacher in the industrial journalism department here. Miss Hostetter has spent the last three years as a teacher in Lingnan university where she became acquainted with Lily Lee.

The Chinese girl has spent the past year teaching in the Chinese schools in Lingnan. She has accepted a fellowship in the home economics division and will live at the Eula Dow practice house.

"Although Lily Lee will seem shy compared to American girls," Miss Hostetter writes, "she really has a great deal of poise and is as pretty as a picture. In fact, she is just a real Chinese flapper."

BUS FARES INCREASED

Ten Cent Charge Will Be Made; Sunday Service Continued

Increase of bus fares to a straight 10 cents and limiting of the hours of operation to from 6:30 o'clock in the morning to 6:45 o'clock at night was granted the United Power and Light company, operators of the two Manhattan bus lines, by the city commission during the summer. Buses will be operated on Sunday from 9 to 12 o'clock.

Previous fares had been 10 cents or two tickets for 15 cents. The United company, which changed to the bus system when the street car lines showed a deficit, also has been unable to meet expenses with the bus lines, representatives told the commission.

The Sunday bus service was continued for the benefit of the Van Zile hall women and others in the college territory who desire to attend church.

HOLTZ APPOINTED COLONEL

Dr. A. A. Holtz, executive secretary of the college Y. M. C. A., has been promoted from major to lieutenant-colonel in the chaplain reserve of the United States army. He appeared before the army board for examination last May. Notice of his promotion came from the commanding general of the seventh corps area, Omaha. Doctor Holtz is a member of the 89th division.

ORGAN RECITAL SCHEDULED

Richard Jenson Will Play New Instrument at First Assembly of Year

Feats of pipe organ music will be heard pouring from the auditorium this coming year. The installation of the organ is complete, and the committee in charge, consisting of Prof. William Lindquist, head of the department of music, Richard Jenson, also of the department, and G. R. Pauling, superintendent of maintenance, inspected the work last Saturday.

The organ will be played for the first time at student assembly, when Richard Jenson will play a prelude and a special organ number.

The organ, which is a three manual concert Austin organ, was purchased from the Liberty Theatre management, Kansas City, Mo. The instrument consists of four separate parts or organs, a pedal, choir, swell, and great organ. It is hoped that the echo part, or the fifth organ, which assists in the distribution of the tone, can be purchased later. The organs were placed above and on either side of the stage, two on each side.

The organ was installed during Evelyn Longren of Kansas City is visiting in Manhattan during rush week.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION STILL LOANING MONEY

Approximately $5,000 Out of $45,000
Fund Still Available to Students, Ford Says

With the school year getting under way at 7:45 o'clock this morning, many persons are still anxiously awaiting encouraging news from the Kansas State alumni office in regard to pending loans necessary for their enrollment fees. Kenney L. Ford, secretary of the alumni association and in charge of distributing loans, announced that only $5,000 of a total available fund of $45,000 would be on hand at enrollment time, $40,000 already having been used.

The fact that the class of 1919 has temporarily transferred its class fund of $540 to the loan fund will enable three or four more students to obtain financial aid.

New Student Not Eligible

Only students who have attended Kansas State may receive loans from the alumni fund; new students are not eligible. Juniors and seniors are the most numerous applicants.

Calls have come to the office from students who are working their way through college and from those whose parents have suffered financial reverses. Most of the students who are already working their way want the money to pay their enrollment fees. After that they are able to make their own way.

The average loan to students is $140. The maximum amount which a student may borrow is $250. Those who wish to apply for a loan fill out a blank, then submit references from five faculty members and five home town friends, including two alumni of Kansas State. Their grades are looked up and the notes are endorsed by some one of good financial standing. Students who wish the money for enrollment should apply at least two weeks before, said Mr. Ford.

"Many students have been disappointed when they come up the day before and wish to borrow money," he asserted. Six percent interest is charged.

Not a Cent Lost

The committee which approves the applications for loans is composed of Dr. W. E. Grimes, chairman, M. A. Durland, Miss Margaret Ahlborn, C. M. Correll, and Miss Stella Harris, all graduates of Kansas State and members of the faculty.

Up to date the association has never lost a penny on loans it has made to students. Ford has many letters of appreciation from former borrowers in which they tell that it was through the fund that they were able to remain in school and receive their degrees.

At present Mr. Ford is busy with the stack of applications on his desk and is looking around for any legacies which might be lying around idle.

"A legacy for the fund would certainly come in handy right now," concluded the alumni secretary, and he was thinking of the students who may not be able to return to Kansas State this year because of a lack of money to help them.

YEARBOOK STAFF AT WORK

Pen Portraits of Athletic Coaches To Be Featured in 1931-32 Royal Purple

With the new school year beginning the new Royal Purple yearbook staff has gotten under way for the new issue. The staff, elected last spring by popular election, is comprised of Jim Chapman, editor; C. M. (Mud) Rhodes, business manager; and Ray Spence, treasurer.

Part of the book is in the process of being finished. Several of the sport sections, too late for last year's publication have been completed. The outline of the book is gradually being formed, and several new innovations have been planned. Among these innovations is the plan of having a pen portrait of each of the athletic coaches placed in their respective sections. Popular pupils, or outstanding pupils from each division will have his or her portrait near the front of their sections.

For a limited time only, the week of enrollment, the 1932 Royal Purple will be offered for $4.50. After this period the book will again assume its price of $5.00.

See the new Sheaffer Fountain Pens at Robert C. Smith, Jeweler, 329 Poyntz Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Purcell of Kansas City are visiting in Manhattan as Harriet Hamilton.

Ronald Riepe of Kansas City is visiting at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house during rush week.

ENROLLMENT FIGURES SHOW NORMAL YEAR

LAST NIGHT'S COUNT TOTALS
2,857—85 LESS THAN IN 1930.

MORE GRADUATE STUDENTS

Veterinary Medicine Division Reports 34 More—Registrar Sends Fewer Permits To High School Seniors.

At the final count last night 2,857 students had enrolled in Kansas State this fall, a number just 85 less than that for the same period last year when 2,942 students had registered. A few students will still enter this week or the first of next in spite of the $5 late enrollment fine which has been enforced after Wednesday morning.

The graduate council reports a substantial increase in the number of graduate students this fall. At the close of registration there were 201 of the advanced students as compared with 169 last year. A larger graduate enrollment was foreseen by some because of the difficulty the graduating class encountered last spring in securing positions.

The Collegiate 4-H club also finds that its enrollment of students who were members of 4-H clubs in high schools has increased from 300 to 350 this year. This indicates that some of the farm boys and girls of Kansas were able to come to college in spite of the price of wheat.

Likewise Dean R. B. Dykstra of the veterinary medicine division reports that the number of students enrolled in the division is larger than last year. An increase of 34 over last year's number brings the total to 154.

An increase in the number of junior college students was seen in the number of permits to enroll which were issued to them from the registrar's office, but the number of permits to high school graduates was slightly less.

"There will be plenty of students here this fall," was President Farrell's prediction before enrollment and with the number lagging only 85 behind that of last year, the president can be credited with accurate sight.

HOLD FIRST Y. W. RETREAT.

40 Girls Spend Night At Stagg Hill Camp.

The first retreat of the Young Women's Christian association of Kansas State was held Saturday, September 12. Forty girls left the Y. W. C. A. rooms at 2 o'clock and returned at 9 o'clock Sunday morning after spending the night at the Congregational church cabin on Stagg Hill.

Reverend W. A. Jonnard, pastor of the Episcopal church led in the singing. Louise Davis, senior in home economics, led the discussions. Zora Knox, sophomore in home economics, was in charge of the food.

SOUSA'S 'KANSAS WILDCATS' ON SALE

Piano Arrangement Of Famous Band Master's March Can Be Procured At Music Office.

Copies of the piano arrangement of "Kansas Wildcats," a march composed by John Philip Sousa for Kansas State college, are on sale at the office of the department of music in the college auditorium, according to Prof. William Lindquist, head of the department. Although the list price is 50 cents, the first 300 copies will be sold at 35 cents each.

Sousa composed the march in compliance with a petition presented to him by the faculty and the student body of Kansas State when he and his famous band appeared here in the fall of 1928. "Kansas Wildcats" was completed early this year. The seal of the college appears in the center of the outside sheet and purple and white make up the color scheme.

The band arrangement of "Kansas Wildcats" has been received and the orchestration is being printed. The march probably will be introduced to the student body at the pep meeting before the first football game this season.

OUTING FOR STUDENTS.

Congregational students will meet this evening at 5:30 o'clock south of the gymnasium for an outing at the Congregational—Presbyterian cabin west of town. The trip to the cabin will be made in cars.

Brazilian Wires Holtz to Meet Him At Union Station

Eusebio Antonio Perez Herrera, a student from Panama, arrived in Manhattan this week to enroll in veterinary medicine. Mr. Herrera wired the college Y. M. C. A. asking that some one meet him at the union station. Dr. A. A. Holtz, "Y" secretary, supposing he would arrive at the Union Pacific station, sent a student to meet the train. When Mr. Herrera arrived in Kansas City he learned that although the distance between Manhattan and Kansas City seemed short when viewed from Panama, they were in reality some space apart. He realized that it was rather impractical for anyone to meet him there, so he boarded another train for Manhattan.

When asked at Vice-President Willard's office why he chose Kansas State to be his Alma Mater, Mr. Herrera said he had a catalogue from the college. That, apparently, was the only factor in his choice.

WATERMELON FEED DRAWS BIG CROWD

McMillin Says Kansas State Needs A School Spirit Second To None.

The crowd at the watermelon feed and football kickoff last night was composed of a versatile group of students, evidenced by the fact that first it yelled, then sang, listened to speeches, and ate a truckload of watermelons in rapid succession. The kickoff and watermelon feed is an annual affair sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. to promote interest in athletics at Kansas State.

Dr. H. H. King, head of the department of chemistry and Kansas State faculty member of the rules committee of the Big Six conference, presided at the affair, and called for speeches from several members of the athletic department and others interested in athletics here. Preceding the speeches Dick McCord and Ray Spence, head cheer leaders at Kansas State, led the crowd in a few yells, followed by songs directed by Prof. Edwin Sayre of the department of music.

Jerry Wilson, representing the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, assured the students of the interest the business men had in them and the school. "Bo" McMillin, head coach of football, advised the students that school is what they make it, and stated emphatically that Kansas State needed a school spirit second to none in the United States. Other speakers on the program included Dr. H. T. Hill, head of the department of public speaking; Ward Haylett, track coach; "Swede" Anderson, freshman football coach; "Oss" Maddox, assistant football coach; Charles Corsaut, basketball coach; Ted Skinner, president of the Y. M. C. A., and Dr. A. A. Holtz, executive secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Ruth Helstrom of McPherson, a graduate of the journalism department last year has been visiting in Manhattan.

N-I-B-B-L-I-N-G-S

With big sisters being handed out wholesale during registration, a male member of the freshman class asked for his. A student, asked to subscribe to the Collegian, said, "I take the Star and Times." But that student's not so dumb as the one talking to Ethel Eberhard. In a loud voice, so all around could hear, he suggested freshmen be sold assembly tickets. "Heaven forbid!" Ruth Babbitt, non-Collegian supporter, wouldn't even take home a free copy of the paper when offered one. The campus turns optimistic with all these boys wearing suspenders and belts to hold up one pair of trousers. A young instructor was driving to Manhattan from the north. A cow jumped in the road. The instructor walks. The patch on Hrab's eye is the result of football and not a fight. One of the Pika pledges appeared at the first official varsity in a suit that would embarrass a Leavenworth man. A graduate student, after enduring the heat here for two days and losing five pounds, gave up and went home. Carl Holliday goes to classes here five days a week and spends Saturday working in a Kansas City shoe store.

BETA PI EPSILON JOINS THETA XI NATIONAL FRAT

New Chapter to Be Installed Here October 1; One of Oldest Fraternities in Existence.

Formal installation of the new chapter of Theta Xi, national social fraternity, into which Beta Pi Epsilon, local fraternity at 1614 Fairchild, was admitted last week, will probably take place around October 1, according to members of the fraternity.

Theta Xi is one of the oldest fraternities, being established in 1864 at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N. Y. There are 31 chapters which are well distributed over the United States, although the greater portion are in the east. Chapters in the Big Six are at Lincoln and Iowa State.

Distinguished alumni members include Senator Alva B. Adams, Colorado; John J. Raskob, national Democratic chairman; and R. Gray, president of the Sheffield Steel of Kansas City, Mo.

Beta Pi Epsilon was organized in 1923 as an engineering fraternity, but in 1926 was transformed into a general social fraternity.

Announcement was made of the granting of the charter after the 67th annual convention of Theta Xi which was held in Columbus, Ohio, September 3, 4, and 5.

The president of the organization is Willard Hemker, Great Bend. Members and pledges of the fraternity in school last year are:

Actives—D. L. Berry, Wiley; L. E. Boley, Topeka; V. E. Bradley, Belle Plaine; G. E. Cain, Pomona; S. P. Cory, Hutchinson; A. W. Crooke, Great Bend; D. H. Daly, Armstrong, Ill.; W. D. ## ALUMNI ASSOCIATION LOANS MONEY TO '31

Approximately $1,500 Loaned To Students During First Three Days Of College Year.

Fifty-seven students received loans aggregating $1,500 from the alumni loan fund, during the first two days of enrollment, according to Kenney L. Ford, secretary of the alumni association. Some of the loans were for amounts as high as $250, to be paid out in installments during the year. Most of the loans given out during enrollment, were to students financially unable to pay their fees. The cash on hand was insufficient to take care of this demand.

During the past summer, a reserve was built up in the fund, through the lighter demand for loans during the summer months. It will be necessary for the association to obtain additional funds to carry through the school year, Ford added.

A PFUTZTE SCORES AGAIN.

Edwin Appointed To Head 1931 Stadium Drive.

Edwin "Hans" Pfutze of Manhattan has been chosen to head the 1931 stadium drive by the stadium corporation committee. This is the first time that a freshman has been in charge of the movement.

The drive will be conducted much the same as in former years and will begin in a few weeks. No construction work will be done on the stadium this year but the committee hopes to build the west wall, the south section of seats, and the south wall in a few years.

WRITE NEW TEXT.

Grimes and Holton Are Co-Authors Of Book.

Two members of the college faculty, Dr. W. E. Grimes, head of the department of agricultural economics, and Dr. E. L. Holton, head of the education department, are co-authors of a new text book which will be used in Kansas high schools. The book is entitled "Modern Agriculture," and is based on a book written by Henry J. Waters, former president of Kansas State. The publishers of the new text are Ginn and Co.

KANSAS STATE HAS NEW AUTO PARKING PLACE

GROUND WEST OF ENGINEERING BUILDING PROVIDED FOR CAR OWNERS.

OTHER CHANGES ON CAMPUS

New Paving And Sidewalks Installed By Building And Repair Department During Summer—Painters Busy.

Collegiate Fords and limousines, if there are any at Kansas State in this year of deeply depressed pocketbooks, will no longer be parked south of the engineering building. A new parking space with cables and iron posts for more regular parking, has been provided by the college, west of the engineering building, on a plot of ground formerly used in botanical experiments. The old space is to be landscaped by the campus department. These changes are only two of many which have been made during the past summer.

New paving is to be found in several places on the campus, including the drive west of the president's home and the intersection near the education building. New walks have been laid south of Anderson hall, from Anderson avenue to the gymnasium, from Anderson hall to the engineering building, and from Denison hall to the shops. A walkway, curb and gutter has been completed over the bridge on the road to Van Zile hall, making a less hazardous journey to and from school for over a hundred students staying at the dormitory. The pavement in front of Kedzie hall has been torn up, and the space graded up to be landscaped sometime in the future.

Many Changes Greet Engineers. Extensive changes have been made in the engineering building. A new classroom was built in the engineering building, a drafting room enlarged, and two classrooms reconstructed, making a corridor entrance. The library in the architecture department has been enlarged by moving the department offices into the former lecture room. The lecture room is now located on the second floor, as well as the free hand studio, which it was necessary to enlarge because of the greatly increased enrollment in free hand and water color work among students outside the department of architecture. Senior design classes will meet in the old free hand studio.

HATCHERY MEETINGS HERE SEPTEMBER 23

Annual Convention of Kansas Accredited Hatcheries Association to Be Held at College

The annual meeting of the Kansas Accredited Hatcheries association will meet in Manhattan, September 23, was the announcement made by Prof. L. F. Payne, head of the department of poultry husbandry. The purpose of the meeting is to improve poultry flocks of the state. The meetings are usually attended by 150 to 200 members.

"Poultry men are feeling encouraged over the profits from flocks," Mr. Payne said. "The price of eggs is low for the season, but on the other hand, the price of feed is also low." Eggs can be produced at a cost of less than five cents a dozen as indicated by figures furnished by district agents of a feed concern.

The examination for poultry flock inspectors will be held the day following the association meeting. Last year 22 men of the 44 who took the examination passed and were employed to inspect flocks of the Poultry Improvement association. From October 1 to January 1, these men handled nearly a half million hens, and indications are that approximately the same number will be inspected this year in Kansas.

LIVING PRICES DOWN.

Manhattan Citizens Offer Cheaper Board and Room to Students.

Living expenses for Kansas State students have been cut more than one-third this fall according to comparisons with last year's prices. Several Manhattan citizens are offering board and room for $25 a month this year, although they formerly charged at least a dollar a day.

The lowest price reported to Dr. A. A. Holtz, dean of men, is $20 a month for room and two meals a day or $23 for three meals. Many rooms are listed at $10 a month for two in a room and many other rooms which formerly rented for $16 to $18 now rent for $12 or $14.

One wealthy woman is offering a room for two boys at seven dollars a month.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL MEET.

A meeting of all men interested in freshman football has been scheduled by Swede Anderson, freshman football coach, tonight at 7:00 o'clock in Nichols gymnasium.

T. Marion Heter of Kansas City spent Wednesday in Manhattan.

MANY GREEKS ATTEND ANNUAL CONVENTIONS

Kansas State Representatives to National Meetings in Summer Resorts and In Canada.

National conventions of many of the sororities and fraternities at Kansas State took representatives to various summer resorts in all parts of the United States and in Canada this summer.

Eight of the sororities sent delegates from Kansas State to their national conclaves. Doris Paulson, Eldorado, was a delegate to the Alpha Delta Pi convention at Lake Louise, Alberta, Canada, in June. Mila Pishney, Cleburne, attended the Beta Phi Alpha meeting at Cresco, Penn. Miss Pishney is president of the local chapter of Beta Phi Alpha.

The Delta Delta Delta convention at Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, Canada, was attended by Lucille Correll, Manhattan.

The Delta Zeta sorority held a province convention in San Antonio, Texas, and Pauline Patchin attended as the representative of the Kansas State chapter.

Kappa Delta's convention was held at Wardman Park Hotel, Washington, D. C., and Vera Boxer of Great Bend was the delegate from this college.

Helen Johnson, Greensburg, was the delegate to the Phi Omega Pi conclave at Troutdale-in-the-Pines, Colorado.

Two representatives from Kansas State attended the Pi Beta Phi convention at Ashbury Park, New Jersey. They were Marjorie Stevenson, Oberlin, delegate, and Helen Hughes, Manhattan, alternate.

Of the fraternity conclaves, Canada was the most popular meeting place. Kappa Sigma, Sigma Nu, and Beta Theta Pi, each sent representatives to their conventions held in Ontario.

John Correll, Manhattan, and C. M. Rhoades, Newton, attended the Kappa Sigma meeting at Bigwin, Inn, Ontario, June 30, July 1 and 2.

The Sigma Nu delegates to their conclave, also at Bigwin Inn, were Hugh Jones, Horton and Leonard Garrison, Manchester.

Kale Fones, Kansas City, Mo., was the Beta Theta Pi representative to the national convention also held in Ontario, Canada.

Doctor H. T. Hill of the public speaking department of the college and Hugh Moore, Wakarusa, attended the Acacia meeting in Estes Park, Colo., Sept. 7 to 11.

The Delta, Tau Delta conclave was held in Seattle, Wash., August 26 to 28, with Forrest Schooley, Hutchinson, attending, the representative from this chapter.

W. L. Jones, Manhattan, was Lambda Chi Alpha's delegate to the national meeting in Asheville, N. C., Aug. 25-28.

James Reid, Manhattan and C. R. Smith of McPherson attended the Phi Kappa Tau convention in Oxford, Ohio, the latter part of August.

Alpha Gamma Rho's convention is scheduled for the third week in November in Kansas City, and will probably be attended by a larger number from the chapter at Kansas State.

Dr. Martha Kramer of the department of foods and nutrition and Miss Ethel Arnold of the department of art went to Topeka yesterday to see the exhibitions at the state fair. Doctor Kramer and Miss Arnold are members of the publicity committee for the division of home economics.

STUDENT COUNCIL MEETS.

REBOUND FROM RUSH WEEK.

Congratulations and condolences, pledges.
 To those of you being bid to your favorite fraternity or sorority, the Collegian extends the first. To those of you disappointed with your bid, or with the bids you didn't receive, the Collegian extends the latter.

Each year there are heartaches and heartbreaks during the first week of the college year. There is no doubt that organizations play a big and necessary part in the college life, but, freshmen, there are other things to be had in this state institution which can make up for a part of what you believe you have lost by not making an organization or else making the wrong organization.

Kansas State is without doubt one of the most democratic colleges this side of the Mississippi. Here members of the fraternities and sororities are students just like the non-organization men and women. You all go to the same classes, to the same dances, to the same drug stores. You're not branded as an outsider if you don't wear a pin.

So, to each and all of you who feel the slightest bit disillusioned over rush week and college life, forget it and start enjoying things as they are. There's plenty at Kansas State for you if you'll just take it.

THE COLLEGIAN WONDERS.

For the first time since the stadium corporation has held annual drives to secure pledges from new students and freshmen for the construction of the Memorial stadium, a freshman has been put in charge of the drive. Although this particular freshman has plenty of capability, and is probably thoroughly versed
 in the ways of conducting drives, the Collegian doubts the wisdom of placing a first year student in charge of a project which is one of the largest money raising programs carried on at the college.

An upperclassman, familiar with the college,
 and more acquainted with the psychological makeup of first year students, could no doubt fill the position in a more efficient manner.
 Other brothers of this particular freshman have carried on the stadium drives successfully,
 but when in charge of the drives were upperclassmen. Would it not be wiser to wait until this student is an upperclassman before turning over to him the duties of heading the stadium drive?

'KANATE' FOR KANSAS STATE?

Two years ago the Kansas State Collegian staff sponsored a campus names contest, offering a prize to the individual suggesting the most appropriate name for the college campus.
 Scores of names were suggested but the judges found none fitting.

Since the contest was a project of the 1929
 staff of the Collegian, editors following have not felt they should carry the contest on. The staff this year also does not intend to sponsor such a contest, but since a name has recently been suggested to the Collegian by Prof. Fred L. Parrish of the history department, the editor feels the name should be presented to the student body, and its reaction, if any, expressed in the "Judge for Yourself" column of this college paper.

Professor Parrish's suggested name is
 "Kanate," a combination of the two words,
 "Kansas" and "State." Should any reader of the paper care to voice his opinion of the name, the open forum column is at his disposal.

THE SNOOPERS

After braving the tempest at registration
 most of us are ready for anything. Class-rooms are a first class refuge from writer's cramp and "B. O." Even the tortured sound of that eight o'clock bell is sweet music.

By this time many of the deluded first year men are ready for another moratorium. The willingness of France and England to cancel their war debts is nothing compared to the eagerness with which the boys and girls are willing to forget some of the promises they made to the "sweets" they left back on the old farmstead.

And the rows up on mortgage heights ought to be settled by now. The little ribbons will indicate the general approval of the board and room bills at different clubs.

Down at the "varsity" the other night we were astounded at the speed with which the girls learn things. Some of them have already taken on their sorority characteristics. One in particular reminded us of her gang's new house. When she danced she was all angles.
 And we might add that there was nothing colonial about it either.

If this weather keeps up the Snooper suggests that classes be shortened to only a half hour with half hour rest intervals. This would give us all a chance to run down to Aggieville for soda.

When asked to subscribe for the Collegian,
 one instructor in the Home Ec. division curtly replied that she never read a newspaper of any sort. We'll betcha she still cooks over a wood stove, too.

And the replies some of the rest of the faculty gave to the solicitor indicated they still have the idea the world owes them a living.
 Which might explain why they live so prodigiously.

Well, anyway we hope that they who read the other fellow's paper, also get athlete's foot from wearing his shoes.

IMPERIAL PALACE

reviewed by
 Ruth Wilkerson

Arnold Bennett, author of Clayhanger and The Old Wives' Tale and many other books of note, comes to the rescue of the bored public with his Imperial Palace. The plot is extraordinary but the zest of the story lies in the treatment given the thousand and one details that go to make the book an amusingly satiric thing.

The story appears to be centered around Evelyn Orham, managing director of the Imperial Palace hotel—the most luxurious hotel in the world. But Evelyn's affair with the intriguing Gracie Savott forms really a very small part of the story. We are given very intimate glimpses of the most intricate workings of a large hotel. We are confronted constantly with the irony of people with human desires and human attitudes being forced into the mechanical jaws of organization. Every line screams of organization. Every detail is a part of the great machine which grinds out luxury to the entire world.

We go with Evelyn to the laundry—to the markets—through the kitchens—to meetings of the board of directors—to conferences with house-keepers—clerks—maids—and waiters. And not one sentence bores. As one reads the story —the vastness of it all grows on one. It's a book that won't be laid aside unfinished. You'll love the little things Bennett tucks in parenthesis such as "(Once he had memorably discovered fourth-floor silver in the fifth-floor service room: mystery which disconcerted all the floor-waiters and which was never solved!)"

The most astonishing thing about the book is that it is seven hundred pages long and there's not a sentence too much in the book. It's just an unusually well done story—and you won't want to miss it.—R. W.

COLORED PRINTS ON EXHIBIT

Paintings Selected by American Federation To Be Shown in Architectural Galleries.

Color reproductions of famous paintings selected by the American Federation of Arts will be the opening feature of the art exhibit program conducted yearly by the department of architecture. The exhibit is hung in the architectural galleries in the engineering building, and is open for public visitation. It consists of 75 prints, which represent a careful selection from several thousand subjects, including the lines of the more important print publishers in America.

The prints are from paintings by American and European artists,
 both the old masters and contemporary artists. The majority of the reproductions were made in the United States, and are either copies of the works of American artists or of paintings owned by American museums or citizens.

The exhibition is to serve two purposes. It is to give people an opportunity to learn the good quality and large variety of prints already available for American homes and to encourage the print makers of the United States to make good reproductions of suitable subjects at moderate prices. The prints are on sale in the architectural galleries.

AT THE WAREHAM.

"Ex Bad Boy"

"Ex Bad Boy" has something new in motion picture plots due to the fact that the aspirant for the hand of the beautiful girl does not have a past—he has to get one. Robert Armstrong switches from his usual hard-boiled role to the opposite extreme and plays the part of the bashful boob. And plays it well.

Armstrong's support proved to be a trifle weak, however. Jean Arthur turned in her usual successful performance. In the last scene Armstrong discarded his pencil-laden coat and vest for a cutaway and presented his usual debonaire appearance.—W. C.

POWERFUL GRID OUTLOOK HELD BY COACH McMILLIN

ESSENTIAL MATERIAL FOR WINNING TEAM ON HAND,
ACCORDING TO "BO."

HENRY CRONKITE IS CAPTAIN

Kinky Veterans Will Lead Team Made Up of Large Men—Battle On For Positions.

Football practice at Kansas State has been in progress for over a week and the prospective varsity is rounding into shape. "Bo" McMillin, head football coach, thinks he has the essential material that a winning team must have. For the nucleus of the team, he has 13 lettermen and several promising sophomores and freshmen.

The first scrimmage of the year was held last Saturday afternoon and the players were doing some nice blocking and tackling. This is the only scrimmage that the varsity will have until the latter part of next week. At the present time, the coaches are concentrating on the timing of the plays. Their aim this year is to develop a smooth working offense, in which every player senses the possibilities of every play. The work at the present time is chiefly practicing the fundamentals of the game. For teaching blocking and tackling, "Bo" has designed a new elastic dummy. The dummy is made of rubber and when hit gives the effect of blocking a real opponent. This dummy was created for practice on the "open field block" which is going to be used by the Kansas State men this fall.

Meet Pittsburg Teachers First.
The first game of the season is October 3 with the Kansas State Teachers' college of Pittsburg. The varsity will be put in shape for that game by the process of tuning up the plays this week, scrimmage next week, and light workouts the week previous to the game. For the first few games, the Wildcats will be handicapped by the lack of experience in some of the positions. This is caused from the loss of men through graduation, failure of some men to return to school, and the placing of sophomores in some important positions.

There seems to be a fine spirit prevailing among the varsity men. They are confident of having a winning team. They respect and admire their coach. For the last two years, the Wildcats have lacked only one victory to give them the Big Six championship. This year the team is due.

For their leader this year, the Wildcats have Henry Cronkite, an All-Big Six selection last year. He is a 200-pound man with an altitude of six feet five inches. This is one of the good reasons why Kansas State boosters are confident. Sometimes the responsibility of being captain is a detriment to the play of the captain. But the captaincy seems to have affected Cronkite in another way. He seems to be taking more interest in football and consequently he is playing a more polished game.

Heavier Team This Year.
The varsity this year is made up of large men, much larger than the varsity teams of the past. The men have been divided into two squads, the A and the B squads. The surplus varsity material will work with the most promising freshmen and the ineligible men. At the present time, no one is sure of his place on the team. There are about 25 men that seem to be about on a par as far as ability is concerned. These men will probably form the permanent varsity squad. Many of the men in this group are very versatile and it has been hard to place them in their most advantageous positions. The ultimate regulars will be the men who fully grasp the McMillin system of football and work together to form a smooth working, hard driving team.

The squad follows:
Centers: John W. Meyers, Merriam; Lloyd W. Michael, Lawrence; Earl F. Morrison, Colby; Kenneth W. Harter, El Dorado; Harry Hasker, Junction City; Glenn L. Ferguson, Warsaw, Mo.
Guards: Frank H. Goodrich, Lawrence; Robert H. Gump, Abilene; Homer P. Hanson, Riley; Oscar M. Hardtger, Lawrence; Adolph R. Hrabas, E. St. Louis, Ill.; Charles D. McNeal, Winchester; Lawrence B. Picher, Glasco; Walter W. Zeckler, Alma.
Tackles: Lloyd Dalton, Garnett; Blair Forbes, Leavenworth; Don R. Johnston, Manhattan; Melvon Wertsberger, Alma; Beverly H. Scott, Atwood; Alvin H. Stephenson, Clemons; Robert E. Teter, El Dorado; Neil Weybrew, Wamego; R. Ebert, Emporia.

Ends: Don W. Blaine, El Dorado; Henry O. Cronkite, Belle Plaine; Paul E. Fairbank, Topeka; Ralph L. Hahn, Clay Center; Shelby M. Neely, Hopewell; Earl C. Brookover, Scott City; Carl Brown, Mildred.

Quarterbacks: R. B. Smith, Manhattan; Ray J. McMillin, Ft. Worth, Texas; J. H. White, Tyler, Texas.
Halfbacks: Elden Auker, Norcat; Emmett Breen, El Dorado; Thomas B. Bushby, Belleville; Franklin A. Cain, Chanute; W. D. Cowan, Sierra Blanca, Texas; Lawrence Darnell, Osborne; Bertus J. Deters, Downs; Jack Going, Topeka; Glen R. Harsh, El Dorado; Bob F. Lang, Denver, Colo.; Arnold A. Mills, Russell; Leland K. Shaffer, Dodge City; Lee Morgan, Hugoton.
Fullbacks: George Wiggins, Lyons; Ralph Graham, El Dorado; Raymond J. Doll, Clarlin.

INTRAMURAL STAFF BUSY WITH SPORTS PROGRAM

Fall Program Starts First Week In October—Soccer and Horseshoes Are First Events.

While the dust of registration is still settling in Nichols gymnasium, Prof. L. P. Washburn and his staff are making plans for the coming season's intramural sports.

The first events on the program for the coming year are soccer and horseshoe pitching. Within the next few days the four soccer fields will be put in shape so that the different organizations may start practice in that sport. Entry blanks will be sent out to all organizations this coming week so that all entries will be made in time to start the schedule by the first week in October. This will also give the independent teams time to organize and arrange for practice periods.

The annual horseshoe tournament will start about the same time as the soccer schedule. In all probability the entry blanks for both events will be sent out at the same time. There will be the usual singles and doubles competition in this tournament. The entries from each organization will be limited to 19 men in the singles and seven teams in the doubles. Independent entries are not limited as to number. Any one wishing to enter has but to sign the entry blank which will be posted on the intramural bulletin board in Nichols' gymnasium some time next week.

Last year the independents won the horseshoe tournament. J. W. Mather, Grinnell, won the singles and he and his partner, H. Wildner, El Dorado, won the doubles. The soccer champions last year were the Phi Kappa Tau's.

The intramural cross country race will not be held until later on in the fall, possibly about the first of November. The exact date of the race depends on the schedule of the varsity two-mile team. Members of the varsity team will be used as officials of this race.

PETITIONS ARE DUE.
Petitions nominating students to serve on the Kansas State Collegian board are due in the office of Prof. E. T. Keith, acting head of the journalism department, on or before Friday, September 26. Petitions must be signed by at least ten Collegian subscribers. Election will be held the following week.

Y.M.C.A. OPEN HOUSE SUNDAY.
The Y. M. C. A. is planning an open house to be held in recreation center Sunday afternoon, September 20, for all new students.

In Dickens hall, five classrooms and laboratories have been remodeled. Prof. L. R. Quintan and A. J. Howard now have an office in the basement, near a remodeled drafting room for landscape architects. Two new fully equipped research laboratories in plant physiology and plant pathology have been installed. Dr. E. C. Miller has a new office and research laboratory, the laboratory to be used by advanced students majoring in botany. An office for Prof. W. E. Davis, Miss Elsa Horne, and Miss Eunice Kingsley has been built on the first floor. A basement laboratory and office for four government men who have their headquarters here has been installed and equipped. Dr. H. Fellows, C. O. Johnson, C. H. Ficke, and L. W. Boyle will use the laboratory for research work in cereal diseases and cereal rusts. The instructors and government workers were formerly in the attic on the third floor of this building.

More Classrooms Provided.
The north end of the basement in the education building has been remodeled to make another classroom, and a laboratory for the department of psychology. A new classroom and two new offices have been constructed in the shop practice building to be occupied by part of the department of mathematics. The room formerly known as A51 in Anderson hall is now a classroom and office, the office space provided for the department of economics and sociology. Dr. J. E. Kammeyer now has an office entrance through the main hall instead of through a classroom. Another office in Anderson is that constructed for the art department in A68.

To meet the growing demand upon the water supply of the college, three new wells were drilled during the summer by the building and repair department, practically doubling the water supply—one-half million or more gallons a day, according to G. R. Pauling, superintendent of the building and repair department.

The large stone columns which formerly stood in front of the stadium are now just east of the tennis courts, marking the south entrance of the athletic field. The stone wall on the south side of the campus has been reinforced its full length. The road east of Waters hall at the north end of the campus, now opens into the township road, and the parking area there has been filled.

All these improvements have been made in addition to the regular maintenance work done by the building and repair department in the summer time, which includes painting, repairing, renovating, rewiring, and plumbing and heating work. Superintendent Pauling said Saturday that it appeared everything would be finished before classes commence this week.

TRAVELERS RETURN HOME BATTING HIGH

Team Composed of Kansas State Baseball Players Makes Good Showing on Tour

The Manhattan Travelers returned home September 1, from a tour of Kansas, eastern Colorado, and southern Nebraska. The last game of their 31 game schedule was played against the strong Dodge City team. The game was won by a score of 20 to 1 ending the season with a record of 25 wins and 6 losses.

The Manhattan Travelers baseball team is composed almost entirely of Kansas State baseball material, with at least one prospective player in the coming years and a few townsmen.

Battling averages were kept together with the other tabulations by Harold Larson, who managed the club throughout the season and on the tour. The figures are as follows:

GRID DOPESTERS PLACE KANSAS STATE THIRD

Kansas To Take First—Nearly All Men Expected To Return
Throughout Big Six.

Kansas State's grid team faces even stiffer competition this year than last. Some of the leading sport writers of the country have picked the cohorts of McMillin to place third in the Big Six this season. To even attain this position, which Kansas State annexed last year, will require considerable work on the part of coaches and men.

According to the prediction of one of the leading coaches of the country, Kansas will head the conference Nebraska will be next, then Kansas State, Missouri, Oklahoma and Iowa State.

All of the schools started their practice sessions last Thursday and while not all of the players have reported back, the lists reported by the various schools include practically all of the men they had expected to return.

Kansas university will have 14 lettermen back this season. The most costly loss of the Jayhawks was that of three guards because of scholastic difficulties.

The Jayhawks will have six hard hitting backs. Included in this group are Lee Page, Carney Smith, Fred Black, Elmer Schaake, Bernard Gridley, and John Madison.

Seasoned linemen include: Cecil Smay, Gilbert Hanson, Maurice Kite, Jimmy Brazil, Earl Foy, Otto Rost, and Frank Bausch.

Newer members of the squad include the following linemen: Baker, Attwood, Campbell, Casini, O'Neal, Mehringer, Kinsley.

15 Return To Nebraska.
Nebraska will have 15 lettermen returning this season around which to build a team. Bert Durkee, Hugh Rhea, Roscoe Kroger, Corwin Hulbert, Gordon Eno, George Koster, Charles Justice, Jerry Adam, Lawrence Ely and Forrest McPherson are the experienced linemen.

In the Husker backfield there are Christ Mathis, Bob Manley, Lewis Brown, Everett Kreizinger and Clarence Nelson.

The Missouri team this year is expected to be stronger than that of last year. In addition to a score of veterans Coach Gwin Henry will have three former lettermen and a group of sophomores which last year formed one of the most outstanding Tiger yearling squads in years.

standing Tiger yearling squads in years.

Carl Johnningmeier, back, Mack Gladden and Fred Hartman, linemen, are the three veterans who will be eligible after being out a season.

From the 1930 team are the following backs: Capt. Frank E. Bittner, Max Collings, Wilbert Asbury, Fred Paurot, Doneaves, John Van Dyne, Hadley Kimes, Christie Turner, George Edmiston, Linemen returning include: Kenneth Kerty, Grant Morgan, Phil Yeckel, Hal Austin, Orval Boekmeier, Clyde Garvin, and Otha Rawlings.

Sooners Will Be Light.

The Sooners will again have a light team this season. The veterans who number 13, vary in weight from 135 to 185 pounds. The group of veteran Oklahoma backs includes: Ernest Massad, Guy Warren, Hardie Lewis, Ab Walker, Charles Stogner, Richard Simms and Clarence Buxton.

In the forward wall the Sooners will have such veterans as Charles Teal, Charles Wilson, Orlin Borah, Paul Young, Ernest Snell and Fred Cherry.

Other members of the last season's varsity include: Edsel Currutt, Walter Morrison, John Robinson, backs, and Grady Jackson, Gordon Graalmen and Harold George, linemen.

The Iowa State college Cyclones have this year a new coach who they expect will overcome the jinx which has held them in the past. Coach George Veenker will have 11 major lettermen from last year and two from the 1929 squad back.

The lettered backs include: Richard Greife, Ivan Impson, Warren Pelsenberg, Roger Bowen, Lloyd Nagle and Kenneth Wells. In the line will be Franz Swoboda, Johnny Moen, Bob Smith, Franklin Kulte, Webster Internill, Elmer Larsen, Milton Kubicek, and Gordon Nagle.

At the present time Coach Veenker is seeking reserves from the sophomores and for more rangier ends.

GRADUATES TO ILLINOIS

Brookover Accepts Armour Position: Hoch to Illinois U.

After spending three weeks in the employ of the agricultural economics department, George Brookover, Eureka, and Harvey Hoch, Alta Vista, both graduates of the agricultural administration department of the college last spring, have accepted positions in Illinois this winter.

Brookover will be with the Armour Packing company in Chicago where he will go to school part time and work for the company the remainder of the time. Hoch will go to the University of Illinois, Urbana, where he will be an assistant in the agricultural economics department.

Rogers Finds Kansas A Bit Embarassing

A letter from Prof. C. E. Rogers, head of the department of industrial journalism, who is at Leland Stanford university on a year's leave of absence, describes his work at the university and the part of California in which he and Mrs. Rogers have visited the past summer.

Parts of the letter follow:

"We are back from Los Angeles. The Fiesta was going on. We had forgotten, going primarily to get Bill. But we couldn't miss the Fiesta. We don't like southern California. Retired farmers from the middle west have spoiled it. But they have made it, too, so perhaps we should be more tolerant. Made it, I mean, a place of rare beauty. How terrible the people are, though; how terrible the journalism. The manners, the smugness of the whole country! There was spirit in the fellows who planted the culture of the San Francisco Bay country."

"Yesterday we stopped at Carmel-by-the-Sea. It is the popular beach of the wealthy bay country people, just 100 miles south of San Francisco. It has been kept decent. On the beach not an umbrella nor hot-dog stand. Just a lovely crescent of white beach bordering blue-green ocean. Artists try to paint that ocean, but nobody can do it."

"My political science course was under the direction of a brilliant visiting professor from Columbia. He lectured. One day he opened his remarks—which proved later to be an account of Brinkley's vote at the last election—with the query: 'Are there by any chance any Kansans in this intelligent audience?' What could one do? I don't see why anyone should deny Kansas. After all, what would we do for wheat but for Kansas? So I made myself known, the only Kansan in the room. It wasn't funny, either, for Doctor MacMahon went right on with Brinkley. At his last lecture he said Stanford students reminded him of sleeping beauties waiting for the prince to come and kiss them. The mid-quarter examination yielded a harvest of 75 per cent grades of D or less. The D means the same here as at Kansas State."

Kansas State's Foreign Colony Grows In Number

Five new foreign students will enter Kansas State this fall with perhaps four others appearing later in the year, according to Vice President J. T. Willard.

E. A. Perez Herrera of Panama and William J. Dekker, Rotterdam, Holland, will be students in the division of veterinary medicine. Mr. Dekker has already studied two years in a university in South Africa. L. A. Cortes, Bogota, Columbia, South America, who was a student here several years ago, is returning to study architecture. Armando C. Martins, Brazil, will be a student in mining. Narcisco B. Dela, Santa Maria, Philippine Islands, will enroll in commerce. Mr. Dela's brother, S. B. Dela, has attended school here the last two years.

The vice president's office has also had correspondence with three Porto Rico students and several other foreign students, although it is not yet certain that they are coming.

Information from the home economies division adds another to the foreign colony. Rily Lee of Hong Kong will enroll here.

AT THE VARSITY.

Though the title suggests detective tricks and much cunning the primary theme of the picture is a love story in which the most important thing seems to be that the man must get the girl. Despite trapped bankrobbers and waiting policemen love comes first. Nick Stuart plays the lead as an impetuous young gallant who rescues his lady in distress. There is a perfect example of love at first sight (that ought to please those that believe in it) between Nick and the pretty Nena Quartaro. A valet and a healthy specimen of a bulldog give the picture its comedy.—W. F.

RENEWS FRIENDSHIPS.

R. M. Moody, Former Student Visits Faculty and Campus. Raymond M. Moody, a student at Kansas State in 1903, '04, and '05, returned to the campus last Monday with his son, who is enrolling in agriculture. Mr. Moody, who is now farming near Greeley, in Anderson county, spent the day renewing friendships with members of the faculty whom he had known as a student. He is now a successful stock farmer, and takes active interest in the work of the extension division, according to Dr. J. T. Willard, vice-president of the college. Mr. Moody's son is a member of the organization of Future Farmers of America.

Ford Tells About

U. S. Land Grant

Colleges, Wins $25

The urge to "try for some of that prize money" got the best of Kenney Ford last July. He did just what you and I have done. He tried his luck and got $25 for his efforts.

The contest, "Builders of a Better America" was sponsored by the American Legion Monthly. The magazine offered prizes totalling $2,000 to the 36 readers who would write the best one hundred-word summaries on the subject "A Great American Achievement, and Why I Think It Is Great." Ford chose as his subject "The Founding of Land Grant Colleges."

Ford's one hundred words, as they appeared in the September issue of the magazine, were: "Congress passed and Abraham Lincoln signed the Morrill Act on July 2, 1862. This act provided for the allotment of public land to each state for the establishment of a distinctly new American type college. The Land Grant state colleges offer to every citizen a liberal and practical education, including military science and tactics. Graduates of these colleges have aided in the development and defense of our nation. The provision for the training of boys and girls who come from the farm, town, and city homes for the leadership and service to our country is a great American achievement."

UNION PACIFIC AWARD

WINNERS ENROLL HERE

Railway Company Gives Scholarships To High Ranking Vocational Workers.

Twenty-two Kansas State students this year are winners of Union Pacific scholarships, awarded for outstanding work in county 4-H clubs or in vocational agriculture. All of the students are enrolled in agriculture or home economics, in accordance with the provisions of the awards, except one boy who is taking veterinary medicine.

The Union Pacific company awards the scholarships each year to the boy or girl ranking highest in club work or vocational agriculture activities in each county through which the railroad passes.

William Wisheart of Manhattan in the vocational agriculture group and Marcus Bergsten of Cleburne in the 4-H club group, are the representatives of Riley county.

Other scholarship winners attending Kansas State are:

Arthur A. Bocka, Colby; Gladys Bratton, Waldo; Calvin F. Chestnut, Quinter; Mary Cline, Cummings; Donald Cornelius, Westmoreland; Francis H. Hammett, Marysville; Morris C. Humes, Glen Elder; Mary Langvardt, White City; Harry C. Malone, Bonner Springs; Russell Nelson, Falun; Martha L. Perkins, Lawrence; Carl Rupp, Moundridge; Iva Mildred Sell, Stockton; Althea Siddens, Blaine; Eugene Sundgren, Falun; Velda Wunder, Valley Falls.

The vocational agriculture scholarship winners are Richard O. Beach, Havensville; Lewis E. Evans, Washington; Celestine C. Graham, Stockton; Dean D. Scott, Bonner Springs.

MEN'S PAN-HELLENIC ELECTS.
At a meeting held last night at the Lambda Chi Alpha house, the senior men's Pan-hellenic council elected Harry Miller, Beta Theta Pi representative, president, to succeed Robert Schwinder, Pi Kappa Alpha, who did not return to school this fall. Ed Sullivan, Phi Kappa was elected to the position of vice president which was vacated by Miller.

State Board Adopted Motion To

Tendencies—Will Cut

Expenses.

Not all of the 564 students who indicated that they planned to operate motor cars on the campus will be permitted to do so this year, according to the cards being returned from parents of students in response to the request by college authorities for the parents' attitude on the subject.

During the summer, the State Board of Regents adopted a motion stating that in all the five Kansas colleges, students should not be permitted to drive cars without a written permit signed by their parents or guardian and entered at the registrar's office.

Letters Sent To Parents.

A letter to this effect, explaining the action of the board, was sent to the parents of all students who indicated at registration that they desired to have cars at school. Replies are being received by Miss Jessie Machir, registrar, not all of which favor the operation of cars by students.

In the majority of cases, however, the cars serve a utilitarian as well as a pleasure purpose, and both the college authorities and the parents recognize the necessity for the use of cars.

The Board of Regents, in adopting the motion, is making an effort to eliminate any non-democratic tendency on the part of students, as well as the expense involved, and has asked the cooperation of parents in the matter.

Many Manhattan Residents.

The large number of students indicating that they wish to operate motor cars does not necessarily mean that 564 students on the campus own cars. Many of this number are Manhattan residents who live at home. Others in which there are two or more in one family in college own the cars mutually. And there are perhaps a few cars that are owned by even more than two students.

No plan has been announced to cover cases in which students have neither parents nor guardians but who still must have written permits to fulfill the requirements established by the Board.

A student is not considered properly enrolled until the permit card is filed at the registrar's office and failure to file the permit renders the student liable to a penalty the same as does violation of other registration rules.

ENGLISH FACULTY TO ## BROADCAST REVIEWS

Discussions Of Contemporary Literature To Be Given Over Radio Station KSAC.

The first of a series of weekly radio talks given by the department of English faculty will be broadcast this afternoon from 5:00 o'clock to 5:30, when Prof. R. W. Conover discusses "Prize Winning Novels—Pro and Con."

According to Prof. Charles W. Matthews, who has planned the schedule, the lectures will cover prize winning fiction, drama and poetry over a period of several years. The Pulitzer prizes, the Nobel prize, and Harpers are included in the list of contemporary literature.

Novels will be the first group considered, and Professor Conover's lecture today will be followed by two given by Miss Helen Elcock. Next Tuesday afternoon she will discuss "The Age of Innocence" by Edith Wharton, and Tuesday, October 6, she will review "Sigrid Undset."

TICKETS TO K. U. GAME HERE.

Block Will Probably Go On Sale This Week.

The athletic department of the University of Kansas has informed the athletic department at Kansas State that a block of tickets will be sent to Manhattan for the football game between the two schools on October 17. The block will probably go on sale this week, according to Frank Myers, faculty member of the athletic department. Mr. Myers said that several requests for tickets for that game have already been received by mail.

Kansas State's Youngest Student

Takes More Hours Than He Has Years

By Gullford Rallsback

Despite the fact that he is three or four years younger than any of his classmates, Herman Zabel, 14-year old freshman in chemical engineering, doesn't exhibit any of the eccentricities one usually expects and finds in child prodigies. In fact, Herman is an all-around good fellow who would rather go swimming than bury himself in a dry old book any day. I rather expected to find Herman all wrapped up and enraptured in some heavy book on calculus (or whatever chemical engineers take but instead I found his bound for the matinee at the Varsity—and Joe E. Brown at that.

Herman admits all his fourteen years; his next birthday will be January 10. Grade school didn't bother Herman much, as he did the eight common grades in four years. He seemed to get onto what school was all about rather quickly, as he completed the three first grades in his first year. His second year in school he made two more grades, and in his third he sorta' had an off year, making only one grade like the other students. In his last year in the common schools at Stockdale he completed the seventh and eighth grade work with good marks in all his studies.

NAMES TO GO ON YEARBOOKS

Royal Purple Staff Select Three

Assistants—Dummy Is Com## plete.

"For a limited time this fall everyone paying for a copy of this year's Royal Purple will be entitled to having his name printed in gold on the cover of his copy," Jim Chapman, editor-in-chief of the 1931 Yearbook, announced Monday. "That includes all those who paid for their books during registration week," Chapman further stated.

At a meeting of the three elected members of the Royal Purple staff, Chapman, editor; C. M. (Muddy) Rhodes, business manager; and Ray Spence, treasurer, who have held Saturday afternoon, two additional staff members were selected. Clay Reppert, Harris, will do all of the sport writing, and Harlan Rathbun, Manhattan, was selected to act as art editor. Rathbun is already hard at work on a series of twenty cartoons which are to adorn the sub-division pages.

Chapman has been laboring all summer, and has everything in line. The dummy is complete, and the proofs from three sections of the sport division are back from the engravers. The staff is making an effort to have the Royal Purple in the hands of the students earlier than ever this year. With the cooperation of the student body this will be possible. The sorority and fraternity pictures are to be taken as soon as arrangements with A. O. Browne, photographer, are completed.

The usual method of having the sororities sell subscriptions for the Royal Purple for the beauty contest will be discarded this year and an entirely different plan, original with the Royal Purple staff, instituted.

NEWMAN CLUB ENTERTAINS

Activities in the Newman club have been resumed with the opening of the fall semester. A mixer for all Catholic students was held last night at the Phi Kappa house. Also, a breakfast and regular monthly meeting has been scheduled for the second Sunday in October.

Officers that have been elected for the coming year are Ed Kotapish, Irving, president; Wm. Conover, Elkhart, vice-president; and Adelaide Hutter, Neodesha, secretary-treasurer.

DEBATE MEETING CALLED.

All freshmen and other students who are interested in intercollegiate debate, regardless of previous experience, are requested to attend a preliminary meeting Monday night, September 28 at 7:30 o'clock in G53. There are about 15 seasoned debaters back in school but the Kansas State debate program, which is one of the largest in the United States, will warrant the use of from 25 to 30 new debaters this year.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

In order to help secure positions for students the COLLEGIAN will accept free "Help Wanted" want ads providing the offers made to students are bona-fide positions. "Situations Wanted" ads must be accompanied with cash. Two jobs are offered in our want ad column elsewhere in this issue. Phone your "Help Wanted" ads to 3272, and if found to be genuine they will be printed free of charge.

With a circus, a finance drive, the all-college mixer, and meetings of interest groups scheduled for the next few weeks, members of the college Y. W. C. A. are planning a busy time. The Freshman circus to be held Thursday night in the college cafeteria, will be more in the form of a regular circus this year, according to Miss Dorothy McLeod, secretary of the Y.W.C.A.

Big and Little Sister gingers, given by the mothers of the groups, are being held from September 18 to 30. Four hundred and eighty girls have entered into the Big and Little Sister movement of the Y. W. C. A. this year and divided themselves into 21 groups which will strive toward a goal of friendship and a higher, finer type of campus women. The various groups are planning fellowship dinners, the first of which will be Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. R. G. McShonhoven for the group of which Mae Gordon is captain. Gertrude Cowdery's group will have its dinner Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. T. Willard.

Calendar Is Full

The completed list of events which the organization will sponsor during the first semester includes:

October 5—First association meeting, and further introduction of the interest groups.

October 12-19—November 2, 9, 16—Interest group meetings.

November 23—Association meeting.

December 4, 5—Aggie Pop.

The interest or hobby groups at the college, organized under leaders, are groups relating to the various cultural, political, religious and industrial problems with which a student is confronted. The group meetings are purely discursive, and on an occasional lecture by campus faculty members, and others well versed in the particular field on which they speak. The groups this year will be organized under the head of philosophy of life, dramatics, industrial problems, leadership, modern books, international questions and worship experience.

Of—Pays Only Tuition.

Three La Verne Noyes scholarships will be granted Kansas State students this fall, according to an announcement made by Dean R. A. Seaton, chairman of the committee in charge. The scholarships were made available by the graduation of three of the six beneficiaries of the fund last year. It is expected that the remaining three will renew their scholarships this year.

These scholarships cover only "tuition" which has been interpreted by the trustees to cover, provided at Kansas State, matriculation fee, incidental fees, and laboratory charges. The maximum amount available here this year is $400.

To be eligible for this scholarship one must have served in the army or navy of the United States in the World War, or shall be descended by blood from some one who has served in the army or navy of the United States during the World War. Students who are eligible should make application promptly through their deans.

Those receiving the scholarship last year were: Andrew L. McBride, veterinary medicine, Manhattan; James Dalgarn, engineering, Manhattan; Eli Daman, of the division of general science, Fort Riley; Allan McCulloch, engineering, Manhattan; Hobart Smith, general science, Manhattan; Vada Burson, general science, Manhattan.

Y. M. C. A. TO MEET

First Monthly Meeting To Be Held

Thursday Night

The first monthly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held Thursday night of this week in recreation center at 7:30. Bo McMillin, head coach of football, is scheduled as the speaker, Rev. Wm. U. Guerrant in charge of devotions, and Luke Schruben is in charge of the music. All men students are invited to attend, whether or not they are members of the Y. M. C. A.

RATE TO COLLEGE EMPLOYEES.

Faculty members and all employees of the college will again be permitted to buy student activity books admitting them to four football games and three basketball games for the same price paid by students, $5.00 for the semester. The cost of individual tickets for these events would total $12.00.

Frank Myers, member of the staff of the athletic department, urges that every faculty member and every employee take advantage of the opportunity to see college athletic events at the rates set for students.

EXHIBITIONIST APPREHENDED

An incident similar to one which occurred two years ago at Kansas State was brought to light Saturday afternoon by the arrest of Charles R. Dennen on a charge of disturbing the peace. Dennen's activities of exhibition were carried on west of Van Zile hall, women's dormitory, on the Kansas State campus. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $50 in the court of Justice of the Peace C. A. Kimball.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Whiteside, 928 Thurston, announce the birth of a son, Victor Allen, Saturday, September 19. Mrs. Whiteside was Dolan Eckart.

Prof. and Mrs. George Branigan are the parents of a son born September 16.

N-I-B-B-L-I-N-G-S

One of the biggest messes of the week end was an old Sigma Nu acting homecoming at the varsity where he tried to lead the band. The Pika pledge persists in wearing those gosh-awful trousers in spite of Collegian and other criticism. He appeared at the varsity the other night with the things on. He left the coat at home and came out in a dark jacket—the combination was striking. Johnnie Ratliff is making the dances again this year. The Collegian is going to run a column: later this fall wherein members of the faculty will be frankly discussed. Many active members of sororities had to spend the week end around the firehouse due to too much rushing.

Additions to the lists of pledges at the various Greek organizations are rapidly being made. Post rush week activities among the fraternities are more intense than in previous years due to the small number of men that had decided to pledge at ribbon pledging time. All of the fraternities report a desire to pledge more men and several already report new names to the lists previously announced.

Rush week at the sororities was carried on in a more wholesale fashion and many of the houses have their quota of pledges filled while several have intentions of adding more as the semester gets underway. Rushing among the sororities was a simple task this year according to several rush captains because of the abundance of material from which they could make good members.

House Bills Lowered.

The number of pledges to fraternities and sororities is somewhat larger this year than in previous years. This is attributed to the fact that nearly all houses have lowered their house bills and living at a fraternity is only slightly higher than living at private homes or rooming houses.

The monthly house bills at many of the houses have been lowered as much as $8 a month. The houses are able to lower their assessments because of the lower prices of supplies to their commissary departments and because of economy in other departments of the houses.

Few Sororities Add Pledges.

Only three sororities announce additions to the lists of pledges previously published while two others say they will have additions in the near future. Those announcing new pledges are Zeta Tau Alpha—Elizabeth Steel, Manhattan. Beta Phi Alpha—Marie Abbott, Manhattan. Kappa Delta—Frances Williamson, Independence, Mo.; Leona Pollette, Manhattan.

The fraternities that have made additions to their lists of men are: Alpha Gamma Rho—Alfred Loveless, Benton, Texas. Alpha Kappa Lambda—Elwin Neisenger, Harper, Farm House—Herbert Niles, Olivet. Alpha Tau Omega—James LeClerc, Coffeyville, Donald Benefield, Coffeyville, Cecil Dockhorn, Goodland.

Delta Tau Delta—Carl Smith, Dodge City. Kappa Sigma—Leslie King, Wichita. Lambda Chi Alpha—Wilber Combs, Bartlesville, Okla. Phi Kappa—Bill Clarke, Paola; William Carroll, Abilene. Phi Lambda Theta—L. B. Pilcher, Glasco.

PARKING LOT OR MUD PUDDLE?

Yesterday the new parking lot was a mud puddle, with ruts a foot deep. Cars attempting to enter or leave the ground would get into the ruts, the wheels would spin, and the car would be stuck. Several cars were towed out. An Alpha Delta Pi spent all of her lunch hour trying to get her car out of the mud near Waters hall where she had it parked. Other students came to classes with mud all over their shoes and trousers, all because it is against the rules to park on the campus.

It is very evident college officials do not wish students to drive to school. From where ever they might be staying, it couldn't be much farther than the present parking grounds is from most campus buildings. Of all the places that might be chosen, the most out of the way, spot was picked for a parking lot. And if it must be used, the Collegian thinks gravel would improve it.

There are times when it is absolutely necessary for students to drive on the campus and park the nearest to the place they are trying to reach as possible. College students are old enough to understand and appreciate the privileges granted them, and would not take advantage of the situation if they were allowed to park on campus drives in bad weather. It is ridiculous they should be made to walk half a mile in the rain all because of a few rules.

The Collegian suggests no cars be tagged on days when it is raining or snowing.

HONESTY PAYS.

The epidemic of petty theft is again infesting the campus. Every year numerous articles, including books, slickers, hats, and even gloves change ownership much to the chagrin of the original owner. Cars are pilfered, and blankets, gear shift knobs, and this year especially, tire covers, are taken.

The Student Council has a method of dealing with students having "sticky fingers." In most cases such students are suspended from the college, or if not suspended, put on probation. Often the city officials are called in to make an arrest, as during the summer, when a former Phi Kappa Phi student, a graduate assistant in the botany department, was arrested and fined for having in his possession over $200 worth of articles, including a typewriter belonging to the college. This particular student was forced to resign his position on the faculty.

Some think there is a period in everyone's life wherein a certain thrill is experienced when an individual does the daring thing of stealing. However, should there be such a period, any man or woman of college age, is certainly past such a stage.

Ben Franklin was right when he said "Honesty is the best policy."

TREAD CAREFULLY, STUDENTS.

Warning: Be careful of thy step, it may lead to athlete's foot.

When you're walking around in the shower rooms of the gymnasium or your fraternity house, watch for the standing pools of water, and avoid them. Bacteria may be resting there ready to pounce upon you and give you one of the worst times you've ever had.

Athlete's foot not only itches but it swells and does all sorts of things you wish it wouldn't. Students have been forced to stay in bed, or if out and about, wear soft felt slippers which necessarily must be disinfected every night and let set 24 hours, etc. etc.

It is in the dampish spots where the sun doesn't hit, that this little germ is the most prevalent. It first makes itself noticeable on the feet in the form of a rash. Later the skin around the toes starts cracking. Still later it peels. But in the meantime it itches and itches. College health officials suggest you come to the office immediately upon acquiring the symptoms of the dreaded athlete's foot, and receive treatment.

Beware, else thy will be scratching.

THE SNOOPERS

HAPPINESS AT SCHOOL.

With all this yawning here about the lack of "Art" at Kansas State, and the constant application of the term "Cow College" to our school; the Old Snoopers look about him and sees chances for culture even in such courses as zoology.

For, isn't culture merely the conduct of life, thickened and toughened to the sensibilities of nature through contact with art and books? The acquisition of this elusive, undefinable culture thing, seems to us but the possession of a passive indifference to the mean, ugly, painful mental things that constitute those nuances foreign to basic living.

Such insignificant trifles as cuts, flunks, irascible instructors, and suspended social privileges are but to be ignored—not even thought of, if one is to avail himself to his fair portion of happiness.

Of course, there is one major threat the too successful pursuance of this infallible formula. One has first to persuade the deans of the merits of this living. This should be no task, for the much discussed Gandhi has required but 60 years to convince the entire Indian nation that it is the nerts. And now he has optimistically set out to convert the whole British cabinet to the ideal life.

Imagine a course under some of our explosive Profs where the student's set back in complete resignation, with nothing but landscape and bread and butter the subjects for contemplation. Just try to feature such a course under "Doc" Holtz for instance.

Hans Pfuetze has requested that we issue a call for a good used bicycle. It's an old German custom for the Pfuetze to gallop forth on a velocipede. It's really democratic and besides that's what Foreign students ride and no Pfuetze was ever accused of not promoting International Good-fellowship Blah.

After having "Toasted" and Purified the American Girl "By The Exclusive Use Of The Ultra Violet Ray," George T. Hill, president of the American Tobacco company, has set out to popularize the use of Bull Durham and the good old "roll your own" brand of cigarettes. It occurs to the Snoopers that this same fellow fostered the campaign against SPIT tipped cigars.

See you in Utopia!

Jungle Melodrama.

For those who like their heroes and heroines brave in the face of jungle perils "East of Borneo" will provide good entertainment. It fairly bristles with growling tigers, chattering monkeys, and rivers crammed with toothy maws of crocodiles. The story is that of a misunderstood wife who braves the Borneo jungle to retrieve a husband who left in anger to become the court physician of a jungle prince. But a volcanic eruption—we'll let you see how it all comes out.—J. B.

The Art Gallery

PRINTS ON EXHIBIT

Reviewed By

Esther Morgan

Reproductions of paintings by masters of old and of the present hang on the walls of the architectural gallery in the engineering building. Reproductions of paintings of two and three centuries ago, beautiful in their intricacy and carefulness of detail, hang side by side with the prints of modern painters with their bold and seemingly careless brushes.

Massy's "Arrival at Bethlehem," a small print, delicate in detail, and rich in color, pictures the two figures approaching the bridge, while in the background are seen the castle surrounded by a moat, and behind that gray crags and sea.

Drab colors are enlivened by a few colorful touches in "The Card Players," a print from de Hooch.
There is an expression of deep concentration on the face of the woman as she puzzles over that card to play.

An expression of far away thought and wistfulness marks the face of "The Noble Slav," painted by Rembrandt. Characteristic of his work are the regularity of form and the dull blending colors.

There are several prints by Guerin, who seemingly has a weakness for chateaus. In all of the pictures the visitor first sees the huge castles looming up, dull and cold in color, yet delicately done. On first glance at "Chateau Azay de Rideaux" one sees only the castle,
but looking closer he is able to discern a fisherman in a row boat at the foot of the castle.

A feeling of enchantment comes over the visitor as he looks at two prints from Dulac. In "Persian Love Song" the careful detail and shading emphasize the feeling, and in the "Enchanted Garden," stands a lovely Persian girl among her parrots and cockatoos.

"The Water Mill" by Hobbema is an opportunity for study and imagination. In the dark shadows, if one peers diligently, he may see a lady in a doorway, a few ducks on the water, a hay man, and a couple walking. Green and brown predominate in the shade of gnarled old trees that must be lived up to by the sunshine on red tiled roof.

A man in perrwig and tricorne leans over the balustrade watching gondolas and other small craft in the bay in a print, "View Toward Murano" by Canaletto.

Several well known reproductions are hung there, such as "Miss Bowles" by Reynolds, "La Belle Feronniere" by de Vinci, "The Song of the Lark" by Breton, and "The Boyhood of Raleigh" by Millais.
And to know that the originals of these reproductions hang in art museums in Paris, Berlin, Rome, and in this country make one doubtly appreciate seeing them.

A new addition to the campus gardens has been made in the form of an iris test garden which is temporarily located back of the horti-

The design and plans were drawn up by A. J. Howard, graduate assistant in the botany department, who came to Kansas State from Michigan State college last February.

SOCIETY

Many At Varsity.

With approximately 350 present at the Saturday night varsity at the Wareham ballroom, students witnessed a typical June Layton dance. Pledges with their ribbons and buttons on, and old "former students" were very much in evidence. James Ryan, ticket seller, attributed the slightly-below-normal attendance to the absence of the Beta chapter. Only a few of the actives were present.

The band played several new feature numbers, and Fewee Brewster, Mike Hunt, and Syd Robinson outdid themselves on the "Ding Dong Daddy" arrangement.

Among the former students present were John Watson, '30, Larned, former mainstay of Kappa Sigma; James Bonfield, '31, Topeka, former president of S. G. A.; Chick Wilson, '30, Salina, editor of the 1930 Royal Purple, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lewis of Bartlesville, Okla.

Other familiar figures at the varsity were Mr. and Mrs. John Bird, Ione Strickland and Gordon Blair, Jo Merriman and Elden Auker; Edith McCauley and Paul Peak, Eugenia Ebling and Frank Prentup, Gladys Skinner and Johnnie Johnitz, Maxine Roper and Elmo Young. Helen Louise Swan and George Boone, and Marjorie Bradley and Harry Miller.

Marjorie Lyles and the Kimball girls were there. Solon Kimball, '30, in his Harvard ensemble, with Helen Sloan, was at the dance, and mer by Harlan Stephenson, who derson, and Swede Lutz, were present.

Delta Zeta Guests.

Miss Hazel Ronoy, who has been a guest at the Delta Zeta house, returned to her home in Pratt at the close of rush week. Miss Evelyn Longren returned to Kansas City and Miss Dorothy Wagner, alumna of Delta Zeta returned to their respective homes last week end also. Miss Irene Fogue spent the week end at her home in Westmoreland.

Zeta Tau Alpha.

Mrs. Lucille Rust and Miss Marjorie Rust were dinner guests at the Zeta Tau Alpha house Sunday. Miss

No wonder men smoke PIPES!

EVERY PIPE SMOKER has the satisfaction of knowing he has one masculine right that the women won't take away from him. They do leave our pipes alone.

And though the girls may not know it, they're leaving us one of the finest smokes a man can have.

There's something calm and soothing about a pipe and good tobacco. It leads to clear-headed thinking. Perhaps that's why the leaders—the real men of the world—are pipe smokers.

College men like a pipe—packed with cool, slow-burning Edgeworth, the favorite pipe tobacco in 42 out of 54 colleges. It's cut especially for pipes, to give a cooler, drier smoke. You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold. Or for a special sample packet, write to Latus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 23d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive and exclusive elevated process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—Edgeworth Ready-Baked and Edgeworth Plug Slice. All sizes, 25¢ packet, 50¢ tin, 1.00 lb. tin.

Alice Tribble, who teaches at Luray came to spend the week end at the Zeta Tau Alpha house.

Beta Phi Alpha.

Alumna who were guests at the Beta Phi Alpha house this weekend were Misses Helen Rust, Alma; Florence McKinney, Great Bend; Iva Mae Rust and Bernice Cousins, Woodbine. Miss Theim Jacobs, member of Beta Phi Alpha spent the weekend in Concordia. Miss Josephine Baker, also of Beta Phi Alpha, went to Miltonvale for the week end. Marcene Campbell, Myla Pishney and Willabeth Harris spent the week end in Moran.

Phi Omega Pi.

Misses Olive Van Pelt of Wakefield and Beulah Jenkins of Kansas City were dinner guests of Phi Omega Pi Sunday.

Kappa Delta.

Dinner guests of Kappa Delta on Sunday were Miss Ruth Botsford, of the Kappa Delta chapter at Lincoln; Miss Marie Henney, Hutchinson; Miss Gersilda Guthrie, Jetmore; Miss Helen Pitzer, Manhattan; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rich of Wichita visited their daughter Miss Juanita Rich, Sunday.

Olson-Rhodes.

The recent marriage of Opal Olson, Lindsborg, and John Rhodes, Tampa, took place September 6 in Topeka. Mrs. Rhodes attended college here in '28 and '29, while Mr. Rhodes graduated from the electrical engineering course with the class of '29. Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes are living in Chicago where he is employed.

Bryant-Thaller.

The marriage of Miss Hilda Bryant, 1729 Laramie street, and Mr. Howard Thaller, 412 North Eleventh street, took place the first week in August. Both are students of veterinary medicine at Kansas State.

Dykstra, head of the veterinary division, and is planning to continue her school work this fall. She is the daughter of Dr. C. H. Honeywell, veterinary surgeon of Slater, Missouri, who is an alumnus of this college.

Mr. Thaller is a senior in veterinary medicine and is employed at the college veterinary hospital at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Thaller will be at home at 412 North Eleventh street, Manhattan, after October 1.

HARD PRACTICE IS ON PROGRAM FOR GRIDSTERS

SQUAD CUT TO 45 MEMBERS—COOLER WEATHER IS HOPED FOR BY COACHING STAFF

CRONKITE SUFFERS INJURY

Captain Of 1931 Team Bursts Blood Vessel In Leg Friday Afternoon—Mills and Bushby Also Injured.

Surviving the "weeding out" operations which have been in progress for the last week, 45 more or less seasoned gridsters have settled down to hard and earnest practice under the tutelage of Head Football Coach "Bo" McMillin.

The coaching staff has welcomed the rain of the week end in the hope that cooler weather may prevail, thus allowing more strenuous scrimmages and concentrated work on new plays. Line Coach "Oss" Maddox has been greatly hindered on account of the hot weather. Lengthy sessions at the bucking sled have been practically impossible and he has had only ineffectual opportunity to season his linemen for the opening game with the Pittsburg Teachers here October 3.

H. O. Cronkite, captain of the 1931 Kansas State eleven and stellar player of last year, suffered a bursted blood vessel in his leg last Friday afternoon and was confined to the college hospital over the week end. Cronkite's injury was the first to be suffered by the McMillinmen. However, Saturday afternoon's session resulted in Arnold Mills, speedy sophomore back, bruising and straining one leg to the extent of being out of heavy scrimmage for a short time. Tom Bushby, also a sophomore backfield man, emerged from a pile-up earlier in the week with a strained hip, but has not been removed from practice. The three injuries have reduced McMillin's backfield stock to six members for immediate practices.

The squad of 45 men has also been apportioned to the various positions on the team. The position played and the names and towns of the entire squad follow:

Centers: Harry Hasler, Junction City; Kenneth W. Harter, El Dorado; John W. Meyers, Merriam; Lloyd W. Michael, Lawrence; Earl F. Morrison, Colby.

Guards: Frank H. Goodrich, Lawrence; Robert H. Gump, Abilene; Homer Hanson, Riley; Oscar M. Hardtner, Lawrence; Adolph R. Hrab, East St. Louis, Ill.; Charles D. McNeal, Winchester; Lawrence E. Plicher, Glasco; Melvon Wertberger, Alma; Walter W. Zeckser, Alma.

Tackles: Lloyd Dalton, Garnett; R. E. Eberle, Emporia; Blair Forbes, Leavenworth; Don R. Johnston, Manhattan; Beverly H. Scott, Atwood; Alvin H. Stephenson, Clements; Robert E. Teter, El Dorado; Neil Weybrew, Wamego.

Ends: Dan W. Blaine, El Dorado; Earl C. Brookover, Scott City; Carl W. Brown, Mildred; Henry O. Cronkite, Belle Plaine; Paul E. Fairbank, Topeka; Shelby M. Neely, Hopewell.

Quarter Backs: Ray J. McMillin, Ft. Worth, Tex.; R. B. Smith, Manhattan.

Halfbacks: Elden L. Auker, Norcatur; Emmett N. Breen, El Dorado; Thomas R. Bushby, Belleville; Franklin A. Cain, Chanute; Lawrence Darnell, Osborne; Bertus J. Deters, Downs; Jack Going, Topeka; Glen R. Harsh, El Dorado; Bob F. Lang, Denver, Colo.; Arnold A. Mills, Russell; Lee T. Morgan, Hugoton; Leland K. Shaffer, Dodge City.

FOOTBALL, RULES EXPLAINED

High School Coaches And Officials Meet Here Friday—Mike Ahearn
and E. A. Thomas Talk

Interpretations of the rules of the national rules committee and of the Big Six conference were made to a group of 60 high school coaches and officials at a meeting held in the old K room of Nicholas gymnasium from 7:30 to 10:30 o'clock last Friday evening.

M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics at K. S. C. and member of the national rules committee, explained the rulings of that body. E. A. Thomas, secretary of the Kansas State high school athletic association and chairman of the meeting, reviewed the rulings of the last meeting of Big Six officials held in Kansas City.

One of the outstanding changes in football rules discussed at the meeting, according to Frank Myers, member of the staff of the athletic department, was that affecting the point after touchdown. Under the old ruling, if the offensive team failed to make the try for point and the defensive team committed a foul during the attempt, the point was allowed.

During the coming season, if the defensive team fouls during the attempt and the offensive team fails to make the point, no point will be allowed but the ball will be moved from the two yard line to the one yard line, (half the distance to the goal), and the offensive team will be given a second chance to make the point.

CHAMPIONSHIP CHANCES SLIM

Corsaut Predicts K. U. And Iowa
State To Be High In Big Six Basketball.

"With the basketball season still more than three months away it is supposing too much to definitely say just what our prospects are for a winning team this year," was the statement made by C. W. Corsaut, basketball coach at Kansas State, Thursday. He also stated that with the championship team of the Kansas Jayhawkers returning five men from last year's squad, and with the entire team of Iowa State back from last year's squad, and with the teams in the Big Six conference will have some difficulty in overcoming the obstacles presented by these two aggregations.

Corsaut firmly believes that the Kansas State team will rank as high if not higher than they did in the final rating last season. "From the looks of things at the present time," said Corsaut, "the first place berth will go to either Iowa State or Kansas university. Nebraska will probably drop down toward the bottom because of weakened material and fewer old men back. Kansas State ought to rank in just about the same position as they did last year, having an equal possibility with Missouri and Oklahoma of upsetting dope on the two stronger teams."

Aggieville Flares Into Activity As Students Arrive

Aggieville, the chief hanging out place of Kansas State students, has undergone a few changes during the summer months. New business houses have made their appearance and the old ones have taken down their signs and declared it a day.

The three local drug stores remain in the same buildings, the book stores are still located on the same corners, and the theatre holds shows in the same house. Married students may find the same grocery stores up and down Moro street.

Bell and Lutz, men's clothing store, moved during the first of August to the building on North Manhattan avenue, formerly occupied by the Stevenson's Aggieville store. The latter's stock has been added to that of the downtown store where the former Aggieville clothing dispensers remain on the force.

Josephine Skinner, a senior in home economics at the college this fall, and Clare Harner, who was graduated from the institution this past spring, recently opened the Jo-Clare shop, where they will design and make clothes suited to the personality of the individual. The new shop will be located above the College Book store.

A new ready-to-wear and dry goods store has been opened at the corner of Moro and Twelfth streets.

Two of Aggieville's veteran restaurant managers will not be in their eating houses this fall. "Dad" Chapman, of the Tavern died this summer, and Mrs. Chapman and her sons will be in charge of the cafe this winter. The Student's Inn, formerly owned and managed by Mrs. "Ma" Sparks, will not operate this year. Mrs. Sparks will spend the winter with relatives.

A new cafe has been opened at 712 N. Manhattan street under the management of Ed "Slim" Williams. A contest was held in order that a name might be secured for the establishment. Gordon Towner won the prize of a free meal ticket by contributing the winning name, "Kampus Side Cafe."

The Pines cafe has undergone a change during the last few weeks. The interior has been entirely redecorated and booths have been installed. A new orchestra of familiar faces, "The Varsity Revelers," plays during the dinner hour. Walt Whitney is manager of the "new" Pines.

RIDING COURSE OFFERED

Riding classes will meet in the city park on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, the eighth hour and on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, the fourth hour. The fee charge for the nine weeks work will be $12. Women interested in the classes should see Miss Saum as early as possible in order that arrangements may be made.

VISIBLE INK SUPPLY BIGGER INK CAPACITY »

YES SIR, you can tell how many words are left in a Conklin Nozac by merely looking at the visible ink section. And because there is no rubber sac in the barrel, the Nozac provides a new, immensely greater ink capacity—35% more than other pens of the same size. You will run out of ideas long before "the pen that winds like a watch" runs out of ink. Here is the pen of modern times—the sub-machine gun of the orthographical bandit. All-opaque barrel if so desired. Step right into any really up-to-date supply store and look the Nozac over. You'll be wearing one when you leave. Priced in conformity with the times at $6 and $10; pencils to match $3.50 and $5.00. Other snappy Conklins in new shapes and ultra-modish colors $2.75 to $8. Pencils $1.00 to $4.50.

The Nozac filling device is a remarkable new invention never before employed in the fountain pen industry and obtainable only in the Conklin Nozac. To fill or empty the pen you simply turn the knurled end of the barrel—like you wind a watch. Leak-proof, smooth, new edition.

BANK FAILURE INCONVENIENCES MANY ON HILL

TWO ORGANIZATIONS' AND SEVERAL STUDENTS' CHECK-ING ACCOUNTS TIED UP.

DEPOSITORS SEE HAMILTON

President Farrell Appoints Head Of Physics Department To Ascertain Number Of Students Affected.

The checking accounts of at least two Kansas State organizations and the accounts of several students, were tied up last Tuesday morning when the Manhattan State bank failed to open for business.

It was brought out in a canvass of the fraternities on the hill that Sigma Nu was the organization being put to the greatest inconvenience. That organization had a checking account of approximately $500, according to chapter officers.
Rosal Purple was also affected, as the publication had previously deposited the receipts from the sale
during registration.

HAMILTON ISSUES STATEMENT.

In an attempt to see "what can be done about it," Prof. J. O. Hamilton of the physics department has been appointed by President
F. D. Farrell to ascertain the number of student depositors of the bank, and the amount they had deposited. All students having money deposited with the bank are asked to leave their names and the amount of the deposit with Professor Hamilton in room 29 of Denison hall.

"I do not know the plans of those in charge of the affairs of the bank," Professor Hamilton said.
"They probably will pay something to the depositors within a reasonable time, and it may be that if there are sufficient reasons to justify it an advance payment could be made by an outside group, following a plan used by the Chamber of Commerce in one instance," he added. The plan referred to was that an outside group of men advanced the students percentages of their deposits, being repaid when the receiver of the bank made payment.

KAPPA SIGMA SUFFER.

The total number of students whose funds were on deposit in the bank was difficult to ascertain. A member of Kappa Sigma reported that "there were three or four of the boys whose school money was in that bank." "No, they aren't thinking about dropping out, they are just temporarily financially embarrassed," he concluded.

One student who was unfortunate enough to be a depositor of the College State bank last winter
when it closed, and had his funds
in the Manhattan State bank, said,
"I guess I'll just have to start putting my money down in the old sock or the sugar bowl. If this happens to me many more times I'll begin to get discouraged."

AGGIEVILLE FIRMS NAMED.

Mary Aggieville business firms were reported to have had their funds in the Manhattan State bank.
Among the firms reported were Bell and Lutz, Wylly's Candy Kitchen, Gilman's Garage, and Crowder's Cleaners. R. K. ("Dick") Dickens, operator of a book exchange was also among "the unfortunate." He started paying off for books sold Monday morning and on Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday many students were receiving telephone calls concerning returned checks bearing their endorsement. Dickens assured the students that "no customer of ours will lose one cent."
The student body was not as severely affected as it was last December when the College State bank closed.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB MEETS.

Cosmopolitan club members were entertained at their first meeting of the year Thursday evening at the home of Myrtle E. Zener, 1104 Vattier street. Miss Zener is secretary to Vice-President Willard.
There are more foreign students enrolled at Kansas State this year than ever before, and most of them have come from greater distances than those here formerly.

SCHEDULE ON BILLBOARDS.

The athletic department at the college has purchased space on bil-boards in the vicinity of Manhattan on which the football schedule of Kansas State will be placed soon. This is the first time the college has advertised games on bil-boards, according to Fred Seaton, publicity director for the department.

DEPOSITORS SEE HAMILTON

Students having money deposited with the Manhattan State bank may leave their names and the amount of the deposit with Prof. J. O. Hamilton in room 29 of Denison hall. It is hoped that some method may be developed to adjust these claims, that will be to the advantage of the student.

QUILL CLUB ANNOUNCES MEMBERSHIP CONTEST

Organization Discusses Proposition of Publishing Magazine of Contributed Work.

Announcement was made Monday night after the first meeting of the Quill club, that a contest for membership was to be sponsored by the organization. With Miss Helen Hemphill as chairman, Prof.
H. W. Davis and Miss Nellie Aberle
as the other two members, a committee was appointed to judge manuscripts which will be submitted. This committee will judge the manuscripts which may be either prose or poetry, and decide upon the eligibility of the contestant for membership.

November 2 was set as the closing date upon which manuscripts will be accepted and interested persons should turn in their work by that time to Miss Hemphill of the journalism department. The papers must be typed, double spaced, on standard size paper. In order that decisions of the committee may be absolutely unbiased, it is asked that contestants place their names in sealed envelopes and attach these to the manuscripts. These envelopes will not be opened until after the committee has passed on the manuscripts. It is expected that anyone passing the committee will be asked to submit a qualifying manuscript before he is actually accepted for membership.

Some consideration was given the proposition of publishing a small magazine of work contributed by members of the Quill club this year.
No decision was reached on the matter, but Veva Brewer was made chairman of a committee to investigate the possibilities for such a magazine.

Officers for the current year were elected, and are as follows: Marjorie Pyle, Manhattan, Chancellor; Miss Maria Morris of the art department, Vice Chancellor; Veva Brewer, Wichita, Keeper of the Parchment; Lawrence Marx, Manhattan, Keeper of the Purse; Dortha Hadsell, Manhattan, Scribe.

ISSUES CALL FOR HELP.

Heberer Wants Back Stage Workers and Scene-Painters.

Help is wanted to assist in the presentation of the first Manhattan Theatre play, which will be October 30 and 31. The particular help wanted is on property and back-stage work. Also, assistant scene-painters are needed. Anyone interested please call H. Miles Heberer, director of the theatre, whose office is in the education building. Please do not wait until a night or two before the plays as the preliminary work is equally important, Heberer says.

BRAINARD BACK ON DUTY.

Professor B. B. Brainard, who was on a leave of absence last year attending the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is again on duty in the mechanical engineering department.

N-I-B-B-L-I-N-G-S

One of the Van Zile hall residents says she craves a "cave man." She's tired of "Dumb waiters." . . . Charles Corsaut, basketball mentor of Kansas State, and Blake Wareham, runner of varsities extraordinary,
were out a-golfing the other afternoon. They were going round the greens, indulging in lively conversation
when they were startled by a clap of thunder—lightning which followed did all sorts of funny things to them. Blake turned a flip flop in the air, and lighted, face down, on the good old earth. Charles, when he came to, was rubbing his foot. But they went back Thursday for more. . . . A freshman girl was overheard wondering where she could buy a zoology manure ring. . . . It's too bad Doc Willard, who has been connected with Kansas State for more than 50 years, doesn't hold an office through which students would come more directly in contact with him. New students and freshmen miss something by not knowing this Kansas State veteran. He's a fine man with a kind philosophy and a clear outlook on life. . . .

TONIGHT'S MIXER FULL EVENING OF ENTERTAINMENT

ALL STUDENTS INVITED TO ATTEND PROGRAM OF GAMES,
REFRESHMENTS, DANCING.

VARIETY OF PRESENTATIONS

Dr. H. H. King Master Of Ceremonies—Short Skit By H. Miles Heberer And Selections By Beta Pi Epsilon Quartet.

A full evening's entertainment has been outlined for the annual student-faculty mixer to be held in the gymnasium this evening at 8 o'clock. An attractive program will be followed by games, refreshments, and dancing, and all students, old and new—especially the latter—are invited to attend as the guests of the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C.
A. S. G. A., and faculty council on student affairs. All students will come at the same hour this year, rather than dividing the group as has been done in some years.

According to Phil Lautz, chairman of the program committee, a few mixing games and some community singing led by Chester Guthrie, Mt. Vernon, Mo., will open the evening's entertainment. Dr. H.
H. King of the department of chemistry will act as master of ceremonies for the program, which will include a short skit by Prof. H.
Miles Heberer, several selections by the Beta Pi Epsilon quartet, and several other numbers not yet announced by the program committee. Members of the quartet are Willard Hemker, Carl Hemker, Great Bend; Richard West, Harford, and Duane Daly, Arlington, Ill.

Harold Howe is general chairman of the mixer this year. Others working on arrangements to make the affair as big a success as possible include Phil Lautz, La Junta, Colo., program chairman; Galvesta
Siever, Manhattan, games; Joe Smerchek, Garnett, refreshments;
Eddie Sullivan, Meriden, dance arrangements; Zora Knox, Emporia, host and hostess committee, and Jim Chapman, Manhattan, publicity.

Last year it was estimated that approximately 1,000 students and members of the faculty attended the mixer, and preparations are being made for at least that large a crowd this year.

FRATERNITIES TO BE SNAPPED SOON

Royal Purple Makes Arrangements to Have Pictures Taken According to Alphabet; Acacias First.

Final arrangements have been made with A. O. Browne for the taking of the fraternity pictures for the fraternity section of the 1932 Royal Purple.

Beginning Monday, September 28
one fraternity each day will have the individual pictures of its members taken, beginning with the Acacia group and following alphabetically. Before going to Brownie's each person should get a permit to have his picture taken, this permit to be had at the Royal Purple office.

Each fraternity has appointed a photograph editor, whose job it is to go to Brownie's before the day designated for his fraternity and get a schedule for photographing the various members. One copy of this schedule is kept at Brownie's office, and one is taken to the chapter house.

Class dues are as follows: freshmen, $2.00; sophomore, $3.00; junior, $3.50; senior, $12.00.

The sorority pictures will be taken as soon as the fraternity schedule has been completed.

PRIZE POEM APPEARS.

"Gray Blue Wall," prize-winning poem written by Helen Sloan of the journalism department at Kansas State, was reprinted in the May 1931 issue of Parchment, quarterly publication of the American College Quill club. The poem occupies the first page of that issue. Miss Sloan was awarded first prize in the poetry contest sponsored by the Kansas Authors' club last year.

THREE STUDENTS WITHDRAW.

Three permits for withdrawal were granted by the general science division this week. The three students who withdrew from college were: Edward Hiner, Rushville, Mo., a freshman; Dorothy Renker, Topeka, a sophomore; and Dorothy Isern, Ellinwood, a freshman. Miss Isern took out an assignment, but decided to leave school before she had attended any classes.

New Zeta Tau Alpha Home

The new home of the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority will be located at 1642 Fairchild, the house formerly occupied by the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. The members plan to move from their present residence at 1719 Laramie, October 1. Their new residence has been remodeled and refurnished and the lawn has been terraced.

Zeta Tau Alpha is the newest national sorority on the campus, formerly being the local organition Alpha Theta Chi. The new chapter was installed last spring.

The sorority plans to live at the new location for two years, then will build its own house on the lots which it owns in the 1800 block on Laramie.

The house, which is owned by J.
W. Cordts, has been remodeled with special emphasis laid upon the interior decoration. The floors have been refinished and the arrangement of the rooms changed to make better accommodations for living quarters.

RICHIEY, U. S. D. A., HERE

F. G. Richiey, an expert in the field of corn investigation, employed by the United States Department of Agriculture spent two days of last week in Manhattan with Dr.
A. M. Brunson of the agronomy department, inspecting cooperative field experiments of the department.

A daughter, Frances, of Mr.
Richiey is enrolled at Kansas State
as a freshman in general science.
He decided to enroll here was apparently based largely on the interesting contacts her father made on visits here.

BALCH HOME FROM FAIR.

Prof. W. B. Balch of the horticulture department returned Thursday from Hutchinson, where he judged the vegetable and floral exhibits at the Hutchinson Kansas fair.

Charles Deserts Profession and Pleasure

To Favor Kansas State Snake Collectors

After gazing wide-eyed and open-mouthed at snake charmers in sideshows for years, Prof. F. E. Charles of the journalism department, learned this week that Kansas State has a snake charmer of no mean charms himself.

While golfing at the Legion course with Prof. Don A. Wilbur, entomology department, Charles and his companion met up with a snake near the ninth green. To Charles, a snake is a snake and therefore to be avoided, or at least ignored, but to Wilbur the snake evidently showed possibilities. At any rate, Charles' amused questions were left unanswered as Wilbur examined the snake carefully (from a respectful distance). Suddenly Wilbur straightened up and said,
"I've got to have this snake. Watch him while I go to a telephone and call Hobart Smith. Don't let him get away." And Charles promised faithfully that the snake would not get away "even if I have to wrap my golf club around him." At which remark he was warned not to harm the snake, but to follow it.

It developed that Hobart Smith is a senior in entomology, who knows everything there is to know about snakes, and as a snake
catcher has a technique all his own.
That is, when he catches a snake
he does a neat job of it, and the snake stays caught. While Wilbur was calling Hobart Smith and while Hobart Smith was coming at a breakneck speed in a borrowed car, Charles remained on guard.

Someone offered to get a sack to put the snake in, but Hobart lifted the perfectly limp snake and tossed it into his car. He then nonchalantly crawled into the car beside the snake and drove away.

Meanwhile Charles wiped the sweat from his brow, grasped his club firmly (it had been quite a comfort all through the ordeal)
and pitched to the green.

NO CONFIDENCE, HOLTON

Summer School Dean Reviews European Situation at Student Assembly.

Lack of confidence in the social order is the fundamental cause for the present crisis in Europe, according to Dr. E. L. Holton, head of the department of education and dean of summer school, who spent the summer in various European countries. He spoke at student assembly Tuesday morning in the college auditorium.

The problem of the dole system
in England is seriously undermining the country's business, Doctor Holton said. "We can't get something for nothing. We must solve the unemployment problem in a different way. The employer must see his whole field of work in relation to his employees," Doctor Holton believes, "and labor must receive a fair share of the returns."

Doctor Holton was a delegate to the international convention of Rotary in Vienna. The purpose of the meeting and of subsequent travels,
as Doctor Holton characterized it, was the breaking down of barriers to international good will and understanding.

There is practically no unemployment in Italy, according to Doctor Holton. Great numbers of men are employed in building programs—property, railroads and highways, and many are in the army. The common people of most of the countries, those engaged in simple methods of agriculture, are the most contented and happy.

The German people are living in fear of revolution, due to Russian propaganda and to the load of taxation imposed by the government.
But, Dean Holton, believes, Germany will again be the ruling nation of Europe, providing confidence in the government can again be established.

In conclusion, Doctor Holton stressed the need for an educational campaign and for a fair deal to the laboring man.

HOSPITAL LIST DAMPENS EARLY GRID OPTIMISM

CAPTAIN CRONKITE AND OTH-ER VETERANS REMOVED FROM SCRIMMAGE.

FIRST GAME OCTOBER THIRD

Pittsburg Teachers Will Present Followers Of Lue Howell—Vanek, Formerly Of Kansas State, Gorilla End.

An increasingly heavy casualty list and failure of some of the early-season kings to smooth out as rapidly as the coaches feel they should have given a bearish cast to Kansas State college football talk of late, though the earlier optimism of Wildcat followers may be justified if the hospital list is sufficiently reduced before the Missouri game on October 10.

In the meantime the coaches have been working hard to get an eleven in shape for the hard opening game expected with the Kansas Teachers of Pittsburg here on October 3. On the Pittsburg roster are some football products of Lincoln and Omaha, Nebr., high schools, who followed Coach Blue Howell to Pittsburg, playing with a host of husky and capable Kansans, and the Kansas State coaches expect a hard battle every minute of the way.

Though this is the first time
Kansas State has met the Pittsburg team in several years, one member on the Gorilla eleven will not be a new opponent. He is Buck Vanek of Ellsworth, classed as an end on the Teachers eleven but a capable performer any place in the line. Vanek earned a freshman basketball numeral at Kansas State in the winter of 1926. Later he played with the Bethany college football team against Kansas State in 1928,
and this fall transferred to Pittsburg, where he will take his last year of competition.

The weighty backfield which some Kansas State followers have visioned as mowing down the opposition has been temporarily wrecked by the injury of Tom Bushby, Belleville, and Leland
Shaffer, Dodge City, 190-pound

ORCHESTRA TO HOLD FIRST MEET TUESDAY

Tryouts For Membership In National Dancing Organization To Be Held Next Week.

Members of Orchestra, national organization for women interested in dancing, will hold their first meeting this year next Tuesday night, in the women's gymnasium.
Notices of the meeting are being sent to the members.

Tryouts for membership in Orchestra will be held some time during next week. A notice of the time will be posted on the bulletin board in the women's gymnasium.

The officers of the organization
for this year are Johnnie Moore, Ashland, president, and Velma Allen, Liberty, secretary.

WALLS FROM CELLAR DIGGING

Mud House Excludes Sound And Is Ideal In Many Ways.

A former member of the industrial journalism faculty at Kansas State, Mrs. Izil Polson Long of Davis, California, is living with her husband in a mud house built from the dirt which Long dug from his cellar.

Long is a research engineer at the State College of Agriculture of California and built the house to prove his theory that mud is an excellent material for farm homes.
The house is said to be cool in the summer and warm in the winter and is also free from exterior noise.

LENIN ORDER TO McDOWELL

George McDowell, '00, former Kansas agronomist and a resident of Russia for eight years is one of the 42 agriculturalists recently awarded the Order of Lenin. Mr.
McDowell has been stationed since 1929 on the Great Vnblud state farm in northern Caucasus. He is the first American to receive the decoration.

ISSUE POPULAR BULLETIN.

"The Design of Kansas Farm Homes," a bulletin prepared by H.
E. Wichers of the department of architecture, seems to be the most popular bulletin ever issued by the engineering experiment station.
Over 10,000 copies have been distributed throughout the United States, Europe, Africa and other countries.

COUNCIL QUESTIONS BILLS.

Bills advertising a dance to be held in Harrison hall tonight and which bear the words, "By Student Government Action," were the topic of conversation
at a meeting of the Student Council held last night in Anderson hall. Members of the Council said last night the dance had not been approved by the Council and that there is no body on the campus bearing the name of "Student Government."

MEN'S COUNCIL AT K.U. CONDEMNS BOOK CHANGES

Investigation Shows No Cause For Concern Regarding Local Conditions.

"Frequent and unnecessary changing of textbooks and cas-ebooks by faculty members," was condemned by the Men's Student Council at Kansas university yesterday in a request to Chancellor E.
H. Lindley to prohibit frequent changes in texts. This follows investigations by all the state colleges and the university into textbook costs and book exchanges.

The organization at the university complained that the frequent changes in text books used at the school left students no market for used books on the campus. State officials recently circulated questionnaires to the heads of the five state colleges inquiring into the methods of sale of new and used texts at the various schools. Book exchanges, both student and privately operated, were subjected to considerable questioning. Some complaint has been made regarding unscrupulous methods practiced by "fly by night" book exchanges.

Mrs. Grace Varney, of the College Book store in Aggieville, stated that the prices charged by the book stores for new books were determined by the publishers and that the rate of profit allowed the retail dealer in books was much less than profits allowed in many other retail businesses. "Our profit on new text books is 13 per cent less than the average profit on news books sold by book stores in the United States, according to the data compiled by the Harvard Bureau of Business Research."

Some complaint has been made regarding service given by book stores. The local stores report they have been able to furnish books to students at the beginning of the year with but few exceptions.
Often a new text is adopted and the book stores not notified sufficiently in advance to place their orders and receive the books at registration time.

DIKSTRA TO SPEAK IN IOWA.

Eastern Iowa Veterinary Association Invites Kansas State Dean.

Dean R. R. Dykstra, head of the division of veterinary medicine, is scheduled to appear on a program of the Eastern Iowa Veterinary Medicine association, which will meet at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, October 13 and 14. Dean Dykstra's subject will be "Handling of Disturbances in Ruminants." A ruminant, according to Webster, is a cud-chewing animal.

WICHERS TO WASHINGTON.

Attends Hoover's Conference On Committee On Rural Housing

Prof. H. E. Wichers, of the department of architecture, leaves today for Washington, D. C., where he will attend President Hoover's conference on the committee on rural housing. This is the second committee meeting at Washington that Professor Wichers has attended, besides two other trips made in the interest of the committee. He was appointed to serve with the group last spring. The final meeting will be held December 2 and 3.

KENT TO OKLAHOMA.

H. L. Kent, Jr., who was a member of the teaching staff of the mechanical engineering department
here, is now with the Oklahoma College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts at Stillwater.

torium box office from Monday, September 28, to Friday, October 2, inclusive. The price

a season ticket."

VIOLATORS OF RUSH WEEK LAWS ARE PENALIZED

CHI OMEGA IS DENIED SOCIAL PRIVILEGES FOR 9 WEEKS—

Decision.

Chi Omega has been denied the privilege of holding social functions for nine weeks as a punitive measure imposed upon them for violating a rule governing entertainment
during rush week.

This penalty was placed upon the organization by the grievance committee of the Senior Women's Panhellenic council of which Miss Grace Derby is chairman. Miss Derby confirmed the decision.

When interviewed by a reporter for the Collegian last night, Miss Eleanor Wright, Concordia, president of Chi Omega, issued the following statement:

"Chi Omega has been denied the privilege of holding social functions for one-half of one semester.
Alpha Delta Pi, Pi Beta Phi, and Kappa Kappa Gamma filed seven charges of violating rush week rules against Chi Omega, one of which was proven."

"Charges were filed against Pi Beta Phi by Chi Omega, but these were later dropped."

THE COLLEGIAN'S POLICY.

Criticism was dealt the Collegian yesterday when members of the editorial staff attempted to secure information from various campus officials and representatives of organizations in regard to a story which "was to be released next week when final action had been taken." The Collegian was accused of trying to sensationalize and use material before those concerned cared to have it used.

The Collegian, feeling publication of facts tends to curb any gossip and false stories circulating, believes the use of the story in the college paper will prove more beneficial than detrimental to any organization mentioned. It is the Collegian's desire that the story appear in such a light.

The college paper is, after all, only an instrument of the student body. Its editors are students who try to reflect in the columns of the Collegian the opinions of their fellow classmates. Subscribers of the Collegian read the paper for the news there is in it. The editors have no right to withhold from the subscribers what they consider to be news.

All information concerning college events, students, and faculty, alike, will be printed in the Collegian if it is in the power of the editors to secure such information. However, disciplinary cases appearing before the Student Council, matters pertaining to an individual's privacy, and stories which might prove offensive to a majority of the Collegian readers will be withheld by the editors in the belief that the subscribers do not care for that type of news.

THE FLEDGES SNEAK.

Sleepy yawns and tired sighs in classes the last two days proclaim that the season of "sneaks" is on. It's an annual farce played by the actives versus the pledges of the fraternities and sororities of the hill, is this "sneaking" business. Elaborate customs have grown up through the year until it's become almost a ceremony now—although such a dignified word is a little out of place in describing it.

Preliminary maneuvers begin the night of open house. That night the sorority houses are opened up like bargain counters and their pledges displayed to the best advantage to catch the eyes of the wary men-about-the-campus. The fraternity pledges, with their newly acquired buttons and ribbons, make the rounds with a sanguine air to scout out the prospects.

In a day or two the grapevine telegraph carries the invitations about. The actives give hard-won advice about holding out for an invitation from the best fraternity (whatever that may be) and about wearing the eatest dress, and to take a heavy coat along because it will probably be needed.

Rumor has it that this year's crop of freshmen made good use of the local villa, there being three different groups there at the same time Monday evening. Wednesday night, two other groups left the shelter of their organizations' houses and held sneaks. Competition seemed to be strong among the girls who are learning the ways of college fast. There being few stags, cutting was a problem for some of the girls and for others it was very simple.

Another rumor is going about that it wasn't just the freshmen who threw over the reins of authority at some of the fraternity houses, but that a few of the older members (who supposedly knew better) visited the home where certain freshmen girls who were afraid to go back to their house were staying. The theory was that if the freshmen wanted to keep their girls from "second-dating," they shouldn't have taken them home so early. It's a night when there is no honor among college students.

The force of the situation all comes out when the actives who have been friendly and helpful up to this time, turn about and become cold, cruel and righteous. Punishment is meted out to the erring freshmen with weighty hands so that they are not likely to forget again soon that they are now in college where they are to "walk the straight and narrow and do what they are told." The fact that they have been doing exactly what they were told to do—for how else could freshmen carry on the good old tradition of "sneaking" were it not for older students who suggest the thing to them?—makes no difference at all when the night of judgment comes.—D. H.

ORGAN RECEIVES FAVORABLE COMMENT.

The installation of the pipe organ in the college auditorium has received many favorable comments. With a music department which has made numerous attempts to increase its facilities and whose prestige is limited because the school is scientific, there seems to be no better method of increasing its cultural development than to make such a marked progressive step.

Considering that the purchase of the organ was sort of a "blind date" proposition, in that it was purchased without a test, it is surpassing all expectations. When a representative of the music department went to Kansas City to try out the organ the cable was cut so that it could not be played. However, a minute inspection of the parts was given. The organ had had very little use and was in as good condition as a new instrument.

The opportunity to study organ is not as expensive as it would be in most other music schools or conservatories. The matter of arranging practice hours for the student is difficult. The student must practice at one of the down-town churches.

The mechanics who installed the organ, after a tryout said that it was the best pipe organ in any school in Kansas. The organ at Kansas university is larger but it is not as good as the one installed in the Kansas State auditorium, according to them. This achievement makes a progressive step in the development of our music department.—D. T.

Judge For Yourself

Why do chapel speakers have to be so eternally dull? Last Tuesday the sun was shining, the birds were singing, I had my lessons and had just received a letter from home, and was feeling altogether too good for any good and, so I got all ambitious and though I'd make attendance at chapel the crowning event of the morning. It ruined an otherwise perfectly good day.

Wouldn't it be a good plan to make these first chapels unusually interesting in order to instill in the new students a desire to attend assemblies? These go-to-sleep chapels so early in the year will surely have a poor effect on the marvelous way in which Kansas State students have supported chapels in the past.

I've never been to Europe. Probably if I had been abroad I would make speeches about it, too. It's perfectly logical that anyone who has been to Europe should want to tell about it when he gets back among the common herd. But editor, dear editor, should one attempt to tell ALL about EUROPE in one thirty minute speech? Er—couldn't the subject be limited somewhat—aren't economic conditions in six European countries rather a broad field? Remember—this is only a suggestion from one who has never been to Europe—alas, from one who has never been to Chicago, or to Pumpkin Center, for that matter. But, is Europe as small as that? Or has life on these great plains among the savages and buffalos, gophers and things warped my ideas of space?

Anyone can make a speech. I could make a speech, if my public demanded it (which it wouldn't). But I'm not guaranteeing that anyone would listen to my speech. And there are others in the same boat. The point is, editor, that everyone should not attempt to make a speech. Some of us are built for speech making, and some of us are built for digging ditches, and being deans and such things. May each one of us choose one field and leave the others alone. This is an age of specialization. Therefore, let us specialize. And, with this, editor, may I go back to my ditch?—G. R.

THE SNOOPERS

The Snoopers were inclined to reserve judgment on the Poly-A-Stadcorp mess until some Yap down at K. U. was filled with the true spirit of intercollegiate brotherhood to the extent that he had to comment in the SOUTHERN OWL, K. U.'s humor magazine. Here it is:

AGGIE DISTRESS.

"Our neighboring school, Kansas State College at Manhattan, as it is known culturally, is having difficulties. Some of you once knew the school as the Kansas State Agricultural college, as it was known in rural habitats before it changed its name to satisfy the more discerning social strata at the school. Anyway, the difficulties referred to come from a delicate source—the attempt to collect fees for the Aggie stadium. For the last few years the school administration has floated a giant wave of publicity and enthusiasm to finance the school's stadium. Student loyalty has been appealed to. Mass meetings and chapel audiences have been stirred deep-seatedly by martial music and patriotic hysteria in general. Fraternities and sorority members have been urged—as all cunning administrations urge—to beat each other in a public display of their pledges for the stadium's financing. Thermometers have been put up in Anderson hall, the ad. building. They were not intended for weather predictions, silly, but for each organized house. Each student, in order to send the mercury climbing, had to pledge a minimum of $40, payable in $10-a-year installments, as his share for a proper place to see football played.

"We don't know why they didn't, but the elasticity of student patriotism was not reckoned with by the Aggie heads. Now they are busy trying to collect the pledges that the students made in the organized houses just in order to make a 100 per cent showing along with the best of 'em. The usual procedure has been followed, sadly. The Aggies have turned the pledges over to collection agencies who in turn attempt to shake revenue from the students by threats of taking the matter into court. Then the court—a justice of the peace crackerbox—is entered and in many instances students pay off. And, all despite the fact that they were minors, most of them, anyway, when they signed the notes which the school is now trying to convince them were legally executed even if they were not sincerely made."

And after having read it, there seems little else to add to the already widely-spread opinion about the state.

GRAND HOTEL

By Vicki Baum

reviewed by
Ruth Wilkerson

"Grand Hotel" is a German novel written about German people—German things. Is it not logical that it should be dramatic? It touches climaxes as overwhelming as a Wagnerian opera. It is as sullen and fascinating as a funeral dirge and very, very human.

Though of a theme similar to that in Bennett's "Imperial Palace," the book seems infinitely different. The people one meets make the story one of brilliant naïveté. The central character about whom the motif is twined is poor Kringelein, an humble and overworked bookkeeper in a provincial woolen factory, who is dying of an obscure disease. He has drugged all his life and now he has taken all his savings and fled to the glories of the "Grand Hotel" to taste in his last days the flavor of "real life." Shabby and pitiable, he does not look like a prosperous client, and he is at first refused a room in the hotel. But with obstinacy and despair, he forces his way in. The world-weary Doctor Ottersschlag, with his ghastly shell-scarred face, lonely and embittered, takes pity on the provincial. The innocent and life-hungry quality of Kringelein arouses a generous feeling of affection towards him. It is his life-seeking passion that adds the touch of melodrama to the sophistication of the other character. There is the handsome young baron, Felix Amadei Benvenuto von Gaigern, whose night of love with Grusinskaya, the aging Russian dancer, presented with bold candor and pitying tenderness, is contrasted with the simple ideals of the poor bookkeeper. And there is the prosperous Preysing, a cruel, sensual merchant from the province. And it is all like that—Miss Baum's book. Cruelly tender. Intimately, compellingly human.

With his nose buried in a leather bound book that fairly oozes over with such remarks. It's his God-book and he guards it zealously. Scryngers on the menu have read, "All men may have been cast in the same mold, as we are told, but some get moldier than others." And did you know that "Most women who have their faces lifted should also have their voices lowered," and doesn't this one fairly sizzle—"After all, there are many people who say just what they think. In fact, they are more numerous than popular." And here's one for the faculty—"Time heals our scars—our wrinkles are more stubborn." This one applies too—"Men worry a lot about their hair—when it's half gone."

Gordon Blair Hunts
Quotes for Patrons
To Enjoy and Digest

"Nothing grows old with less grace than a French-fried potato or a peroxide blonde"—This is only one of the wise-cracks that Gordon Blair, Kansas State student and miniature business man, digs up each day to add spice to the menus at the Pines cafe in Aggieville. This novel system of advertising has produced more than one hearty chuckle, which serves to spur Blair on in his search for more bright sayings. If you should happen in at the right time, you might find him

This one applies too—"Men worry a lot about their hair—when it's half gone."

And for depression blues, this might help—"If we weren't afraid of seeming poor, we might all be rich." "Some men are born great, others achieve greatness, and the rest of us just admit that we're great." With a book so full of witty remarks, it's marvelous that Blair remains the same unsophisticated young man. Perhaps it is due to the more serious and practical maxims in his book. Because "It's all right to say what you please, but it's usually better to say what pleases other people" and "A frown has little or no cash value. Nobody ever got paid for being disagreeable except a traffic cop." Those last two characterize Gordon Blair.

The philosophy of women is, "Even a homely girl can live to be a pretty old one." And "In the modern home everything is operated by switches—except the children."

Y. W. COMMITTEE ISSUES CALL.

The Y. W. C. A. hostess committee is giving a call to service to all who might be interested in giving a little of their time for the benefit of girls who drop into the office during the day.

Women's Sports

Plans are being forged ahead for competition and tryouts in intramurals and class teams for archery and swimming, which are scheduled for the first nine weeks in women's sports, according to Miss Helen Saum of the physical education department. This year class and intramural archery is being supplied to take the place of the same round of hockey, which was found to be too complicated and dangerous for class competition. Intramurals are to be stressed this year as being more important and the sports offered will be in swimming, baseball, volleyball, tennis, archery, and dancing.

Tryouts will be held soon for class and intramural swimming and sororities or independents should sign up next week. Sororities should have at least six girls on a swimming team and two for the archery competition. Girls will sign vacant hours for practice, and instruction will be given at this time. Group winners will be selected and will be followed by intramurals.

To become eligible for the Frog Club, the girl is required to swim backstroke, side stroke and crawl stroke for 10 min. standing and running dive and swim five lengths of the pool. After these tests have been passed, an improvement test will be held and the girl is entitled to an emblem of the Frog Club of Kansas State. Last year only four girls succeeded in passing the improvement test.

For the last nine weeks of this semester, class and intramural volleyball and dancing will fill the season. Four phases of dancing which will be held in competition are interpretative social, folk and clogging.

Any girl in college interested in trying out for the sports for the first nine weeks are asked to sign up next week in Nichols gymnasium. Fifty points are given to each girl for intramural competition and fifty for class competition in any of the sports.

This first get-together meeting was held to organize for the new year and to make a sketchy plan of the year's program. Last night's session was in charge of Ellen Blair, Williamsburg. Among the entertainment features of the program was a vocal solo, by Lucille Elger, Goodland, a reading by Edwin Krasny, Topeka, and numbers by the 4-H club quartet.

Results of the exhibit at the state fair are not complete and will be announced later.

AIR ANALYZER PURCHASED.

The department of applied mechanics recently purchased an air analyzer but contrary to that which the name implies, the apparatus does not analyze air, but cement instead. A controlled air stream is forced through a tube which will pull out the finer cement particles at a low velocity and the coarser ones at a higher velocity, thus making it possible to analyze a sample of cement with comparative ease.

sophomore backs. Both have been out of practice for several days. Arnold Mills of Russell, another outstanding sophomore half, also has been out of practice with a pulled leg muscle, and George Wiggins, 2-letter fullback, is taking it easy though he is gradually being worked back into scrimmage.

In the line the situation is somewhat better save for the injury to Captain Henry Cronkite, all-conference end, which may keep him out of the Pittsburg game. Cronkite has been on the field in uniform coaching other squad members in playing his position, but at the earliest will not be able to scrimmage before next Thursday. L. B. Pilcher, senior guard, and Lee Morgan, junior end, have not suited up for several days. Pilcher has a hand injury and Morgan, who recently recovered from an attack of blood poisoning in one foot, has been told to keep out of practice for several days yet.

Because he was worried about the quarterback position for which Ray McMillin is the only returning letterman, Coach Bo McMillin has been working four backs at the signal calling job and is expected to use each of them at various times during the season.

Ray McMillin looks better at the beginning of his third season than in previous years. His greatest improvement is in blocking, once his weakest and now one of his strongest points. Other signal-callers are Russell Smith, junior quarter; Ralph Graham, sophomore fullback; and Elden Auker, 2-letter halfback.

Kansas State will abandon the huddle system of calling plays this season except at times when the quarterback can't make himself heard above the usual football game noise. Bo McMillin believes that the huddle slows play down somewhat and takes away some of its color, though he admits that the huddle is better than the called signal at certain times.

Veterans probably will start the Pittsburg game October 3 if there are enough of them left on the active list to fill all the positions. Sophomores will get plenty of chance for work under fire before the Missouri engagement.

A possible starting lineup for the Pittsburg game might include Harsh and Auker at halves, Wiggins at fullback, and McMillin at quarter, with Hasler or Michael at center, Zeckser and Hraha, guards, Stephenson and Weybrew, tackles, and Fairbank and Neely or Blaine, ends. This would be an all-veteran lineup and the original lineup might also see Breen, a sophomore, at half.

VETERINARIANS TO WINFIELD
Dr. C. H. Kittelman, of the department of veterinary pathology, and V. H. Clark, senior in the division of veterinary medicine, made a trip to Winfield, Kansas, the first of the week. Their objective was the testing for Bang's disease of cattle at the Winfield state hospital.

VARSITY MAY PLAY FROSH.
"Bo" McMillin has been putting his men through stiff workouts all this week. Every evening the varsity has scrimmaged the "B" team, and it is rumored that the varsity will play the freshmen a practice game either this afternoon or tomorrow afternoon. Coach McMillin has been working his men on forward pass defense and strategy of football defense.

PLAY TRYOUTS HELD SOON

Students Desiring To Appear In Manhattan Theatre Productions Urged To See Heberer.

Tryouts for the coming season in the Manhattan Theatre will be held from September 28 to 30 inclusive. This will be the only tryout this semester and, as freshmen are eligible for the third play, it is urged that they see H. Miles Heberer, director of the theatre, sometime during this period.

Appointments for tryouts may be secured by calling the secretary of the public speaking department, Education hall, room 55. Students who have been in previous Manhattan Theatre plays are requested to call at this room and fill out a new tryout card which will replace the one now on record.

PUGH ISSUES CALL FOR RIFLE TEAM TRY-OUTS

October 3 Is Deadline For Applications Of Both Men And Women.

Invitations are extended to all men and women who desire to try out for the rifle teams for the school year of 1931-32. Students are requested to leave names, vacant hours, and phone numbers with Sergeant Francis D. Pugh at Nichols gymnasium in the military office. Applications will not be accepted later than noon, Saturday, October 3. Preliminary tryouts will be held on Tuesday, October 6, and will continue until all applicants have tried through the various positions.

Women applicants are required to shoot in two positions; prone and sitting, while the men will compete in four positions, those of sitting, standing, prone, and kneeling. Fifteen men and women will be selected for each team.

No challenges have been sent from the college engaging matches, but it is expected that the men's rifle team will compete in about 60 matches, while the women's rifle team will hold about 30 matches. Women's rifle teams are sponsored by the Women's Athletic association at the college but are trained and coached by Sergeant Pugh.

FRESHMAN GRID SQUAD CONTAINS GOOD MATERIAL

Frosh Will Be Used Against Varsity In Practice Sessions—74 Report for Duty.

The freshman football team at Kansas State started practice last Monday. In the group of 74 that reported for the first practice there are a number of men that came to college with the reputation of being football players. "Swede" Anderson, freshman coach, is very pleased with the turnout for freshman football and expects more men to report soon.

It is too early to make any predictions about the freshman team. The coaches themselves don't know yet what material they are going to have. For a week or so much of the practice will consist of conditioning exercises, coupled with passing and punting drills. This year the freshmen will not play games and the schedule for practice is going to be somewhat different from last year. Instead of working for timing of plays and the development of a freshman team, the coaches this year are going to try to concentrate on developing men individually.

For practice against the varsity the number of reserve men is insufficient, so the most promising freshmen and the "B" varsity squad are going to be used together for the practice of scrimmaging against the varsity. The rest of the freshman squad will practice alone, and if any of this group show promise, they will be changed over to the "A" freshman squad.

Frosh Perform Well.

Already the yearlings have tasted fire. Tuesday night "Swede" Anderson brought 15 promising freshmen to the stadium to battle the varsity. In view of the fact that the freshmen have had only a few days to condition themselves, they performed creditably. As yet the coaches are uncertain about their men, and the players used in scrimmage were large men or players who came to school with a good reputation. Some of the freshmen have shown promise of living up to their reputations. The coaches are especially pleased with the new crop of tackles, which includes four or five 200-pound men.

This practice of using the freshmen against the varsity should be beneficial. In these scrimmages the freshmen will use the plays of various other Big Six teams and this will familiarize them with the fundamentals of the offense used by the opponents of the varsity. This varsity-freshman practice has a two-fold beneficial effect. The freshmen will be a great help in developing the varsity and scrimmaging against the varsity will give the yearlings practice and experience against a well organized team.

Freshman Squad Named.
The freshman squad:
Centers—Robert N. Chambers, Hutchinson; LaVerne Dickey, Liberal; Donald Downing, Mankato; Ralph L. Locke, Erie; Richard M. Schnackenberg, Valley Center.

Tackles—Elmer C. Burch, Oakland, Calif.; Roland B. Erwin, Topeka; W. D. Cowan, Sierre Blanca, Tex.; William H. Juzi, Florence; Kenneth P. Kern, Junction City; Ronald P. ## FRESHMEN MEMBERS OF Y. M. C. A. MEET

Purpose Is To Acquaint First Year Men With Work Of Christian Organization.

The first meeting of the freshman commission, an organization for freshmen in the Y. M. C. A., will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock, in room 58 of Calvin hall.

Theodore Skinner, Manhattan, president of the Y. M. C. A., will speak to the group about the program of the Christian association, and Clarence Keith, Ottawa, president of the freshman commission last year, will tell of the work of the commission. It is planned to have special music also.

Lewis Perkins, chairman of the committee in charge of this organization for the Y. M. C. A., said yesterday that all freshmen interested in the Y. M. C. A. are invited to attend the meeting, and especially those men who had been active in Hi-Y work in high school. The organization is a part of the Y. M. C. A., and all members of the commission are also members of the larger group. In the past the commission has held hikes, dances, and meetings at which prominent speakers were heard during the year. A special feature of the work of the commission is the sponsorship of Hi-Y extension teams which go to high schools to assist with Hi-Y meetings and special programs.

FARRELL RECEIVES INQUIRY.

An inquiry from Mrs. Flor Zapata, widow of the Philippine student who gained prominence at Kansas State and who was killed in an automobile accident in the summer of 1930, was received yesterday at the president's office. Mrs. Zapata, now a resident of Des Moines, Iowa, wishes to learn whether or not her husband ever served in the army, the navy, or the marine corps of the United States.

DEPOSITORS NAME AMOUNTS.

Fraternity and 16 Students Have $1,600 in Defunct Bank. Sixteen students and one fraternity informed Dr. J. O. Hamilton of the physics department that they had an aggregate amount of $1,600 on deposit in the Manhattan State bank. This information was given to Professor Hamilton by the students in response to a request published in the Collegian last Friday.

Professor Hamilton gathered the information at the request of the president's office. Plans for "seeing what can be done about it" have not yet been completed.

PROGRAMS ARRANGED FOR NEXT SIX WEEKS

Short Plays, Musical Programs, And Speakers Make Up Assembly Repertoire.

Student assembly programs for the following six weeks have been arranged by the committee on public exercises which is headed by Dr. J. E. Kammeyer. A musical program, several out-of-town speakers, a talk by a faculty member, and short plays make up the schedule that has been announced.

Two one-act plays presented by the Manhattan Theatre will make up the program at the assembly today.

On Tuesday, October 6, Mrs. Dillian Mitchener, state president of the W. C. T. U., will address the student body. This will be at the time that the state convention of the organization will meet in Manhattan.

October 13, Dr. J. E. Ackert, head of the zoology and entomology department, will speak. His subject has not been announced, but he spent last year in England where he attended Cambridge university so it is expected that his talk will deal with experiences gained there.

On Friday, October 16, a special assembly is scheduled to begin the annual stadium drive among the students. On October 19, S. G. Morley, a noted archaeologist, will address the student body. Morley also will speak before the Science club and Sigma Xi while in Manhattan.

October 28 has been set aside for a musical program presented by the department of music. "Bird Songs and Wild Flowers" is the subject of an illustrated lecture to be given by Guy C. Caldwell, November 4.

Armistice day, November 11, also is observed with a special program at which the R. O. T. C. men will have special seats and the veterans of American wars are to be presented. The speaker for the occasion has not been selected as yet.

AWARD SCHOLASTIC CUP.

Phi Delta Freshmen Win With 87.76
Average.

The inter-fraternity freshman scholastic cup for the fall semester of 1930-31 is to be awarded to the Phi Delta Theta fraternity whose first year men had an average of 87.76. The winning group was announced last night at a meeting of the senior pan-Hellenic council held at the Phi Delta Theta house.

Farm House was second with an average of 82.84; Alpha Gamma Rho third with 81.96; and Beta Theta Pi fourth with 81.70. The senior pan-Hellenic council awards a cup each year to the organization whose freshman rank highest in scholarship.

Miss Louise Everhardy, associate professor in the department of art, spent the week end at her home in Leavenworth.

N-I-B-B-L-I-N-G-S

Freshmen are getting paddled just for instance this season. Upperclassmen, forming lines in Aggieville, beat those wearing caps and those not wearing caps. There is no hope. . . .

A sophomore in electrical engineering has withdrawn all deposits from banks, for fear they'll go defunct, and is carrying around travelers checks which he says are always good. . . .

West Anderson was lined with cars and on-lookers Saturday afternoon. The high school football game was in progress, and was certainly being witnessed. One student, trying to sneak in the 50-cent game over the fence, fell off and damaged himself to the extent of a $5.00 doctor bill, although it was not run up for fear of collectors. . . . Ray Beals' departure leaves an almost unfillable hole in Layton's band. He's coming back second semester. . . . Maybe there'll be a free show Friday night following the pep meeting. Pray.

INVESTIGATION TO DETERMINE TEXT CHANGES

FARRELL SEEKS TO LEARN
NEED FOR REQUIREMENT OF NEW TEXT BOOKS.

STUDIES MADE OVER STATE

Lindley Of K. U. Approached By Men's Student Council—Other Schools Make Surveys.

President F. D. Farrell announced yesterday that a thorough investigation is being made in all departments of the college to determine the number of new textbooks that have been adopted this year and to learn the need for changes which have been made. He expects this work to be completed in approximately ten days.

This investigation is in direct line with similar studies being made in all state schools, and with a request made by the men's student council at Kansas university and addressed to Chancellor E. H. Lindley asking that he prohibit frequent changes in texts.

Although not yet ready to make a detailed statement on the situation, President Farrell said that the number of subjects offered at K. S. C. is 1,071.

"In a large proportion of these classes," he asserted, "the use of textbooks is necessary. With such a large number of subjects offered some changing of textbooks is virtually inevitable each year." At the same time, President Farrell expressed a complete appreciation of the financial problem confronting students.

According to Mrs. Grace Varney, co-proprietor of the College Book store, prices charged for new books by dealers are regulated by the publishers. Mrs. Varney also indicated that the rate of profit allowed the retail dealer is much less than that allowed in many other retail enterprises. The Harvard Bureau of Business Research has published data stating that the profit on new text books is 13 per cent less than the average profit on new books sold by book stores in the United States.

Local dealers have reported that they have been able to furnish books to students upon demand except in a few cases in which they had not been sufficiently notified to have time to place their orders.

This try-out will be the only one this semester and is for the first three plays. The first play has been tentatively selected, according to Director Heberer. It will be given October 30 and 31, and is entitled "Broadway." A number of types for character parts are wanted. "I shall want a detective, a Greek, a few hard-boiled looking men, and several chorus girls," said Heberer.

GRIDSTERS BEGIN FINAL SCRIMMAGE SESSIONS

McMillinmen to Use Few Plays—
Nearly All Regulars Back
In Lineup.

With the team almost in shape, "Bo" McMillin put his men through one of the final scrimmages before the opening game here Saturday with Pittsburg Teachers' college. Every man that entered the scrimmage looks like a regular, and competition will be mighty keen between the old men and the sophomores to start the game here Saturday.

"Bo" said last night his team would be somewhat handicapped because of the small number of plays he intended to use. He did say, however, that he expected a victory even though he will send his men into the game with instructions to use only five or six plays.

All of the cripples will be back in the lineup with the exception of Captain Henry Cronkite, who is still out with an injured leg. Leland Shaffer returned to practice last night after spending a week in the college hospital with an infection on his foot. Shaffer was released from the hospital Saturday evening.

Henney Startles Student-Stenographer With Stirring Story of Stupendous Strife

Drama marched across the pages of a student-stenographer's notebook yesterday afternoon when for a half hour the battles fought in the great World war became a living reality for her instead of a dim memory of blowing whistles, corn bread, no sugar, and worried faces. She was taking dictation from Assistant Prof. Homer J. Henney of the agricultural economics department, jogging along mechanically with the pot-hooks writing about the probable price of hogs in February and thinking about how to fix the sleeves on her black dress when suddenly the subject of the letter he was taking changed from hogs to battles.

"Did you see the pictures of Colonel Carl Ristine and of Lieutenant Brown's memorial in the Kansas City Times this morning?" Professor Henney asked the friend to whom he was writing.

Lieutenant Sanford Brown was honored Sunday in Kansas City by a memorial dedicated to his memory by his comrades. His death occurred in 1918 in the opening battle of the Meuse-Argonne attack. Professor Henney explained that

STADIUM DRIVE COMMITTEES ARE BEING SELECTED

FRUETZE SAYS SOLICITATION WILL BE HANDLED DIFFER-ENTLY THIS YEAR.

SPECIAL ASSEMBLY SOON

Chairman Will Be Appointed In Each Fraternity And Sorority House—Busy Now With Organization.

A hand-picked, high-powered solicitation committee is being organized by Edwin ("Hans") Fruetze, student manager of the 1931 stadium drive. This committee is something new and different, and its members are being chosen from the sororities and fraternities on the hill.

"This committee will function differently than solicitation committees have in the past," Fruetze said. "Formerly a chairman was appointed from each house, and his duties were to superintend the solicitation of his house, but with the new plan, he may be a member of the committee having supervision of the drive as a whole in addition to his duties as house chairman."

Members of the new committees are being appointed by Fruetze, and are chosen with the advice of the presidents of the organizations which they will represent. "In some instances," Fruetze explained, there may be more than one representative from one house as some of the committee offices have enough work connected to them without adding the duty of supervising freshman solicitation in the house."

Fruetze also announced that the program for the special stadium drive assembly had been completed. The assembly is scheduled for Friday, October 16, the day preceding the K. U.-Kansas State football game.

Sports List—Managers Meet Monday Night.

Men's intramural athletics, under the direction of Prof. L. P. Washburn, will start this year with horseshoe and soccer contests around October 1. Since the intramurals were started ten years ago by E. A. Knott, there has been a continued increase in student interest and the number of events has increased from the three offered the first year until 12 activities are now on the regular program.

Twenty-three fraternities and several independent organizations compete for intramural honors each year.

The intramural managers from the various organizations met with Prof. Washburn Monday night at 7:15 o'clock in the K room to thresh out any rules or regulations that are not clear to them.

Last year Kappa Sigma won the intramural challenge trophy with a total of 1,337 points. A small permanent cup also went to Kappa Sigma for winning first place. The cup given for second place was won by Phi Kappa Tau, runner-up, having 1,186 points.

FENTON ACTS AS WITNESS.

Prof. F. C. Fenton, head of the department of agricultural engineering, was called to Abilene last Tuesday to give expert testimony in a damage suit. The suit was brought by a group of farmers against the Kansas Milling company for damages to crops said to be due to the dam which the company owns at Enterprise.

Manhattan Theatre was organized five years ago, to succeed Purple Masque, collegiate dramatic fraternity. Its organizers, Dr. Howard T. Hill and H. Miles Heberer, both of the public speaking department, opened all tryouts to Manhattan residents as well as students. This was the first non-professional theatre in any school to include the entire community in its scope. In the five years of its life Manhattan Theatre has become one of the highest ranking non-professional theatres in the United States.

Manhattan Theatre productions have been distinguished in the past by their high standard of performance and the careful detail shown in staging such plays as "The Emperor Jones," "Children of the Moon," "The Poor Nut," and "The Subway Express." The difficult stage settings and stage lighting effects have placed the organization far above the usual amateur dramatic group. Much of the credit for the success has been due to the tireless efforts of its director, H. Miles Heberer.

In commenting on the past of the theatre, President F. D. Farrell said, "The deservedly large patronage of the plays presented in recent years by the Manhattan Theatre illustrates the fact that in American colleges and college towns drama is becoming one of the most popular extra-curricular activities from the standpoint of both participants and spectators. It is expected that this year's performances will equal or excel those of recent years. The sale of low priced season tickets provides an inexpensive opportunity to obtain interesting and stimulating artistic entertainment."

The Manhattan Theatre has furnished an activity to Kansas State students who aspire to the stage. In the 25 plays produced since 1926, approximately 250 students and 150 townspeople and faculty members have played 400 roles in the casts. An equal number have participated as stage hands, property managers, stage electricians, and as assistants to the production personnel.

The plays selected for presentation have set a remarkable record for their variety. Current Broadway hits, contemporary plays, classical drama, and old-time melodrama have all been staged and won the approval of the audiences. Although the repertoire for this season has not been announced, it is rumored to include at least one current Broadway success, one contemporary play (such as John Balderson's "Berkeley Square") and one "spiritual play" (possibly "Death Takes a Holiday"). One or more comedy is certain to be produced.

When questioned concerning the plays to be produced this year, Dr. Howard T. Hill, chairman of the theatre's board of directors, said, "Although nothing definitely has been announced and will not be announced until we are ready for tryouts we are negotiating for some of the best plays the Theatre has ever aspired to."

H. Miles Heberer, director of the organization, stated last night that the sale of season tickets thus far in their campaign had exceeded all records for early ticket sales and that plenty of seats will be available for spectators if they make their reservations early. "And it's the biggest two-fifty's buy the Theatre ever offered," he added.

THE COLLEGIAN'S PLATFORM.

1. Name the Campus Drives.
2. Proportional Division Representation in Student Council.
3. More Student Participation in Student Governing Affairs.
4. Varsities Managed by S. G. A. with Proceeds to Go Towards Union Building.
5. Advanced Degrees for Kansas State.

PAPA'S PENNIES SHOULD COME HOME.

Organizations and others on the hill have been wont to question the Collegian's policy concerning varsities being sponsored by the Student Governing association with proceeds to go toward a union building. Several plans have been formulated by interested individuals and presented to various controlling bodies on or on the hill but to date none have been accepted or rejected.

The Collegian believes it should be one of the duties of the Student Council to oversee varsities. After all, the council represents the student body, and the student body is the varsity attendance. The council, while it would not have the time to personally handle the business arrangements needed to stage successful dances, could place student managers in charge, paying them on a straight salary basis, could hold varsities one night a week, and could certainly reap a profit which could be used advantageously by the college.

Private enterprises, interested perhaps in giving the students good dances, but more interested in reaping personal profit, have made money off of students for years. Last year the varsity admission was always $1.25. The previous year it was the same. The year before that it was $1.10. This year, all of the varsities played by Layton's have been $1.00. During all these years, however, varsities have usually been held more than one night a week. The attendance was therefore split. Is it not reasonable to expect varsities on one night would draw a crowd approximately as large as one on the two nights?

Overhead, counting the money paid the orchestra, the hall rental, the advertising costs, plus the salaries of the managers and other help needed, would certainly not exceed the amount paid out by individuals for expenses. By cutting down the expenses in such a manner, it would be possible to stage varsities at a lower admission price, with the council still making money. The chance of loss is slight.

Individuals in Manhattan have given students excellent dances. The Collegian finds not one fault in the way varsities have been managed, but cannot see why the Student Council should sit by and watch others take money coming from students' pockets, when that money should go back to the student body as a whole.

DRINK—BUT AT YOUR OWN RISK.

Students of recent weeks have found a new pastime with which to pass the time between classes in Anderson Hall. They group around the water fountain and observe the various grimaces of those unfortunate individuals who take a big gulp of the tainted water before tasting it. A growing difficulty now is that the majority of the students seem to have found out how perfectly lousy the water is, and as a result, do their drinking elsewhere than on the campus. Perhaps it is just a well-planned scheme of the powers-that-be to wean the students and thus do away with any necessity for drinking fountains.

At any rate, the fact remains that the water is bad and is getting no better. It is almost impossible to believe that such water could be healthful, and even if it were, most of us would rather neglect our health than drink it. There are rumors that new wells have been drilled, etc., but it is hard to believe that even Mother Earth could taste so bad. It is more likely that the purification plant is up to its old tricks again. We suggest that the matter be investigated.—M. M.

Manhattan Theatre has announced a special low price for season tickets. With a past record of achievement and at bargain prices there can be no excuse for any student failing to be properly entertained.

THE SNOOPERS

ELEGY.

This little essay should be properly headed, "In Memoriam To the Long and Thoroughly Departed Wildcat School-Spirit," but we thought that just "Elegy" would be more characteristically Kansas State since it required much less effort to write it.

But, any way, what has become of that old hell-raising attitude we knew as "School Spirit"? It went into a decline some time back and rapidly grew weaker and weaker until it lost even the strength to rally on September 14. It simply DIED. And the surprising thing about it all has been the way it has affected our students. We assume an air of pseudo-sophistication, of boredom, and it all looks like nothing less than a case of us all being filled with inertia. Our interests have receded until they strain themselves to include anything past next week's pay. Few there are of us that would give more than a plugged nickel to see a first class earthquake.

Time was when nothing less than a riot would do for a pep meeting, no freshmen ran in less than squads for fear of being slugged, abducted, and at least drowned by a dozen or more listless sophomores. A bonfire was good for a two alarm run by the downtown vigilantes, and it was a lot dryer town to boot!

Bo McMillin has produced the best football teams the school ever knew on the least support a coach ever had. Annually we hear the cry to "Get behind this'n that." Nothing could be sillier than to have three thousands of students "getting behind" things for no purpose at all. BUT THIS FOOTBALL BUSINESS HAS A PURPOSE, and a darn good one, too. It is decidedly to the advantage of every one of us to manifest an interest in sports. Our athletic teams are our press agents, they are the connecting link between ourselves, our school and the outsiders in and about the state. Our athletics get more space in the midwest newspapers than all the other activities combined. This may not (or it may be) the ideal situation. It is highly possible that athletics are over emphasized by the Press. But it is the condition of affairs and we might as well face it. An all-victorious football team would do the school more good than free tuition! (Information proving this rash statement will NOT be sent upon receipt of a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

How about a good Frosh-Soph hair pullin'?

Judge For Yourself

Editor's Note: This column is open to any and all students and faculty members who care to express themselves in print, concerning any matter of student interest. Anything will be accepted with the exception of obscene, or otherwise objectionable matter. Copy must be accompanied with full signature, but upon request, only initials will be used in the Collegian.

On special inquiry, and to confirm his own impression, the writer finds that Dean Holton's address at last Tuesday's general assembly was extraordinarily well received, contrary to "G. R.'s" opinion as expressed in The Collegian's "Judge For Yourself" department.

Dean Holton's subject concerning the European crisis was necessarily one of many angles, the development of which required much thought and organization in order to arrive at presentation in any favorable form.

An assembly address is a difficult thing. It has so many angles—almost as many angles as there are students and faculty members in the auditorium at the time. And it has so many possibilities—as many possibilities as a student-faculty audience will allow. And it has actual interest in direct proportion to the number of persons capable of realizing that it is a means of growing away from the provincial.

Dean Holton has arrived at an understanding, not easy to gain, concerning an outlook spreading throughout European countries and influencing our own nation vitally. His comparison of peoples, their modes of living and attitudes, and their response to the prevailing economic depression were clearly made and interestingly expressed. He did not attempt to "tell all about Europe in one thirty-minute speech." Rather, he selected his points of interest carefully and presented them in a connected, elucidative manner calculated to inform and arouse even the "go-to-sleep" chapel attendant.

President Farrell told students plainly at the year's first assembly that the presence of only those genuinely interested in the weekly programs is desired. Student assembly at best, of course, cramps the style of the blasé student. It sorta throws him off his form. The whole business is out of date, anyhow, and something should be done about it. If you don't believe that, ask "G. R." who registered complaint in Friday's "Judge For Yourself" column.

Yes, "G. R."—"Life on these great plains" apparently has warped your ideas of space. Try for your own sake, and those who sit beside you in classes and those who have been hired to teach you things, to realize that the life of a student, rightly ordered and anticipating the natural privilege of development, is something more than a "crack and a coke."

And—"G. R." do you s'pose assembly speakers ever wonder why assembly audiences "have to be so eternally dull?"—H. A.

NO STUDENT AUTO LICENSES

Plan Resulting in Unnecessary Expense Not Favorable To President Farrell.

When asked whether or not students at Kansas State might be compelled to buy school license tags similar to those in use at some other colleges and universities, President F. D. Farrell replied yesterday that at present the college contemplates no such move. He asserted that he does not favor any plan which might result in unnecessary expense to students. No special rulings have yet been worked out, the president said, and probably will not be at least until replies have been received to all the permits sent out to parents of students operating motor cars.

President Farrell remarked that some difficult problems were encountered in mailing out blanks, since a number of students are of age and many are financially independent.

Other college officials, when asked for an opinion concerning the probability of the adoption of new regulations concerning motor cars, asserted that they believed such rules would probably be difficult to administer. The action taken by the registrar's office at enrolment time followed a recommendation of the state board of regents.

Miss Thelma Cless and Miss W. L. Hamette Navarre spent the week end in Rossville visiting their parents and friends.

J. H. PARKER TO CORNELL

Agronomy Professor Leaves On Sabbatical Leave Of Absence—To Instruct In Plant Breeding.

To fulfill his appointment as visiting professor of plant breeding, Dr. J. H. Parker, of the agronomy department of Kansas State, left on a sabbatical leave of absence Wednesday night for Cornell university. He will take the place of Dr. H. H. Love, who is to serve as technical advisor to the minister of agriculture in China, for a year. The position comes as a high honor for Doctor Parker and for the department at the college.

Doctor Parker is a former student at Cornell and studied under Doctor Love when he took his graduate work there in 1915. His work will consist of instructing 25 or 30 graduate students in plant breeding. His lectures will be on crop improvement with the basis being plant resistance to disease and insects.

Associated with the college since 1917, Doctor Parker was graduated from Minnesota university in 1913 and received his master of science degree from Cornell in 1916. In 1928 he obtained his doctor of philosophy degree from Cambridge university in England.

W. B. Balch of the horticulture department returned from Hutchinson Saturday where he judged the vegetables at the state fair. W. R. Flynn who got his master's degree from K. S. C. in '26 was also a judge at the fair.

X-RAY APPARATUS INSTALLED

Addition of New Equipment Makes Chemistry Department Up-To-Date.

Complete X-ray apparatus now being installed in the Kansas State chemistry department will, according to Dr. H. H. King, head of the chemistry department, make the Kansas State chemistry department, one of the most up-to-date in the country. The apparatus was purchased at a cost of $2,600 by an appropriation from the state.

The members of the faculty and the advanced students in chemistry now have access to apparatus for the study of ultra-violet light, visible light, and the X-ray. With this X-ray machine, it is possible to locate the atoms in crystal.

A noted scientist, George L. Clark, professor of chemistry at University of Illinois, and a former classmate of Doctor King, is scheduled to speak before the Kansas State section of the American Chemical society this fall, and the new equipment will be used in this lecture. Doctor Clark has done a great deal of work with X-ray apparatus and recently spoke before the meeting of the American Chemical society in Buffalo, N. Y. He has conducted a number of experiments on the structure of rubber which have proven valuable in industrial work.

JUNIOR MUSIC CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED

Instructors In The College Music Department Will Be In Charge Of Meetings.

An innovation in the children's piano department at the college this fall will be the organization of a junior music club which will be federated with the state and national junior music clubs. The club meetings will take the place of the weekly Saturday classes. The work will be in charge of Miss Marion Felton, head of the department, Miss Edith Coerwitz, and Mrs. Roy Shearer.

All students of grade and high school age who are enrolled in the department of music at the college, regardless of whether they are studying voice or instruments, are eligible for membership.

The first meeting of the club will be held Saturday morning, September 19, at 10 o'clock in the college auditorium.

Students who wish to enroll in the children's piano department for the coming year should call Miss Pelton at 2964 or see her at the music annex, 1623 Anderson avenue.

ENGINEERS PUBLISH FOUR NEW BULLETINS

Results Of Summer's Work By Experiment Station Workers.

The engineering experiment station has four new bulletins as a result of a summer's work. A bulletin on the "Volume Change Of Concrete" was prepared by Professors C. H. Scholer and E. R. Dawley of the department of Applied Mechanics. Especially accurate methods of measuring the change of concrete volume were developed so that the contraction and expansion taking place after various ages of the material could be measured. Another study in the cement field was prepared by Professors C. H. Scholer and L. H. Koenitzer.

"Farm Grinding of Grain and Forage" is the subject treated in a bulletin written by Professors W. C. Fenton and C. A. Logan of the department of agricultural engineering. Various types of mills, cutters and choppers, and combination mills are discussed. The labor and fuel costs are analyzed both in grain grinding and in roughage grinding.

Professor Scholer has prepared a new bulletin which contains entirely new data concerning the factors which affect the life of concrete, and laboratory methods of freezing and thawing specimens of concrete have been developed which have enabled the duplication in the laboratory of practical conditions.

DEAN VAN ZILE TALKS.

Gives Lecture To Freshmen Girls Friday.

In order that freshmen girls might become adjusted to college life as quickly as possible, Dean Mary P. Van Zile talked before a group of 235 first year women students in the auditorium Friday, September 25, on the subject of "The Orientation of the Freshman Girl." Dean Van Zile told the girls about the extra-curricular activities at this school, the social regulations, and the honorary societies. Dean Van Zile introduced Miss Kathleen Knittle, the new assistant to the dean of women, and Frances Bell, student assistant in Dean Van Zile's office this year. Both Miss Knittle and Miss Bell gave short talks to the girls.

Miss Eula Mae Currie, 28, who recently was promoted to the city editor's desk on the Kansas City Star, is vacationing in New York City, where she will visit Alice Nichols, 28.

EPISCOPALIANS BACK FROM DENVER MEET

Problems Facing Every Church Group Discussed—Three From Here Attend Assembly.

At the fourth triennial student assembly of the national student council of Episcopalian students held at Denver, September 21, to 25, there were four main problems which were brought before the meetings for discussion. They were not problems which affected the students of Episcopalian faith only, but were problems with which every college church group is faced.

In the eight sessions of the student pastors, student workers and students, questions were discussed fully and suggestions made as to the best methods in each case. "The churches of today have an inconsistency of treating students as children and expecting them to react as adults," said Rev. W. Brooke Stabler, national secretary for college work in the Episcopal church. "Students expect something more than a slap on the back and an invitation to come down to a student center and drink a cup of cocoa. That kind of religion does not attract those that are really interested and one finds that there are a lot of students that lose interest in the church because nothing more concrete in the way of religion is offered to them."

There were about 75 student pastors, student workers, and students from all over the country attending the meetings. Three students attended from Kansas State, three from Missouri university, one from South Carolina U., and one from Colorado university. Those attending from Kansas State were: Maureen Lewis, Manhattan; Doreen Davies, Clay Center; and Henry Allard, Topeka. They were accompanied by Rev. W. A. Jonnard and Mrs. Jonnard.

SIX-FOOT TELESCOPE BOUGHT

Apparatus Has Five Eyepieces and Five-Inch Objective—Important Work Possible.

Making the moon seem 500 miles away from the earth, instead of its actual distance of 238,000 miles, is one of the powers of the new six-foot long telescope purchased for use in the Kansas State physics department.

Prof. L. W. Hartel of the physics department, teaches a course in astronomy in which the telescope will be used. The instrument is mounted on a heavy wooden tripod and requires three men to transport its weight of 150 pounds.

The telescope has five eyepieces available for use and an objective of five inches. In the past, the largest telescope in the physics department had a two-inch objective. With the new instrument, nearly any point in the sky can be seen by the average person. Important work will now be made possible of the study of variable stars which are those stars which are bright for a time and then become dim or obscured.

THREE VETERANS RETURN TO WILDCAT TWO-MILE TEAM

Reasonably Successful Season Expected By Coach Haylett—Five New Men Out.

Track Coach Ward Haylett is looking forward to a reasonably successful season with his two-mile team this fall. There are three veteran men back from last year's team and one member of the squad from last year. There is also one letter man from the track team out for the squad, and at the present time there are five new men trying to make the team.

E. C. Black, Utica, is captain this year and a letter man of previous years. Lee Toddine, Dighton, and M. W. Pearce, Miltonvale, are the other two letter men back this year. J. C. Carter, Bradford, is the track letter man that is out for the team, and L. R. Daniels, Haigler, Neb., is the member of last year's squad that is back.

The new men that are showing promise of developing into good varsity material before the season is over are: Don Landon, Topeka; H. W. Allard, Topeka; H. H. Harris, Grinnell; M. E. Nixon, Manhattan; and L. E. Whipp, Belleville.

The team will have five meets this year, one with each school in the Big Six conference. The races will be run between the halves of the football games. The conference winner will be decided on a percentage basis.

The first race will be with Missouri university at Columbia, October 10. The next at Lawrence with Kansas university the following week end. The first home meet will be with Oklahoma, October 24. There will then be a week's rest until the team meets Iowa State at Ames on November 7. The schedule will be completed at the Nebraska game here November 14.

Women's Sports

Intramurals are getting under way with the beginning of practice for intramural archery scheduled for October 5 from 5 until 6 o'clock. Organizations are urged to sign up two girls for the members of the teams in archery. The girls selected must attend five out of six practices. Two practices per week will be held.

The organization will be divided into groups which will compete in three different meets. The final will be held October 26 when the winners will be selected for the class teams. The total score of the two girls will figure in the selection of the winners of both the intramural group winners and the class teams. In the meets each girl will shoot three arrows four times after which the total score will be taken.

Competition in these contests is usually taken with a high degree of interest and good sportsmanship. Girls are asked to watch the bulletin board in the gymnasium for further announcements and are urged to sign up for the sports. Miss Katharine Geyer, of the physical education department, will be in charge of the archery tournaments and competition.

Intramural swimming will proceed much in the same way as the archery with the instruction being given to each team by the senior majors in physical education. These seniors will act as coaches for the teams and will at the same time obtain valuable aid in technique. There will be six on each swimming team which will be made up of advanced and beginning swimmers. The organizations will be divided into groups and each group will compete in three meets. The winners will be determined by the total number of points received during the competition. After the group winners are chosen they will compete, and a selection of the class champions will be made. Miss Helen Saum of the department will be in charge of the intramural class swimming. Last year intramural and class swimming were featured but this is the first time archery has been used in this connection. It is being substituted for the same schedule in hockey, the latter being too dangerous and complicated for intramural use, according to departmental heads.

ROY GASTON DIES.

Former Kansas State Student Is Buried Here.

Roy Gaston, who attended Kansas State in the years '03 and '07, died Tuesday, September 22 at his home in Philadelphia, Penn., where he had been employed as an engineer. The body was brought to Manhattan and burial was made Friday. His daughter, Elizabeth Gaston, is a senior in industrial journalism here.

PLACED ON COMMITTEE.

Miss Ethel Arnold, associate professor in the department of art, has recently been appointed a member of the radio committee of Kansas State college.

Dale McMullen, freshman in industrial chemistry, spent Saturday and Sunday at his home in Phillipsburg.

DERBYISTS HOLD PEP MEET.

Y. W. C. A. Pilots and Helpers Launch Annual Membership and Finance Canvass.

A dozen pilots and their helpers totaling close to 100 in all, competing in the Women's Air Derby conducted by the Y. W. C. A., met in a rousing pep meeting last night in Calvin hall. Following the meeting they started on the membership and finance canvass which is intended to reach every woman student on the campus. The pilots and workers are assigned various housing districts for the purpose of efficient canvassing.

The derby will continue through the week to Thursday under the general direction of Frances Bell, Marysville; Edna Socolofsky, Tampa; Margaret Buck, Derby; and Daphne Smith, Manhattan.

A prize will be awarded the pilot and group of workers that see the greatest number of girls and secure the greatest amount in pledges or cash. The budget of the organization calls for $3,100.

In addition to the student drive, Dr. Martha Pittman, head of the department of foods, will have charge of a canvass among the faculty; Mrs. Arthur Peine, Manhattan, among the business men; and Mrs. Mills, Manhattan, among women of the town.

Sport Squibs

Nebraska seems to be in the Big Six race with a good team. Last year the Cornhuskers finished fourth in the conference and are determined to better that position this year. The reasons for optimism in the Nebraska camp are the coaching staff, reorganized during the past two seasons, and a wealth of material. The Cornhuskers, long known for "steam roller" tactics, are entering their third year under Bible, advocate of "open play, passes, and brainy football."

Bo McMillin, the slow talking, likable Kansas State coach, is breeding trouble for Big Six opponents this year. Bo, in previous years, has been handicapped by lack of material, and yet has given his other teams a hard fight. This year Bo has the material!

It is too early to make any predictions about Iowa State. They have a new coach, George Veenker, and their strength is still unknown. Veenker's predecessor, Noel Workman, had tough luck with his teams. He always but a hard fighting, well coached team on the field, but they wouldn't win. Maybe the worm will turn this year. At present no one knows. It's up to Veenker and his football squad.

Kansas university, the Big Six champions last year, seem to be potential champions. Of course they have lost a few good men, but they have other likely candidates to replace them. The team will be heavy and fast. And also well coached. The coaching staff includes Mike Getto, line coach; "Moon" Mullins, backfield coach, and Bill Hargiss, head coach.

All teams in the Big Six seem to have good prospects. This fall should see many hard fought games. The coaches are confident and are taking every precaution to have a winning team in every school, and have announced serious practice. They all intend to cut loose on game day.

Gwynn Henry is wearing a satisfied look these days. His team finished fifth in the Big Six last year and his freshman team was poor. But the fact remains Henry has a knack for turning out strong teams, and if he is satisfied with his material, watch his team go.

The organization's officers are Johnny Johtz, Abilene, president; W. L. Myers, Bancroft, vice-president; L. A. Pratt, Manhattan, secretary-treasurer.

Members of Friars other than the officers are: R. O. Blair, Coleman, Tex.; K. M. Fones, Kansas City, Mo.; R. C. Rohrdanz, Manhattan; Jake Chilcott, Jewell; F. L. Schooler, Hutchinson; R. C. Hay, Parker; A. R. Hrab, East St. Louis, Ill.; W. F. Hornsby, Manhattan.

Health Department

Athlete's Foot a Disease.

"Ringworm, or as it is commonly called, athlete's foot, is a scaly disease of the skin," says Dr. C. M. Stever, of the college health department.

"It is caused by a small germ or fungus growth which multiplies and spreads quite rapidly. It is estimated that at least 50 to 60 per cent of the people have the disease in some form. It is especially prevalent with those who frequent the gymnasium, and other floors, in their bare feet.

"It is hard to reach these germs with ordinary antiseptics on account of the fact that they are usually under the surface of the skin. It is difficult to have a standardized treatment. Each case must be studied and treated on a basis of clinical findings. Many cases are made much worse by scratching and by other infections. These have to be cured before the disease can be properly treated.

"Undoubtedly the best treatment is prevention. This consists of protecting the feet against the germ by the use of sandals, or some cheap foot-wear, when in places where the germ is likely to be found, also by proper bathing and care of the feet at all times.

"If once infected, one cannot hope to get rid of the disease without daily boiling of hose and proper disinfecting of shoes, as the germ grows as readily on leather and silk as it does on the skin.

"If troubled with any sort of foot trouble, students should immediately seek advice from the student health department. The longer one suffers from the disease, the more chance that your friends and relatives may contract it from association with you. Do not delay. If you have any indications that all is not well with your feet, see about it immediately. Delay is dangerous to yourself and to others."

EMPLOYS NEW SECRETARY.

Irene Todd, Topeka, who is junior in the division of home economics will be the secretary in the department of art this year. Miss Todd takes the place of Ruth Claeren, '30, who is teaching art in the high school at Coffeyville.

Clarence Baker, Greensburg, a freshman in general science, has been out of school for several days because of an infected foot.

At The Theatres

AT THE VARSITY.

"The Sky Raiders."

An airplane pilot who is a positive glutton for excitement is Lloyd Hughes in "The Sky Raiders," the picture showing at the Varsity Theater. Marceline Day plays opposite him in the air thriller. A person derives the same thrill watching a picture of this type, but in a greater degree of course, as he does reading some thrilling detective yarn. There is plenty of good flying combined with the fast action and romance which is relieved at times by wise cracks and comedy.—D. T.

AT THE WAREHAM.

"The Last Flight."

The series of stories concerning the escapades of the naive Nikki of Paris and her four restless aviator cavaliers which first appeared in Liberty from the pen of John Monk Saunders are aptly condensed in the picture "Last Flight." Richard Barthelmess and the very blonde Helen Chandler are featured, supported by the able Johnny Mack Brown, Elliot Nugent and David Manners. If you like psychological studies of nerve-strained ex-soldiers in the best Hemmingway manner, you'll like the picture.—J. B.

AT THE DICKINSON.

"Waterloo Bridge."

A melodrama of unusual variety is this picture, in which a young soldier on leave in London falls in love with a "soldiers' friend" after a meeting on Waterloo bridge during an air raid. Not knowing what kind of a girl she is, the young soldier, ably played by Kent Douglas, invites her to meet his

CHI OMEGA WINS EDGE IN SOCIAL BATTLE ON HILL

PI BETA PHI, ALPHA DELTA PI, AND KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA FOUND GUILTY.

SEE THE DAWN OF PEACE

Actives Of Three Sororities Guilty Of "Double Dating" With Rushees—Kappas Get Lightest Sentence.

What was at first regarded as "disciplinary action" by many on the hill has taken on all the aspects of open warfare, with the suspension of social privileges of three more sororities.

The latest guns to boom in the ranks of the Greeks were those of Chi Omega—and those guns were not ordinary rifles, they were more like cannons, for their fire brought down Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Delta Pi,
and Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Chi Omega 3, Others 1.

That makes four sororities "hors de combat" with the score 3-1 in favor of Chi Omega. Military experts are looking forward to a cessation of activities—there may have been more offenders, and if there were, they were evidently smooth enough to cover up their tracks.

Charges which caused the grievance committee of the Women's Panhellenic Council to suspend social privileges of the three were more identical. Actives of the sororities
"double-dating" with rushers were the charges.

Kappa Kappa Gamma escaped with the lightest sentence, having their privileges taken away for only three weeks. Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Delta Pi must do without social functions for nine weeks each.

One Member Explains.

"You see, it was like this," one of the offenders said, "an active and her date were in the same motor car with the rusher and her date. The active wasn't actively engaged in rushing the rusher, but even being in her presence constituted a violation of rush week rules."

"It's just too bad that more of the boys on the hill don't have cars," she added. "You can blame that condition on either the Board of Regents or the depression."

It is thought by many that this action will close all proceedings concerning violation of rush week rules. The sororities hope so and as one Chi Omega put it "I surely hope it is all over with now."

GARGOYLE CLUB ELECTS

Elmo Young Is President Of Organization—Dues Lowered.

Elmo Young, Hutchinson, will head the Gargoyle club, architectural organization, for the following semester. Other officers chosen at the meeting during seminar period yesterday are Lee Stafford, Republic, vice-president; Robert Alexander, Independence, Mo., secretary; Hed McCord, Manhattan treasurer, and Jack Brink, Marshall.

It was voted that semester dues
be lowered to twenty-five cents.
Members of the organization include upperclassmen in the architectural department.

ENGINEERS ON TRIP.

Forty Seniors Will Make Inspection Tour in Missouri.

Forty senior electrical engineers will make a four day inspection trip to points in Missouri, October 18 to 22. Their itinerary will include the Bagnell dam, industrial plants in St. Louis and Kansas City, and the University of Missouri at Columbia.

INDEPENDENTS MEET.

Donald Bowman Elected Political

Leader; Start Campaign.

A meeting of the independent
students of Kansas State college
was held Wednesday night in Alpha Beta-Franklin Literary society hall for the purpose of sponsoring a better understanding among independent students and to promote good fellowship. Both men and women students attended the meeting, which was sponsored by the Aggie Knights and presided over by Wilbur McMullen, Manhattan, president.
Donald Bowman, Manhattan, was elected political leader for the present semester, and plans were started for a campaign for the fall election of class officers to be held the latter part of this month.

Instructor Digs Up Leaden Slug; Stumps Geology Lab Class

You've probably heard the story of the fossil hunter, who found the bones of a long dead animal lying about the country, and immediately declared them to be those of a pre-historic mammoth. Upon later investigation, however, it was discovered that the remains of the creature were those of a domestic horse, that had been dead only a few years.

A similar incident took place on a recent geology hike, in which several amateur fossil hunters were busily engaged in picking up specimens. The instructor was busy, too, digging into the rocks, and occasionally picking up a fossil. After finding as many different kinds as possible, he returned to the class, and started explaining the nature of the fossils, and where they can be found.

"What kind of fossil is this?" the instructor asked, displaying before the class what appeared to be a very rare example.

The class was puzzled. "A bryozoa," someone suggested. "Naw,
it's a pelecypoda," another said.
The remaining members of the class disagreed. "How about a gastropoda, or an arthropoda,"
"Maybe it's a cephalopoda." "It must be a brachiopoda."

The instructor stopped the argument. "You're all wrong," he chuckled, "it's the lead out of a bullet."

FOUR TALKS ABOUT CHINA

Deaconess Phelps, Visiting Here,
Will Discuss Mission Work
Among Chinese.

Deaconess Katherine E. Phelps, recently returned from China, is a guest of Maureen Lewis at the home of Prof. and Mrs. L. V.
White, while in Manhattan. Deacness Phelps is scheduled to give four talks, at student forum today,
at the Women's Auxiliary of the Episcopal church this afternoon, to the Baptist Young People Sunday afternoon, and the Episcopal students club Sunday evening.

Deaconess Phelps for 15 years was connected with St. Hilda's school for girls at Wuchang, China, and since has been associated with Stuart's school at Anking. She recently returned to the United States following a break in her health but plans to return to China later.

Deaconess Phelps will discuss some phase of mission work in China, at the forum discussion this noon. The title of her talk has not been announced.

LOAN FUND MAY AID STUDENT DEPOSITORS

Efforts Are Being Made To Secure Permission For Use Of $875 From Last Year's Surplus.

Students financially embarrassed
by the recent failure of the Manhattan State bank may receive aid from the loan fund established last winter by 25 Manhattan business men and college faculty members
after the failure of the College
State bank.

At that time each of the men deposited $100 with C. E. Flossch of the Union National bank, the fund to be used in giving temporary aid to students up to 50 per cent of the amounts of their deposits. Since then, $65 of each $100 has been returned to the subscribers. An effort is now being made to get the subscribers' permission to use the remaining $875 plus interest in the present emergency.

President F. D. Farrell has so far received reports from 17 students and one organization showing total deposits of nearly $1,600 tied up in the defunct bank.

Mateel and Mildred Roberts were called home to Mankato September 30 by the illness of their brother.
They expect to return to classes
October 5.

PEPSTERS TAKE CHARGE.

Beginning Monday, the Purple Pepsters will call on every student at his rooming house or home in a two weeks' final in college subscribing to this paper. The women's pep organization will operate on a commission-bonus basis with a bus trip to the K. U. game at Lawrence as the prize to them.

The sixteen prizes offered to Collegian subscribers will still be offered. The grand prize is a trip to the University of West Virginia game or a complete man's or woman's wardrobe as an alternative prize. Other prizes offered to the subscribers

and free subscriptions.

On Program for Tonight's Pep Meeting

M. F. "MIKE" AHEARN

Above are three of the most energetic and well-known supporters of Kansas State. M. F. "Mike" Ahearn, director of athletics here, has made this college talked about in all of football land. Mike is representative of this district, which includes the Big Six and the Missouri Valley conference colleges and universities, on the National Football Rules committee. He is a former Wildcat coach whose teams made the sport pages daily.

H. H. "Doc" King, chemistry head, is in college lingo, a "good

H. H. "DOC" KING

fellow." He not only adds plenty of moral support to the local gridsters, but acts as faculty representative for the college in the Big Six conference, and consequently has to iron out all difficulties and problems which arise in the athletic fields.

Bo McMullen, Wildcat coach, was the quarterback playing in the Geneva college team, Danville, Ky., when it took Harvard for a trimming some years back. Mo has instilled into his men some of the fighting spirit the Praying Colonels are famous for.

Former Topeka Police Matron Enrolled Here

Enrolled among the agriculture students on the hill is Mrs. Viola Hunt, who until recently has been police matron of Topeka, for the past four years. Mrs. Hunt resigned her position to take a course at Kansas State in agriculture in view of entering the dairy business some time in the future. Mrs.
Hunt had been prominent in welfare work in Topeka for several years, and after her husband's death, accepted the position of matron at the request of the mayor of Topeka, a friend of the family.
She has found the work highly interesting, and at present is only taking a vacation from her past duties.

Mrs. Hunt expressed the hope that she might be able to complete a four year course here, but thinks it quite likely she will be back at her desk in Topeka within a year or two. Eventually she hopes to run a dairy, and she is preparing for that work now.

In her work at Topeka, Mrs.
Hunt has handled over 500 girls that have come under her department. She has run across hundreds of human interest stories in her work there. This is Mrs. Hunt's first year in college, although she has done a great deal of night school work since her graduation from Topeka high school.

Y. M. C. A. LEADERS TO MEET HERE SOON

Former Governor Sweet of Colorado
Will Attend Rocky Mountain Group Conference.

The Rocky Mountain Field council, an executive group of Y. M. C.
A. leaders from seven states in this region, will meet here Saturday, October 10, for its annual conference. Ex-Governor Sweet of Colorado and Ben Cherrington, head of the social service foundation at the University of Denver, are expected to be at the conference.

Representatives from Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Arizona, Nebraska,
Colorado, and other schools in Kansas will come here for the conference, the sessions of which will be held in the Presbyterian student center at 315 North Fourteenth street. Sessions will last until noon Sunday, October 11. Discussions of plans for the work of the Y. M. C.
A. in the Rocky Mountain section for the coming year will occupy most of the time of the delegates here.

Phil Lautz, La Junta, Colo., is
the Kansas State representative on the field council. Dr. A. A. Holtz, secretary of the college Y. M. C. A.,
and Rev. W. U. Guernant, Presbyterian student pastor, have been active in making plans for the conference here, and will attend the session.

PRESENT NEW CHEERLEADERS

Old Standbys, McMullen, Ahearn, And King, On Program To Instill Spirit Into Kansas State Fans.

Harse voices, sore feet, and football talk will be the order of the day following the first pep meeting of the year to be held tonight at the college auditorium. The time for the blow off is set for 7:30 and everybody and his little tin horn will be there. The band, all 105 of it, (count 'em), "Mike" Ahearn, director of athletics, "Doc" King, chemistry, Frank Root, assistant coach, Ray Spence, head cheerleader and his staff of five yell dispensers, are expected to extend themselves to the limit in starting Kansas State off on another football season.

Team Will Be Out.
If the old Wildcat spirit responds like the dopesters' prognostications
for this season's edition of Kansas Wildcats, the old town will sleep little between dusk and dawn. Head Coach Bo McMullen will have all of his "boys" out in front so everyone can get a good look at the team. The Wampus Cats, Purple Pepsters, and Friars will make their first concerted appearance with a rousing cheer. The remainder of the coaching staff is expected to attend to make the acquaintance of the freshmen.

Sous's "Wildcat March" will be played by Prof. Downey's 105 piece brass band. They will appear in their newly pressed uniforms with their polished instruments. All the old yells will be loosened again and it is understood that the Friars club has a few good yells that have never been heard on the Kansas State campus. This will be the only chance for the freshmen to learn the regulation college yells. "Alma Mater" has been revamped to fit
the new name, and it is expected that all freshmen will make the most of the occasion.

Free Show Or Else?

There is a rumor in the air to the effect that one of the local cinema houses will be either opened for the occasion or else. Cheer leaders chosen yesterday by "Mike" Ahearn and Prof. L. P. Washburn, both of the athletic department. Besides choosing Ray Spence, little jumping-jack from Fairbury, Neb., to head the cheer leaders; the following were elected to help in leading the spectators in the West Stadium: Dick McCord, Manhattan; Jim Norris, Kansas City; Virgil Bergman, Manhattan; Dick Gossett, Topeka; and "Hans" Fuetze who is expected to lead the Wildcat supporters to an even worse hushkiness since his brother Karl will be one of the K. U. cheerleaders.

VETS HOLD MIXER

New Students Are Guests Of American Veterinary Association.

Veterinary students were guests
last night of the Kansas State students' chapter of the Junior American Veterinary Medical association at a mixer held in their honor at the veterinary hospital from 8 to 10 o'clock. Approximately 125 were present.

The new president of the organization, W. F. Hornsby, Memphis, Tenn., introduced the following
speakers who gave short talks:
Dean R. R. Dykstra of the veterinary division; and Dr. William Mc-Leod, associate professor in the division. The program was held in the veterinary hall.

The mixer is an annual affair given by the association for the new students and freshmen. Refreshments were served.

AIR DERBY ENDS TODAY.

Reports Are Encouraging To Organization—Nears Goal.

Eleven groups of the Women's Air Derby conducted by the Y. W.
C. A. had reported to the Y. W.
secretary last night. Their reports showed a wide and encouraging interest in the organization and a close aim at the finance goal. Final reports due today, are expected to show a higher figure than last year in both membership and money raised.

Prof. E. T. Keith, acting head of outlined the methods of the department to 125 journalism students attending the department's first seminar of the year yesterday af-

Short talks were made by Maur-

Sigma Delta Chi; Rachel Lamprecht, president of Theta Sigma Phi; Edith Dobson, editor of the Collegian; H. C. Hofmann, busi-

NOTED SPEAKERS APPEAR BEFORE STUDENT FORUMS

Deaconess Katherine Phelps To Talk Today On Mission Work
Among Chinese.

Forum speakers for the month of October have been announced by Dr. A. A. Holtz, secretary of the college Y. M. C. A. The student forums, which are held during October and November and during two spring months, are under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. and are in direct charge of Esther Morgan, Hutchinson; and Wilbur McDaniel, Michigan Falls.

A special forum will be held today noon in the college cafeteria
at which time Deaconess Katherine E. Phelps, returned missionary from China, will talk on phases of mission work among Chinese women.
Deaconess Phelps has been connected with girls' schools in China for 23 years.

The first regular student forum will be held next Wednesday, October 7, when Harry E. Montgomery, editor of the Junction City Union, will discuss "Trials and Tribulations of a Newspaper Editor." Mr. Montgomery at present is involved in the $5,000,000 libel suit which Dr. J. R. Brinkley has brought against the Kansas City Star and Mr. Montgomery as its distributor in Doctor Brinkley's community.

D. F. A. Smith of Elizabeth, N. J., will discuss the Latin-American question the following Wednesday, October 14th. Doctor Smith has visited Central America several times and is prominent for his work in this field. While in Manhattan, he also will attend the Baptist state convention held that week.

October 22 has been set tentatively for the date of the student forum at which Dr. Arthur Holt will speak. Doctor Holt is professor of social ethics in the Chicago Theological Seminary of Chicago university, and is a former pastor of the First Congregational church of Manhattan.

"Problems Confronting Joe College and Betty Co-ed" will be the topic for October 28, when Dr.
Howard T. Hill, head of the department of public speaking will be the forum speaker.

Speakers for next month's student forums have not yet been announced.

TEAM OPTIMISTIC AS BATTLE WITH GORILLAS NEARS

WILDCATS READY TO POUNCE ON PITTSBURG TEACHERS IN SEASON'S OPENER.

CRONKITE OUT WITH INJURIES

McMillinmen Spend Last Practice
Session On Pass Defense;
Game Called at 2:00 O'clock
On Ahearn Field.

Every thing is set!

The Wildcats are waiting for a chance to start tearing the Pittsburg Gorillas to bits when the official season opens here tomorrow at 2 o'clock. With prospects of the best team in many years, the time is only too long until the battle begins. The Pittsburgh Teachers slightly outweigh the Wildcats but the difference is easily made up in experience and superior strategy by which the local gridsters expect victory.

The McMullen crew has been hard at work for the past three weeks and Bo has conditioned his men in such a way that they will out fight any team that they come up against. It is fight that wins football games. Every day for the past week Coach McMullen has been scrimmaging his men against the varsity B squad and only a few times did the B team ever make a single yard through the varsity line.
Much time has been devoted to pass defense. Blue Howell's men seem to have a great fancy for throwing passes and it will be with great difficulty that their air attack will be stopped.

Hold Dummy Scrimmage.
Last night the Kansas State crew held dummy scrimmage against the B team. The practice session was devoted to pass defense and other important items which the coach had not mentioned earlier in the season.

Ralph Graham, big sophomore fullback, will probably be the successor to Nigro, who piloted the Aggie team through the 1929 season. Graham is the only sophomore who could even start to fill the shoes of Nigro and with another season or two he will be far in advance of last year's captain, if such a thing is possible.

Wiggins Will Play.

George Wiggins, two letter back is also in the best of condition. Wiggins, who has been nursing a leg injury from last year, has completely recovered and will be ready to go at the sound of the referee's whistle.

Ray McMullen, two letter man and nephew of the football coach will probably be the signal barker
during the coming season. McMillin Jooks better this year than any time during his college career and the team expects much of him during the coming season. R. B. Smith, Manhattan, is the understudy of McMillin, and will also see much action during the season.

End Positions Divided.

The probable halfbacks are: El-den Auker, Norcatur, and two letter man; Emmet Breen, El Dorado;

Thomas Bushby, Belleville; Glenn Harsh, El Dorado, letter man; and Leland Shaffer, Dodge City. It will be a toss-up which backs get into the game but chances are the letter men will be chosen for the starting lineup. Shaffer may be out on account of injuries.

The end positions are divided among four men: Captain Henry Cronkite, Belle Plaine, two letter man; Paul Fairbanks, Topeka, letter man; Shelby Neely, Hopewell,
one letter man; and Dan Blaine, El Dorado. Captain Cronkite will probably be kept from the game because of a leg injury.

Experienced Center Back.

The tackles that will see action
in the Pittsburgh game are: Blair
Forbes, Leavenworth; Melvyn Wertzberger, Alma, or Alvin Stephenson, Clements, two letter man;
and Neil Weybrew, Wamego, letter man. The letter men will probably be given first choice.

Guards in the starting line-up probably will be Walter Zeckser, Alma, letter man; and Adolph Hraba, East St. Louis, two letter man. Several sophomores may see action, but the old men will probably be in there when the gun goes off.

The center of the line will be held down by two letter men: Lloyd W.
Michael, Lawrence; and Harry Has-ler, Junction City. These men should show great power in the center of the line during the coming season.

ANNUAL SEEDMEN'S FIELD DAY HERE

Throckmorton, Mohler, Laude, Speak Before Visitors—Demonstration Held.

Kansas Seedmen's annual field day was held here Tuesday under the auspices of the Kansas Board of Agriculture, and the U. S. D. A.
and the college department of agriculture. H. H. Laude of the agronomy department gave a talk on "Sorghum Varieties of Kansas," and Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, head of the agronomy department, addressed the meeting on "Standardization of Sorghum Variety Names."
The address of welcome was made by J. C. Wohler, secretary of the department of agriculture of Kansas.

This meeting, a sorghum variety study for seedmen, included a demonstration of many sorghum
varieties on the agronomy farm, furnishing a valuable picture and an interesting lesson. The purpose of the field day is to encourage the seedmen to render service to agriculture as a result of their own findings.

fessor in institutional economics, is the author of the article "Adequate Diets for Sororities and Frater-

the American Dietetic association.
The article treated the research work done by Ethel Trump, a graduate student, on deficiencies of diets in organized houses and also the methods correcting the inadequacies. This journal is published quarterly by the association.

condition is reported as being satisfactory.

THREE ROUSING CHEERS.

Wampus Cats this year have decided to become an active organization. After several years of doing nothing more than jumping around in front of the stadium, they have attempted to sponsor what they rightfully should sponsor. The pep meetings. But their plans were foiled. However, officers of the organizations state all members will appear at pep meetings, and following the first one, will give stunts at both the meetings and the games the following day.

There are too many organizations on the campus like Wampus Cats was before it suddenly came to life. There is no place in the busy college student's life for societies which mean nothing but dues each month, and a picture in the yearbook, plus the name of it tacked onto his picture when the member graduates. It has been said this campus, like others, is over-organized. Yes, over-organized, but not over-active.

The Collegian is glad to see the Wampus Cats acquiring the spirit rumor credited the organization having in former years. The 30 members could and should assist considerably in arousing enthusiasm at the various athletic meets throughout the year.

Besides those in the stadium won't be so critical of the "fellas down there by the cheerleaders" if they do something besides make ornaments of themselves.

OBITUARY.

In a few weeks, if history does not fail to repeat itself, Kansas State will have another class election. There will be political caucuses at which a noble attempt will be made to distribute the nominees equally among the sorority and fraternity groups, with an independent nominee thrown in now and then. There may or there may not be platforms on which the parties advocate this or that or nothing, it really doesn't matter. There will be handbills posted on the sidewalks, there may be a brass band, and maybe some paint will be thrown on a sorority or fraternity house by the opposing party.

As a climax to the excitement, perhaps one-third of the student body will take time to vote, and a devotional leader will be elected for the senior class, who probably doesn't even have a Bible here at school, and a freshman will be elected president of his class who doesn't have vocal power enough to make himself heard to his classmates.

But it actually makes no difference whether the devotional leader knows his Bible or whether the freshman president can conduct a meeting, for neither of them will ever have to perform their duties. Last year there were no class meetings or activities of any kind. After election the newly honored class officers had nothing to do except see that their pictures got in the Royal Purple.

What's the use of all this bellyhoo over figureheads? Why have class elections when the classes are not organized? College politics are nothing except a chance for fraternities and sororities to ally themselves against each other. Why not do away with class elections this year? Class spirit is dead, let's bury the figureheads with it.—R. L.

STUCK IN THE MUD.

Some 300 parents have signed permits sent out by the College thus allowing their sons or daughters to drive cars within the city limits of Manhattan and on the campus of Kansas State. Some 300 students wish to drive their cars on the campus and in as much as there is no reason to drive on the campus unless they may also stop there, it is reasonable to believe that these 300 cars must have a parking space.

For as long as the average senior can remember, he has had to park on Kansas dirt which has a tendency to absorb a goodly amount of the Kansas rainfall. Many times that senior has entered the classroom with a bit of that Kansas dirt hanging to his shoes which may at some time or another have been shined and repaired at no small cost to the senior.

So a long line of seniors have waded Kansas mud to attend classes. They have been patient and have patiently explained to visiting parents that the school could not afford to spread a few loads of sand just to help keep mud out of the classroom and the students in good humor. For a long time these upperclassmen have passed on out into the world without doing anything about it. Are you students who soon enough will pass on to make room for those to come, going to let this thing continue? Are you going to keep the "campus mudhole"—or are you going to remove this campus sore?

No car runs quite as well after its gears have been ground for a solid hour in a mudhole—no finish is quite so bright after it has been spotted with Kansas mud! No temper is quite so peaceable after such wasted time! Would you have your parents park their cars in such a place when they come to visit you? Will you ask them to wade mud if it should rain before the "Parents' Day" game?

A united student body can make the parking space look better than a common pig pen.—E. R. C.

THE SNOOPERS

If Bo McMillin's boys fight as hard to win football games as the Friars' club and the Wampus Cats did to see which of the two will conduct pep meetings, we have 44 All-American men already.

The Friars' club, Freshmen, is a group of twelve owlish seniors who get together to pat themselves on the back. The Wampus Cats were organized before prohibition and since 1919 have had little to do except take up space in front of the west stadium during football games. Both decided that the other was muscling in on the other fellow's racket and set out this fall to see that pep meetings were conducted along the proper lines. Each chose cheer leaders (out of their own clique) and called a pep meeting for tonight. After considerable verbal combat it was decided that there should be a pep meeting and that one of the two will run it. The outcome will be interesting.

The cheer leaders were selected by the athletic department heads (as has always been) and the pep meeting will be conducted by "Bill" Guerrant (it was ever thus!).

Meanwhile, the hair pulling up on Sorority Slough grows more and more intense. Of all the dampish things this takes the prize. Pan-Hel rules were made to be broken and everyone else knows it. There was never a rush week but that someone didn't get "bumped" and start a yammer. But when old pals became neighbors they lost all sense of sportsmanship and started mud throwing. And now it isn't even safe to live at the dorm without constant fear of someone coming along to lift your "social" privileges.

Yea, Wildcats!

THE LITANY OF WASHINGTON STREET.

By Vachel Lindsay.

reviewed by
 Ruth Wilkerson.

Anyone who thinks Vachel Lindsay has no sense of humor should read his "Litany of Washington Street." The book is written chiefly in prose—rather of an oratorical style—but is enlivened here and there by poetry—after a Whitman form.

Lindsay characterizes the book as "kind of a Washington's birthday, Lincoln's birthday, Whitman's birthday, and Jefferson's birthday book."

The stress is put on Washington and Whitman. Lindsay advocates ranking Whitman as a statesman. Instead of saying "Whistler, Whitman, and Poe," he wants people to say "Jefferson, Lincoln, and Whitman." Lindsay believes Whitman quite emphatic in his patriotism—saying "flag" only when he means red—white—and blue. According to the "Litany" no decent town, with more than one street, is without its Washington street—the other, of course, being Main Street).

The book is one of whimsical satire—exceedingly well done. One finds such things as: "Let us solemnly and gallily observe: Washington's birthday, February 22, with street parades; Jefferson's birthday, April 2, with great speech forums; Lincoln's birthday, February 12, with genuine honors to those he emancipated; Whitman's birthday, May 31, with new, great, maypole dances."

About Thomas Jefferson, Lindsay says: "Some people think they are clever when they have brought about a 99-year lease. Thomas Jefferson has taken a thousand-year lease on U. S. A. thought, and then perhaps he will come into full possession. The first thing to be noticed in an election campaign is the number of quotations from Jefferson used by the leaders of both parties to fortify whatever position they may take."

Football's not the only sport popular on the hill this fall. Students are all out for the gum chewing squad. Several likely candidates have been observed at the varsities, and in the classrooms. Points to be considered by those eligible are being discussed and argued on, with no agreement reached. The low cost of the product with which they work is said to be the biggest selling point in adding to the already large aggregation of jaw exercisers. It is hoped the number out will be reduced prior to the big games when others than the regular attendants will be out for the dances.

AT THE DICKINSON

"Penrod and Sam"
 Perhaps Hollywood knows more about what the public wants than our favorite portrayer of boyhood, Booth Tarkington, but in any event "Penrod and Sam" has undergone extensive changes via the Hollywood route. Enough of the original story is left, however, to provide good entertainment. Leon Janney is worth seeing in the ably played role of Penrod.—J. B.

AT THE VARSITY.

"Reaching For the Moon."
 Hilarity seems to be the main issue of the Douglas Fairbanks picture that is now showing at the Varsity theatre. The picture, "Reaching For the Moon," shows that Doug is still in training for his hand spring antics, and the movie producers keep him doing this along with an occasional yip and yell which are so common in the passing western. But these ventures of the star keep the evening from getting dull, and it makes a clever picture from a very hopeless story. Bebe Daniels carries the feminine lead in the story.—J. R.

AGGIE POP RULES SET

W. A. A. HOLDS PARTY FOR FRESHMAN WOMEN

Annual Get-Acquainted Affair Made Up Of Games, Stunts, Talks.

Approximately 80 girls were present last night at the annual Women's Athletic association party given by the organization for the freshman and new student girls. The purpose of the party is to make the new girls acquainted with W. A. A.

The program was made up of games, stunts and talks. Givesta Siever, president of W. A. A., introduced the sponsors of the organization. Members of the "K" fraternity, Lucille Nelson, Jamestown; Galvesta Siever, Manhattan; Rachel Lamprecht, Manhattan; Esther Hobson, Kingman; Ruth Silkens, Dell Rapids, S. D.; Maxine Wickham, Manhattan, and Alice Brill, Westmoreland, presented a stunt.

Alice Brill talked on "What 'K' Fraternity Is and How to Get a 'K'." Marjorie Lyles, Saffordville, talked on "Purple Peppers." "What and How to Belong to W. A. A." was explained by Betty Wagstaff, Topska.

The girls in charge of the party were Evelyn and Ernestine Young, Arkansas City, games; Marlene Campbell, Hollis, advertising; Emily McKenzie, Plainville, eats, and Alice Brill stunts.

Leonard Reese spent the week end at his home in Abilene.

NO BEAUX-ARTS ENTRIES.

Juniors and seniors in the department of architecture are not planning to submit their work to the contests conducted by the Beaux-Arts School of Design this year, says Prof. Paul Weigel, of the department of architecture. The entrance fee has been raised to $15 in place of the $5 fee last year, and the added expense is prohibitive. However, if individual students prefer to enter the contests, it is optional with them.

TO SPEAK ON POLICY

Dean Margaret Justin and Mrs. Bessie Brooks West will speak at a meeting of all graduate students and major instructors in the division of home economics, Tuesday, September 29 at 4:00 o'clock in L58. The purpose of the meeting is to explain the policy of the division as to the acceptance of candidates for a master's degree.

Martha Wilson and Wayne Rinehart visited Saturday evening at the home of Miss Wilson's mother in Blue Rapids.

MANY TRYOUT FOR THEATRE

250 Players Report to H. Miles Heberer Who Cuts Number to 130; More Talent Shown.

More than 250 students reported to H. Miles Heberer, director of Manhattan Theatre, in answer to his call for tryouts for the first three plays to be presented this season.

Last night Heberer reported that the number had been cut to 130 players from which he will select the cast for "Broadway," the first play of the season which is to be presented October 30 and 31. He will also cast his next two productions from this group. There were but 35 freshmen who applied to Heberer, which indicated that interest in dramatics was far greater than any time since the Manhattan Theatre's organization five years ago.

Heberer expressed the belief that his material for this year's cast was far better than any that he had experienced here. "The players seem to show far more enthusiasm in their work, now that competition for parts is stronger and greater. They show more talent than any group ever to try out." Parts will be cast soon and an announcement of the players in "Broadway" will be made next week.

The sale of season tickets at reduced prices to students was continued at the auditorium box office and it was reported that the choice seats were being rapidly reserved.

Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Atkins of Hoisington spent Sunday with their daughter Katherine, who is a sophomore in the division of general science.

RESCH BUILDS MODEL OF PROPOSED BELL TOWER

Model Taken On Beef Train Last Summer—Exhibited at Kansas Fairs.

A model of a proposed campanile for Kansas State college is on exhibition on the third floor of the engineering building. Though there is no assurance at the present time that the tower will be built, Niles Resch, senior architectural student who spent 450 hours last summer in building the model, believes that it will eventually be completed.

"The model has been constructed," stated Resch, "with the idea of inciting interest on the part of the students and faculty. There must be a beginning somewhere and though President F. D. Farrell has not been sounded out very thoroughly on the proposition, there are a great number of students and faculty members already interested."

Resch, in continuing to speak of the possibilities of building the tower, said, "If such a proposal goes through, it will have to be taken care of by popular subscription. So far there has been a fund of $2,000.00 donated by the graduating classes of the last three years for the purpose of buying chimes."

There has been much talk of where the tower could be built in case the money were raised. "In my estimation," stated Resch, "there are only two logical places where the tower could be erected. It could either be in the quadrangle north of the library and south of the ag building or it could be in the quadrangle south of the library and east of the shops."

In case it should be erected the tower would not be a memorial to any one class or person, but it would be a gift to the college to be revered by future students and Kansas State graduates.

The model is approximately three feet high and was constructed by carving the model in plaster and then making an aluminum cast. The carving and casting of the large window alone took 20 hours. The whole tower is painted the color of natural limestone to give one an accurate impression of how the finished product would look. In the model there are 40 bells. Resch explained that it would not be necessary to have this number in the finished tower. "Thirteen bells is the minimum number that may be used in playing the chimes, but the tower would be built so that it would accommodate 48 bells."

The model was finished this summer and taken on the beef train where it was estimated that it was viewed by over 110,000 people. It was then put on exhibition at the Kansas Free fair in Topeka and later sent to the fair at Hutchinson.

HOME ECONOMIC NEWS MAY HAVE NEW NAME

Division Is Sponsoring Contest For Title—Will Award Winner $5.00.

Some bright student at Kansas State is going to reap five dollars for a few minutes thought.

Miss Ethel Arnold, chairman of the publicity committee of the home economics division is announcing a contest for a new name for the division's publication, The Home Economics News. Five dollars is to be awarded to the person submitting the best name for the publication. The title must incorporate the names or be suggestive of Kansas State and home economics. Contestants must send suggested names together with their own names to Miss Arnold through the college post office before October 10. The committee reserves the right to not award the prize if enough good names are not submitted.

"The Home Economics News" is changing its name to prevent confusion with a commercial magazine of the same name to make the publication more characteristic of the college and of the division. The local magazine, which is devoted to news of the division, will now become a publication of students in the division of home economics. It is similar to the Iowa Homemaker, a publication from Iowa State at Ames, Iowa.

Loren Elliott of Clay Center spent the week end in Salina on business.

Applicants Must Have 32 Points for Preceding Two Semesters.

Several changes have been made in the requirements for optional class attendance for juniors and seniors. According to the new rulings, not less than 32 points must be made for the two preceding semesters. In the past it has been the rule that a B average in at least 16 hours be made during the preceding semester.

The new requirement of 32 points means that students in the general science division carrying a full assignment of 15 hours must make two points more than a B average. In addition, applicants for cut privileges must have no grade, including physical education, below passing.

BELL & LUTZ

OUTFITTERS TO THE KANSAS WILDCATS

Sport Squibs

The Kansas State football squad will battle a veteran team in its initial game with Pittsburg teachers Saturday. The Pittsburg boys are heavy and fast and in their first game last week against the Rolla School of Mines the Gorilla line-up was composed of nine lettermen and two freshmen. Although they lost the game 19 to 7 they looked, mighty good, and Blue Howell, the Pittsburg coach, will not doubt have a much better eleven due to the experience gained last Saturday.

The football roster containing the names of the Pittsburg players was received by the Kansas State coaches this week, and it has given the mentors something to think about. There isn't a man on the squad that weighs less than 170 pounds, indicating that Coach Blue Howell has the heavy men necessary to make his type of football produce results. The Teachers' team plays from a tandem formation similar to the Nebraska formation during the time Bear coached the Cornhuskers. This is a hard driving formation adapted to the Pittsburg material, the strongest plays being off tackle, end run, inside tackle, and line bucks.

The Kansas State team is not in the best of shape for tomorrow's game as Captain Cronkite, Zeckser, Hrabas, Fairbanks, Shaffer and Lang are injured, however, most of these men have only slight injuries and will see service in the game. Shaffer, a powerful sophomore, is out of it temporarily, having been released from the hospital just recently.

The Teachers have 15 lettermen on the squad and many of their names are familiar to football followers in the state. Some of the outstanding men are Kahler, quarterback; Browne, tackle; and Vanek, end. Kahler is the passing and line plunging threat for the Gorillas and his work last year caused many people to call him the most dependable man on the Pittsburg roster. Browne was an all-conference selection last year, and Vanek has played football in three schools and is an excellent wingman. He spent his freshman year in Kansas State and his sophomore year at Bethany.

The Kansas State squad includes several promising sophomores this year and Graham, Wurtzberger, Hanson, Bushby, Forbes, Shaffer, Breen, Mills, Blaine, Dalton, Doll, and Neely will probably be in the game tomorrow. Graham and Breen are two men of which much is expected, as Graham was the star of last year's freshman team and Breen has had former experience at Bethany. Both have shown up to an advantage in practice.

Saturday's game should be a thriller. Last year in the first game of the season against Washburn, Bo limited the team to four plays. In the first half the Wildcats didn't score, so Bo gave them two more plays in the last half. They scored a touchdown on each. This year, if the Pittsburg team proves to be a tough opponent, the Wildcats may use everything they have. The Kansas State squad shows improvement this year, especially in down the field blocking, which is necessary for long gains. Many times last year a backfield man broke into the open but didn't get away. This year things are going to be different and the men that can't block in the open field will be conspicuous by their absence from the lineup.

Intramurals

18 ORGANIZATIONS COMPETE
Eighteen intramural organizations will compete in soccer this fall, according to Prof. L. P. Washburn, director of intramural athletics. The soccer games will start next week.

The organizations that will compete in soccer are Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Rho Chi, Alpha Tau Omega, Beta Pi Epsilon, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Sigma Phi, Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sigma, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Tau, Phi Sigma Kappa, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Tau Kappa Epsilon and Aggie Knights.

BOYD IS SECRETARY.
F. W. Boyd, Phi Delta Theta, was elected intramural secretary at a meeting of intramural managers Monday night. Intramural managers representing each of the 23 fraternities and one representing the Aggie Knights were present.

There were no changes of consequence made in the rules or regulations covering intramural sports. The activities will start with horse shoes, Monday.

INTRAMURAL MANAGERS
The intramural managers of the organizations are: Hugh J. Hamman, Phi Kappa; L. O. Whitted, Sigma Phi Sigma; E. S. Wild, Aggie Knights; J. R. Knox, Lambda Chi Alpha; H. H. Gregory, Alpha

Rho Chi; Earl Stegman, Beta Pi Epsilon; Earl L. Simms, Delta Sigma Phi; F. W. Boyd, Phi Delta Theta; G. Bertrand Harrop, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; J. M. Raven, Phi Lambda Theta; S. H. Keller, Alpha Kappa Lambda; N. A. Nelson, Phi Kappa Tau; C. D. McNeal, Phi Kappa Alpha; F. G. Knorr, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Andrew Skradski, Delta Tau Delta; Warren Larson, Phi Sigma Kappa; A. Atwood, Alpha Tau Omega; J. C. Carter, Alpha Gamma Rho; Jack E. Brink, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Maurice L. Gunn, Beta Theta Pi; Maurice Thompson, Kappa Sigma; Floyd Tempero, Acacia; De Lynch, Sigma Nu; and Lester Chilson, Farm House.

WOMEN HORSESHOE PITCHERS
Although some men have objected strenuously to the way modern women are mimicking their customs, the American Horse Shoe Pitchers association has seen fit to include in the rules of national collegiate competition that women can compete as well as men. This was one of the rules governing a national inter-collegiate contest to be held this year.

The champion will be determined by comparing results of individual score sheets, certified by the director of athletics or some one of authority from the school where the person is attending. Each contestant is allowed to throw 50 shoes and the one making the greatest number of "rings" will be declared champion. Each student may turn in ten individual scores.

The first part of the contest will close January 1 and a pair of chromium-plated pitching shoes in a leather carrying case will be awarded the person who has the highest score at that time. The second part of the contest will end March 15 and the second prize will be given April 1.

Intramural managers, who met with Prof. L. P. Washburn Monday night were in favor of the inter-collegiate competition and it is likely that the persons who are high in the intramural contests which start Monday will turn in their best scores for national recognition.

Women's Sports

out of six practices which will come twice a week. Each organization must submit two girls for competition in intramural archery.

RIDING CLUB TRYOUTS SOON

Due to the lack of students interested in obtaining a riding course for the first nine weeks of the semester riding classes have been discontinued and regular classwork will be retained. Tryouts are to be made soon for the Riding club and women may practice on their own initiative for competition to follow. Students interested are asked to watch the bulletin board at the gymnasium for announcements concerning tryouts. The riding club usually holds practice each Saturday in the city park and certain achievement and improvement tests are scheduled.

There will be a corporate communion for Episcopal students at the Episcopal church Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, followed by a breakfast. This is the first of the monthly meetings, which are held the first Sunday morning of each month. All Episcopal students are urged to attend.

Who's Who On the Gridiron

Harry Hasler has survived grid practice sessions so far, but received a cut on his head when he fell on a cement sidewalk.

Eldon Teter, one of Bo McMillin's aspiring linemen, claims the record for having the fewest dates while in college. So far, at least, he has had only one date—a case of brotherly affection. Eldon owns a car.

Glen Harsh, Aggie Rexall cowboy, tried on a new suit in an Aggieville haberdashery recently, examined himself critically, and caustically remarked, "I'm not as hot looking as I thought I'd be." A week's growth of football whiskers adorned his countenance.

In the personage of Pete Fairbanks the Wildcat football squad has a prima donna in the flesh. He concerts every night after practice.

George Wiggins, veteran Kansas

State fullback, has acquired a swollen nasal appendage as the result of his contact with one of Oss Maddox's beefy linemen during practice session.

Esther Dorgan spent the week end at her home near Council Grove.

A nerve system for energetic skyscrapers

Long before the huge bulk of a new skyscraper looms up, Bell System men have planned its nerve system—the maze of telephone cables and wires so vital to its business activities.

From the inception of a building design, telephone engineers work hand in hand with the architects. They determine the telephone needs of thousands of future tenants. Then they plan cable shafts rising from cellar to roof and the grid of under-floor ducts that will put telephones within easy reach of every occupant.

There's a real thrill in working out these plans, for without telephones the immense structures of today would hardly be practicable.

QUILL CLUB OPENS ANNUAL CONTEST

Writers Are Asked To Submit Manuscripts Prior To November
2—New Rules Set.

Students wishing to submit manuscripts for qualification to membership in Quill club are urged to start work on them, as the date for closing has been set for November 2, less than four weeks from now.

Membership in Quill club, which is a national organization of college writers, is based on the quality of original manuscripts submitted by students. The material may be either prose or poetry, but must indicate the writer's ability and originality. Any student may compete.

Papers must be typed, double spaced on standard sized paper. Contributors are asked to type their names on a separate sheet of paper and enclose it in a sealed envelope, which may be attached to the manuscript, thus avoiding any possibility of partiality in the decision of the membership committee.

Miss Helen Hemphill, of the department of industrial journalism, is chairman of the membership committee.

N-I-B-B-L-I-N-G-S

It wasn't so bad when two comedians, affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma, drank a bottle of pop apiece plus candy bars and esquinio pies at the game Saturday, but when they stopped the boy selling hot dogs, the crowd gasped. Then, (and it all comes from good authority) they both went to Aggieville after the game and drank milk chocolates. Then they ate a big dinner. Then they probably had nightmares. . . In another section of the stands three girls, hithering and always saying, "Well, he said to me—" had to be poked when the crowd stood up to yell. . . A girl with orange colored hair wearing a suit that just matched that hair, and her attentive boy friend at the game Saturday had the crowd smiling with them when they smiled to each other. . . One freshman believed in carrying out the school colors. He came to the game Saturday with purple pants on. . . The new member of the commerce faculty is not married, but "looks like he has a good chance, though" says one of his fellow classroom advisors.

FARRELL PROBES THE TEXTBOOK SITUATION HERE

CONDUCTS INVESTIGATION
ALONG WITH OTHER STATE INSTITUTIONS.

PRESIDENT ISSUES EDICT

Average Cost of Books Reduced 99 Cents This Year in Some Courses; Changes Only
In 53 Classes.

President F. D. Farrell announced yesterday the result of investigation conducted at Kansas State college simultaneously with inquiries at Fort Hays Kansas State college, the University of Kansas, Kansas State Teachers' college of Emporia, and Kansas State Teachers' college of Pittsburg.

On the basis of the report given out by the president, the number of changes made in textbooks here this fall appear not to have been exorbitant. A large number of students at each of the state schools make a practice each semester of selling their old books and of buying second-hand ones at the various book exchanges in their respective towns.

K. U. Council Wanted Action.
The Men's Student council at the University of Kansas recently requested Chancellor E. H. Lindley to prohibit frequent changes in textbooks at Mount Oread.

President Farrell's statement follows:

The College offers instruction in 1,071 subjects, or courses. Textbooks are used in a large proportion of these courses. This fact should be kept in mind by anybody considering the following paragraphs because where so many courses are offered some changes in textbooks are inevitable virtually every year. These 1,071 courses are offered in 44 departments.

Of these 44 departments, 22 or 50 per cent, have made no changes from one textbook to another. These 22 departments offer a total of more than 400 courses.

New Editions Required.
The other 22 departments offer a total of more than 600 courses. Changes from one textbook to another were made this fall in 41 of these courses. These changes involve less than 4 per cent of the courses offered in the College.

Of these 41 changes, 10 are changes from old editions (several of which had been in use for ten years or longer) to new editions. In Durham, Dean Mary P. Van Zile, Prof. and Mrs. F. C. Penion, and Dean and Mrs. R. R. Dykstra.

Of the 41 changes, 31 involve changes in textbook titles. In 10 courses, the average cost of textbooks now would be $4.00 a course. The average cost of textbooks in the same 31 courses this year is $3.01 a course; a difference of 99 cents a course in favor of the books in use this year, to say nothing of their better adaptation.

Summarizes Situation.
In 12 courses textbooks are being used this year for the first time. Several of these twelve are new courses. For the others satisfactory textbooks have not been available heretofore.

To summarize: The changes in textbook requirements involve only 53 of the more than 1,000 courses offered. Of these 53 courses:

Twelve (several of them new) require the use of textbooks for the first time.

Ten require a change from old editions to new editions, but in some instances students having copies of old editions are permitted to use them.

Thirty-one require changes of title, but the new books cost an average of 99 cents a course less than the books used last year in the same courses.

In November, 1929, the college adopted a policy of requiring the approval of the department head and the dean concerned before any change may be made in the textbook requirement in any course.

From the facts stated above it appears that the policy has made for conservatism in the changing of textbook requirements.—(Signed) F. D. Farrell, President.

DIRECTORY OUT SOON.
The Student Directory, being published this year under the direction of L. E. Platt of the Student Council, will be ready for distribution October 14. While the directory last year came out on October 7, this year's is being completed in the same length of time since the college year commenced one week later this fall.

Graham McNamee Most Listened-To Man Around The Campus During World Series

Students hurrying around over the campus—students late to classes—students not attending classes at all—and a more or less puzzled faculty asking why—Why? The world series, classic of sport world classics, is on. Dodge into the athletic office between your one and two o'clocks and get a slant on what the men of the campus are thinking, talking, doing. Make a dash to the Canteen or the Palace or any little hamburger joint along the way—and you'll hear nothing but baseball, baseball, baseball a la Graham McNamee.

And who is this Pepper Martin everyone is raving about? The fellows would rather talk about him than their car or their last date—and that's going some. And just who is Al Simmons? Girls are being terribly let out of discussions, and they're wondering what it's all about, and if so, why? And what does Wild Bill Hallahan have to do with things in general, and that Burleigh Grimes, who throws a spit (awful word) ball?

By way of explanation, let us mention that the St. Louis Cardinals and the Philadelphia Athletics, champions of their respective leagues, are out there on the diamond (at present in Philadelphia) fighting for the baseball championship of the world. And Pepper Martin bids fair to be the hero of the whole series, and Al Simmons the constant A-home run threat, has already socked two over the fence. And Wild Bill Hallahan

W. C. T. U. LEADER SPEAKS

Mrs. Lillian Mitchner Talks On "Visions" At Assembly This Morning.

Mrs. Lillian Mitchner, for twenty years president of the Kansas Women's Christian Temperance Union, is speaker for this morning's assembly program. "Visions" will be the subject of her address. Mrs. Mitchner is here to preside over the state convention of W. C. T. U. workers, which is being held here Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Mitchner's zeal for her work has made her one of the best known national speakers for temperance. She has travelled from New York to California and from Oregon to Georgia in the last twenty-one years, covering nearly every state in the union.

Last summer she stumped Missouri, visiting 18 cities in her campaign to combat sentiment for repeal of the dry law.

The W. C. T. U. was organized in Kansas in 1879. Mrs. Mitchner joined the local union at Newton, Kansas, in 1882. Later she was elected recording secretary of the state organization. In 1910 she was elected state president. Last fall she was re-elected to the office for the twenty-first time.

For three years, about twelve years ago, Mrs. Mitchner was matron of the girls' industrial school at Beloit. Here she was accepted more as friend or mother by the girls, than as a matron.

Mrs. Mitchner has been in great demand as a public speaker, and has fulfilled the requests as far as possible. She has no secretary, and takes care of her correspondence herself. Although she finds her self very busy in her public work, she is still much interested in her home and family.

COLLEGIAN ASSISTS IN NEWS BROADCAST

College and Downtown Newspapers Furnish Material for Daily Program
Over Radio Station KSAC.

Events of campus life are being broadcast daily, except Saturday and Sunday, in a special news service of KSAC, the college broadcasting station. This service is announced by Maurice DuMars, Agra, junior in industrial journalism, and is prepared from news furnished through the courtesy of the Collegian and the Manhattan Mercury-Cronicle.

Time for which the feature is scheduled is approximately 5:15 o'clock, the exact time depending on the length of the preceding feature, which is usually a speech by a faculty member. The half hour in which the service is given is known as the "college of the air" program. The time and the amount of news available determine the length of the feature.

ORCHESTRIS TRYOUTS TONIGHT

Tryouts for membership in Orchestris, national honorary dancing organization, will be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the women's gymnasium. All women who are interested in any phase of dancing are urged to attend.

WILDCATS IRON OUT FAULTS FOR MISSOURI GAME

M'MILLIN STRESSES AERIAL WORK TO THWART GWIN
HENRY'S FAVORITE ATTACK.

WILL PLAY AT COLUMBIA

Last Night's Practice Consists Of Correcting Defects Revealed In Pittsburg Fray—Fairbanks
Is Still Out.

If the Kansas State football team is taken unawares by Missouri university passes at Columbia next Saturday when the Wildcats come up for the first conference competition of the season, they can't say they weren't warned.

The Wildcats spent nearly all their Monday night practice session on pass defense, first against each other and then against the B squad. Tonight they will devote some attention to running plays and some more attention to passes.

Some of the concentration on the aerial game is due to the way in which Adam Kahler of the Pittsburg Teachers tossed the ball over and beyond the Wildcat defense in Saturday's game, but most of it is because Coach Gwin Henry of Missouri is very fond of the overhead route for scoring touchdowns. Two years ago Professor Henry's team was a little too fond of the aerial route, and George Wiggins gathered in a Tiger heave and galloped 70-odd yards for what proved to be the winning score.

Casualty List Decreases.

Practically all the men who were on the casualty list last week were in the scrimmage Monday night except Pete Fairbanks, letter end, who suited up but did not scrimmage. Captain Henry Cronkite was in the fray for the first time since his injury two weeks ago.

One of the eleven which worked together last night included Neely and Cronkite at ends; Weybrew and Stephenson, tackles; Hrabas and Zeckler, guards; and Michael, center. In the backfield were Rambling Ralph Graham, the pile-driving sophomore fullback from El Dorado; George Wiggins; Elden Auker, and Emmett Breen, with Ray McMillin and Tom Bushby also getting in a good deal of work.

The veterans—McMillin, Wiggins, Auker, and possibly Harsh, will see a great deal of backfield action Saturday, though sophomores Graham, Breen, Shaffer, and Bushby also will get their first Big Six chance.

Wiggins To Be In Game.

Wiggins played very little against Pittsburg, but it was not because he has been relegated to the bench by stellar sophomory work. The sophomores needed experience and got it, but against the Tigers Wiggins' ability at backing up the line and snagging enemy passes will be needed, and he may perform at half, full, or end. Graham is the only sophomore who is reasonably sure of a starting assignment.

The Wildcats displayed the usual early season fault of fumbling, and ragged blocking against the Teachers, and these will be worked on this week. Tackling was reasonably good for a first game.

Last night Coach McMillin bolstered his B squad somewhat by transferring 10 of his A squad members to the B team. The added material could be noticed in the scrimmage against the varsity.

ENGINEERING SOCIETY ELECT

L. V. White Chosen Secretary Of Kansas-Nebraska Organization.

Prof. L. V. White of the department of civil engineering was elected secretary of the Kansas-Nebraska section of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education at its two-day session here last week. E. P. Hay of Kansas university was elected president and H. J. Kemmer, Nebraska university, chairman of the program committee.

Sixty-eight out-of-town members of the society were present for the meetings which opened Friday night, and more than 100 members of the Kansas State engineering faculty attended the sessions.

Departmental meetings and discussions occupied most of the time of the delegates while here. This section of the society has been invited by the Nebraska university to hold its sessions in Lincoln next year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Patterson, Kansas City, Missouri, visited their daughter, Margaret, at Van Zile hall, Saturday and Sunday.

HOME EC NEWS OUT SOON.

Contest On To Change Name of Publication.

Work is under way for the publication of the first issue this year of the Home Economics News, the student publication of the home economics department. This issue will be designated as the campus number and will be devoted to student news on the campus and the activities of the home economics students. A contest which will close October 10 is being conducted for the purpose of obtaining a new name for this publication which will not conflict with the national magazine of the same name.

Irene Todd, junior in home economics, is student chairman of the publication.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS CONFINES DELTA TAUS

Milo Oberhelman In Local Hospital
With Disease; Other Members
Quarantined for 14 Days.

Infantile paralysis has thrown a miniature scare into the student body of Kansas State. City and college health authorities quarantined the Delta Tau Delta house Sunday, after Milo ("Mike") Oberhelman, Randolph, became ill and was taken to a local hospital. Doctors diagnosed the disease as infantile paralysis.

Twenty-five members of the organization and their house mother, Miss Mary Ann Collins, living at the house, and seven members living outside the house, are affected by the quarantine, which is for 14 days.

There are no students under the quarantine who are at present showing symptoms of the disease, according to Dr. C. M. Slevier, college physician. The incubation period for the germ is from three to ten days, most of the cases being visible about six days after exposure.

CHI OMEGA SOCIOLOGY PRIZE GIVEN IN SPRING

$25 Award Given Each Year by Social Organization for Outstanding Work.

It was announced by the local chapter of Chi Omega, that contrary to former customs, the annual prize of $25 offered by the organization to the student earning the highest grade in sociology, will be awarded during recognition services in chapel in the spring. Until this year the winner of the prize was not announced until the summer vacation. The selection will be based on the first semester's work in sociology instead of the second semester as formerly. All students enrolled in Dr. R. C. Hill's classes in sociology will be eligible for the contest.

It is the policy of the national chapter will offer prizes each year capter will offer prizes each year to encourage scholarship and to raise the standards of the school.

Ruth Graham, senior in home economics last year, was awarded the prize for last semester's work. Two years ago, Lella Hahn, commerce student, received the sociology award.

DIETARY SERVICE OFFERED.

The members of the department of foods and nutrition are anxious that more students avail themselves of the dietary service which is being offered under the direction of Doctor Martha S. Pittman.

Each Monday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock, Dr. Pittman will advise anyone concerning diet. This service is open to townspeople, but the students are especially urged to take advantage of it.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rohr, Topeka, visited their son, Paul, Sunday.

COUNCIL SETS DATE FOR CLASS ELECTIONS SOON

VARSITY PERMITS AND PLANS ISSUED AND DISCUSSED AT LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

DANCE CONTRACTS TO BE LET

Lautz Appointed Representative On Parents' Day Program—Council Holds Three Sessions In Last Two Weeks.

Political parties on the campus will be busy the next few weeks outlining their platform, and lining up their candidates for class elections to be held Monday, October 19, in recreation center, according to a decision reached last night at a meeting of the Student Council, according to Adolph Hrabas, East St. Louis, Ill., president. The annual election will be conducted as usual by the council.

Philip Lautz, La Junta, Colo., was chosen Student Council representative for the Parents' day program, Saturday, October 24.

Issues Varsity Permits.
The Council issued a permit to Blake Wareham to hold a varsity at the Wareham ballroom, Saturday, October 10.

A plan for varsities to be run under the supervision of the Student Council, submitted by Johnnie Johnitz, Abilene, and Martin Mayrath, Dodge City, was voted down. Contracts for the year's varsities will be let within the next few days, according to Hrabas.

All seven members of the council with the exception of Bill Myers, Bancroft, were present.

Meets October 2.

UNKNOWN DRIVER HITS WALL.

Unable to Turn at N. Manhattan and Thurston—Has Stolen Car.

Unable to make the turn at Thurston and Manhattan avenues an unknown driver crashed into the east campus wall about midnight Saturday night after he had attempted to escape with a stolen car belonging to John St. John.

According to St. John he was sitting in his car behind the Recreation club at 319 Houston when somebody shouted at him and he turned to see who it was he was struck on the forehead. The assailant apparently searched him and then took his car.

The driver of the St. John car later ran into a car driven by a Mr. Sitterly who pursued him and it was during the chase west on Thurston that the man ran over to curb and into the wall.

TO HOLD JOINT MEETING.

A joint meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. cabinets will be held tonight at the home of Dr. A. A. Holz, 419 Denison avenue. The meeting will be in the form of a get-together and a business meeting at which the possibility of having five joint social functions this year, including a hike, a Thanksgiving party, and possibly a Christmas party, will be discussed. The student forum, joint meetings, and discussion groups will be given consideration.

The meeting was scheduled to be held at the home of Ted Skinner, president of the Y. M. C. A., but due to Skinner's being in quarantine, was changed to Doctor Holz's home.

Lee Allen Casida and Bob Lister, both of Ottawa, visited friends in Manhattan the past week end.

THE COLLEGIAN'S PLATFORM.

1. Name the Campus Drives.
2. Proportional Division Representation in Student Council.
3. More Student Participation in Student Governing Affairs.
4. Varsityes Managed by S. G. A. with Proceeds to Go Towards Union Building.
5. Advanced Degrees for Kansas State.

WHAT ABOUT THE VARSITIES?

Within the next few days the Student Council is going to let the year's contract for varsities. Students at Kansas State have been compelled the past years to pay exorbitant prices for dances, ranging from $1.00 to $1.50, the lowest price being charged this fall.

The Collegian feels the Council should take over the contract, run the varsities in any manner it should see fit, and reap the profits individuals have been making. Bands in this section of the country may be secured at a fairly nominal figure, the rentage on halls averages from $25 to $40, and plus other overhead expenses, the cost of a varsity should not exceed $165. In order to clear expenses and make a slight profit, it is only necessary to have over 165 paid admissions if the price is $1.00. If it is over that, a smaller number of tickets have to be sold in order to make money.

Varsity crowds average around 175 couples on Saturday nights, with fewer on Friday night. But on the latter night, orchestras may be secured at a lower figure, and often halls obtained for a lesser price. Should varsities be limited to one night a week, that night being preferably Saturday, there is a slight chance of varsities running at a loss.

The Collegian is firmly convinced the Student Council should run the varsities, should limit the admission price, and should allow only one varsity a week.

THE CAMPUS AT SUNDOWN.

Sundown is a time of wondrous beauty at Kansas State. After the town below is in shadow the sun lingers for a minute or two on the campus, touching with its warm glow the rugged limestone buildings, the drowsy trees, and the shadow-patched grass.

While the sun creeps lower, peraps tinting 'up-off clouds, there is peace over the scene. The students that have been bustling about all the day have disappeared, and save for some late worker strolling homeward, all is still. The stones in the walls away from the sun grow darker, and the ivy that clings to them is more than ever a part of the buildings. . . a magic hand has swept over the grassy slopes, the silhouetted trees, and the vine covered walls, and made them a unit of beauteous harmony.

And as the sun sinks beyond vision, the spirit of the college seems to be brooding over the silent panorama. It is something rugged, strong, yet dignified and old as the building stones, the hill, or the life that is in the trees. It lives on, unseen, waiting with patience for what the morrow may evolve.

THE SNOOPERS

Last week we were asked when the good old term "Grippe" slunk from the medical dictionary into literature. The inquiry came all the way from Florida. At that, it's a big old world and the thinking student might garner a few pearls of wisdom from our experience. Such terms, while perfectly permissible in informal discourse are yet colloquialisms and could, as in this instance, become quite offensive.

The turnout to the pep meeting was really nothing short of remarkable. After two thousand students had traveled so far, they heard so little. What this school needs is a return to the late Colonel Bre'y. He weighed at least 300 pounds and was announcer at all important public meetings such as the American Royal. His voice could be heard above any assembly crowd and his enthusiasm was contagious. The Colonel was one of a vanishing line of political speakers whose words were outlined in flame and whose speech invariably ended in tears with the parting words, "I'd die for old Alma Mater!"

The cheer leaders were convalescing again as usual. When the Wildcat team was within five yards of the Pittsburg goal line, fourth down and four to go, the boys slept on. The team made the needed four yards and had four downs to make the yard for a touchdown. THEN, the bums awakened long enough to feebly urge the crowd, which was already frantic, to the usual chant—Touchdown!—Touchdown!

And to climax it all, our own editor had to insist right on her own front page that Bo McMillin played football at Geneva College, which, by the way, she insisted was at Danville, Ky. There were two other possible errors and she might have made: Bo might have been playing guard instead of quarterback, and the team might have been the "Cursing Generals" instead of the "Praying Colonels."

If that old English Prof. (name on request) doesn't quit throwing those crass remarks at us we're going to get really mad and tell what we know about him falling into the arena at a bull fight down at Monterey this summer.

All seems quiet on the Western Front. At this late hour there are no reports of lifted social privileges.

China Exhibit

Attics—what a fascinating world! It brings to mind thoughts of trunks and lovely old pieces of lace and embroidery, but who would think of delving into a basement to find such things? The home economics division proves it can be done, for a lovely collection of famous wares from different lands are included in an interesting exhibit in the basement of Calvin hall.

Baleek china from Ireland can be found there. Of "egg shell" thinness this china is beautiful with a cream base. America's finest china, Lenox Belleek china, made in Trenton, N. J., was patterned after that originally made in Belleek, Ireland.

Blue delft ware from Holland added much to the display. This ware is made in Delft, Holland, where it has been manufactured since the seventeenth century. Much lighter in weight is the china from France. Haviland china, a famous type of ware, is rather brittle with a white base. One beautiful piece had a design etched with acid and then painted with gold.

Fine, raised designs, a creamy base, and a lead glaze are characteristics of Wedgwood ware made in England. One piece of Crown Doulton, an English bone china of unusual color and design, had a blue base of rose designs and a colorful green and orange bird. Copeland Spode, an English bone china, was charmingly displayed in a sugar bowl and cream pitcher of unusual shape and design.

From Germany came Dresden china with its floral designs and dainty colors. There were unusual wares from Japan, from Czechoslovakia, and from Oberammergau, came a piece of pottery made by Anton Lang. There were pottery, earthenware, porcelain, bone china, and semi-porcelain wares.

Such an exhibit is unusual and merits some attention. If for nothing else than to see the various processes necessary to produce a plate from a lump of clay.—J. A.

STAFF POSITIONS OPEN

Yearbook Associate Editor And Women's Athletic Editor Needed.

Two positions remain open on the 1932 Royal Purple staff, according to James Chapman, editor-in-chief. The places as yet unfilled are those of associate editor and women's athletic editor, and Chapman asks that anyone interested see him in the Royal Purple office in Anderson hall.

The new Royal Purple humor section is to be modeled after Ballyhoo, the "cellophane" humor magazine which recently appeared for the first time. Students of a humorous turn of mind are invited to contribute whatever offerings they may have. Wiscracks which require a sketch to do their meaning full justice will be capably taken care of by the art editor Chapman says.

DEPRESSION UTOPIA FOUND

To a poor college student whose wallet has hardly recovered from the strain of enrolment, Brown's park at Abilene is a spot of joy unreserved. Here is one place in the universe where it is hard to spend money and even the bear in his cage is friendly. One may spend the day playing golf on the well kept course or row in any of the numerous boats without cost. By waiting in line it is possible to ride in a motor boat and the only possible means of spending your cash is to pay five cents to check your clothes while you swim.

BIOLOGIST SEMINAR SPEAKER

Dr. Harry Smith, from the University of California, will speak at the entomology and zoology seminar in room 52, Fairchild hall, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Doctor Smith's subject will concern some phase of biological control of insects. Doctor Smith is considered one of the foremost leaders of this project in the United States.

At The Theatres

AT THE WAREHAM.
"Alexander Hamilton."

George Arliss is superb in this drama concerning the first treasurer of the United States. The picture presents Alexander Hamilton embroiled in a fight to restore the credit of the nation. Compromised by a scandal planned by his political enemies he refuses to place the credit of the nation in jeopardy, but, squarely meeting the issue, admits all. Beautiful Doris Kenyon as Betsy, wife of the fighting treasurer, will fully meet your approval, as should the entire picture.—J. B.

AT THE DICKINSON.

"Five Star Final"

The novel from which this picture was taken was written by a former editor of a New York tabloid who quit his job in disgust at the muck and filth dealt in powerful 2-cent doses by the miniature papers. In the picture Edward G. Robinson is the editor who, urged by his owner-publisher, digs up a 20-year-old scandal and by it nearly wrecks the lives of two youngsters, while the expose causes the suicide of the Nancy Voorhees and her husband. The picture is powerful. The ruthless methods of the tabloid news hawks, and their utter disregard for private lives is perhaps overplayed, but its deft treatment gains plausibility and provides first class interest.—J. B.

AT THE VARSITY
"Sweepstakes"

Anyone that likes horses might like this show. Eddie Quillan plays the part of the jockey. He's going strong, when he meets the girl, Marian Nixon. She sang in a cabaret, he breaks training—the usual thing happens—he throws a race, quits the track. After some time in a saloon in Mexico—his trainer and his girl find him, buy his horse and he rides again. He makes his grand comeback, etc., etc.—I. L.

HOT SUNDAES POPULAR

College Tea Room Patrons Particularly Enjoy One Dish.

A finger moves slowly down the menu card of the college tea room. The finger stops, just as it did the night before and the night before that, at the item, "Hot chocolate sundaes."

Miss LeVelle Wood who teaches tea room management here, said concerning the chocolate sundaes, "It is surprising how many people will order hot chocolate sundaes in preference to any other dessert at our tea room."

Edith Lauck, Maple Hill, is the student in charge of the management of the tea room this six weeks. Mildred Porter, Mount Hope, and Eunice Schroeder, Ellinwood, also, will serve their apprenticeship this semester before they complete their course in tea room management. The students plan the meals, place the orders, and keep accounts. The tea room employs a special cook to prepare the meals.

Helen Hanson, Chi Omega, was the dinner guest of Ola Curtis, Van Zile hall, Thursday evening.

Paul Finch, South Haven, visited friends in Manhattan. Saturday and Sunday.

Health Department

All students are again reminded by Dr. C. M. Seiver, head of the college health department, of the rule concerning the pink cards in regard to return to class after an absence because of illness. No student can be re-admitted to classes after an illness unless he has undergone a physical examination by one of the members of the college health department.

The procedure in regard to obtaining one of these cards is simple. When the student desires to return to classes, he should go to the student health office in the administration building and fill out a blue card which is in a convenient and conspicuous location. This card is in turn handed to a physician and the student is examined and if found to be in condition and the doctor thinks you are able to return to class, he fills out a pink card, which the student is required to have signed by the various professors before he is allowed to attend in their classes.

The pink card acts as an excuse for absence from classes only when it carries the inscription "absence at my request" or "in the hospital."

The pink card is not necessary for entry to classes unless the student has been ill himself or has visited someone that has been ill. Students that visit sick relatives over the week end are also required to have cards. These rules concerning the pink cards are enforced by expulsion or other similar restrictions.

Students are also warned that permits to re-enter classes from any doctors than those of the college health department should not be honored by any professor. The health department makes this restriction because it is held responsible in case of a spread of contagion and the primary cause of the pink cards is to prevent or control the spread of contagion and infection among the student body.

FOUR K. S. C. STUDENTS WIN STATE FAIR PRIZES

Others Attend Hutchinson Fair as Members of 4-H Club.

Four Kansas State students, members of the college 4-H club, won prizes at the state fair at Hutchinson last week. Morris Hume, freshman from Mitchell county, placed sixth with his Duroc Jerseys, and second and third with his Poland China gilts in the swine division. The previous week Hume placed first, second and third, with his swine at the Topeka Free fair.

Olive Schroeder, of Ellsworth, won first place for her Aberdeen Angus calf in the 4-H class and fourth in the open class. Her calf also won the reserve champion prize in the 4-H club class. Virginia Adams, of Atchison, placed second in the style revue contest. Her winning project was the modeling of a tailored wool dress. Vera McBratney, of Sedgewick county, won prizes in both baking and clothing.

Several Kansas State students attended the fair as a part of the 4-H club encampment. Besides the winners, Earl Johnson, president of the K. S. C. 4-H club, and Phil Ljundahl, Manhattan, attended the fair.

FEE UP BACK YARD

Even the back yard of the engineering building is coming into its own and is receiving some much needed landscaping. The space is to be planted in blue grass sod. A road will be left eight feet from the building to service the building, and an eight-foot strip of planting space will run around the base of the building, and will be planted with shrubs. Shrubs will be planted to screen the storage tank, and parking in the "back yard" will be discouraged entirely.

No wonder men smoke PIPES!

EVERY PIPE SMOKER has the satisfaction of knowing he has one masculine right that the women won't take away from him. They do leave our pipes alone.

And though the girls may not know it, they're leaving us one of the finest smokes a man can have.

There's something calm and soothing about a pipe and good tobacco. It leads to clear-headed thinking. Perhaps that's why the leaders—the real men of the world—are pipe smokers.

College men like a pipe—packed with cool, slow-burning Edgeworth, the favorite pipe tobacco in 42 out of 54 colleges. It's cut especially for pipes, to give a cooler, drier smoke. You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold. Or for a special sample packet, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

McMILLINMEN BOARD TRAIN FOR MISSOURI

THIRTEEN LETTER MEN AND 11 SOPHOMORES AND RESERVES MAKE TRIP.

INJURIES KEEP TWO AT HOME

Lang And Fairbank On Hospital List—Smith In Quarantine—Squad All Kansas Men But One.

One of the smallest Kansas State squads numerically and one of the largest in average size left Manhattan this morning at 4:52 o'clock for Columbia and the annual battle with the Missouri university. The McMillingmen boarded the train at the Union Pacific station last night.

Twenty-four men were selected to make the trip. Injuries to Bob Lang, reserve guard from Denver, and Paul Fairbank, letter end from Topeka, kept them off the roster, and Russell Smith, reserve quarter, is under quarantine in the Delta Tau Delta fraternity house, where a case of infantile paralysis recently developed. Fairbank is suffering from an injured knee which he re-injured in a recent practice session. Lang has a bad cut over his left eye.

Cronkite Makes Trip.
The list of men making the trip includes 13 letter men, eight sophomores, and three juniors who were on the squad last year but did not letter. Sixteen line men and eight backs are on the roster, though some of the backs can play line positions and at least two of the linemen can work in as blocking halves in the backfield.

Captain Henry Cronkite has recovered from his injury of two weeks ago and is making the trip to the near-by state university.

The squad making the trip is composed, with one exception, of Kansas boys. The exception is Adolph Hrabka, East St. Louis, Ill., 2-letter guard and president of the student council.

Five Accompany Team.
Three members of the coaching staff, Bo McMilling, Oss Maddox, and Frank Root accompanied the team. Fred Seaton, head of athletic publicity, and H. C. Hofmann, representing Sigma Delta Chi, also made the trip.

Members of the squad are: Backfield—Ray McMilling, Manhattan; Elden Auker, Norcatur; Ralph Graham, El Dorado; Tom Bushby, Belleville; Leland Shaffer, Dodge City; George Wiggins, Lyons; Emmett Breen, El Dorado; Glen Harsh, El Dorado.

Ends: Captain Henry Cronkite, Belle Plaine; Dan Blaine, El Dorado; Shelby Neely, Hopewell.
Centers—Harry Hasler, Junction City; Lloyd Michaels, Lawrence.
Guards and tackles—Homer Hinson, Riley; L. B. Pletcher, Glasco; Al Stephenson, Clements; Melvon Wertsberger, Alma; Neil Weybrew, Wamego; R. J. Doll, Ellinwood; Robert Gump, Abilene; Eldon Teter, El Dorado; Walter Zeckler, Alma; Adolph Hrabka, East St. Louis, Ill.; L. H. Dalton, Garnett.

MORTAR AND BALL MEETS.
Mortar and Ball, honorary coast artillery organization, held its first meeting of the year Tuesday, September 29, at the Alpha Rho Chi house. The meeting, which was in charge of Lee Stafford, Republic, president of the local chapter, was devoted to making plans for the new year. New members are to be admitted in about two weeks.

The Mortar and Ball constitution, revised during the summer camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill., provided for closer harmony among chapters over the country.

RECEIVES FELLOWSHIP.

Leland Stanford Awards Former Kansas State Professor.

Roy C. Langford, absent on two years leave from the psychology department, has received a $750 fellowship at Leland Stanford university. The fellowship is in recognition of Langford's work done in that institution, last year.

Langford's major is psychology and his minor fine arts. Incidentally, he has been painting, both at Leland Stanford university, and at Carmel-by-the-Sea.

FARRELL TO SPEAK.
President F. D. Farrell spent yesterday in Winfield where he addressed visitors at the Cowley county fair.

The president will go to Hays Saturday to attend a meeting of the Fort Hays memorial park committee. On Sunday he will speak at the dedication of the new Saint Joseph junior college in Hays. The topic of his address will be "Education and the Public Weal."

Prof. C. E. Rogers and wife are spending the school year in Palo Alto, Calif., where Rogers is an instructor in journalism at Leland Stanford university. The home is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John Hepler. Mr. Hepler is one of the three district extension agents for the college.

Solitary Confined Prisoner at Federal Pen Studies on Extension Courses at 'Home'

Robert Stroud, convicted murderer, now serving a life term in solitary confinement at the federal prison at Leavenworth, is only one of hundreds of convicts who have taken home study work from the Kansas State extension service. Stroud was the subject of one of A. B. MacDonald's stories in the Sunday Kansas City Star, and in the article, the fact was brought out that Stroud had taken extension work here. Prof. George Gemmell, head of the local home study course, says that formerly hundreds of men serving terms at Leavenworth and Lansing took advantage of the home study courses, but during the last few years the practice has been discontinued.

Professor Gemmell does not remember Stroud's work in particular, but according to the MacDonald study Stroud was an excellent student. Ira Haynes, who works in Roper's Barber shop in Aggieville, once visited Stroud's cell at the federal prison.

Haynes says Stroud finds it rather difficult to speak properly, probably due to his long solitary confinement. Stroud's sight has also been impaired by improper light, and he constantly wears glasses and a visor; and even then, shades his eyes when in a strong light. Although the convict welcomed his visitors, he appeared slouchily dressed. He wore only an old undershirt and a worn pair of blue jeans, when Haynes visited him.

Stroud is serving a life term for the murder of a prison guard, and has a record of killing another man, and knifing a guard. Haynes says that the convict has the reputation of boasting of his murders and insists that he has killed six men instead of two.

According to Professor Gemmell, the work done by the convicts was of an unusually high standard, and most of the men who took the courses completed them with good marks. Since 1920 the extension division has been unable to accommodate prisoners wishing to take the courses simply because of overcrowding in the division.

Formerly, graduation exercises were held for the prisoners, and on one occasion Former President Wm. Jardine delivered a commencement address to a class completing a course.

DAIRY JUDGING TEAM TO ST. LOUIS CONTEST

Will Compete Against Institutions From All Over U. S.—Cave Accompanies Group.

The Kansas State Dairy Judging team left today for St. Louis where they will compete in the National Dairy Judging contest which will be held Monday at the National Dairy show there. It is expected that 20 or 25 teams from universities and colleges all over the United States will compete. Last year first prize was awarded to the Iowa State college team.

Prof. H. W. Cave, who is coach of the team and accompanied the members on the trip to St. Louis, feels confident that it will make a good showing.

The team placed first at the contest held at Waterloo, Ia., last week in connection with the National Dairy Congress. Dean McCammon, Norton, was high point individual in the scoring. Other members of the team are Earl Coulter, Willis, A. C. Thompson, McCune; and Lee Albin, Norcatur.

TELEVISION APPARATUS HERE.

Television apparatus has just been installed by the engineering division and experiments will be conducted. Due to a change in transmitting it will be necessary to change the scanning discs before many stations can be received. At the present time no station has been brought in. The apparatus has been removed to the serum plant to get away from the machinery.

TO ATTEND EASTERN MEET.

R. G. Kloeffer and O. D. Hunt of the engineering division, will leave Saturday for Pittsburgh, Pa., where they will attend the Silver Anniversary Convention of the Illuminating Engineering society. The convention will last a week. On their return they will join the senior engineering students of Kansas State college at St. Louis, and will continue on the engineering inspection trip.

O'NEIL APPOINTED REGENT

Ralph O'Neil, past national commander of the American Legion, has been appointed by Governor Woodring to succeed C. B. Merriam as a member of the Board of Regents. The appointment was made effective early this week.

O'Neil has long been associated with public affairs in Kansas, and was commander of the Kansas Department of the American Legion before his election to office as national commander of that organization. In private life he is an attorney-at-law with offices in Topeka.

Merriam's term expired last June and Governor Woodring requested him to continue in the office until O'Neil was made eligible for appointment. O'Neil is a Democrat.

Other members of the Board of Regents are Oscar Stauffer, publisher of the Arkansas City Traveler, Arkansas City; C. C. Wilson, Meade; C. M. Harger, publisher of the Abilene Reflector, Abilene; Leslie Wallace, publisher of the Larned Tiller and Toiler, Larned; B. C. Culp, Beloit; W. E. Ireland, Yates Center; Drew McLaughlin, publisher of the Miami Republican, Paola; and Fred M. Harris, Ottawa. O'Neil's term expires in 1934.

12 JUDGES TO SALINA

Twelve candidates for the Kansas State live stock judging team went to Salina this week to do practice judging at the Salina fair. Men from this group will be selected to compose the senior and junior teams that will later compete in the Western National livestock show at Denver, the Kansas National at Wichita, and the American Royal at Kansas City.

NEW COURSE OPEN.

Miss Marion Quinlan, in charge of parent education, will begin a course Monday for the mothers of nursery school children. To acquaint the mothers with Miss Quinlan, the department of child welfare and eugenics gave a tea Friday afternoon in the nursery school rooms for them.

STUDENTS FAIR JUDGES.

W. M. Myers, Bancroft, and Carl Williams, Dodge City, both senior ag students were in St. John Tuesday and Wednesday judging agricultural and dairy products at the Stafford county fair. Prof. F. W. Bell of the animal husbandry department judged the live stock for the fair.

ANOTHER STUDENT ENROLLS.

Andrew Earhardt, Timken, enrolled this week. He has been working at the state experiment station at Tribune since the close of school last spring. He is a junior in agriculture.

HAWKENBERRY IMPROVES.

W. E. Hawkenberry of the Manhattan police force, who was stationed in Aggieville all last year, is recovering very nicely from a hernia operation which he underwent this summer. "Chief" is now working at headquarters downtown. His old Aggieville beat is at times taken care of by the younger men on the force, but more often than not there is no one there during the daytime to take "Chief's" place.

Mrs. Lenore Berry Bennett, Washington, D. C., and her sister, Mrs. Max Wolfe, Manhattan, both Kansas State graduates, visited the campus Wednesday.

AGS TO CROWN BARNWARMER QUEEN TONIGHT

NAME OF ONE OF FIVE SELECTION CANDIDATES WILL BE ANNOUNCED AS WINNER.

INTRUDERS NOT WANTED

All Agricultural Students Parade Campus in Overalls; Vets and Ag Engineers on Guest List.

Students of agriculture have been identifying themselves since yesterday noon by wearing overalls preparatory to the fifth annual Ag barnwarmer held in Nichols gymnasium tonight at 9 o'clock.

At the event, which comes as a climax to a day and a half of parading the campus in overalls, students of agriculture will crown the Ag queen who was chosen yesterday afternoon at the Ag seminar. There were six candidates including Marjorie Lyles, Saffordville; Marjorie Call, Manhattan; Dorothea Hadsell, Manhattan; Katherine Reid, Manhattan; Helen Row, Larned; and Isabelle Porter, Stafford. The queen who will be announced tonight will be one of these, and the other five will be princesses.

Police to Guard Doors.
A student police squad has been enforcing the wearing of overalls by ag students since noon yesterday and will guard the barnwarmer tonight against intrusion by men from other divisions. At the seminar yesterday afternoon several men were run through a paddle line for not wearing overalls. R. O. Blair, Manhattan, is head of the police force, and he expects to have the support of a number of deputies to assist in the guarding tonight.

Decorations will be fodder and hay, and other things to create the aspect of a barn in the room.

Ticket Sale Good.
Ticket sales under the direction of Lee Toadvine, Dighton, were mounting rapidly last night. More than $75 was taken in from sales at the seminar yesterday afternoon. In addition to students of agriculture, men in veterinary medicine and agricultural engineering will be guests for the affair.

The first barnwarmer five years ago was such a success that it was decided to have one each fall. Last year the queen was Maxine Blankenship, Downs.

Jack Mills' orchestra will furnish music.

7-1-B-B-L-I-N-G-S

Mud Rhoades, always anxious to do things up in a "big way," selected the Rexall the other day as the time and place for an exhibition. This knight-errant in his eagerness to open a rumble seat fell unexpectedly and dramatically off the foot rest. The audience was appreciative. Contents of the Kappa Sigma pockets were filed for future reference. . . . Sigma Nu pledges have reserved the softest couch in recreation center because they need a soft place to sit, and believe united they sit and divided they get paddled. . . . Ags in overalls went sneaking through Aggieville yesterday avoiding the paddles welded by the strong-armed police force. . . . Kappas high on wore themselves out the other night filling all available receptacles with water when pranksters called and said water was to be turned off in the next hour or so. . . . The Aggieville pest persists in taking a back seat in local drugstores and yelling to those in the front to bring her matches. . . . Some say the more hard-boiled profs on the hill are heckped at home and have to get it back on somebody. . . . A Kappa Delta pledge, and initiate-to-be soon, told the actives when asked the other night if her date necked her, that he didn't but she necked him. . . . The car in which W. C. T. U. members, convening in Manhattan, were riding struck a car filled with liquor yesterday. Bottles flew hither and thither. The local police were driving the car, taking the intoxicating beverages to the place where such things are done away with. . . . Contrary to rumors, the doctor attending Oberhelman, says there is nothing to the report that the student was injured during a recent initiation and didn't have infantile paralysis after all. . . .

GRIDER FLIGHT SUNDAY.

Glider flights will be made Sunday for the first time this year by members of the Kansas State Glider club. The members will meet at 9 o'clock Sunday morning to set up the machine. If a truck can be secured to transport the machine the flights will be made on the other side of Godwin's hill, according to C. E. Pearce. If not, the baseball diamond will be used. Thirty students have attended previous meetings of the club this year.

GAINS USE OF HAND.

Y. M. C. A. WORKERS TO CONVENE HERE

Regional Conference to Have Headquarters at Presbyterian Student Center This Weekend.

The Rocky Mountain regional conference of the Y. M. C. A. will hold a series of sessions here this weekend, with headquarters in the Presbyterian student center at 315 North Fourteenth street. Among leaders expected at the conference are Ex-Governor Wm. E. Sweet of Colorado, a national committee representative of the student division of the Y. M. C. A.; Ben Cherrington, director of the social service foundation at the University of Denver, and David R. Porter, national student secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

This afternoon and tonight a number of preliminary meetings of the leaders of the conference will be held at the Presbyterian center. Saturday morning representatives from about 20 colleges will arrive in Manhattan for the conference. Eight states are included in this region—Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, and Kansas.

Saturday evening the representatives will be entertained at a buffet dinner by Rev. Wm. U. Guernant, student pastor of the Presbyterian church, and university student pastors' representative of this region. He will be assisted by members of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet.

Other leaders expected at the meetings include Homer Hoisington, executive student secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Colorado; Edward Musselmann, executive secretary in Nebraska; L. E. Goodwin, Kansas executive secretary, and Harold Colvin, regional student secretary of Topeka.

Bill Robrock, Kansas City, and Walt Praeger, Clafflin, will leave tonight for Columbia, Mo., to attend the Kansas State-M. U. football game there Saturday.

THRILLS GALORE IN GRID-GRAPH GAME TOMORROW

FIRST BIG SIX GAME FOR KANSAS STATE SHOWN IN AUDITORIUM AT 2 P. M.

REDUCE ADMISSION PRICES

Band, Cheer Leaders, Refreshments, Radio Amplifying Equipment Will Make One Big Football Party.

Kansas State is going to have a football party tomorrow. Band, cheer leaders, refreshments, 'n' everything.

The Missouri-Kansas State football game will be presented on gridgraph at the college auditorium, beginning at 2 o'clock. The game will be given play by play, each play being duplicated on the board by means of electric flash lights, augmented by a radio amplifying unit to make announcements of the game, call plays, substitutions, etc. Gridgraph is the next best to being at the game in person, and affords all the suspense, thrills, and excitement that a football game can offer.

A reduction in admission charges has been made possible by holding the party in the college auditorium, according to Maurice ("Duke") DuMars, president of Sigma Delta Chi, the organization sponsoring the program. Prices for the afternoon of entertainment and excitement will be 25 cents to those holding student activity books or football season tickets, and thirty-five cents to others, DuMars said.

Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism organization, will have charge of the sale of candy, peanuts, Eskimo pies, etc. Rachel Lamprecht, president of the sorority, stated that there would be no advance in prices on refreshments. Five-cent candy will be sold for five cents and not a dime.

The Missouri game is the first of the Big Six games for the Kansas State team, and football authorities in this section of the country rate McMilling's team highly in conference circles. Some dopesters are predicting an easy win for the K-Aggies. Others are a bit more skeptical, predicting that it will be an "even go." In any event it will prove well worth the time to see this initial game on the gridgraph.

With a band for music, cheer leaders, refreshments and all the trimmings, it should be a good party.

COLLEGLIAN BOARD ELECTION TODAY

Two Members Will Be Chosen—Polls At Journalism Counter—Subscribers Eligible.

The annual election of members to the Collegian board will be held at the sales counter in Kedzie hall today. Only subscribers to the Collegian are eligible to vote.

Two members will be elected to the board today from the five candidates, as the other three chairs board memberships are filled by president of Theta Sigma Phi, Rachel Lamprecht; Maurice DuMars, and head of the journalism department, Prof. E. T. Keith.

The students nominated for membership are Mildred Bell, Bavaria, senior in home economics; Ralph Van Camp, Council Grove, junior in journalism; Edith Johnson, Manhattan, junior in journalism; Nelda Carson, Morganville, junior in journalism; H. C. Hofmann, Manhattan, sophomore in journalism.

ARCHEOLOGIST TO SPEAK.

A combined meeting of the Science club and Sigma Xi, honorary science organization, will be held Monday, October 19. Eylvan G. Morley, archeologist, who has just arrived from Central America, will be the speaker of the evening. Mr. Morley is connected with the Smithsonian Institute of Washington, D. C. He has spoken here twice before and this year will speak on the "Old Empire Region of Guatemala." All members and anyone interested in the meeting are urged to attend.

YELLOW MAY BE GOLD.

Screaming banners do not make yellow journalism. It's only those facts appearing under the headline that make the newspaper "yellow" or unbiased. For years Kansas State students, like most Kansas citizens, have blindly followed the advice, and believed every line of stories printed in a nearby sectional newspaper which some politicians call "The Dictator of Kansas." In an attempt to "dictate," the paper often apparently colors the facts to appear in the desired light. Not so the Collegian.

The college newspaper again has been criticized for dealing with the recent sorority mess in a manner not found to be entirely to the liking of the controlling council members. The Collegian feels the entire affair to be more than slightly childish, and is convinced the organizations should be criticized for the action they took, but at the same time has not meaningfully run stories in the news columns leaving that impression. Taking into consideration the sororities were as they say, "only following rules," the Collegian still contends the action taken caused more grief than good.

The Collegian does not try to sensationalize news. It merely tries to present it in an interesting and readable form. It does not attempt to have its headlines scream unless they need to scream, and underneath those headlines in every instance, the Collegian intends to publish facts as they are, not as others wish them to be.

JAYHAWKERS VS. KANSAN.

The "K" club at the University of Kansas, which claims it is developing into a powerful organization and is the sole enforcer of such traditions as the wearing of freshman caps and the discouraging of dating at games, has publicly denounced the University Daily Kansan, college newspaper, for an alleged insult to the pride of the Jayhawk football circles.

In the Sunday issue of the Kansan, following the defeat of crimson and blue gridsters by the warriors from Haskell Institute, an account of the game appeared which the "K" club infers was not exactly good publicity for the Kansas team. The article was written by Joe Knack, managing editor of the Kansan, giving the summary of the game and his reasons why the Kansas team suffered defeat. His viewpoint was not seemingly radical and will probably not be criticized by others than the highly advertised Kansas athletes and their supporters.

If you are interested enough in the Kansas team to read the summary and play by play account of the Kansas-Haskell game, you will find Kansas was outplayed in every department of the game, and used all available material, but was still unable to stop the charging. The university "K" club charges that the Kansan was not sporting in its report of the game. They dislike the idea of the Kansan printing the facts about "the superior coached Haskell team toying with the Hargiss coached Jayhawkers," and "the many misplays on the part of all members of the team." Lack of co-operation on the part of the university squad was also, according to the Kansan report, a primary cause of the defeat. They objected to a statement that "the Kansas line was outplayed and out rushed by a lighter forward wall." The ardent supporters of the high morale of Kansas university athletes claim these charges are unfair and untrue.

W. C. T. U. PRESIDENT SPEAKS

Says Group is Organization of 'Mother Love'
Mrs. Lillian Mitchner, Hutchinson, president of the state W. C. T. U., who spoke at chapel Tuesday, explained that the purpose of the organization was to educate people to prohibition, and not to enforce

it. The organization wishes to be thought of, she says, as an organization of mother love.
Prof. Edwin Sayre of the department of music sang two numbers. He has been studying music at Columbia during his leave of absence.
Prof. Ada Rice of the English department, led the devotionals.

PRICE FOOTBALL OFFICIAL

C. O. Price, secretary to President Farrell, is in Junction City today where he is scheduled to officiate in a football game. Mr. Price spent yesterday in Alta Vista.
Pauline Compton, Manhattan, was admitted to the college hospital last Tuesday.

The spokesman of the developing powerful "K" club is Paul Beardslee, president of that up-and-coming organization. Beardslee claims that all the Kansas team needs is a little support and the team will go all right. He ends his statements by saying, "The team did its best last Friday—what more can be asked of any bunch? It would be better for the fans to wait a few weeks and see what happens to James Millikin and the Kansas 'Aggies' before being too loud in their condemnation of the conference champions of last year."

The university press was perhaps exhibiting signs of disloyalty to the team, but the Collegian is rather inclined to think the report of the game was probably an honest one, and the athletes didn't care to be mentioned in other than favorable terms.

COLLEGE BABBITTS.

"Council Sets Date for Student Elections." So reads a headline in the Collegian. It won't be long now until the potentates of the two or three "political parties" on the hill will be working themselves into a frenzy over "our chances for victory," "our platform," and "our candidates," ad infinitum, ad nauseum.

In the past years it has been the habit of leaders of the parties to announce a platform, and the planks in those platforms are flaunted before the electorate. "We advocate a reduction in local theatre admission prices," "We want a reorganization of the student health department." All of which is an awfully altruistic program to be undertaken by a group of students—nevertheless, it's something to talk about, to make speeches about, and to plaster on bulletin boards.

But all of that is only superficial, and part of the farce called class elections. "Vox Populi," a party organized two years ago for the avowed purpose of breaking up the Theodoric machine, proved that platforms were unnecessary.

The only remaining reason for the existence of class elections is that of conducting a popularity contest—just to give the aspiring Babbitts a hand in garnering titles and offices to place beneath their pictures in the Royal Purple—something to join, and it matters not what office they fill, for there aren't any strings to any of the offices—just another line beneath their pictures to cause succeeding students to notice and envy. "Boy, Oswald Whoosis must have been a big shot." "Look at the list of all the things he belonged to and all the offices he held."—P. D.

The Snoopers

Days between now and the 17th are about as long as the days before a kid's Christmas. With a footballish tinge to the air and the talk about the Wildcats' power-house team, we just naturally read the K. U. paper a little more anxiously and find that the old Jayhawk spirit has not died. Indeed, it seems a bit more lively than ever. It's the usual think down at Mt. Creed to start howling for the coaches' skins as soon as the Hawks lose a game. They lost early this season to Haskell and the walling started.

The KANSAN printed a story in which the home team was berated thus: "The superior-coached Haskell Indians toiled with the Hargiss-coached Jayhawkers," and after the "K" club protested: "The article . . . was in the nature of the usual wall set up by the alumni and members of the 'Barber Shop Athletic Club' whenever the home team loses a game." The KANSAN replied to the effect that they would say what they damwell pleased about the team as long as their reporters saw what they printed.

Nice people, these Jayhawks!

It's a pleasure to look over our own loyal Wildcat supporters. . . they lack even the strength to howl! Not, for a minute, that they have a thing to howl at.

Tomorrow, Bo and his boys will get a test of fire. They're without Negro against a team that is out for vengeance in a big way. Two years ago Bo took the long end of the final score against Mizzo when the dope and playing was all in their favor. Negro was in a hospital at Columbia with a leg infection. . . Bo appealed to the team to win for Alex. . . they tried and tried against a heavier team that held them tied until out of a blue sky a Wildcat flying-wedge lined up (actually lined up to do it) to intercept a Mizzo pass. Johanninger, M. U. passer, threw the pass, and the flying wedge surrounded the ball and started down the field and didn't stop until the goal line was reached.

It was a defense play that wasn't in the book. No team used it before—nor since. book. No team used it before—nor since. Johanninger will be back for blood and Alex won't be there.

The Snoopers like the cafeteria. Had lunch down there the other day. The food was as good as can be found anywhere and the service was just what you made it. And there wasn't a spot anywhere.

The school lost its lobbyist last spring at commencement. Q. I. Brewer did a lot toward recapturing the official title after it had been misplaced by the lawmakers. It is understood that Jake Chilcott will fill his shoes.

AT THE DICKINSON
"Side Show"

We can't understand the title, as the show is about a whole circus, with Winnie Lightner pinch hitting in every role. from Jo-Jo the dog-faced boy to Zazini, the human comet. The plot is simple. Evelyn Knapp as Irene, the school girl sister, joins the circus and steals Winnie's man. Complications and happy ending. Really, though, Winnie's getting rather buxom and elderly.—J. B.

"Ten Nights in a Barroom"

The oldest anti-wet thriller with a modern prologue and moral. William Farnum, matinee idol when most of us were in knee-pants, tries to come back in the role of the prosperous young miller who is ruined by drink. When his young daughter nearly dies, he realizes his fall by the demon rum and pulls a Carrie Nation, wrecking the barroom in a bang-up fight. Oh, yes, there is a love story of a young couple.—J. B.

AT THE VARSITY
Ted North Players

The Ted North players at the opening night of their three day Manhattan appearance last night at the Varsity theater, gave their usual show, but this time it was "Uncle Dudley." Ted North did not appear in the comedy but only in the shorts. He was missed.—Other members of the company did a fairly good job of entertaining the audience with a production possessing a ridiculous plot. A change of program will be made daily, with two changes on Saturday.—A. W.

HARRY MONTGOMERY
SPEAKS AT FORUM

Junction City Editor Reviews "Trials and Tribulations Of Newspaperman."

Court trials are not new things in the life of Harry E. Montgomery, editor and publisher of the Junction City Union, who addressed the first student forum Wednesday noon on "Trials and Tribulations of a Newspaper Editor." Mr. Montgomery is a defendant in the $5,000,000 libel suit which Dr. J. R. Brinkley of sulford has filed against the Kansas City Star and its distributors in the Brinkley community. Mr. Montgomery's only comment on the suit was that "if Brinkley wins, I'll have to pay him on the installment plan." The editor told of his experiences in conducting a paper, citing some of the most fascinating incidents in the life of a newspaperman. His parting advice to student journalists is a rule which he has followed: "Never print anything about a man which you cannot say to his face."

Ira Alton, Little River, freshman in physical education, is in Park View hospital where he will undergo an operation on his neck, which was injured during football practice.

New Yorker Follows Greeley's Advice
And Hits The Pavement to Kansas State

On Tuesday, September 9, with a suitcase and an adventurous spirit, John Loth, Buffalo, New York, took a trolley car to the end of town and proceeded to "go west, young man." He turned his face toward Manhattan, Kansas, and began to walk, giving the driver of each car a prayerful glance.

Four days after he left Buffalo, Loth arrived in Manhattan, boasting 27 rides and blisters on his hands from carrying the suitcase. He was given his first ride, which lasted for 40 miles, after he had walked for half an hour. Next a traveling salesman gave him a lift to Greencastle, Indiana. From then on he rode and walked alternately. "You should have seen me come into Manhattan with my shoe strings dragging though. At Wamego, someone gave me a ride in the rumble seat of his car, but there wasn't room for my feet. So they stuck out." Loth's eyes twinkled in remembrance of the occasion.

When asked if he had difficulty getting rides, Loth said, "Oh, no—lots of people are glad to give you rides. The main thing is to keep moving. Don't sit down. It's poor psychology. People will think you are lazy."

Loth said that while he was in Schenectady, last year, working for the General Electric company, he met Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Zeldier, music graduates from Kansas State. They talked so highly of this college that he was persuaded to enroll in electrical engineering here.

As for hitch hiking, Loth said, "Well, I've heard of people hitch hiking, so I decided to try it. Of course, you read about hitch hikers getting slugged in the head, but I didn't have anything to be slugged for, so I wasn't afraid."

Loth said he thought Kansas State had a lovely campus, but with a puff of pardonable pride, said he liked the University of Buffalo better. He also mentioned the queer way Kansas had of "blowing up a terrific storm and then blowing it right out again without the slightest warning."

When asked if he intended to visit Buffalo next summer he said, "Maybe—but I don't think I'll go back the way I came."

Engineering Experiment Station Newly Equipped with Wind Tunnel.
Tests of the air resistance of automobile bodies are being conducted in the wind tunnel by the engineering experiment station. Previous tests were made in 1927, but the change in automobile bodies has made another experiment desirable, according to E. R. Dawley, in charge of the work.

All types of cars will be used, from the Austin owned by Mr. Dawley to the Marmon owned by W. W. Carlson. It is possible that some "whoopie cars" will be included. A corrected scale has been made for the wind tunnel.

Then he examines a Chesterfield. It is well-filled; it is neat in appearance; the paper is pure white. And that satisfies him.

He lights up. At the very first puff he likes the flavor and the rich aroma. He decides that it tastes better—neither raw nor over-sweet; just pleasing and satisfying.

Then he learns it is milder. That's another way of saying that there is nothing irritating about it. And again he's satisfied!

BASKETEERS REPORT FOR INITIAL PRACTICE

Fifteen Yearlings Answer Corsaut's
Call For New Men—Varsity
Call Next Week.

Basketball practice started Monday, the first call being for freshmen. Coach Charles Corsaut intends to pick his freshman squad and, during the time intervening before the start of regular varsity practice, get them in shape to scrimmage against the varsity.

In answer to the call for freshmen candidates 15 players reported, and from this group the outstanding men will be picked for the regular freshman squad, the remainder of the squad will then be picked from the men that report after the football season is over. The men who have reported are: Fred Wyruth, Almena; Ralph Marshall, Kansas City, Mo.; Emmett Goss, Belleville; Kenneth Mosser, Larned; Ray Phelps, Miltonvale; Ralph Moss, Hoxie; Lawrence Donat, Norfolk, Neb.; Joe Creed, Bartlesville, Okla.; Pearl Rayback, Goodland; M. O. Ward, Egbert; Al Comstock, Ottawa; Max Leek, Great Bend; Earnest Luder, Caldwell; Ward, Kansas City, Mo.; and Groves, Atchison.

This group of freshmen will practice with the varsity candidates who will report next week. Last year's freshman numeral men who will report for early varsity practice are: Bill Pattison, Topeka; John Bidnick, Kansas City, Kans.; Jack Silverwood, Ellsworth; and Francis Boyd, Phillipsburg. Lettermen who will report are Andy Skradski, Kansas City, Kans., and Stanley Brockway, Olathe. In daily practice the freshman squad and the varsity squad will work against each other, in this way promoting play within the two squads.

The prospects for the 1931-1932 team seem to be fairly bright, but Corsaut isn't making any predictions as yet. He says all the teams in the Big Six are tough and he doesn't know how his team will stack up with them, but after football season is over the rest of the men will report to him and he will be able to tell more about it. Lettermen who will report after the football season are: Captain Elden Auker, Norcat; Paul Fairbanks, Topeka; George Wiggins, Lyons; Henry Cronkite, Belle Plaine; and Henry Dalton, Garnett. Freshman numeral men who will report are: Ralph Graham, El Dorado; Red Blaine, El Dorado; Homer Hanson, Riley; and Armand Mills, Russell.

In The Big Six

Kansas university plays its third football game of the 1931 season at Lawrence Saturday when it meets the James Millikin team from Decatur, Ill. Kansas is doped as the winner although both teams have won one game and each has suffered defeat. James Millikin is a member of the Little Nineteen conference and has long been rated as one of the outstanding small-college plants in the middle west in the way of athletics.

"Touch football" has made its debut in intramural athletics at the University of Kansas this year. It is a football game with tackling eliminated and the player carrying the ball stopping when touched by an opponent. The game is largely passing but most of the games have been decided by one or two touchdowns.

A series of square frames placed in a line and somewhat similar to a grape arbor are being used by Coach Bible at the University of Nebraska to impress upon the ball carriers that they must run low. Backfield candidates that insist upon running with their heads in the air are run through the tunnel, and if they still insist on keeping their heads high, are reminded by a bump on the head.

Iowa State will again have a polo team this year if plans now formulated materialize. Last year was the first time that the school sponsored such a team but the huge success shows the popularity and again Iowa State will be defended by its four horsemen against Illinois, Oklahoma and Missouri.

Big Six two-mile teams start competition tomorrow when their respective football teams meet on the gridiron. The Big Six two-mile teams that see action tomorrow are Kansas State vs. Missouri at Columbia, Mo., and Oklahoma vs. Nebraska at Lincoln, Neb.

Inter-conference play also gets under way in the Big Six football circles tomorrow when Kansas State meets Missouri and Oklahoma meets Nebraska at Lincoln. Kansas university meets James Millikin university at Lawrence tomorrow and Iowa State delays its start in Big Six competition by meeting the University of Detroit at Detroit. Iowa State has failed to win a conference tussle in the last two years but has won two non-conference games this year.

K. U. RUMORED TO HAVE PAID VISIT ON HILL

REPORT CAME AROUND MID-NIGHT THAT U. MEN WERE BACK ON THE JOB.

NO INVADERS DISCOVERED

Students Patrol Campus With Paddles And Then Go Back To Bed—Pact Still Holds Good.

Rumor had it around midnight last night that the boys from down the Kaw were on the campus to do a job delayed for the past two years because of a pact signed by members of the student councils that pre-game activities between the two state institutions be ceased. The college whistle was heard by students in the west end of Manhattan, and a few minutes later the campus was, as in the days of yore, littered with men bearing paddles and out for the blood of the Jayhawkers.

Students wearing slickers and old clothes, and others packed in cars three deep made a complete survey of the campus but after finding Touchdown II, the wildcat, safe, and nothing else amiss returned to their houses and retired for the night. A few drove east of town searching for a Buick touring car which some say they believe bore the invaders from the university city.

College Whistle Blown. Night workers in the power house say some fellow ran in the building, dashed up the stairs, pulled the valve open and let the whistle "go." They were unable to give a description of the fellow, however, other than saying he wore light trousers and a dark coat.

The Collegian office was called around midnight and told by some voice on the wire that K. U. was on the campus and to call all houses, which members of the staff promptly did.

Gates Left Unguarded. A detailed guard was not placed at the gates as it was several years back because of the opinion drawn by most of the men on the campus that any K. U. students who might have been here would have departed immediately after hearing the whistle.

Manhattan police said early this morning they had not noticed any strange cars in town.

Last year's Student Council of officials issued a statement relating to the pact made the year before that any evidence of violation of the pact on the part of Kansas State student would be thoroughly investigated and the violators reprimanded.

N-I-B-B-L-I-A-N-G-S

Karl Pfeutze, former Kansas State student, and now one of the K. U. university men, made a fair bid for the hall of shame the other day down the Kaw when at his initial performance before the student body as a cheerleader he jumped out in front of the crowd and yelled, "Let's give the good old Kansas Aggie Wildcat a scream." . . . Lynn Horwege, journalism student, and Floyd Tempore, engineer, were warned up the other night at the Barnwarmer when the ags applied the paddle.

Pat Irwin probably wishes she never heard of the Delta Taus. The other day she went down to visit one of the quarantined members and as she was about to have a few words with him in the alley, up drove the filmshaws. She was placed in exile for a period of one week, thereby losing all chances of attending the game Saturday. . . . When asked to name a natural enemy of grasshoppers in a recent entomology class, Murt McKins recited, "hogs." A la Graham McNamee, he got a great hand from the crowd. . . . Spud Morgan, being unable to make classes on time, was seen hanging onto a coat tail and fairly riding through Anderson hall. Cheap and fast transportation through the congested area is at least a thought. . . . The young man who walks the streets of Aggieville in purple pants will probably get a bid to Purple Peppers. . . . Mike Ahearn's a window peeper. He drove up back of Anderson the other day, got out of his car, and gawked into Dean Babcock's window to see if he was home.

LESLIE EDMONDS TO SPEAK

The next scheduled journalism seminar will be held October 22 with Leslie E. Edmonds as the speaker. Mr. Edmonds is a well known sport authority and with the possible exception of E. C. Quigley, officiates at more major athletic events in Kansas than any other person. He will referee the Kansas State-Oklahoma game here October 24.

In private life, Mr. Edmonds is president of the Morris Plan company of Kansas with home offices at Wichita. He is well known to Kansas State students for his sport column appearing daily in the Topeka Daily Capital, which is printed under the head of "Just As It Appears to Me." He first produced this column when he was working in Topeka but has kept up his contribution since his change of residence.

The subject of his talk at Kansas State will be "Balhoonk," which he claims is a combination of the words "ballyhoo," "hokey," and "bunk." The public is invited to attend the lecture, which will be given in room 60 in Kedzie hall.

Evergreen Boughs, Bales of Hay, Lattice Work, and Colored Lights Used—Two Run Gauntlet of Paddles.

Isabelle Porter, Stafford, was crowned Ag Barnwarmer queen, Friday night in Nichols gymnasium amid the cheers of the assembly. Students of agriculture were identified at the affair by their blue overalls and jumpers; the agricultural engineers by their corduroys, and the veterinarians by their white clinical uniforms. Women at the affair wore gay cotton print frocks.

At 10 o'clock, the crown princess was brought into the room on a buggy, escorted by six guards of honor carrying pitchforks. She was led to the throne by Assistant Dean Hugh Durham of the division of agriculture and presented to the company by him.

Durham Introduces Queen. "In accordance with various ancient customs of celebrating the harvest season," said Assistant Dean Durham, "we of the Kingdom of Ag celebrate each year with this festive occasion and choose a queen." Here he introduced Miss Porter, who stood, smiling. The assembly cheered as he placed the imitation silver crown on her head. She was charming in a red and white frock.

The five princesses, Marjory Lyles, Saffordville; Marjory Call, Manhattan; Helen Row, Larned; Dorothea Hadsell, Manhattan; and Katherine Reid, Manhattan, had prominent places at the foot of the throne during the coronation.

The high-stately throne, the seat of which was some five feet above the floor, was placed at one end of the large room. It was constructed of fragrant bales of hay, sorghum shocks, and ruddy fall leaves. These same mediums in addition to evergreen boughs, lattice work, and colored lights decorated the entire room.

Dancing, Games and Eats. Beside the crowning of the queen, the entertainment consisted of dancing, and music by Jack Mills and his orchestra, games in another spacious room, and a roping stunt by F. F. Schmidt, Junction City.

Apples, doughnuts, and barrels of cider were provided to refresh the guests.

Protection from intruders from other divisions was afforded by R. O. Blair, Manhattan, and a corps of assistants. L. A. Horwege, Belleville, student in journalism, and Floyd Tempore, Clay Center, student in civil engineering, were running a paddle line during the evening.

Y. M. C. A. CABINET MEET. There will be a Y. M. C. A. cabinet meeting today at 4:00 o'clock in recreation center. The first half of the hour will be spent discussing business and the last half will be a discussion led by Prof. C. D. Davis of the agronomy department.

WILDCATS WORK OUT FOR K. U. TILT SATURDAY

M'MILLIN TEACHES SQUAD NEW PLAYS—OFFENSIVE ANGLE STRESSED.

TIGERS DAMAGE TEAM LITTLE

Barring Injuries This Week, Wildcats Will Be In Best of Condition—Entire Squad Engaged in Practice.

Little time was spent by the K-State team in gloating over their 20-7 victory over the University of Missouri as Coach McMillin put them through a stiff workout yesterday afternoon in preparation for the annual battle with K. U., Saturday. Last night's workout was spent in learning new plays to be used Saturday and in playing them against the "B" team. Considerable time was spent on offensive plays.

Probably one of the things Coach McMillin will devote his attention to is defense on the kick-off. George Stuber, Missouri quarterback, provoked this action as his 95-yard run against the Wildcats in Columbia undoubtedly brought all the unpleasant memories of the 100-yard trip that Jim Bausch, K. U. fullback, took with the ball on the initial kick-off last year.

If no accidents occur in practice this week the Kansas State squad should be in the best of physical condition when it journeys to Lawrence Saturday, as no injuries other than a few bruises were caused in the Missouri game. The entire team was suited up for practice yesterday afternoon.

A check on past K. U.-Kansas State games shows that the Jayhawkers have just about had their own way until the past few years. From 1906 when the Kansas State team grabbed the long end of a 6-4 score K. U. chalked up victories, with the exception of a tie in 1915, until 1922 when the K-Aggies held the university squad to a 7-7 tie.

This was the end of K. U. gridiron supremacy and the next year the annual clash ended in a scoreless tie. The following four years Kansas State won all the contests. In 1928 the Jayhawkers scored a 7-0 victory in Manhattan and the next year a well executed pass with Alex Nigro on the receiving end gave Kansas State a 6-0 victory in Lawrence.

Last year's game is still an unpleasant memory to those Kansas State supporters who saw Jim Bausch of K. U. tuck the ball under his arm on the kick-off play and race the length of the field for a touchdown and as the game was about half over carry the ball around end for 60 yards and another touchdown. The K-Aggies were unable to register in the scoring column and the game ended 14-0 in favor of K. U.

Prof. Paul Weigel, head of the department of architecture, who is chairman of the traveling exhibition committee of the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture, has just issued the call for material for the traveling exhibit. Seniors selected were: Madge Louise Limes, La Harpe; Ella Jane Meiller, Minneapolis; Mildred M. Rewerts, Leoti; Mildred W. Bowles, Walnut; Loula Marie Simmons, Manhattan; Elizabeth D. Butrum, Holton; Mildred E. Bell, Bavaria; and Ivaloe B. Hedge, Manhattan.

SUPREME COURT FRAT TAX SUIT UP THIS MONTH

TO DETERMINE LEGALITY OF TAXES ASSESSED AGAINST FRATS AND SORORITIES.

EXEMPT UNTIL LAST YEAR

Will Show Organizations Are Adjuncts of College and Act as Dormitories and Boarding Houses.

The suit in the Kansas supreme court of local fraternities and sororities to determine the legality of taxes assessed against them will be brought up this month. George Clammer, of Evans and Clammer, said, "We hope in less than 30 days to have testimony before the referee."

The sorority and fraternity property was considered exempt from taxation until last year, when the question of constitutionality was raised and Riley county tax authorities placed the property upon the tax rolls. The case pending in the supreme court is to obtain an order upon the tax officials to remove the property from the rolls. Attorneys will fully explain the situation of the fraternity in relation to the college, showing that the organizations are really adjuncts of the college in that they act as dormitories and boarding places for the students, and provide an education.

In the preliminary stages the attorney for the tax officials sought to have the case thrown out of court. The fraternity representatives are endeavoring to secure an agreement with the other side upon the facts.

Panhellenic representatives from Kansas State will be present at the hearing to be held in Topeka.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING THURSDAY

The October meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in recreation center Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Glen Griffiths, the student secretary of the Nebraska Y. M. C. A. organization will be the speaker. Rev. W. A. Jonnard will read the devotionals.

Freshmen Students Defy Spelling Rules And Insist On A 'Calf' In 'Cafeteria'

The freshman class is living up to expectations—30 out of 100 of them spelled cafeteria "cafeteria" on their Rhetoric I tests given during the first week of school. The only explanation to be given for this new school of spelling is freshmen resorted to the old style method of spelling by syllables, and spelled "caf" the same as they would spell "calf"—referring to the offspring of the bovine species. But on the other hand, one should never try to explain freshmen, and therefore the only conclusion must be they are the usual dumb lot.

However, one girl, Elizabeth Walcott of Columbus, received a score of 196 out of a possible 200, a score which might possibly put to shame the "far more intellectual upperclassmen," Miss Walcott is enrolled in the home economics division.

The median score on the test was 145 and ten per cent of the grades are above 172. These tests, consisting of punctuation, spelling grammar and rhetoric drills, were given to 625 freshmen at the meeting of their first rhetoric class. Five per cent failed to score one-half of the possible points. And one poor bewildered freshman managed to make a score of just 65; however he did not finish.

One hundred papers were selected by Miss Helen Elcock and Miss Nellie Aberle, instructors in rhetoric, and co-authors of the tests, as a typical group for making comparisons.

There were 43 of these spellings:

WALTER MITCHELL GETS TELEVISION BROADCAST HERE

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING SENIOR BUILDS POWERFUL SET.

'SEE' WASHINGTON PROGRAM

Observers Able To See Picture Clearly In Spite Of Atmospheric Interference—Set To Be Moved For Better Reception.

Television has arrived at Kansas State. Walter R. Mitchell, Salina, a senior in electrical engineering, has built a radio receiving set with which he is able to see, in the apartment he and Mrs. Mitchell occupy at 514 North Seventeenth street, pictures of living people being broadcast as far away as New York City.

Last evening, in spite of atmospheric interference, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell and a reporter for the Collegian heard, or rather "saw" stations broadcasting from Washington, D. C., and Wheaton, Md. The super-heterodyne receiver which Mitchell built himself easily picked up the Washington station, evidenced at first by a whirling noise in the headphones attached to the set. The television unit, a commercially-built affair, next attracted the "seers" attention. Looking through a lens about the size of a reading glass, those watching saw a small square of light, and after a moment of adjusting the speed of a rapidly revolving disc behind the lens, there appeared very clearly the picture of a man, with spectacles, who was talking about something or other. Soon the scene changed, and a woman's face could be distinguished in the square.

See Man Blow Rings. Another station was broadcasting a highly entertaining close-up of a man with a pipe and blowing smoke rings. Yet another station broadcast a picture of some pine woods. There was no sound accompanying the pictures, as it would be necessary to broadcast the sound on different wave lengths from the visual images.

One of his main purposes in building the set, Mitchell said last night, was to get material for a paper he is to read at the American Institute of Electrical Engineers' regional convention to be held October 22 in Kansas City, Mo. According to Mitchell it has not been thought possible to take television broadcasts with a super-heterodyne receiver, but he has shown that it is possible to get quite clear images with such a set. The maximum range of a television transmitter is supposed to be about 200 miles. Mitchell said, and since there is no station nearer than Chicago, it was necessary to have a powerful receiver.

Wilma Reinhardt, Bison, was visiting in Salina for the week end.

A special train will be made up transport K-Aggie rooters to the K. U. town, leaving here Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and returning Saturday night, leaving Lawrence at 6:45 o'clock. Fares have been reduced to $1.75 round trip. No organized pep meeting will be held during the week, according to Ray Spence, Fairbury, head cheer leader. However, any student whose enthusiasm is getting the best of him has Spence's permission to "let it out."

McMillinmen will be greeted at the station when they return from the West Virginia game at Morgantown, West Virginia, October 31, and from the Iowa State fray November 7, Spence said last night. Meeting of trains carrying home Wildcat squads has long been Kansas State custom.

Layton To Play Varsity. Union Pacific officials said last night students wishing to go to Lawrence Friday or even Saturday morning on an earlier train than the special, and returning as late as Sunday night would be offered a round trip ticket for $2.81, the usual one way fare.

Entertainment facilities at Lawrence this week end will include a variety at the Memorial union building. June Layton and his Varsity club orchestra will play. Layton's band will also furnish music for a Phi Delta Theta party to be held in Lawrence Friday night, which several members of the local chapter are planning to attend.

Saturday will be Dad's day at Lawrence and the varsity held that night will be in connection with other plans made by the university organizations, according to Phil Keeler, editor-in-chief of the University Daily Kanan.

MANUSCRIPTS DUE SOON. Manuscripts for the Quill Club membership contest must be submitted to Miss Helen Hemphill by November 2. These manuscripts will be judged by a committee consisting of Miss Hemphill, Prof. H. W. Davis, and Miss Nellie Aberle who will decide upon the eligibility of the contestant for membership. Either prose or poetry may be submitted. There have been a number of applicants already but a larger number are urged to enter the contest.

As usually is the case, the freshmen tests proved that there is a reason for most of the first year students coming to college—and a glance at the tests convince one there is room for improvement.

KANSAS STATE ROOTERS ALL SET FOR FRAY

ENTHUSIASTIC STUDENTS GREET VICTORIOUS TEAM AT TRAIN SUNDAY.

VARITY THERE SATURDAY

Reduced Railroad Rates Offered To Students Taking Special Train—Fare Declares October 17 A Holiday.

With Saturday declared a holiday by President F. D. Farrell, and Wildcat rooters appearing at the station in a mass Sunday to meet the victorious Kansas State team returning from a 20-7 victory over Gwynn Henry's men, enthusiasm is reaching the peak prior to the annual clash with the university gentlemen down at Lawrence.

Although the college is showing its spirit in a different manner than it did several years back when students spent their nights migrating to Lawrence with cans of purple and white paint, or keeping up the fires at campus gates in order to ward off invaders, the old fire is evident.

Special Train Saturday. A special train will be made up transport K-Aggie rooters to the K. U. town, leaving here Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and returning Saturday night, leaving Lawrence at 6:45 o'clock. Fares have been reduced to $1.75 round trip. No organized pep meeting will be held during the week, according to Ray Spence, Fairbury, head cheer leader. However, any student whose enthusiasm is getting the best of him has Spence's permission to "let it out."

McMillinmen will be greeted at the station when they return from the West Virginia game at Morgantown, West Virginia, October 31, and from the Iowa State fray November 7, Spence said last night. Meeting of trains carrying home Wildcat squads has long been Kansas State custom.

Layton To Play Varsity. Union Pacific officials said last night students wishing to go to Lawrence Friday or even Saturday morning on an earlier train than the special, and returning as late as Sunday night would be offered a round trip ticket for $2.81, the usual one way fare.

Entertainment facilities at Lawrence this week end will include a variety at the Memorial union building. June Layton and his Varsity club orchestra will play. Layton's band will also furnish music for a Phi Delta Theta party to be held in Lawrence Friday night, which several members of the local chapter are planning to attend.

Saturday will be Dad's day at Lawrence and the varsity held that night will be in connection with other plans made by the university organizations, according to Phil Keeler, editor-in-chief of the University Daily Kanan.

MANUSCRIPTS DUE SOON. Manuscripts for the Quill Club membership contest must be submitted to Miss Helen Hemphill by November 2. These manuscripts will be judged by a committee consisting of Miss Hemphill, Prof. H. W. Davis, and Miss Nellie Aberle who will decide upon the eligibility of the contestant for membership. Either prose or poetry may be submitted. There have been a number of applicants already but a larger number are urged to enter the contest.

As usually is the case, the freshmen tests proved that there is a reason for most of the first year students coming to college—and a glance at the tests convince one there is room for improvement.

MEETING WILL BE OFFICIAL START OF SOLICITATION OF ALL FRESHMEN AND NEW STUDENTS OF KANSAS STATE.

After three weeks of intensive preparation, the 1931 stadium drive will get away with a whirlwind start at a special student assembly next Friday morning at 10:15 o'clock. A program of speaking has been prepared for the occasion, and will include Dr. H. H. "Doc" King, head of the chemistry department; M. F. "Mike" Ahearn, director of athletics; A. N. "Bo" McMillin, head football coach; and Edwin "Hans" Pfeutze, student manager of the 1931 stadium drive. The college band under the direction of Prof. Lyle Downey will also appear on the program.

Old Students Upstairs. Following the seating arrangement used in the past at stadium drive assemblies, the freshmen and new students will be seated on the main floor of the auditorium. Pfeutze said, "It is expected that all freshmen and new students will attend this assembly."

Funds subscribed to the stadium drive will be used toward the completion of the stadium. Present plans are to complete the two wings before building the south section. The wall of the west wing and furnishing the interiors of both wings with locker rooms, showers, training rooms, etc., remains to be done. When completed the stadium will have a seating capacity of approximately 31,000. It was designed by the engineering department of the college.

CONGRATULATIONS, AGS.

In this age of racketeering, the annual Ag Barnwarmer held Friday night in Nichols gymnasium stands out in bold relief. If ever a party was staged with all the decorations, good music, and program that would equal the barnwarmer and still have an admission charge of only $1.00, the Collegian is not aware of it.

Some of the students at the college have poked fun at their fellow students who are "ags" (which they say with a slight sneer) for being a bunch of what they term "hicks." These students should have been present at the division's annual dance to see for themselves the group of intelligent looking and more than intelligent acting students. It is one party where stags do not predominate, and the fellows dance whether or not they know the latest steps practiced by some of the students in other divisions.

It goes without saying the manager of the ag barnwarmer did not make a "cleaning" on the dance. In fact, he probably worked for the success of the party in a social way, rather than for a financial profit to himself. It would not be possible for anyone to make money on a party like that where refreshments in addition to the many other "niceties" were actually given away.

The ags should be congratulated and the Collegian is proud to be one of the parties adding its heartiest handshakes to the many others that have probably been given the managers of the affair.

THE WAR IS ON.

Aggieville's annual price war is on between rival eating houses. It happens every year—this struggle to interest Kansas State's roving mob of hungry students; but this year the competition is more keen than ever. It's just another problem due to the depression—there are too many students with big appetites and small pocketbooks. And, according to the experts, there are too many private boarding houses doing business in a big way.

Each year some cafe announces a radical cut in prices, which is usually the equivalent of less to eat, but the old gag is always good, and the students flock in, and keep coming, until the rival cafe announces a big sacrifice cut of five cents on meals or meal tickets, and the starving mob of students rushes across the street and swarms the door. They eat less, of course, but

MEMBERS OF FACULTY TO LAWRENCE MEETING

Will Attend State-Wide Conference of Economies and Business Instructors.

Kansas university will hold a state-wide conference of instructors in economics and business at Lawrence, October 16 and 17 at which four members of the Kansas State faculty will speak.

Dr. W. E. Grimes of the agricultural economics department of the college will address the Friday afternoon meeting on the general subject of the adjustment of Kansas agriculture and industry to changing economic conditions. Prof. R. M. Green, also of the agricultural economics department, will assist in the discussion of this subject also.

Dr. J. E. Kammeyer, professor of economics and sociology, will be the chairman of the Saturday morning meeting, the general subject for discussion being the responsibility of the federal reserve system for the present world depression. Prof. Harold Howe, department of agricultural economics, will assist in this discussion.

Y. W. C. A. PRESENTS ANNUAL PROGRAM

Service Held in Rec Center Last Night—Consists of Music, Devotional, Ritual Service.

Members of the Y. W. C. A. were formally recognized at a service in recreation center last night. The service was under the direction of Frances Bell, Marysville, chairman of the membership committee. The program consisted of music, devotional service, and ritual.

Preceding the recognition service, meetings of the various interest and hobby groups were held. These groups are industry studies, under the direction of Elizabeth Pruett, Westmoreland; international under the direction of Blanche Duguid, Olathe, and Norma Sayre, Ingalls; philosophy under the direction of Louise Chalont, Wichita, and Mercedes Shute, Manhattan; dramatics under the direction of Corabelle Tolin, Havensville, and Maxine Flemming, Manhattan; modern books, Helen Manglesdorf, Atchison, and Vera Brewer, Wichita; worship, Beulah Leach, Bird City, and Barbara Lautz, La Junta.

they pay less, too, and that seems to be the big issue—at present.

Naturally there is the danger of starvation if meals continue to grow smaller and smaller until the price is the exceedingly attractive sum of two or three cents per each lay-out—because these students never know when to quit. And as one cynic put it, "Oh, those fellows will eat leather if they don't have to pay much for it." Regardless of the truth of this statement, there's nothing like a dollar or two deep down in the old pocket in these Hoover-guidance days.

So eat where you please, and what you please and what you please, for it's going to be a long hard winter, and we'll all probably do the starving-Armenian act before the Democrats rush to the rescue.—G. R.

THE HONOR SYSTEM.

Chicago university has recently adopted the custom, prevalent in many European universities, of allowing students to come to class when and how they see fit. The work is there for them and when they have done it and acquired sufficient knowledge to receive a degree, they are graduated. It may take years; it may take months. It depends entirely upon the student himself, and throws on him the responsibility for his own education. The student is actually being treated as if he desired an education and needed only sign posts to guide him.

Of course, there is much to be said against the idea. Lazy or indifferent students might find the system effective in getting out of study and wasting time and money.

On the other hand, a true student enjoys his work and reaps a feeling of keen satisfaction from having done it well. He does not care to waste time. He is in school, not to "get by" but to get out of it the maximum of help and knowledge while he is there.

Would not the honor system inspire the true student and eliminate the clogging of the machinery of learning by lazy, inefficient ones? It seems that it would.

Instructors are there to help and if dilatory students were not allowed to monopolize their time, they would have more time for real students. It would also be an added incentive to know that one could finish the course as rapidly as he desired—all depending upon his capacity for work and his mastery of certain subjects.

Surely when students become of college age, they realize what they are going to accomplish in later life depends upon their training and habits formed while in school. They must see the better equipped they are to earn their living, the better will be their jobs and the likelier their chances of holding them. Surely, if they are ever to be on their own responsibility, it is then.—E. A. T.

— The Snopiers —

As football prophets we aren't bad dishwashers. Last time we appeared in print we prognosticated a close game for Bo's boys. The only close thing about the whole game was the contest to see which team could fumble most. The Wildcat team won when it was found that the hands of the K-Aggle backs were all thumbs. Missouri countered with the same claim. Then the K-Aggies came back with the boast that their thumbs were all left thumbs. So they won.

The whole team crashed the gate at the Tiger Inn after the game and Wertzberger nearly lost his standing on the squad after he had left one of the coaches "stuck" with one of those corned Mizzou gals.

Whistles blew, sleepy-eyed students flew into clothing, paddles were collected, and every one was out for a wild search to find the K. U. paint-daubers rumored to be on the campus. For a few minutes things looked as though the annual K. U.-Aggie "wake" was on. Then every one went home, grumbling. The only things that even acted like they might have enjoyed the whole affair were the coffee vendors in Aggieville and Touchdown 55, the wildcat. It was the most attention he'd had since George Chumos came down from Snooty Center on the Kaw, with a camera and the story about being a K. C. newspaper reporter.

Which brings to mind that Uncle Jimmy Green's paint job is beginning to look awfully shabby.

CENTRAL AMERICA IS STUDENT FORUM TOPIC

Dr. Frank A. Smith, Secretary of Home Missions Society Will Talk At Weekly Meeting.

Dr. Frank A. Smith of Elizabeth N. J., will speak at the student forum meeting in the cafeteria Wednesday, October 14, on "Understanding Central America."

Doctor Smith, who is secretary of the Home Missions society of the Baptist church, has had charge of all educational work in hospitals and missions in Central America in the interests of the allocation of foreign mission societies. As a result, he has toured Central America several times and has had to deal with all classes of Central American people.

The Baptist state convention is convening in Manhattan this week, and Doctor Smith will also speak before that group.

On Other Hills

Henry Smith Pritchett, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching, warned colleges in his annual report this summer that continued exploitation of football as a money making game would lead to the government taxing colleges as profit making organizations.

Coach Wade of Duke university has five graders on his squad this year that answer to the name of "James."

Different languages are spoken at several tables in the cafeteria at Rutgers college although all of the students are of American descent. The faculty in the foreign languages departments have conceived the idea that students in their classes should set in groups and all through the meal should speak only French or German.

At the present time there are 610 colleges and universities in the United States. In 1860 there were 246.

Hotel men in Orjo have petitioned the legislature of the state to inaugurate courses in hotel management in the curriculum.

Fifty-four miles of adhesive tape was used by the athletic trainers last fall to bind and bandage the University of California football team. The graders used 2.2 miles of bandage and 17 pounds of cotton to cover these same wounds.

Three students at the University of Alabama spent the spring semester in tent last year and cooked their own meals in an effort to cut down expenses.

A bill to exempt fraternities and sororities from paying taxes was defeated in Arizona when it was introduced before the legislature.

Freshmen at the University of Nebraska have donned the college colors in headgears.

A yarn concerning a tunnel has long been a legend at Washburn and it recently became a realization when a building custodian probed under the floor of one of the buildings and found that the stick extended into a bottomless pit.

Wisconsin has its provision that allows students to pay tuition in wheat but Drury college has gone them one better, and pumpkins, cabbage, and canned goods are commonly seen as legal tender for fees.

Women go to college at the rate of about 356,000 a year; 560,000 men are there to escort them through the portals of higher learning.

The Ohio State Lantern has discovered why Ohio should lead the country in presidents—the state has 41 colleges.

Happy days are in store for the coeds at Indiana university with the enrolment of 800 extra men students, and 1932 happens to be leap year.

Oberlin college has listened to some of Judge Ben Lindsey's "discussions" and have built a dormitory for students that are married.

Customers are needed to make a successful (financially) varsity. Promoters at the University of Kansas realized this and gave free drinks to all the persons that passed through the turnstiles.

The University of Wisconsin has placed 5,000 students with part time work to help defray expenses for the coming year.

The University of Kansas will be host to high school, grade school, and ward school children of the state of Kansas at the Kansas-Colorado Aggie football game September 26.

Freshmen at the New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts must conform with certain specified rules laid down by the sophomores for the first three weeks period. This is a time-honored tradition and custom of the college.

Students at the University of Maryland are fined $3 for each class they cut.

Harvard college was established in 1636 and for 50 years after its beginning, the enrollment never went above 20.

A blind student was enrolled at the University of Colorado. He is 28 years old, is enrolled as a regular freshman, and is carrying 15 hours work which includes history, zoology, Latin and English.

An advertisement of peculiar interest appears in a current issue of the Wellesley College News—a bicycle advertisement, there with the purpose of soliciting business. Wellesley does not have an auto-parking problem to solve. Students are not allowed to ride in cars while attending school.

LITTLE LOAFING BY STUDENTS OF COLLEGE

College Payroll Reveals 300 Students Working Part Time on the Hill.

College may be a four years' loaf, according to the classic definition, but to many students at Kansas State, it is a very elusive loaf. More than 500 of the 2,891 students enrolled here have found it necessary to look about for substantial jobs.

In making up the payroll for September, Miss Hattie White, head of the business office, finds that about 300 students are being given work by the college. Departments employing students are animal husbandry, offices, cafeteria, dormitory, building and repair, dairy, and custodian's force. The average wage is 35 cents per hour. This month 55 persons were on the payroll of the custodian force.

According to Dean Mary P. Van Zile, 48 women students have been placed in private homes to work for their room and board, compared with 32 last year. About 100 are doing office and other work.

"The advisability of a girl's helping herself through college by working for her board and room is frequently questioned," says Dean Van Zile. "When both parties consider their agreement as a business contract, and respect it as such, the method has proven very successful."

Dr. A. A. Holtz, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and men's advisor, has placed about 100 students in odd and regular part time jobs this year, which is about the same number as last year. Many of these jobs are off the campus and are with orchestras, at cafes, private homes, and in other business.

AT THE DICKINSON

"The Road To Singapore"

Kansas City's own Willie Powell as the much maligned rogue in the English Colonial post, steals the heart of the uprighteous doctor's wife, and drinks lots of Whiskey and "Sodas." The dialogue is quite risque at times in a rather cynical way. Not heavy, but very entertaining.—J. B.

AT THE WAREHAM

"Skyline"

Much of the spirit of Felix Riesenberg's novel, "East Side, West Side" is lost in its dramatization a "Skyline." But the story of John Breen, who pulled himself up from a river-boat rat to a builder of skyscrapers is still a worthy picture.

GIRLS

Do Not Smoke Pipes

THE GIRLS haven't left us many of our masculine rights. They fly our airplanes, drive our cars, smoke

our cigarettes—but they don't smoke our pipes! They've left us this one manly right, anyway.

A man almost has to smoke a pipe nowadays. A pleasant necessity! For a pipe filled with good tobacco is just about the best smoke a man could want.

And if you're troubled about selecting a tobacco, remember that Edgeworth is the popular favorite in 42 out of 54 colleges. It somehow seems to fit the college man's taste. Edgeworth is cut especially for pipes, it burns slowly, it gives a cool smoke. You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold. Or, for a special sample packet, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 100 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

For men only—the joys of a pipe.

EDGEWORTH SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive and exclusive eleven-step process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed and Edgeworth Plug Slice. All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to $1.50 pound humidifier tin.

Hardie Albright as John Breen, Maureen O'Sullivan as Kathleen Carney, and Thomas Meighan as McClellan, master builder, are well played.—J. B.

AT THE VARSITY

"Girl of the Golden West"

Can you imagine a show with just one woman in it? Well, that is what you see if you go to the "Girl of the Golden West" which is now showing at the Varsity Theater. Ann Harding is the woman, which explains everything—she is supported by James Rennie and Harry Bannister. "The Girl of the Golden West" is a story of the early days in California, based on the play written by David Belasco. Its a show that is a show. . . it holds your interest from beginning to end, and what more could anyone ask?—H. D.

REGIONAL CONFERENCE OF Y. M. C. A. HELD HERE

Representatives of Colleges of Seven States Discuss Matters Pertaining to Organization.

The Rocky Mountain regional conference of the Y. M. C. A. held a series of sessions here last week end with headquarters in the Presbyterian student center at 315 North Fourteenth street. Among the leaders at the conference were former Governor Sweet of Colorado, Dr. Ben Cherrington, director of the conference service foundation at the University of Denver, David R. Porter, national student secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and Felix Manley, and Glen Griffiths, Lincoln, Neb., both traveling secretaries.

Representatives of associations from seven colleges and universities in the Rocky mountain region of the national association were here. The group included 35 men, some of whom were national, regional, and state secretaries. Phil Lautz, La Junta, Colo., represented Kansas State.

The representatives discussed policies to be maintained and routine matters pertaining to the association. Saturday evening they were entertained by Rev. William Guerrant, university student pastor.

PAYMENTS TO STUDENTS

College State Pays 20 Per Cent Dividend—Manhattan State Allows Loan.

Student who had deposits in the two defunct Manhattan banks have been receiving payments on their deposits recently. The College State bank declared a 20 per cent dividend October 10, and student depositors in the Manhattan State bank may receive a 50 per cent loan of the amount they had in the bank.

Those students who took advantage of the 50 per cent loan last spring on their College State bank deposit should see C. E. Floersch at the Union National bank. According to Floersch, the notes from the students may be cancelled now. Forty-five students took advantage of the loan last spring.

Students who did not receive the loan last spring may call at the office of O. M. Rhine, 114 S. Third and receive their dividends.

Arrangements have been made for student depositors in the Manhattan State bank to receive a 50 per cent loan on their deposits if they wish. They should present their claims at the Manhattan State bank and then apply at the Union National bank for payment, says Prof. J. O. Hamilton, who is in charge of aiding students whose money was in the bank.

C. C. Uhl, '30, visited at the college this week on his vacation from the Illinois highway commission.

STUDENT WRITERS TO ENTER CONTEST

All Agriculture Journalism Classes Will Compete For Prizes; Possibility of School Keeping Cup

Sixty students enrolled in agricultural journalism will enter the annual Saddle and Siroin club, of the Union Stockyards, Chicago, Medal Essay contest. The contest is open to any undergraduate student in any agricultural college in the United States. Essays should be approximately 1,500 words in length. The subject chosen is "The Significance of the Junior Live Stock Club."

The prizes are offered by the organization in addition to the group prize, which is a handsome engraved silver cup awarded to the college placing the most men. The first three of the individual prizes are medals of gold, silver, and bronze and the seven other individual prizes are books on livestock.

K. L. Backus, graduate in agriculture administration, was the only Kansas State student to win an individual prize last year and he was awarded a bronze medal and a trip to Chicago to attend the annual dinner of the club. Kansas State has been able to win the group prize for the last two years and the cup is now on display in the west wing of Waters hall. The cup becomes the permanent property of the school if it is won a third time.

COLLEGIAN BOARD ELECTED

Edith Dobson, Manhattan, and Ralph Van Camp, Council Grove, were elected as members of the Kansas State Collegian board at an election held in Kedzie hall, Friday. Both of the winning candidates are juniors in industrial journalism. Their term is for one year.

The other candidates for office were Nelda Carson, Morganville; Mildred Biel, Baweria; and H. C. Hofmann, Manhattan. The three members of the board appointed due to their positions as president of Sigma Delta Chi, and Theta Sigma Phi, journalistic organizations, and head of the department of journalism, respectively, are Maurice DuMars, Agra; Rachel Lamprecht, Manhattan; and E. T. Keith.

Delta Taus, Exiled, Still Carry On All Civilized Customs

Chaperoned closely by a policeman, according to the newest ideas concerning supervised play, the Delta Taus, quarantined provisionally due to exposure to infantile paralysis, take their exercise in the park each day.

"I want everyone to know this is no picnic," sighed Max Hamill, Clay Center, when asked his opinion of the "imprisonment" as the men are now calling it.

"We are being quite civilized, shaving and everything," they said. When interviewed, Russell Smith, Manhattan, was much too low over the outcome of a recent horseshoe pitching game to be able to comment much on the situation. He admitted that he didn't have any need for money right now, but felt that he might be able to use it a little later.

A nightly bridge tournament and regular study halls are helping to pass the time. The house mother and the cook are both living in the house until the quarantine is over.

Suspicion points strongly to the Delta Taus as those who called a Wednesday night telling the Kappa Tau to store a supply of water because the water department was going to shut off the supply and no more would be available for some time. Denials were vehement of this rumor, but not convincing.

Herbert Ansit, London, England, was released from the College hospital Saturday where he has been ill with a severe cold.

OUTFITTERS TO THE KANSAS WILDCATS

WILDCATS TAME TIGERS FOR FIRST BIG SIX VICTORY

RALPH GRAHAM PLAYS STELLAR ROLE IN DEFEATING MISSOURIANS 20-7.

M. U. SCORES ON KICKOFF

Stuber, Tiger Quarterback, Races 92 Yards To Make Only Touchdown—Excessive Heat Prevents Speedy Football.

With Ralph Graham, big sophomore back from El Dorado, leading the offensive with 2 touchdowns, the Kansas State eleven took the Missouri Tigers into camp last Saturday by a score of 20 to 7. The hot afternoon was featured by many fumbles on both sides. Nine fumbles were committed by the McMillinmen while the Tigers lost the ball three times for misplays. Missouri's single touchdown provided perhaps the biggest thrill of the afternoon. It was Stuber, Missouri quarterback following in the footsteps of an older brother, who saved the Tigers from a scoreless day. At the start of the second half, Stuber took Auker's kickoff on the five yard line, stepping into a perfectly formed interference which mowed off the advancing Kansans as it moved up the field. At mid-field, the opposition had been swept aside and Stuber galloped on to the Aggie goal line. It was a brilliant piece of team work, perfectly executed and the only one during the game that gave any indication that Missouri even equalled the power of the McMillinmen. Gill added the extra point with a goal from placement.

Graham Scores First.
The seven points Stuber and Gill contributed brought the game to a deadlock for the Aggies scored their first touchdown early in the second quarter on a power drive half the length of the field, staged by McMillin and Graham. Graham carried the ball over for the first counter from the 2-yard line.

The second Wildcat touchdown, like the first, provided another exhibition of power. Auker took Gill's punt on the 20-yard line and made a 16-yard return before being brought down by a Missouri line-man. Green broke away for 36 yards, with his dash being stopped only by the Tiger safety. Auker then reeled off 20 yards. Three attempts by Graham then put the ball over the line for the second time during the afternoon.

The Wildcat defense was too much for the Tigers. Their passer was rushed by the McMillinmen steadily until in the fourth quarter the Missourians were driven back finally to their own goal line. It was when Stuber tried to pass in the final few minutes of the game, from behind his own goal line, that Zeckser fell on his fumble back of the goal line and provided the final scoring of the day.

Wildcats Have Great Edge.
The K-Aggies gained 243 yards at scrimmage to 46 by Missouri and made 13 first downs to the Tiger's three. They also held the upper hand in passes, gaining three first downs while Missouri made only one by the aerial route.

The line-ups and summary:

Port Squibs

It'll be a tough ball game.

It's all right for Kansas State supporters to feel enthusiastic about their team. They've a right to.

But remember—Pittsburg Teachers and Missouri university are hardly in the same class with Kansas, despite the latter's defeat by Haskell.

The thing that cost the Jayhawks that game might cost Kansas State a victory on Saturday—overconfidence.

For one thing—Kansas has a good strong line, manned by plenty of reserves. Men like Rost, Hanson, Foy, Bausch, Mehringer and Casini aren't found in every athletic shop window.

And Carmie Smith can hit that line. He's as big as the war debt and is nobody's third-rate quarterback, either.

Don't forget—Kansas State has a job on its hands. We're sure of that, but we're equally sure the McMillinmen can win the ball game, barring accidents and any possible lethargy on the part either of the players or the rooters.

This man Auker, for instance, or Wiggins, or Breen, or Graham, or McMillin, or Bushby—they're all reasons why the Wildcats should dine on Jayhawk.

Then there's the best forward wall Kansas State has had in years, marshalled by Capt. Henry Cronkite, a candidate for All-American honors.

One press representative told the writer that Auker, in the Missouri game, looked like three of the four horsemen. He's pestilence, death, and war all in one when he's lugging the apple toward the other team's goal line.

"Lighthorse Harry" Hasler got kicked in the chin in the Tiger game and thereby gained 25 yards for the K-Aggies. Walter Zeckser, guard, scored a touchdown when he recovered Stuber's fumble behind the goal line. The forward wall was doing its bit in the way of scoring and ground gaining.

In the Pittsburg game, the line leaked only enough to let the Teachers gain two yards. And the Aggies lost plenty. In the Tiger fray, the backs of Old Man Henry ripped through for the tremendous total of 43 yards, but also lost 20. That line can hold 'em off!

The McMillinmen haven't shown much out of their kit-bag of tricks yet. The best ones are being reserved for the gentlemen from down the Kaw. And if everything goes well, it'll be a happy day in Manhattan, Saturday.

Prof. L. Burr Smith of the department of architecture motored to Columbia, Mo., last Saturday to attend the Kansas State-M. U. football game.

Mrs. Ruth Greene Hofmann spent the week end visiting her parents in Beverly.

WRESTLERS TO WORK TO DEFEND CHAMPIONSHIP

W. L. Doyle, National Intercollegiate Champion, Is Captain, Also Only Letterman.

Coach E. B. Patterson already has his large crew of wrestlers hard at work in order that they may again win the Big Six wrestling title for Kansas State.

Although Joe Fickle, John Richardson, Captain Hugh Errington, Bill Chapman, and John Warner were lost to the squad through graduation, "Pat" is greatly encouraged over the number of prospects and experienced wrestlers that will be ready to bid for the places left by the graduates.

W. L. "Billy" Doyle, Douglas, captain-elect and national intercollegiate champion, will be the only letterman on the squad from last year's team. F. L. Tempero, the other letterman in school, is ineligible for competition this year. Ben W. Barber, Altam, letterman of two years ago, will be eligible and a contender. Barber was Missouri Valley A. A. U. champion last year. M. A. "Tuffy" Griffith, Osgood City, 118-pound class is not in school this semester.

Several of the "Big Shots" on the varsity wrestling squad will be June Roberts, Ford, 155-pound class; Paul F. Warner, Whiting, 145-pound class and Missouri Valley A. A. U. champion. All of these men are experienced wrestlers, having been in competition several times.

There will be a lot of new material this year from last year's freshman team. The freshman numeral men returning are: Melvin H. Wertzberger, Alma, heavyweight; E. D. Meekley, Manhattan, 175-pound class; Wayne Burbank, Latham, 126-pound class and holder of the state high school championship for two years.

Paul H. Nelson, McPherson, a big heavyweight, will also be in school next semester to give the mighty Wertzberger a bit of competition.

The football squad contains a few grapplers and it will not be until after Thanksgiving that these men can report for wrestling.

The roster of the other men out for wrestling is: Douglas H. Burbridge, Troy; F. M. Bozarth, Lenora; R. V. Breese, Leonardville; L. E. Bank, Salina; O. K. Brandon, Ash Valley; Stanley Boyd, Furlay; A. A. Bantz, Howard; S. E. Alsop, Wakefield; G. R. Collier, Colwich; R. H. Campbell, Grenola; E. L. Lamb, Mendon, Mo.; H. M. Kindsater, Wichita; L. D. ceiver to "tune in" on New York. The receiving set here is a tentative apparatus.

Working On Transmitter.

It is planned to remove the receiving set to the serum plant sometime today, where antennae especially suitable for television reception has been erected. There will be less interference in this location, and it is thought much better results will be obtained.

Harold Higginbottom, a former graduate of Kansas State, is at present working on a television transmitter to be used at this school. As most of the transmitters in use are in the eastern part of the country, this station will probably have a wide territory, relatively free from interference. Higginbottom was formerly chief engineer for the Jenkins Television corporation, Washington, D. C., whose station is frequently picked up by Mitchell.

EYES OF KANSAS TURN TO SATURDAY'S GAME AS A BATTLE TO THE FINISH

ENTHUSIASM HIGH IN SPITE OF NO PRE-GAME RAIDING AND PRANKS; UNIVERSITY SUFFERS MORAL SET-BACK FROM HASKELL.

CHANCELLOR LINDLEY MAKES FIGHT SPEECH

Optimism Felt at Kansas State with Development of Strong Offensive Power; Trust in McMillin Bag of Tricks to Avenge Last Year.

"The Eyes of Kansas Are Upon You," may be truthfully said of the football teams of Kansas State and Kansas University. For tomorrow they will write another chapter in the traditional rivalry between the two schools. "Going to the game?" is the question put by Kansas State students to their acquaintances. Even with the lack of raiding, statue painting, and other pranks, enthusiasm on the campus is high. And from all reports interest is running high on the K. U. campus. Chancellor Lindley appeared in the dressing room of the K. U. football team to give them a "fight talk," one evening this week.

The university team, with a number of last year's championship team members back, was rated high in pre-season dope. They suffered a moral setback in their defeat at the hands of the Haskell Indians, and during the past two weeks, coaches have been remedying the defects in the team's play which they think were responsible for the defeat. K. U. has played two other games, winning both from the Colorado Aggies and James Milliken.

Kansas State has shown remarkable offensive power in its two games. The Missouri game showed followers of Big Six football that the Kansas State team is a real threat in the conference. If you aren't aware of the power of McMillin's team, you have only to read the summary of the Kansas State-Missouri game.

Wait For Final Score

K. U. in its pre-game newspaper stories has been building up a good alibi for defeat, or an obligato for its "I told you we would win" song after the game is over. It is about half pessimism and the remaining half optimism with K. U.

Kansas State hasn't considered defeat—maybe we're too optimistic—but it has been all "win" on the campus this week. The only detail to be settled is the final score. In any event, the game is going to be a "good go." Two bands, a packed stadium, and two real teams as the center of attraction. Perhaps "Bo" McMillin will reach down in his bag of tricks and pull out a "whizzer" to accomplish his purpose—or maybe Bill Hargiss will slide a fast one in on the Kansas State team.

See you at Lawrence.

QUILL TO PRINT MAGAZINE

Nelda Carson To Edit Publication Of Local Origin.

Kansas State's chapter of Quill club, national organization of writers, will publish a magazine this year, according to a decision reached last night at a meeting of the local club. Nelda Carson, Morganville, will edit the magazine.

The magazine, which will be similar to the national organization's publication, "The Parchment," will contain stories, and poems, written by members of the chapter here. Two years ago the club issued a book of poems.

The staff chosen is as follows: Wynona Florence, Junction City, assistant editor; Lawrence Marx, Manhattan, business manager; and Miss Maria Morris, Manhattan, and John Bird, Hays, art editors.

EXTENSION MEET HERE

Birger Sandzen To Talk At Mixer Monday Night.

The annual conference for state extension workers will be held here October 19 until October 24, at which time home demonstration agents, 4-H club agents, and farm bureau agents will meet. Dean H. Umberger will preside at the meetings. Several members of the staff of extension work of the United States department of Agriculture will talk, and Dr. Birger Sandzen will present an illustrated lecture at the extension mixer Monday evening in recreation center.

COLLEGIAN SUBSCRIBERS.

The winner of the football trip to West Virginia or the alternate prize of $125 worth of clothing offered to Collegian subscribers, will be announced at the pep meeting being held next week preceding the game with Oklahoma. The announcement was to be made at the pep meeting this week, but due to the fact no pep meeting other than the impromptu affair last night was arranged, the lucky subscriber's name will not be announced until next Friday. Members of the Purple Pepsters, women's pep organization at Kansas State are soliciting both students and faculty this week in the final drive being made this fall.

TRAINERS WORK ON ENTRIES IN COMING DERBY

THEODORIC, ONCE FAVORITE, TO MAKE VALIANT ATTEMPT TO RECAPTURE CROWN.

NO DARK HORSE IN CLASSIC

Vox Pop Expected to Run Great Race to Maintain Track Supremacy of Past Three Meets.

Once again the trainers for the two favorites in the "Popularity Derby" are grooming their mounts for the semi-annual classic Tuesday. Fevered preparations are being made in both camps. Jockeys are being given their instructions. The owners of both horses, characteristic of old hands at the game, are a bit reticent about making any predictions as to the outcome.

"Wise fans will dope this race from past performances of the Vox Pop entry," said Zeke Sullivan, head trainer of the Vox Pop stables. Steve Vesceky, No. 1 man in the Theodorics ranks intimated that anything is liable to happen.

Odds On Vox Pop

The young entry in the race, Vox Pop, is dope as being a good horse in any weather and indifferent as to the condition of the track. The other entry, Theodoric, although having had more experience, has fared rather badly in the past three races. In the spring race of 1929, Vox Pop was victor by about seven lengths, and duplicated this performance in the fall meet of 1930, having run Theodoric clear off the boards.

Going wasn't so good for the favorite in the spring meet of 1930, as Theodoric was close enough at the finish to get some of the dust from the flying heels of Vox Pop. Theodoric placed in this classic.

Whistles, Rumors Only Noises Heard On Hills These Days

The old faithful college whistle didn't rest last night. The students had hardly had time to get back to their rooms after the dance when the familiar screech screeched again. A small crowd gathered on the campus looking for suspicious characters but all that was heard of was a Ford coupe believed to contain such characters. No trace, however, was found of paint. Not even the brushes were found.

Rumors of the K-Aggies invading the Kansas university campus the first few days of this week called off fraternity members from Lawrence to protect the statue of Jimmy Green and other paintable spots on the campus there. However, members of Acadia there became suspicious of the warning, and after calling the operator and tracing the call back, found the word of the invasion came from other houses on the campus, and not from Topeka as was said in the original telephone message.

The University Daily Kansan student newspaper, Wednesday quoted the peace pact made two years ago and suggested the students there "let the paint brushes rest."

The rumor circulated here Monday that the university men were paying an unwelcome visit on the hill, turned out to be nothing more than a rumor.

Touchdown II Smacks His Lips as McMillin Leads His Pack Against Jayhawkers Tomorrow

Touchdown II is in a surly mood. The Kansas State wildcat mascot smells blood.

Each fall as the K. U. football game draws near Touchdown II gets in a bad way. To a wildcat of Touchdown's tastes and temperament nothing is better than a meal of good juicy Jayhawker meat. In other words the Jayhawker is a tasty as well as a tasty bird.

Last year Touchdown was denied his feast of good old Jayhawker (due to the actions of that old meanie—Jim Bausch). But Touchdown is going to be avenged. Jim Bausch isn't back to give exhibitions of plain and fancy galloping in different lengths and distances, and more than that, Bo McMillin has the fastest, fightingest team Kansas State has ever had. The Wildcat rosters think the team will win—and Touchdown knows it.

Touchdown recently was moved from his cage near the gym to safer quarters in the vet hospital. At present Touchdown's cage is centered in a padlocked box stall there. And when you look at him, he snarls as if to say, "Oh, boy, would I like to tear you up?" That is exactly his mood these days and it's because he's so anxious to sink his teeth in a tender Jayhawker thigh, rather than resentment at his present location.

For you see, in the adjoining stall

there is a tan greyhound that has fits and howls continually, and on the other side are two dissipated looking Holsteins who act like the night after. Across the hallway is a hog that suffers from cholera and grunts eternally in self-pity. And there are innumerable Leghorns, guinea pigs and fancy rabbits nearby, any or all of which would make Touchdown a very satisfying meal.

It's hard to get even a look at Touchdown these days. The vets are highly suspicious of any curious stranger wanting only a peep at the cat. And three white-attired fellows absolutely refuse strangers a glance of the noted mascot. But the fellow who guarded Touchdown last year came to the rescue and led the way into the questionable "holy of holies" and there was the famous cat itself. This fellow recalled the incident last year when K. U. men stole into the building in the dead of night, broke the padlock, saved the bars of the cage, and even had a rope around Touchdown's neck before Kansas State men rushed to the rescue. Fellows are sleeping in the hospital this year so there is little danger of the Mount Oread men raiding the cage.

And meanwhile, Touchdown smacks his lips with a knowing look in his green eyes, and lies back and waits.

PARENTS' DAY PLANS MADE BY COMMITTEE

Pep Meeting to Open Program Next Week End; Farrell Will Speak at Annual Banquet.

Entertainment for parents' day will open with a pep meeting Friday evening, and open classes and the game in the afternoon will be followed by the Parents' Day banquet in the evening. A program is being planned for the banquet at which President F. D. Farrell will speak and students will entertain.

Letters to be sent out to parents inviting them to visit Kansas State are being prepared by the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A.

Phil Lantz, La Junta, Colo., is heading the Parents' Day committee this year. Students working on the committee are: Pauline Patchin, Parsons, representing senior women's Panhellenic, in charge of menu and counters; Betty Songster, Wellington, Y. W. C. A., in charge of invitations; Esther Morgan, Hutchinson, Van Zile hall, publicity; John Correll, Manhattan, Y. M. C. A., program. The representative from the senior men's Panhellenic council has not been chosen.

HOUSE HAS NEW FEATURES.

California stucco has been selected from samples submitted, as the plaster for the new Delta Delta house under construction. Prof. Paul Weigel, architect for the new house, says the main lounge on the first floor, is to have a fireplace which will be a replica of the famous fireplace of Davanzatti palace, Florence, Italy. The fireplace in the lounge on the second floor is one designed in the late period of the Italian renaissance and is trimmed in black and gold tiling.

ROGERS IS HONORED.

Prof. C. E. Rogers, head of the department of industrial journalism, has recently been appointed to membership on the Freedom of the Press committee of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial foundation. Professor Rogers is now on a year's leave of absence for study at Leeland Stanford university.

NAME AUDITION WINNERS

Carol Moore, Ashland, and Richard Herzog, Salina, To Compete in State Contest.

Carol Moore, Ashland, and Richard Herzog, Salina, were announced winners of the Atwater-Kent music audition contest conducted Thursday night over station KSAC. This entitles them to compete in the state contest at Topeka, October 21 and 22, to be broadcast over station WIBW. Last year's contest was also won by Miss Moore.

Helen Durham, Manhattan, placed second in women's voice and Kathryn Peterson, Riley, was third. Other women contestants were Helen Dobson, Betty Ransom, Fay Winlius, Thelma Williams, Isabel Overman, Dorcas Childester and Rebecca Hyde.

Benjamin Markley, Bennington, ranked second in men's voice and Albert Bader, Junction City, was third. Other men contestants were Donald Compton, John Hanna, and Richard Head.

Judges were Prof. H. W. Davis and Prof. C. W. Matthews of the English department, Miss Mary Allen of the high school, and the radio audience, whose decision counted 40 per cent.

MORTAR BOARD TO CONVENE

Mary Jo Cortelyou, Manhattan, will represent the Kansas State chapter of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary society, at the sectional convention in Lawrence, November 14. The chapter also decided at its meeting Tuesday night to schedule the annual Halloween dinner for college women, October 29.

Miss Cortelyou is president of the chapter of the organization here. The convention will be attended by representatives from Mortar Board chapters in Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, and Oklahoma.

Miss Ola Curtis and Miss Francis Moss are spending the week end at their homes in Lincoln.

New Victor Records, Browns. 1-11

STADIUM ASSEMBLY TODAY

A special assembly devoted to the stadium drive will be held this morning at 10:15 o'clock.

Assembly next week will be held on Monday, when an illustrated lecture on "Excavations in the Yucatan" will be given by Dr. Sylvanus G. Morley, archaeologist from the Smithsonian Institute at Washington. Doctor Morley will speak with special reference to the Mayan people of ancient times.

KING ATTENDS CONFERENCE.

Dr. H. H. King, head of the chemistry department, is attending a meeting of the faculty representatives of the Big Six conference at Ames, Iowa, today and tomorrow.

TWO-MILE RACE TO TAKE PLACE BEFORE GAME

GOVERNOR WOODRING WILL PRESENT CUP TO K. S. ALUMNI BETWEEN HALVES.

K. U. BOASTS STRONG TEAM

Both Schools Report Graduation Casualties—Don Landon, Kansas State Sophomore, Clips Distance At 9:57.

Track Coach Ward Haylett's two-mile team will make its official Big Six debut at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon when it meets the Kansas university barriers on the Lawrence track before the annual Kansas State-K. U. football game. The race is to be staged at this time instead of between halves, because of the presentation of the governor's cup by Gov. Harry H. Woodring to the Kansas State alumni association, winner of the membership contest over the Kansas university alumni association.

This will be the second time that the two teams have met in the two-mile event—the feature before last year was a cross country race of five miles.

Indications show that the Jayhawkers boast a faster and more improved team than was presented last year. Each of the teams have suffered the loss of valuable older men through graduation. Kansas State has a larger list of experienced men than Kansas, but the university places its hope in four sophomores.

The six men that have been chosen by the university coaches to clash with the purple runners are: Capt. Floyd McComb, Lawrence; Glenn Cunningham, Elkhart; Paul Borel, Kansas City; Gerald Stover, Winona; Eugene Niswonger, Winona; Keith Oehlschlager, Kansas City, and Hall Taylor of Lyons. The time of Capt. McComb, the pace leader of the team, is 10:28 for the two miles.

Kansas State has the slight advantage of having three men of last year's team back this year and has also several good sophomores. The opinions are, however, that K. U. is a little stronger than last year.

Last Friday, Coach Haylett had his squad travel the full course in the final try-outs before the com-

ELECT OFFICERS.

Officers for the freshman commission of the college Y. W. C. A. were elected the first part of the week. Barbara Brubaker is sponsor of the organization.

The officers for this year are: Carol Kennedy, president; Winifred Wolf, vice-president; Ella Fouts, secretary; Roberta Shannon, treasurer; Frances Moss, Polly Comp-ton, Elizabeth Dedrick, Verna Mel-chert, managers of style show; Elizabeth Lamprecht, Louise Feg-ner, Mildred Hoch, and Leora Hub-bell, group representatives.

Upperclassmen who are assisting with the commission are Laura Larson, Frances Bell, Jeanette Moser, Muriel Fulton, and Edith Fritz. Miss Kathleen Knittle also is a sponsor.

VESPER SERVICES TUESDAY.

Vesper hour for members of the college Y. M. C. A. will be held Tuesday afternoon in L59 from 4 to 4:30 o'clock. Maurine Lewis, Manhattan; Mary Shreve, Augusta; and Barbara Lantz, La Junta, Colo., will be the leaders.

STUDENTS WILL DESERT AGGIEVILLE TO TAKE IN ANNUAL TILT WITH KANSAS

APPROXIMATELY 1,800 TICKETS OUT OF BLOCK OF 2,500 HAVE BEEN SOLD AT ATHLETIC OFFICE; EXPECT MORE SALES.

WILL PARADE THROUGH DOWNTOWN LAWRENCE

Special Train Leaves Tomorrow Morning at 9:50 o'clock Carrying Band, Cheerleaders, and Rooters—Governor Woodring to Present Governor's Cup to Kansas State Alumni.

Aggieville will be deserted tomorrow when the Wildcats make their biennial trek down the Kaw to the camp of Bill Hargiss. Via train, bus, collegiate Ford, and even legitimate automobile the Kansas Staters will arrive in the university city where the football classic is scheduled for 2:00 o'clock at the memorial stadium. Approximately 1,800 tickets of the block of 2,500 seats on sale at the Kansas State athletic office have been spoken for, and if the football weather continues favorable, the remainder of the block probably will go today. Five hundred additional seats have been reserved in Lawrence for the K-Aggie students and rooters.

TOP BLOWN OFF LAST NIGHT

After Half-Hearted Beginning, Pep Meeting Winds Up in Wareham "Donation Dance."

"Sound off! B-E-A-T K. U. —!" The pep meeting last night began very quietly, but how it did end! More people, more yelling, more horns honked than the old campus has seen or heard in a long time. And pajamas! Plenty of color there to make that pep-fest last night one long-to-be-remembered by those who attended.

Beginning with a few half hearted yells by approximately one hundred students gathered in front of Anderson hall around the hour of ten, when all students are supposed to be in bed or at least studying, the affair had all the earmarks of a flop.

Then the band arrived. "Hall, hall, the gang's all here!" Much music and noise. Then the college whistle blew, and after it had done its best for about five minutes, enough students had arrived to start a good-sized town. Some say there were 1,000. Some say 1,500. But what difference does that make so long as they made plenty of noise?

After the ceremonies in front of Anderson, the whole crowd led by the 15-piece band, paraded to Aggieville. More music and more noise. A regular sea of people and automobiles. Crowd growing larger all the time.

And then came the announcement of the "donation dance" planned for the crowd down at the Wareham ballroom. And did they fill the hall? Rather. Of course there was a majority of men, but everyone had a big time.

Did you say anything about pep? Kansas State students have it! S-O-U-N-D O-F-F!

ORCHESTRAS TO ADMIT 11.

Initiation Service to be Held Tuesday Night.

Initiation services will be held Tuesday night, October 20 at 7:30 o'clock in the women's gymnasium for the 11 women students who passed the tryouts this week for Orchestras, national honorary dancing organization.

Those to be initiated are: Marjorie Lyles, Saffordville; Edith Miller Salina; Lucila Graham, Topeka; Florence Jones, El Dorado; Ernestine Putnam, Salina; Harriet Swan, Washington; Mary Brookshire, Osborne; Helen Louise Davis, Manhattan; Evelyn Osborn, Lawton, Okla.; Zella Ackenhansen, Kansas City, Mo., and Lois Rosencrans, Manhattan.

This year, a Junior Orchestra is being formed for any girls who are interested. The meetings of this organization will be devoted to training the junior members in the principles included in the Orchestras tryout tests.

The next tryouts will be held at the first of the second semester.

Dean Van Zile was a dinner guest at Van Zile hall Thursday evening.

A majority of the student body will leave Manhattan tomorrow morning on the special Union Pacific train at 9:50 o'clock. One hundred and five members of the band, in addition to the cheer leaders and rooters will be on the passenger list. When the train arrives in Lawrence at 12:20 o'clock, a parade will be organized through the main downtown district. All students driving to Lawrence are expected to meet the special.

Will Present Cup. President F. D. Farrell has appointed Dr. and Mrs. Warren and Prof. and Mrs. H. M. Scott as the official representatives of the college on the special train.

The two mile races usually held at the half will be called at 1:30 o'clock since the presentation of the Governor's cup will be made to the Kansas State Alumni association at the half. The cup is the one that was offered to the association bringing the most money into its treasury in the two months period from April 1 to June 1. At the first count the K. U. alumni were ahead by 600 points but a recount after the winner had been announced showed the Kansas State alumni ahead by $600.

Woodring to Speak. Governor Woodring will give a brief talk over the public address system in the K. U. stadium, telling about the contest. Then Prof. L. H. Flint of the university will hand the cup to Governor Woodring who will in turn present it to Mrs. F. W. Boyd, Phillipsburg, president of the Kansas State Alumni association.

In the evening at 9:00 o'clock there will be a variety at the Union building. Two orchestras, June Layton and his Variety Club orchestra and Barney Scofield and his band will battle for popularity. Those who have not had enough football may go to the theatre and see Lew Ayres in "The Spirit of Notre Dame."

CLASS PLANS DINNER

The class in institutional economics I, under the instruction of Miss LaVelle Wood, planned, prepared, and served a dinner for the regular monthly meeting of the home economics faculty. The dinner was given Wednesday at 5:50 o'clock in Thompson hall.

The freshman foods classes under the direction of Miss Nina Browning will serve a tea for parents on Parents Day, October 24.

ON WITH THE FARCE!

The biggest comedy of the year will be enacted Tuesday when Kansas State students go to the polls in recreation center to vote for class officers. Officers that merely bear the name of president or vice-president of some class, and still have not one duty to perform. Perhaps it is not the officers' fault. There has been no time set aside in the full schedule of college events for such small things as class meetings. And if such a time was set aside, what could be done at the meetings?

Each year two dances are held, one the Freshman-Sophomore hop, and the other, the Junior-Senior prom. These two functions are the only place whereby members of the classes have a chance to get together. That is, officially. Would there be any object in having class meetings to decide where and when and why of the dance when managers are always elected anyway?

The parties at Kansas State enter into the class elections because if they win, they have a good rushing argument for the men up to dinner. It's nice and a slight bit influential for them to be able to say, "Here's Boy McNutt, president of the junior class." And that's about the extent. Just something to blow about to the ruckees and the folks at home.

This year the Independents threw their hats in with the Theodoric party, probably because leaders of that party offered the most attractive ticket, with vacant places left for those candidates the Independents picked out. Why any independent or anyone else for that matter would want any other class office than those in the senior class is a question. The senior class does have duties to perform and should be organized. But as for the underclasses!!! Anyway, on with the farce!

THE WARNING OF THE BELL!

When the ten minute bell rings, warning instructors the hour is about over, and only five minutes are left to tell all the many interesting things there are yet to tell, students should collect their belongings together, and when the second bell rings, get up and walk out of the class room regardless of what the worthy instructor is saying. Some instructors would probably frown any student who would dare try such a thing, while others would be thankful of the reminder.

There are at least two professors on this hill who have explained to their classes they have no right to keep the students after the last bell rings. One of them even went so far as to say if any student in his class could not reach his next hour class in five minutes time he could leave before the 55 minutes were entirely up. These two instructors show a spirit of co-operation and sense of fair play. Such instructors are always more popular with students.

But those two instructors are exceptional. There have been any number of complaints circulating around the campus of class room supervisors who because of their unusual interest in the subject they are teaching, just can't release them in the room until they feel inclined. However, more than likely, these instructors aren't nearly as interested in their subject as they pretend, but rather detain students impatient to get to the next class, because of their natural meanness of disposition.

The Collegian is going to devote a space in its columns for the names of those instructors who insist on keeping students over the allotted amount of time. This column will be called "The Black List." Any student having a class under such an instructor should inform the Collegian, and the instructor's name will be printed. Anonymous communications will be disregarded. The Collegian must know the source of information for its news. However, such source will be kept confidential.

FIGHT! STATE! FIGHT!

Football season is one time during the school year when excitement rides its highest horse. School spirit is strongest, cries of loyal voices ting loudest those first two months of the term.

Students are asked to support the team, shout their lungs out at pep meetings, and to demonstrate in as many other ways as ingenuity can devise that they back their school through anything. The team senses the feeling of the student body and fights just as hard and enthusiastically as the students cheer, and no harder.

Kansas State has an outstanding spirit this year. This fact has been evident in mass meetings and demonstrations at other schools of the Big Six, and the consequent half-hearted fighting the teams from those other "hills" have done on the gridiron.

At Missouri, the night before the Kansas State game, there were 250 students out to a pep meeting. Missouri university is a combination of both state university and agricultural school and the enrollment is larger than that at K. U. by about a thousand. At the game next day, the students' side of the stadium was less than a third full, and the other side, open to townspeople and visitors, was still more empty. Less than 150 freshmen could be rounded up for the Parade of the Thundering Thousand to the stadium.

At K. U. the situation is the same. No one will come out to root. No one boasts of the possibilities of the game next Saturday. There is doubt in the minds of Lawrence sport fans. They have no confidence in their team this year. It is disheartening to the squad to go to the gridiron in such an atmosphere.

At the first pep meeting here, for a game of little consequence, the auditorium was filled. Next day at the game the lookers-on actually yelled, compared to the half-hearted cheering done at other places than the World's Series this fall. And the Kansas State team responded. It will continue to give in return for the support the students give it. After all, it takes so little more energy to go to the stadium with the team than to sit at home or stand in the drug store and is so much more exciting to be with the crowd, that students can well afford to thus help the team through a victorious season.

How would it feel to have that old football help the team through a victorious season—J. C.

THIS IS KANSAS STATE!

"Kansas Aggies" has served as a name for this college 66 years, but last year the legislature officially changed this college to Kansas State. Newspapers in their sport sections have shown a decided tendency to stick to the old name, to refer to winning teams from this college as the hard fighting "Aggies." Sixty-eight years, no doubt, is long enough for habits to be formed that will be hard to break. Several sport sections have shown a willingness to use Kansas State but have seemed to be in doubt as to what the correct name really is.

A glance at the cheer sheet handed to the Kansas State rooters before the Pittsburg game shows many changes. "Dear old Kansas State" fills the space formerly occupied by "K. S. A. C." in "Alma Mater"—the "Wildcat Scream" ends with a snappy "State"—the "Locomotive" yell no longer ends with K. S. A. C. These changes are so small as not to be noticed, but they make all the difference between right and wrong. This is Kansas State!

On only three places of this cheer sheet was the name "Aggies" used. The "rocket scream" could just as well end with "State." Students who fought so hard to have the name changed would clap the harder if they knew the yell would end with a strong "STATE." A slight revision of the "Wildcat Victory" would prevent this from being just a "hold-over" from past years.

A few minutes spent in copyreading sport stories issued to papers over the state would prevent the use of the obsolete name "Aggies." Now is the time to change all Kansas State yells over to Kansas State! Freshmen coming to this college cheer as they are taught to cheer. They will in turn teach those who are yet to come. Kansas State will do well to give them a right start.

Judge For Yourself

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL AG STUDENTS.

Please allow two engineers to express their humble thanks for the small share they had in the celebrated barnwarmer of Friday eve.

We're somewhat of the opinion that a few more engineers might have made it a much more enjoyable occasion, but nevertheless we wished to do our little bit, in helping to consume the cider and doughnuts. (And oh, do we remember how sweet they tasted!) Forbidden fruit is of course enjoyable, but when it is also gratis—well—we can testify how enjoyable such a combination can really truly be!

Yes Sir! We're of the opinion that your paddle squad of "Husky police" were just a bunch of farmers after all! At least, they never troubled us, and we were there all evening!!!

Yes—we certainly wish to express our thanks for your most wonderful hospitality, to which (we feel positive of this) we were most assuredly welcome! But really, we think that you should place a sign saying "Engineers Welcome" on the door mat at your next gay barnwarmer. Perhaps, it might be a good idea to exclude all Ag students, but then again, we engineers are just a bit more tolerant!

Adios—but next time get a husky police force, that is one! It was almost heartbreaking to take advantage of their innocence.—Two Engineers—F. H. and C. C.

— The Snoopers —

After getting off to a false start for the third time The Snoopers figuratively stick a hypothetical chin out a notch or so and determine that no more late whistles, dances, or earthquakes shall keep this version from reaching the yawning make-up man.

The first time we got this nightmare pounded out the pink-haired editor rejected it because we had some silly crack at Jake Chilledit and his picture endorsing spectacles.

The next time we were aroused from lethargy by the terrible shriek of the college whistle. We saw Ray Spence's red pajamas and knew right off that there was something doing and rushed back to the office to tear our weakening effort into shreds in hopes we could rip off something really hot and make the front page like Prexy used to do.

By the time we got home into our night-shirt and back to the tug-or-war at the "dance" we were ready to chuck the sheet into the hell-box and call it a night.

But the villainous editor caught us just as we were sneaking up the alley behind the Last Chance trying to get home and take the phone off the hook. She pleaded so long we realized the sheet MUST get out and The Snoopers must do their duty so here is this mess.

We didn't mind getting kicked, shoved, and bitten at the dance but when that sopping-drunk T. N. E. shoved a lighted cigarette down our coat front and yelled "FIRE!" we both just naturally gave up.

So much for all this whoop-em-up hooley.

Jerry Wilson, haberdasher, football maniac, and erstwhile all-round good guy, presented the varsity squad with complimentary copies of this week's issue of Saturday Evening Post, in which Bo McMillin was written up.

See you at Lawrence.

SENIOR ENGINEERS TO GO ON INSPECTION TRIP

Thirty-One Students Leave Sunday Morning for St. Louis, Bagnell Dam, and Kansas City.

Thirty-one electrical engineering students from Kansas State expect to go on the senior electrical engineering inspection trip. They will leave Manhattan Sunday morning Oct. 18, at 6:30 from the Varsity theater, by bus, and will return to Manhattan, Oct. 22. Professors E. L. Sitz and R. G. Kioeffler will be in charge of the tour.

The group is scheduled to arrive in St. Louis Sunday evening, and while there will inspect the Union Electric Light and Power company, the Wagner Electric corporation, and other smaller plants. From St. Louis, they will go to the Bagnell Dam and then to Kansas City, where they will visit the Sheffield Steel corporation, the Kansas City Power and Light company, the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, as well as other places.

Not Only Students Are Adept at Alibis—Profs Not Bad When Cornered

Professors and officials of the college who were asked if they were going to attend the game tomorrow at Lawrence, searched their minds either to find an excuse for attending or an excuse for not attending. Those who could not get had as many excuses to offer as those who were going.

C. O. Price, in speaking for President Farrell, said, "The president is attending the Board of Regents meeting at Lawrence Friday, and will, incidentally, stay over for the game. In fact, I would like to see anyone try and keep him away from the game."

Sighing deeply, Professor J. E. Kammerer, head of the economics and sociology department, said, "It is necessary that I attend the meeting of the Kansas College Instructors in Economics and Business at Lawrence Friday and Saturday. This association meets annually. In the even years it meets at Kansas State college and in the odd years meets at Lawrence. This way we kill two stones with one bird. We have our meetings and see the game each year. There is method in our madness."

"I have no alibi to offer, I am going because I want to see a good game," said Prof. H. W. Davis, head of the English department.

And here is another good one. Prof. L. D. Bushnell is going because he has to drive his wife and Mrs. E. H. King to Lawrence to meet Dr. H. H. King who will meet them there on his return from Ames, Iowa, where he has been attending a meeting of the Big Six faculty council.

There are many other professors who are going to the game and among them can be counted on for certain: Dr. A. A. Holtz, Prof. George Gemmell, Dean H. Uniforger, Dean R. A. Seaton, and Dean L. E. Call. These latter all seem to have either two excuses. They are going because they want to see a good game, or they haven't missed a K. U.-K. S. C. game in many years and they are not going to start by missing this one, which promises to be the best in years.

But not everyone is striving for an excuse to go. Some of the heads of departments and officials strive even harder to find excuses to stay at home. Miss Jessie Machir, registrar, says, "I have so many friends at Lawrence that I always want to visit them when I go down there. I can't enjoy a football game and visit at the same time so I always stay on the Purple campus when we play at K. U. I can sit and listen to the radio and get as excited as if I were right there at the game."

Dr. C. W. McCampbell bewails the fact that, "Unfortunately, I am one of the fellows that has to work on Saturday and can't go." Prof. Paul Wegel, Dean R. R. Dykstra, Dean R. W. Babcock, and Prof. C. W. Correll all say they are too busy and will be unable to get away.

Vice President J. T. Willard says that he is getting to be too old a man to travel that far to undergo the tortures of a hard seat and the other uncomfords of a game. He will stay home and sleep.

ACKERT GIVES VIEW OF CAMBRIDGE LIFE

Zoology Head Says Students There Appreciate Good Musicals and Lectures.

In his talk in student assembly, Tuesday morning, October 13, Dr. J. E. Ackert, head of zoology at this college, discussed the different phases of student life at the University of Cambridge, England. Doctor Ackert recently returned from Europe where he was sent to represent Kansas State at the fourth World's Poultry congress in London.

Doctor Ackert described the customs, dress, activities, and curricula of the 20 colleges which compose the university. He illustrated his talk with lantern slides.

"Life is quite intensive during each 10 weeks term," Doctor Ackert stated and added, "All of the students appreciate good musicals and lectures; this is one of the best features of the Cambridge undergraduates."

After attending the poultry congress, Doctor Ackert spent two months traveling on the continent, stopping at Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Rome and other cities. He returned to England and visited Cambridge just as the students were arriving to enroll for the next term.

TAU EPSILON KAPPA MEETS

Tau Epsilon Kappa, fraternity of women in architecture, held its first meeting Thursday, October 8. The organization voted to change the time of meeting from the afternoons to the evenings. At the meeting next week Tau Epsilon Kappa will consider new candidates for membership. There are several new girls enrolled in the department of architecture.

The club has as a project the making of holiday favors, nut cups, and placecards, with original designs, during their meetings. Vera Bowersox, Great Bend, is president of the organization.

Miss Helen Stonebreaker, special student of Wakeeney, has withdrawn from college because of her mother's illness.

The Art Gallery

An exhibition of reproductions of the architectural gallery next Tuesday, according to Prof. J. P. Helm of the department of architecture. The collection of about 35 prints belongs to Prof. Paul Weigel of the same department, and at present they are being mounted preparatory to the exhibit.

Honore Daumier was born in 1808 in Marseilles. He was the son of a mediocre poet who tried to force him to adopt a trade. As a young boy he was given the job as usher in the law courts. This gave him good opportunity to study the habits and characters of the ushers, judges and barristers whom he was later to ridicule in his caricatures.

He was finally given some training in drawing, and became skilled in lithography, in which medium most of his caricatures appear. His subjects were famous men of the times, and he lives for his political satire as well as for his art. He was once put in prison for his work. Before he died he became completely blind. "He emphasizes the ludicrous, the grotesque. He is an artist who puts truth above everything," says a biographer of Daumier.

Grew Up Fighting; Cannot Get Over Habit In College

"Survival of the fittest," according to one of the survivors, was the law in Eldorado some years ago and seven of the "fittest" grew up to come to Kansas State to play football.

Harry Hasler, though he now claims Junction City as his home town, went to high school in Eldorado and when asked for his explanation of the fact that so many boys come here from that high school to play football, stated it was a tough neighborhood and that they all grew up fighting each other and just couldn't get over the habit when they came to college.

"We were all little wildcats," he told the Collegian, "and now we are big ones. It was entirely environment and no heredity that made us what we are today."

So strong is the clanish feeling of these boys that four of the seven are living at the same rooming house at 1503 Fairchild. They are: Ralph, Graham, Dan Blaine, Emmet Breen, and Glenn Harsh. Also, three of them, Breen, Harsh and Hasler, are Sigma Nus; three, Blaine, Graham and Kenneth Harter, are Sigma Phis; and one, Eldon Teter, is a Sigma Alpha Epsilon. None of them were able to explain why Teter missed the call of the clan.

Harsh, out of the kindness of his heart so he insisted, issued a warning for publication to all women to stay away from Blaine. When it was suggested that this might not exactly fit into a story about football, he vehemently declared that it had a great deal of influence on football, and was, therefore, important.

All seven of these boys played on the Eldorado high school team together one year and it seems rather like old times to them now.

Athletics are quite important to at least four of them who are majoring in physical education. They are: Blaine, Breen, Graham, and Hasler, (but he doesn't like it, he says.) Harter is in journalism. Harsh in commerce, and Teter in general science.

The positions on the Kansas State team played by these boys are as follows: Blaine, left end; Breen, halfback; Graham, fullback; Harter, center; Harsh, halfback; Teter, tackle; and Hasler, center.

HELEN ELOOCK LECTURES

Reviews Novels Of Sigrid Undset At First Of English Series.

Miss Helen Eloock of the department of English reviewed novels of Sigrid Undset at the first of a series of lectures Tuesday night. The lectures are sponsored by the English department and will continue throughout the fall.

Miss Eloock described the Norwegian background, which is an important factor in the type of Miss Undset's work. Miss Eloock visited Scandinavia when she toured Europe two years ago, and discussed the Norwegian writer's associations with the historical setting of her stories.

Particular attention was given to "Kristin Lavransdatter" and "The Master of Hestviken," both recent novels of Miss Undset.

Next Tuesday evening Prof. R. W. Conover will review "Joanna Godden" and "Susan Spray" by Snella Kaye-Smith.

HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING.

The members of the Home Economics association held their monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in Calvin hall, with Mildred Edlin, Herington, program chairman, in charge. A play in three scenes showing the events which occurred at the Detroit National Home Economics meeting was given under the direction of Daphne Smith, Manhattan. A vocal solo was given by Helen Dobson, Solomon. Lyle Roepke, Manhattan, reviewed "Heritage of the Plains."

Group singing was in charge of Ruth Crawford, Burns, and Edith Fritz, Manhattan. A business meeting was held following the program. The members of the play cast were Irene Todd, Topeka; Madge Limes, La Harpe; Elizabeth Crawford, Madison; Beulah Leach, Bird City; and Frances Bell, Marysville.

AT THE DICKINSON

"Sidewalks of New York"
 Frozen-faced Buster Keaton as the West Side millionaire turns philanthropist for a bunch of East Side kids because he loves the sister of one of 'em. It may not be as artistic as Charlie Chaplin's "City Lights," but the crowd laughed plenty. The trio, Anita Page, Cliff Edwards, and Keaton, really aren't bad medicine. The shorts are good, the "Adventures in Africa" seems to be the real thing, as it is sponsored by the National Geographic society.
 —J. B.

AT THE VARSITY.

"The Public Defender."
 Richard Dix as the reckoner shows what ought to be done to a bunch of crooks in the show "The Public Defender," which is now being shown at the Varsity theatre.

There is not even one dull second. There is action and lots of it throughout. Although the plot is fantastic, it is a good story and with the splendid acting of the entire cast, it is a mighty good show. Shirley Grey plays the woman lead —D. V.

INSTALL TESTING MACHINE

Only Similar One In Middle West Is At Denver.
 A new testing machine, capable of developing a pressure of 100,000 pounds more than any machine heretofore used by students of Kansas State is being installed in the department of applied mechanics, Prof. C. H. Scholer announced recently. The new machine is capable of producing a pressure of 300,000 pounds. The other large machine in the middle west is at Denver. It is used in the United States reclamation service. The machine being installed here is built by the Baldwin-South-west corporation of Philadelphia, Pa. It will be used in highway testing work in addition to the laboratory work of the students taking

It's always the era of exploration in telephone work. New manufacturing processes are being developed, new sources of raw materials found, new methods originated for distributing telephone

WILDCATS CHAMP AT BITS AWAITING K. U. GRID FRACAS

SQUAD GOES THROUGH LIGHT PRACTICE AS McMILLIN PUTS ON FINISHING TOUCHES.

HARDTARFER ONLY INJURY

Broken Bone In Hand Keeps Lineman Out of Fray—Ralph Graham Expected to Share Load With The Veterans.

One more practice in order to smear on a few finishing touches, then the Wildcats will be ready to spring at the Kansas Jayhawkers with their claws sharpened like razors. Bo McMillin has been working his men overtime this week in order to put them into the old fighting spirit that it will take to handle the Jayhawkers tomorrow.

A few injuries still linger in the Aggie camp. O. M. Hardtarfer, Lawrence, is still out of practice because of a broken bone in his hand. Walter Zeckser, Alma, one of McMillin's responsible guards, is suffering from an injured knee which he received in the Missouri game last week. Harry Hasler, center from Junction City, is nursing an injured right leg and ankle sustained in practice this week.

George Wiggins, Lyons, back, will be playing his third and last year.
Wiggins is one of the best defensive men on the team. Ralph Graham, rangy fullback from El Dorado, is almost recovered from the hand injury which bothered him so much in the Missouri game last week. It is expected that Graham will carry the brunt of the burden against K.
U. If the big man shows the same stuff that he showed in the Missouri game, every Aggie rooter can rest assured that they will get their money's worth of fight.

Ray McMillin, two letter man, is the man who will lead the team against the Kansas university and it is with great confidence that every player takes orders from him.

Elden Auker, two letter back, is one of the main stays of the Kansas State team. Auker is a triple-threat man and one of the hardest men to tackle on the team.

Glen Harsh, another El Dorado man that plays in the Wildcat backfield, is playing his second year on the McMillin outfit.

Emmet Breen, sophomore back, is the man that alternates with Harsh in his position. Breen is equally as fast as Harsh and has had one year of competition at Bethany college where he won the honor of being the best athlete that ever enrolled in that college.
Breen's home town is El Dorado.

In the line Captain Cronkite is one of the most outstanding players. "Cronk" is an end and made the all-Big Six team last year. He bells from Belle Plaine.

Don Blaine, end, El Dorado, is a sophomore but has already proved his worth in fight on the Wildcat team.

Alvin Stephenson, tackle, has earned two letters under Bo's system.

Adolph Hrab, East St. Louis, Ill., is a two-letter man and plays right guard. Hrab is a wonderful man on offense.

L. W. Michael, Lawrence, is the man that holds down the center of the line. Mike is playing his second year and is one of the best defensive men in the Big Six.

Walter Zeckser, two-letter man from Alma, plays the left guard.
"Zeck" weighs 170 pounds but it is light all the way with him.

Neil Weybrew, letterman, plays the left tackle position. Although Weybrew did not see action at Missouri, it is expected he will be a power against K. U.

S. H. Neely, letter man from Hopewell, is another mainstay in the K-Aggie line. Neely earned his letter under Charles Bachman but has returned to school for his other years of competition.

The other men who may see action in tomorrow's game are:
Thomas Bushby, back, Belleville; Franklin Cain, guard, Chanute; Lloyd Dalton, tackle, Garnett; Bertus Deters, back, Downs; Raymond Doll, guard, Claflin; Paul Fairbanks, end, Topeka; Blair Forbes, tackle, Leavenworth; Robert Gump, guard, Abilene; Homer Hanson, guard, Riley; Kenneth Harter, center, El Dorado; Harry Hasler, center, one letter man, Junction City;
Robert Lang, guard, Denver, Colo.;
A. A. Mills, back, Russell; L. B.
Fletcher, guard, Glasco; Eldon Teter, tackle, El Dorado; and Melvin Wertzberger, tackle, Alma.

The probable Kansas State lineup will be: ends, Blaine and Auker;
tackles, Cronkite and Stephenson;
guards, Zeckser and Hrab; center, Michael; backs, McMillin, Green, Graham, Wiggins.

Joye Ansdell was the dinner guest of Miss Esther Morgan at Van Zile
hall Thursday evening.

Mrs. W. L. Andrews, Salina, and Miss Sara Andrews, Kansas City,
Mo., are the week end guests of Miss Mary McMullen.

In The Big Six

Only four of the Big Six football teams see competition this week end. Iowa State, after three games, is taking a rest in preparation for their first conference tilt next week, Nebraska, after winning the first three games is enjoying a pause in the schedule. Kansas State and Kansas university are the only teams engaged in a conference battle. Missouri goes to Boulder to meet Colorado university in a non-conference game while the Oklahomans go to Austin to show the University of Texas their brand of football.

The Kansas State-Kansas university game is probably the highlight in midwest athletic circles. With the exception of 1910, the two teams clashed annually for the last 20 years. Kansas university held a decided edge for the first 19 years,
winning all but one of these games.
But things changed in 1922 and in that and the following years the teams tied. Then it wasn't until 1928 that the University was able to stop the Wildcats. And the last three games stand two to one in favor of the University. A brief summary shows that since competition began in 1902, Kansas has won 19, K. S. C. G. and three of the games ended in a draw.

Previous scores of the two teams
in past years have been:

Year	Kansas State	K. U.
1902	0	16
1903	0	34
1904	4	41
1905	0	28
1906	6	4
1907	10	29
1908	6	12
1909	3	5
1910	No game.
1911	0	6
1912	6	19
1913	0	26
1914	0	27
1915	7	19
1916	0	0
1917	0	14
1918	0	10
1919	3	16
1920	0	14
1921	7	21
1922	7	7
1923	0	0
1924	6	0
1925	14	7
1926	27	0
1927	13	2
1928	0	7
1929	6	0
1930	0	14
Totals	126	377

That dope is certainly against the Wildcats but it shows a decided improvement in the later years.
This season has also been a different story and here is some more dope. The season's record—

Kansas State	K. U.
K.S.C. 28; Pittsburg 7
K.S.C. 20; Missouri 7
48	14
Kansas University
K. U. 27; Colorado Aggies 6
K. U. 0; Haskell 6
K. U. 30; Milliken 0
57	12

So it's about even, K. U. has been wide awake in defense while the Wildcats have a slight edge in offense, having scored almost as many points in two games as the Jayhawkers have in three. The university also shows one defeat while the Kansas State record is still unbroken.

Track Coach Brutus Hamilton at the University of Kansas announces a decided increase in the interest of track. Over 120 men are out in training at the present time.
Forty of the men in training are varsity men and the remaining 80 are freshmen. Coach Hamilton hopes to have 150 men on the practice field in another week.

Ralph Graham of the Kansas State squad and Sauer of the Nebraska squad share scoring honors in the Big-Six conference, each having 12 points to his credit. Incidentally Nebraska and Kansas State share the lead in the Big Six race with one win each and no losses. Taking all the games into consideration, Kreizinger of Nebraska leads the conference in scoring with 24 points but he has failed to enter the scoring column
in the Big Six tilts.

Iowa State college seemed to have high hopes of producing a football team that would do them justice
this season, but after winning two games, the third was a decisive and disastrous defeat. Detroit university, walloping them 20-0, Ivan Simpson, regular halfback, was removed from the game with a broken leg that will keep him from further competition this season. He was the only lettering halfback on the squad.

The basket ball schedule has been released at Iowa State. Fifteen games are on the schedule with eight of them to be played on the Iowa State floor. Ten of the games are conference affairs and the remaining five are divided with Drake, Central college, and Brigham Young university.

Kansas will enter the annual Kansas State-Kansas university tussle with three regulars missing from their line-ups. Kansas reports the loss of Johnny Madison from their roster because of a dislocated shoulder that will keep him from competition for an indefinite period.

The other injuries include Carmie
Smith, who was injured in the Kansas university-Haskell game, and Clarence Spangler, 216 pound guard, who played an excellent game against the Colorado Aggies but was removed in the last period
because of a severe leg injury.

port quibs

Kansas State and Kansas university football squads have completed their final preparations and are ready to go into what appears to be one of the most interesting gridiron battles in the 28 years of competition between the two Kansas institutions.

The experts of the gridiron game
who have been following the teams
this year give the K-Aggies the edge over the boys from down the Kaw, but in a game that carries so much tradition and rivalry, the Jayhawkers are not liable to pay much attention to dope. And the under-rated team is often the one that emerges victorious.

A review of past K-Aggie-Kansas university contests shows that winning has taken the form of two definite cycles and in the past few years it has been swinging back and forth. Wildcat fans are sincerely hoping it will not be another standstill.

Because of their victories over Missouri and Pittsburg as compared with K. U.'s defeat at the hands of the Haskell Indians, the Wildcats are a favorite in the fray tomorrow, but the Jayhawkers are a powerful team and it's certain they'll be going their best.

The clash is attracting more than a little outside interest in that the victorious team will undoubtedly be one of the leaders in the Big Six conference race this year.

Among those going out of town
for the week end are Miss Mary Dillin and Miss Ruth McInay, Topeka; Miss Elsie Borek Blue Rapids;
Miss Jean Durland, Irving; Miss Shirley Jacobs, Lenora; Miss Lorena Schlemmer and Miss Margaret Paterson, Kansas City, Mo.; and Miss Gwendolyn Fisher, Marion.

Loula Simmons, Manhattan, accompanied her mother to Topeka Wednesday. Mrs. Simmons will undergo an operation.

JAYHAWKERS WORK ON McMILLIN PLAYS

Bill Hargiss' Squad Scrimmages
With Freshmen; Prospects
Bright at Mount Oread.

Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 15—With Saturday's grid classic in their minds, the Jayhawkers, under the direction of Coach Bill Hargiss, have been holding late practice in perfecting blocking, tackling, and opening holes for the backs in many off-tackle formations. The freshmen are being used in one-sided scrimmage to furnish offense training for the varsity.

The combat with the Wildcats has aroused a fighting spirit in the team which has shown itself in practices. The freshmen have been using the Kansas State plays and the varsity has been perfecting a defense against them. In yesterday's practice, the time was spent in perfecting the forward pass defense with the freshmen using Kansas State pass formations and the varsity trying its luck at breaking them up.

The freshmen were allowed to carry the ball for a while and the varsity gloried in breaking up the
the varsity took to the offense and had little trouble in making yardage through the freshman defenses.
It seldom took more than three plays from the 50-yard line to carry the ball into scoring territory.

With Carmie Smith calling signals, Page, Schaake, Black, and Dumm working in the backfield, and with a line intent upon opening holes, prospects for a victory against Kansas State Saturday look brighter than ever. The new plays and formations that Coach Har-giss introduced following the Haskell game are rapidly taking form,
and if the Kansas university machine works as smoothly against the Wildcats as it did against the freshmen, Kansas' stock will rise considerably.

Expectations are for a large crowd at the battle Saturday as this is the first conference tilt for the Jayhawkers and is also dad's day at the university. Special provisions have been made that will allow all children under 18 years of age and not college students, to see the game.

Miss Velma Liles and Miss Naomi Johnson are going to Lawrence to attend the K. U. game, and then go to Oskaloosa for the weekend.

WORK ON ENTRIES IN COMING DERBY

there was another "also ran" in the meet of last spring. The entry came in highly touted, but in the end it fared just as badly as did Theodoric. The entry was wearing the colors of the Independent stables.

Backers of their old favorite,
Theodoric, haven't given up hope for a victory as yet. They've got her under the expert care of a staff of doctors, and they alone know how she will show in the coming race. There is some rumor of a blood transfusion to put some new life into her, and of doping her for one valiant attempt to come through. Her backers have fond hopes of seeing her pose before the judges' stand, the floral horseshoe draped over her neck. It isn't that Theodoric hasn't tasted victory. She has, and many times. She used to be the queen of the meet, but dissatisfied fans, wanting a better run for their money, searched far and wide to find the present reigning favorite.

Independents In the Money.
At a meeting held last Wednesday night, the stockholders of the Independent stable decided to back Theodoric. This action, it is rumored, was the result of better seats in the grandstand being offered by the owners of Theodoric to those affiliated with the Independents.

The two jockey clubs are scheduled to meet next Monday evening to make final arrangements for the race. Officials and other attendants will be named at these meetings. They will be open meetings, and the owners of both horses have invited their backers to be present.
Tuesday's Collegian will carry the complete forms for the race being held that day.

FACULTY ON PROGRAMS.

Will Speak at Various Places Before Teachers' Association Meetings.
Several Kansas State faculty members are to speak at various places before the Kansas State Teachers' association November 5 to 7. Dr. C. V. Williams of the education department, and Dr. J. C.
Peterson of the psychology department are to appear on the vocational guidance program at the Lawrence meeting.

Dr. Margaret Justin, dean of home economics, will speak at the Dodge City session. Dr. Dorothy Triplett of the department of child welfare and eugenics, and Prof.
Leo E. Hudeburg of the physics department will appear on the program at the Chanute session.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Sloop, Mrs.
Frieda Sloop, and Mr. Louis Wolf-ley, Lyndon, will spend Sunday with Miss Lois Sloop.

Are they as good as when the ruffles came down to the ankles?

GOOD? . . . You bet they are! Maybe the girls are even better. Anyhow, cigarettes are a whole lot better. No doubt about that.

They used to be made by hand—
Now it's machines; no hand but yours ever touches them.

They used to be packed in expensive,
highfalutin' cardboard boxes—
Now the quality is in the cigarettes.

The U. S. Revenue Tax used to be a penny a package of twenty—
Now it's six cents a package of twenty.

Tobacco used to be dried by air—
Now Liggett & Myers alone has thirty-five drying machines of the latest type,
with a daily capacity of over 2,000,000 pounds—and over four miles of warehouses for tobacco storage.

BETTER—they're miles better! Everything used in the manufacture of Chesterfield cigarettes is the best that money can buy or that Science knows about.

CHESTERFIELD TOBACCOs—both Turkish and Domestic—are mild and ripe, the best that money can buy.

AND THE WAY Chesterfield tobaccos are blended and cross-blended is like making a new and better-tasting kind of tobacco, with greater smoothness, more mildness and a more pleasing aroma—a fragrance and flavor
not to be found in any other cigarette.

CHESTERFIELD gives you the benefit of all the world knows about the production of better cigarettes. Nobody smokes a better cigarette than Chesterfield.

INVESTIGATION CONTINUES IN PAINT EPISODE

UNIVERSITY AUTHORITIES DO NOT BELIEVE STUDENTS HERE PERPETRATED ACT.

THINK PAINT BOUGHT THERE

Resolution of Regret Adopted by Student Body Here; Farrell Makes Statement; Plane Distributes Bills Over Lawrence.

While the fact that the same kind of paint is sold at the unclaimed freight store in Lawrence as was used on the front of the university auditorium Thursday night when the letters "K. S. C." were painted a vivid purple and the statue of "Jimmy" Green, late dean of the law school, was colored a similar hue, is not conclusive, university authorities are slightly inclined to believe the vandalism was committed by an individual or individuals in Lawrence rather than by any Kansas State students.

The can discovered was labeled gray paint, and the paint used was purple, but the possibility has been raised on the campus that the gray was used in mixing the purple paint, according to the University Daily Kansan, student publication.

Culprits Might Be Expelled.
However, authorities still seek the culprits, and should they prove to be students here, they will be severely reprimanded, according to Adolph Hrabas, president of the Student Council. General opinion is to the effect any individual responsible for the painting should be expelled from the institution.

Henry Werner, mpa student, adviser at the university, said over the telephone to Dr. A. A. Holtz, dean of men here, he doubted if the vandalism was the act of Kansas State students. He said he believed both schools were keeping their pact regarding the defacing of camp.

Farrell Makes Statement.
President F. D. Farrell, when word of the painting was received, made the following statement:

"To deface college buildings or other property belonging to a rival school is unworthy of eighth grade children, to say nothing of college students. Two years ago small groups of college students from both Manhattan and Lawrence were guilty in a 'campus war' that was waged at that time. After the football game two years ago the student councils of the two schools agreed to discontinue campus warfare.

"The students of the University of Kansas have lived up to the agreement, but on Thursday night somebody defaced the university auditorium and the statue of Uncle (Continued on Page Four)

GRID-GRAPH SPEEDED UP
Manhattan sport fans who saw the Kansas State-Kansas university football game Saturday, played on the Sigma Delta Chi grid-graph at the Varsity theater followed the ball as it was played on the field at Lawrence. This was made possible through the use of the simplex teletype printer which was used for the first time Saturday in reporting a football game direct from the playing field. The account of the game was also used by the Mercury-Chronicle.

W. H. Williams, district manager of the Western Union telegraph sent the play by play account of the game as it was dictated by D. C. Griffiths of the Morning Chronicle. Each time as the play started so that fans could follow the ball. In handling the games in the past it has been necessary for the operator to use the key in sending the story and as a rule the account was five or six plays behind the game. Those who had charge of the board reported that the service was a decided improvement. It is expected that the printers will be brought into use over the country in another year.

The same service will probably be used in the West Virginia and Iowa State games.

Local Atwater Kent Audition Winners to Broadcast Again.
Carol Moore, Ashland, and Richard Herzog, Salina, winners of the Atwater Kent vocal audition for Manhattan and vicinity held October 8, will go to Topeka for the state contests next week. The contest for the women, to be held on the evening of the twenty-second, and that for the men on the twenty-third are to be broadcast over WIBW, the winner to be elected by votes sent in by radio listeners. Approximately 25 districts over Kansas will be represented by both men and women vocalists. Miss Moore was winner of the audition held in Manhattan last year.

COUNTY AGENTS MEET IN ANNUAL SESSION HERE

BIRGER SANDZEN EXHIBITED PRODUCTIONS AND SPOKE AT REC CENTER MONDAY.

"EFFECTIVENESS" IS THEME

Mixer For Wives Of County Agents Is Scheduled For Tonight—Annual Banquet Is To Be Thursday.

The annual extension conference, held for the purpose of creating a better understanding among extension workers over the state, is in session this week at Kansas State. About 155 county agents, home demonstration agents, 4-H club leaders, and specialists were registered last night. More are expected to arrive later this week.

Last evening Birger Sandzen, well-known Kansas artist, exhibited some of his productions and spoke to the extension workers at a reception in recreation center. This was the first social event of the week. Others in the conference program include a mixer for the wives of the county agents Tuesday night, a banquet for Epsilon Sigma Phi, national extension fraternity, to be held Wednesday night, and the annual extension division banquet Thursday night.

Outstanding speakers at the conference include Dr. C. B. Smith, chief of the office of co-operative extension work of the U.S.D.A.; R. A. Turner, field agent of the central states; and Grace E. Frysinger, senior home economist of the U.S. D.A. Speakers for the college are C. R. Jaccard, Miss Amy Kelly, Mrs. Lucille Rust, Dr. Randall Hill, Miss Elen M. Batchelor, L. E. Willoughby, and F. E. Charles. Dean H. Unberger of the extension division is directing the conference.

"A more effective organization," is the conference theme, according to John V. Hepler, district agent of extension. "We expect to see the 1932 extension work accomplishments reach more people more effectively than ever before," Hepler said yesterday.

The Wildcat Offense.

The Kansas university game is past history and the Kansas State team is preparing for future conquests. In Memorial stadium next Saturday, the Wildcats will play Oklahoma university. This game is a vital one for both teams and should be a deciding factor in the race for the Big Six championship.

There are not many ways in which the comparative strength of the two teams can be judged. In the opinions of the coaches the game Saturday will be harder to win than the Kansas university game proved to be. Oklahoma has lost only one Big Six game this season and that to a high class Nebraska eleven. In this game, the two teams fought on even terms throughout three quarters of the game, and the break came when Sauer, Husker halfback, ran 60 yards for the first touchdown. Nebraska scored later on an intercepted pass, which did not have much effect on the outcome of the game. The Sooners were at a decided disadvantage in the second half. Rain, which began to fall between halves, handicapped the light team a great deal. Last Saturday Oklahoma university met defeat again, this time at the hands of Texas university. In holding Texas to a 3-0 score, the Oklahoma team showed strong defensive strength. Texas had previously defeated Missouri 30-0 which gives an index to their strength.

Oklahoma in its previous games has shown strong defensive power and a dangerous offense. Coach Lindsey boasts a heavy line that is ambitious and plays smart football. In the backfield are three men who are capable passers. Captain Warren is a fleet back and shifty in open field. In Elstrom they have a rugged back, who can buck the line or scat through the open field. To fill out the backfield, Coach Lindsey will probably use Massad, a plunging fullback, and Walker, a line pacer.

To pit against the Oklahoma team, Bo McMillin has one of his best aggregations. The team has power, both offensively and defensively. In its games, so far, the Wildcats have gained ground whenever they had the ball. Auker and Graham have gained consistently behind a hard charging forward wall. But the real test for the Purple warriors is yet to come. If the Aggies can defeat Oklahoma, they will be well on their way toward their first Big Six football championship.

Leslie Edmonds, contributor of the Topeka Capital sports column "Just As It Seems to Me," is to speak in Journalism lecture held in K 61 at 4 o'clock Thursday. Mr. Edmonds has refereed several major sports for Kansas State and is to referee the Oklahoma-Kansas State game here Saturday.

WOODRING PRESENTS CUP

Mrs. F. W. Boyd, In Behalf Of Alumni Association, Accepts Award At K. U. Game.

In recognition of the victory of the Kansas State alumni association last year in competition with the K. U. association, Mrs. F. W. Boyd, '02, president of this school's association, was presented a silver cup Saturday by Governor Harry H. Woodring. The presentation was made between halves of the K. U.-K. S. C. game.

The purpose of the competition last year was to stimulate interest in the alumni associations of both schools, and to build up the student loan fund. Sixty life memberships were obtained in the contest, besides 340 annual memberships.

In presenting the cup to the Kansas State association, the governor said in part:

"I take a great deal of pride in the loyal and sane spirit of both our great schools. Wherever I have met them they have reflected the training and inspiration they have gained at the feet of their honored teachers, while mingling with fellow students on the campuses, in solving their problems in the laboratories, and through participation in the games and sports."

Following the presentation of the cup, Governor Woodring accompanied President F. D. Farrell, Mrs. Boyd, Kenney Ford, and others to the Kansas State side of the field, where he remained for the rest of the game.

BIG SIX TEAMS MAY PLAY POST SEASON GAMES

COMMITTEE GRANTS PERMIS-SION AT MEETING AT IOWA
STATE LAST WEEK.

PROCEEDS GO TO CHARITY

Kansas State May Meet Southwestern Conference Winners or Kansas Wesleyan at Salina, Says King.

The Big Six conference faculty committee in a meeting October 16 at Ames, Iowa, granted permission to the football teams of the conference to play one post season game for charity. A condition of the agreement required that the game be played on or before December 15.

The Big Six conference committee, in its statement, released through H. D. Bergman, Iowa State representative, expressed general disapproval of post-season games but declared "its willingness to permit each member to play one game this season if the administration of the institutions deem such a game advisable."

Playing Is Optional.
"It is not within the province of the Big Six conference to require that each member must play a game for charity, nor does the conference deem it advisable under present circumstances to forbid such games," the statement said.

Regulations for post-season charity games set down by the conference committee were that the game must be promoted and controlled by the teams involved; must be played at a site determined by the teams involved; only one post-season game shall be allowed each member; the members may choose any team they like for competition; Big Six eligibility rules must prevail; all expenses for arranging the contest will be taken from the gross receipts; the net profit will be divided on an equitable basis between the competing schools; and the proceeds shall be turned over to a relief organization approved by the administration of the school.

Choose Own Competitors.

Those in attendance at the conference meeting were W. A. Tarr, University of Missouri; S. W. Reaves, University of Oklahoma; Dean George Shadd, Kansas university; H. D. Bergman, Iowa State; T. J. Thompson, Nebraska university; and H. H. King, Kansas State.

The six members of the conference will choose their own competitors. (Continued on Page Four)

CAREFUL STUDY REQUIRED FOR BOOK CHANGES

BOARD OF REGENTS ADOPTS RESOLUTION AT LAWRENCE MEETING SATURDAY.

PUBLISH SIXTY-DAY NOTICE

Move Made to Prevent Unnecessary Changes, However, Obsolete Books Will Not Be Used.

No changes in text books used in the five state schools of higher education will be made without careful study of the necessity for such change, nor until the head of the institution has approved the recommendation of the department concerned. This is the substance of a resolution adopted by the board of regents of Kansas educational institutions Saturday while in session at Lawrence.

According to C. M. Harger, Abilene, chairman of the board, it is not the will of the board to continue the use of antiquated or obsolete texts, but the members do wish to guard against unnecessary change. No change is to be made until a notice of such change has been posted for 60 days.

The complete resolution follows: "Complaint has come to the board of too frequent changing of text books in the state schools. A change of books is a serious added burden to some students. While the schools cannot use an antiquated and obsolete text book when a better one is to be had, changes should be made with due consideration. To have reasons for such changes and to have these a matter of record, the policy outlined below is established:

"1. Change no text books unless there is a good reason for making the change.

"2. Have a committee in each department decide on the desirability of the change, this committee to consist of the head of the department, and at least two members of the department staff.

"3. When this committee has decided on the desirability of the change, its recommendations in writing are to be made to the head of the institution, who will then sit with the members in conference for the purpose of reviewing their findings and recommendations.

"4. No change is to be made in any text book without posting notice of such change at least 60 days before such change is to become effective. This will protect students against purchasing second-hand books in advance of the time they are to be used, only to find that the text so purchased is not to be used."

QUILL TO HEAR MANUSCRIPTS

Members Will Read Work At Meetings This Year.

Kansas State's chapter of Quill club, national organization of writers, has added a new feature to their meetings for the coming year. Members of the organization will read original manuscripts and have work criticized by the other members of the club.

The closing date for manuscripts of prospective members of the club to be turned in to the judges has been set for November 3, after which time the manuscripts will be read and passed on by the board. The names of the persons submitting manuscripts should not be placed on the papers but put in a sealed envelope and attached, so that no partiality may be shown contestants.

CLASS ELECTIONS DECIDED IN REC CENTER TODAY

VOX POP AND THEODORIC PARTIES PRESENT WELL DIS-TRIBUTED TICKETS.

BOTH GROUPS HOLD RALLIES

Vox Pops Hold Forth In Palace Last Night With Free Eat—Theodoric Do Likewise At Canteen.

Election today in Rec center. Vox Pop claimed "rally honors" last night after holding one of its own, and then taking over the Theodoric rally which was scheduled for 8 o'clock at the Canteen. It all started with an old-fashioned love-feast in front of the Uptown Palace, with Zeke Sullivan as chairman, Jake Chilcott as cheerleader, and Bob Alexander in the role of the principal speaker of the evening. Carl Ossman had charge of the band.

The rally, scheduled for 7 o'clock, finally got under way a half hour late, as all good rallies do. Jake Chilcott, wheel horse of Vox Pop, was the first speaker on the program. He reminded the audience of their reasons for attending the rally, and then introduced the party manager, Zeke Sullivan. Sullivan showed his cleverness as party manager by letting someone else do the "orating." He introduced Bob Alexander, who reviewed the party's history and political prowess, and started the ball rolling by announcing the rally scheduled by the Theodorics for 8 o'clock.

Sullivan closed the speaking part of the program with a short fight talk, urging Vox Pop supporters to do their part in making the election another one hundred per cent victory for the party. Doughnuts and coffee were served to the crowd through the courtesy of the Uptown Palace.

The fun really began when the Vox Pop delegation went in a body to the Theodoric caucus. There seemed to be a lack of leadership on the part of the Theodorics, and finally there arose from the milling crowd a Moses to lead the multitude from the wilderness. "We might as well get this caucus started," the speaker said. "I'll now call for nominations for senior president. Do I hear any nominations?" No nominations for senior president were offered. "Well, here are a lot of freshmen over here. Let's have (Continued on Page Three)

MORLEY TELLS OF WRITINGS

Smithsonian Institute Man Talks
In Assembly Monday.

Dr. Sylvianus G. Morley, archeologist from the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, in his illustrated lecture on "Excavations in the Yucatan" in assembly Monday morning said that writing has passed through three general stages of development.

Pictorial, ideographic, and phonetic writing are the three general stages explained by Doctor Morley. The Myrian people of ancient times represented a stage found no place else in the world; it is at the threshold of the phonetic writing, which is approximately 2,000 years ago. They had two methods; the first was the use of the dot and bar, representing one and five respectively, and the second is the use of 13 different types of human faces, each representing a number. These methods are very accurate and easily learned, Doctor Morley said.

Y. M. C. A. CABINET MEETS.

The Y. M. C. A. cabinet will meet Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Dr. A. A. Holtz' office to discuss plans for an extensive membership drive. The first campaign, conducted only among students who were well known to be interested in Y. M. C. A. work, was well received, and the cabinet plans to reach every man on the campus with its second drive.

THE GREAT DAY ARRIVES!

Election day is on. Long live the winners! It is certain their lives won't be shortened by the added duties found in the new offices since the duties are of a minus quantity.

The political rallies held last night amid much eating and hullabaloo were carried on in a manner fitting to a class election. Nothing happened, nothing should happen. The party leaders were all dressed up in their Sunday clothes, and practiced their best team manners. Nice clothes, and nice manners.

Today the students will vote. Not for the person they feel would be able to best fill the office, because really there isn't any office to fill, but rather for that student which is being backed by whichever organization their organization happens to be affiliated with.

The procedure is a waste of time and energy. Mingling in college politics may prove beneficial to those hoping to enter into county, state, or national affairs in later years, but that is the only reason any student might have for participating in the great college comedy.

If you can figure out a better reason than the Collegian does for voting, go ahead and vote, otherwise forget it all. It is better forgotten.

THE TRUTH WILL OUT.

With investigations still being carried on by the student councils here and at Lawrence, both student bodies continue to wonder who painted the Kansas university campus purple Thursday night. Whoever did the painting will probably have reason to regret their action since authorities and students are of the opinion if a student is responsible for the painting he should be removed from whichever of the institutions he might be attending.

When word of the painting reached the college campus, authorities here immediately expressed their regret that the beautiful Indiana limestone auditorium at the university should be so marred, and that all in their power would be done to find who the painters were. Only individuals overstepping the privileges, had in bygone days when painting was considered legal or those possessing not one atom of good common sense, could be the ones to use the paint brush when thumbs-down had been placed on campus warfare this year.

The Collegian believes cooperation on the part of the student body here as well as at Lawrence will aid considerably in finding those defacers of public property and calling them to account. Members of the University Daily Kansan staff along with others are practically convinced Kansas State students are not responsible for the painting, as probably are neither K. U. students, but rather town characters at one or the other cities played a major part in the vandalism.

The investigations will continue, however, and should students here be the ones to paint the university campus, they will have much to be ashamed of when their identity is discovered and they are publicly denounced.

WHISTLE BLOWERS ENDANGER LIVES.

While students at the college here last Thursday night were preparing for one of the biggest pep rallies ever staged at Kansas State, workers in the power house on the campus were having their lives endangered by individuals who took possession of the power plant and opened various valves in search of the valve to the college whistle which called all students on the hill. Certain valves in the power plant have the power to blow up the building. Should such a thing come about, the institution would have been forced to close since the lighting and heating systems are furnished by the college plant.

Co-operation on the part of the workers at the plant has always been secured when K. U. invaders were actually on the campus. It was not necessary to blow the whistle in order to whistle blown. However, over-enthusiastic students failed to think of the danger they were placing the workers and themselves in, and according to Dean R. A. Seaton of the engineering division, plain hoodlumism developed.

Hereafter whenever it is deemed necessary to blow the college whistle, authorities should be notified, and the whistle will be blown by those who understand its operation.

CAMPUS ORIENTATION.

Without going so far as to suggest "rubber-neck" expeditions of new students about the campus to acquaint them with its interesting and unusual features, it might be well to have some kind of a course in campus orientation to enable them to discover the many out-of-the-ordinary places and points of interest.

How many students, for instance, have ever visited the radio station in Nichols gymnasium? How many, the college museum in Fairchild hall? How many could direct a newcomer to the campus' browsing section of the college library? How many have discovered the pictures hanging in the library art gallery? Has it ever occurred to the denizens of this institution of learning that the half hour or so consumed in sipping "cokes" in Aggieville could be far more profitably spent at some current exhibit of art in the art or architecture department?

"Do you know your campus organizations?" is another pertinent question that doubtless few who think of themselves as loyal Kansas State students could answer in the affirmative. What is "Dynamis" or "Orchosis"? Can the average student tell off hand the names of the two Greek music organizations on the hill?

Some persons go to New York City and when they come home they can tell you about Grant's tomb—and that's about all. It is to be hoped that the freshman returning home next June will know a little more about his campus than the location of the buildings in which he has his classes.

The Snoopers

This custom of beating K. U. has become old stuff to the extent that everyone goes to classes on the Monday after. Politics and flunk slips seem to be the only topic for conversation.

The Wildcat team did right well to beat the K. U. team and a radio announcer. Every time the K-Aggies lined up on the offense someone's voice was heard over the public address system giving his version of what-the-next-play-will-be. It was (possibly) co-incidental that this announcer, whoever he was, predicted only the K-Aggie plays. He was notoriously quiet preceding Jayhawk plays. The old geek did break away long enough once or twice to hint to the K. U. quarter that "Carney" Smith isn't doing so well, Shaake hasn't carried the ball for a while."

The K-Aggie crowd was to be congratulated for its behavior during the visit at Lawrence. The police court records showed no names with Manhattan addresses, in contrast with the full roster of Lawrence addresses on the local blotter last year.

Maybe it's the depression.

The Carnegie foundation, which made the startling announcement about hired football players last year, breaks out with a bulletin in which it is alleged that college seniors' vocabularies are only 60 per cent normal. Perhaps they failed to include slang in their list of "common" words.

The simile: "As tough as a two-bit steak" has gone all haywire since Aggieville grub-merchants have started price-cutting. One place boasts of 20 cent T-bones.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF.

Judge For Yourself

Since Theodorie seems to have folded up and became just another confusing name we feel it our duty to sponsor a new party; its platform remaining essentially the same as all the others with a few additions such as free tuition, free varsity, food at the cafeteria, steam heated stadium seats, comic strip in college catalogue, no flunk slips, and a strict application of the honor system in regard to cuts. Additions will be made as soon as it suits our convenience.

Bo McMillin's team Saturday put on one of the greatest exhibitions of football Kansas State fans have been fortunate enough to witness in many a season. The boys were out there fighting every minute of the entire four quarters. And Kansas State fans in the east side of the stadium were fighting with the team.

On the west side, the spirit was not so evident. Kansas university followers seemed to lose all interest in the game when they discovered their team to be on the short side of the score. No team can hope to win if it isn't receiving all the encouragement possible from the

STADIUM DRIVE OPENS FRIDAY

Edwin "Hans" Puetze, Chairman, Appeals To Freshmen And New Students—$170,000 Needed.

Edwin "Hans" Puetze, chairman of the 1931 stadium drive, appealed to his fellow freshmen to support this year's campaign in a special chapel Friday morning.

"The stadium drive is Kansas State tradition," he stated. "Because Kansas State is the only school of the Big Six conference which has not yet completed its stadium, we are eager to make this campaign a success."

Other speakers were M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics, and A. N. "Bo" McMillin, football coach. Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the public speaking department, presided.

To complete the stadium, pledges amounting to $170,000 are needed, according to "Mike" Ahearn. A total of $204,263 has already been spent or will be used for immediate construction, he said. Freshmen are urged to pledge the maximum amounts. The payment may be made now or it may be deferred until after graduation, according to those directing the campaign.

CLASS ELECTIONS HOLD FORTH TODAY

(Continued from Page One) some nominations for Freshman class president. The crowd offered no nominations for any president. The speaker then did the unforgivable. He called for "15 rats" for the Vox Pop party—and got them. The speaker was later discovered to be an ardent Vox Pop member, Guy Lemon, Manhattan.

Vox Pop supporters who attended the Theodorie rally for the purpose of "eating their doughnuts and drinking their cider" were disappointed. "We had our refreshments at a caucus held last night," one of the Theodorie leaders stated. There was a report of the Theodorie party holding a caucus at Sunset park Sunday night, but this rumor could not be substantiated.

At The Theatres

AT THE WAREHAM

"Sob Sister"

We've just recovered from the siege of gangster pictures, and now all Hollywood seems to portray the iniquities of the press. Yes, "Sob Sister" is a drama of newspapers and newshawks. But Linda Watkins and James Dunn, both charming newcomers to the screen, get away with this one in great shape. Linda as the newswoman scoops all of the men, finally gets mixed up with some kidnapers who are just about to "rub her out", when—We're wagger that the good plot keeps you interested.—J. B.

AT THE DICKINSON

"The Spirit of Notre Dame"

Considering the wealth of material available for the portrayal of the prowess of Knute Rockne and his team, this picture is disappointing. Lew Ayres plays the part of Bucky O'Brien who foregoes glory for the good of the school and the team, backed by such well-known gridsmen as Carideo, O'Conner, and Walsh. The football scenes, a large part of the picture, are supposed to be the best ever shown.—J. B.

AT THE VARSITY.

"Hell Bound."

Gang stories still seem to be in their prime, which "Hell Bound," showing at the Varsity, proves. Leo Carrillo, Lola Lane, and Lloyd Hughes made an interesting trio for the play which is rather good in spite of the poor directing. The plot had a plenty clever ending. However, the best part of the evening's entertainment is the short feature, a football sequence with the late Knute Rockne explaining the correct method of catching a forward pass.—E. A. T.

"Give me Lucky Strike Every Time"

"My throat is all important to me. No harsh irritants for yours truly. Give me Lucky Strike every time. And pat yourself on the back for your new Cellophane wrapper with that tab which makes the package so easy to open."

Dorothy Mackaill

Dorothy Mackaill is the same fascinating, rollicking personality in real life as the parts she plays. Watch for Dorothy in her next First National Picture, "Safe in Hell." There is never a dull moment in any of First National's pictures starring that Mackaill girl.

That LUCKY tab! Moisture-Proof Cellophane. Sealed tight—Ever right. The Unique Humidor Package. Zip—And it's open! See the new notched tab on the top of the package. Hold down one half with your thumb. Tear off the other half. Simple. Quick. Zip! That's all. Unique! Wrapped in dust-proof, moisture-proof, germ-proof Cellophane. Clean, protected, neat, FRESH!—what could be more modern than LUCKIES' improved Humidor package—so easy to open! Ladies—the LUCKY TAB is—your finger nail protection.

Here's One Smoke for MEN

Let the little girls toy with their long, slim holders—let them park scented cigarettes with their powder compacts. That's the time for you to go in for a REAL MAN'S smoke.

And what can that be but a PIPE!

There's something about a time-proven, companionable pipe that does satisfy a man's smoking instincts. You become attached to it—like the way it clears your head, stirs your imagination, puts a keen edge on your thinking.

And you know the heights of true smoking satisfaction when you keep your pipe filled with Edgeworth. It's the finest blend of choice, selected burleys. And its mellow flavor and rich aroma have made Edgeworth the favorite among pipe tobaccos in 42 out of 54 leading American colleges and universities.

Edgeworth? You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold. Or, if you wish to try before you buy, send for special free packet. Address Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural flavor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive and exclusive slow-curing process. Buy Edgeworth in two forms—Edgeworth Ready-Rolled and Edgeworth Plug Slice. All sizes, 15¢ per package to $1.50. Send for free packet.

THE CERTAINTY OF SATISFACTION IS WORTH A PRICE IN ITSELF

The high efficiency and precision of our methods are the results of thirty years research in the optical field.

Unlike the surgeon, who is unable to guarantee an operation,—the optometrist, as an optical specialist dealing with more material things, can guarantee his work.

Every one of our lens prescriptions are guaranteed to give complete eye-comfort and satisfaction.

LINE PERFORMS BRILLIANTLY

Cronkite and Graham Make Kansas State Touchdowns Behind Powerhouse Line—Goal Line Never Threatened.

Bo McMillin's Purple Phantoms played true to pre-game dope Saturday by defeating Bill Hargis' K. U. warriors to the tune of 13 to 0, placing themselves to the top position in the Big Six conference, with a percentage of 1.000. The two touchdowns, coming in the second and third quarters, were made by Captain Henry Cronkite and Rambling Ralph Graham, with Auker adding the single point the second time the goal post was passed. His first attempt went wide.

The first half was a see-saw affair with the exception of the touchdown march in the second quarter which started after a punting duel between Auker and Schaake in which the ball sailed back and fourth across the center of the field. The march began after Schaake punted from behind his own goal line to the Wildcat 45 yard line where Auker caught the ball and ran ten yards to the K. U. 45 yard line. He threw a fast lateral pass to Capt. "High Henry" Cronkite, who slashed his way through the Kansas secondary defense to the K. U. 26 yard stripe. Auker took the ball for a fast ride through the Jayhawk line for 7 yards and on the next eight plays Graham, who was immediately dubbed "Pepper," blasted, slashed, and darted through the K. U. forward wall for the necessary 26 yards to the touchdown. Auker attempted a place kick for point and failed.

Graham Batters Jayhawk Line. The second quarter became a contest to determine the strength of the two teams' lines with Graham displaying a brand of football seldom shown by K-Aggie teamsters. Schaake and Carney Smith of the Jayhawk backfield tested the Wildcat line, and many times looked as if they were loose. However, the K-Aggie backs were always in the right positions to stop them whenever it became necessary.

A summary of the first half showed honors evenly divided, with the edge going to the Jayhawks, if anyone. The K-Aggies began the second half with a display of head-up football, demonstrating an impenetrable line and a set of backs who earned the title of "Purple Phantoms" by their amazing ground gaining attacks against a seemingly impassable wall. Their play was marred by frequent fumbles and penalties for off-sides and roughness, due to their eagerness and enthusiasm, to "get at" that Jayhawk gang. The second touchdown came in the third quarter after Kansas State took the ball from the Lawrence team on downs on the K-Aggie 24 yard line. Auker took the ball on a brilliant open field run for a gain of 26 yards to the middle of the field. A pass, Auker to Breen was good for 10 yards, where Breen fumbled. Recovery was made by Graham. A line play and a pass fizzled out. Then Graham took the situation in hand and on the next three plays advanced the ball to the K. U. 21 yard line, where Auker bucked the line for a two yard loss and then threw a pass over the line to Cronkite who jumped high into the air to catch it and then went off his feet to roll, crawl and swim all alone the few yards remaining between him and the goal line. Auker's place kick was good.

Many Substitutions. The remainder of the game was devoted to substitutions by both teams. Hargis groped about for a lucky player, while McMillin relieved his worn out men with fresh material. At the end of the game a complete new K-Aggie team went in with the exception of Graham who ran the squad for three plays to gain five yards against the first team.

Three K-Aggie men won their places in the K. S. C. hall of football fame: Ray McMillin, for his generalship; "Rambling" Ralph Graham, for his average seven-yard gain per play this season; and Eldon Auker, whose consistent punting and Red Grange open field running have earned him the distinction of being three of Kansas State's four horsemen. Michaels' brilliant play at center and tackle deserves mention. It is estimated that while losing 25 yards on off-sides penalties he threw the Kansas backs for twice that much in losses.

Touchdown II is receiving his annual treatment for intestinal worms and has been placed in the veterinary hospital for proper care. The mascot is not alone in his misery for two Great Danes are also undergoing treatment at the clinic. ## McMILLIN SEARCHES FOR INJURIES IN GRID CREW

Hraba and Auker Crippled Most Severely In K. U. Game—Sophomores to Fill Gaps.

With three games gone, Kansas State is now pointing to the next big battle, which is the Oklahoma game here next Saturday, October 24. Last night Coach McMillin put his men through a rather light practice and in the meantime talked about the game at Lawrence last Saturday.

It was with much difficulty that some of the regulars reported for practice. Four regulars are on the injured list with two of them seriously crippled. Adolph Hraba, two letter guard from East St. Louis, Ill., received an injured knee, which confined him to the hospital until yesterday morning. Hraba was released in time to attend his classes. Although reporting for practice last night, he was not able to take any exercises. The injury will probably keep him from the starting lineup next Saturday.

Eldon Auker, back, two letterman from Norcatur, received an injured foot. It was first thought that he had burst a blood vessel, but after a thorough examination it was learned that he had only severely bruised it. Auker was kept in the hospital until late Sunday afternoon.

Walter Zeckser, Alma, received an injured knee. He was already nursing the knee from a previous injury but it was reinjured in the game Saturday.

Alvin Stephenson, Clements, line-man, has two severe blisters on his heels. It will be necessary for him to remain out of practice for a few days in order for them to heal. Stephenson is a two letter man and plays a tackle position.

Russell Smith, Manhattan, back, was released from quarantine Sunday afternoon. Smith has been confined at the Delta Tau Delta house for two weeks.

Nebraska has made no selection but it is probable that they will meet a team from the west. Oklahoma has made no selection but is no doubt trying to match a game with Tulsa university of Oklahoma City university team with the game to be staged at Oklahoma City. Kansas university will no doubt meet the winner of the Central Kansas conference or try to stage a comeback against Haskell. Kansas State may meet the winner of the Kansas conference, which will probably be Salina Wesleyan at Salina. Iowa State will play Iowa university, if Big Ten rulings will permit, and Missouri will probably meet St. Louis university or Washington university in a tilt at St. Louis.

King On Committee. Dr. H. H. King, the Kansas State representative at the meeting, said today, "If the Wildcats win the Big Six conference, it is very probable that they will meet the winner of the Southwestern conference. If they do not win the conference championship, it is very likely that they will meet the winner of the Kansas conference. Officials are trying to make negotiations in order that the winner of the Big Six will meet the winner of the Southwestern conference in a game at Dallas, Tex. The announcements concerning the charity games will not be made until later in the season because of possible effects on the game receipts of the scheduled games."

At the meeting Doctor King was elected to the eligibility committee of the Big Six conference to replace Dean Beyer of Iowa State college who was killed in an automobile accident this summer. The eligibility committee is composed of three members who are also members of the Big Six conference faculty committee. The committee acts as advisors on the eligibility of the athletes of the conference members. The next meeting of the committee will be the first Saturday after the Thanksgiving holidays at Lincoln, Neb.

WILDCAT BASKETEERS MEET K. U. FOUR TIMES

Return to Old Plan of Playing Additional Games with University—Seven Home Tilts.

Two additional basketball games have been scheduled between Kansas State and Kansas university. These games are scheduled for December 11 at Lawrence and December 16 at Manhattan. These games will not count in the conference standings between the two schools.

From 1915 to 1921 inclusive Kansas and Kansas State regularly played four basketball games each year. This was reduced to two when the old Missouri Valley conference adopted the double round robin plan and continued after the formation of the Big Six.

Director of Athletics M. F. Ahearn, of Kansas State, and Dr. P. C. Allen, of the University of Kansas, are considering playing double headers on these evenings. That is, they are planning to have an "A" basketball team and a "B" basketball team, both of which will meet on these dates. The matter of the "B" team, of course, is something that will have to be taken up with the conference to secure their permission for playing.

Dr. H. H. King, Kansas State faculty representative, and Dean G. C. Shaad, Kansas university faculty representative, presented the matter of playing the "B" team at the faculty conference meeting last week end. Nothing definite was decided at that time.

The Kansas State schedule this year is similar to the last year's schedule. The only changes are substituting the two Kansas university games for the Colorado college games and playing Concordia college in St. Louis instead of Washington university. In making the schedule, the Kansas State officials hoped to obtain some pre-season games in the Big Ten. However, it was impossible to schedule these games this year. Barring some unexpected happening the Wildcats will have some Big Ten teams on their schedule next year. The schedule for this year is complete, although the Concordia game is problematic and may be changed.

The Kansas State schedule for the coming season is as follows: Dec. 11, Kansas at Lawrence. Dec. 14, Washburn, at Topeka. Dec. 16, Kansas, at Manhattan. Dec. 18, Concordia, at St. Louis. Dec. 19, St. Louis, at St. Louis. Jan. 9, Missouri, at Columbia. Jan. 15, Kansas, at Lawrence. Jan. 19, Nebraska, at Manhattan. Jan. 22, Oklahoma, at Manhattan. Jan. 30, Iowa State, at Manhattan.

Feb. 6, Nebraska, at Lincoln. Feb. 9, St. Louis, at Manhattan. Feb. 12, Kansas, at Manhattan. Feb. 16, Oklahoma, at Norman. Feb. 19, Iowa State, at Ames. Feb. 27, Missouri, at Manhattan.

BIG SIX TEAMS MAY PLAY CHARITY GAMES

Jimmy Green. The natural presumption is that somebody from Manhattan did the damage. Whoever did it is despicable. The student council and the college officials at Manhattan will make every possible effort to fix the responsibility, to punish the offenders if they can be found guilty, and to make restitution.

Delegations to Lawrence. "Certainly the deplorable action of last night is not approved by the student body or officials at Manhattan. Immediately after the report a delegation of students left for Lawrence to present the profound regret of Manhattan people and to assure the students of the university of the determination of college and student officials at Manhattan to follow the matter to a just conclusion."

Students, chosen by Hraba to represent Kansas State at Lawrence, were W. M. Myers, Bachelor, official representative of the student council; Joe Metzger, Girard; E. G. Johnson, Emporia; W. M. Peck, Sterling; H. C. Frank, Manhattan; Herbert Avery, Wakefield; Donald Wiggins, Norton.

Plane Drops Bills.

Late Friday afternoon an airplane flew over Lawrence distributing hand bills on which was printed "Watch the Aggie steam roller flatten out that K. U. ball team," and another "Kansas State 20-Missouri 0, put your bets on the Kansas State powerhouse to beat K. U." The bills fell on the football field where members of the university team were scrimmaging, and according to the Kansas City Star, Bill Hargis' boys renewed their efforts on the field after receiving the taunt from here. However, authorities are in doubt as to who was responsible for the plane and the bills.

Every possible clue is still being followed up both here and at Lawrence in the hope of determining whether or not the painting was done by students from this college. If the offenders should be students here, severe punishment will be inflicted, as the act was in direct violation of the truce which was made two years ago by the student councils of the two schools abolishing all pre-game painting and pranks.

Students Pass Resolution.

Following the receipt of the message from Dean Werner the student body assembled in the college auditorium for the annual stadium drive, passed a resolution "regretting that the acts had occurred, expressing the hope that measures would be taken to prevent their recurrence in the future, and urging that the offenders be punished if they prove to be Kansas State students."

The college campus was not guarded Friday night about 9 o'clock when six men overpowered and bound Lester George, Mulberry, guard of the Kansas State mascot, Touchdown II, at the veterinary hospital, talked of capturing the wildcat, but left without making an attempt to even get into the room where the mascot's cage is kept. George called the Alpha Gamma Rho house, but as there was no trace of the raiders, no search was made.

The college whistle was removed Friday, following the pep rally Friday night, when the lives of the workmen at the power house and the building itself were endangered by opening all valves before they found the whistle valve.

MEN'S INTRAMURALS.

Delta Sigma Phi won the only intramural soccer game played last week when they beat the Alpha Gamma Rhos by a 3-1 score.

This week's schedule is Sigma Nu vs. Lambda Chi Alpha; Phi Kappa Tau vs. M. E. A. C.; Phi Lambda Theta vs. Alpha Gamma Rho, yesterday; Tau Kappa Epsilon vs. Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta vs. Beta Pi Epsilon, Acacia vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon, today; Phi Kappa vs. Aggie Knights, Beta Theta Pi vs. Delta Tau Delta, Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Wednesday; and Phi Lambda Theta vs. Delta Sigma Phi, Alpha Gamma Rho vs. Alpha Tau Omega, Friday.

Both singles and doubles of intramural horseshoe are in the second round this week.

HARRIERS DEFEAT KANSAS

Don Landon, Kansas State, First To Cross Finish Line.

The Kansas State two-mile team captained by Elmer Black won the race staged prior to the game last Saturday by the score of 30 to 25. Don Landon, wearing the colors of Kansas State, flashed across the line first to win the race with the remarkable time of 9:51.3. He was closely followed by Glenn Cunningham of Kansas.

The men finished in the following order: first, Don Landon, K. S. C.; second, Glenn Cunningham, K. U.; third, Floyd McComb, K. U.; fourth, L. R. Daniels, K. S. C.; fifth, Elmer Black, K. S. C.; sixth, Paul Borel, K. U.; seventh, M. E. Nixon, K. S. C.; eight, C. D. McNeal, K. S. C.

Professor Of Social Ethics At Chicago University On Forum Program Thursday.

Dr. Arthur Holt, professor of social ethics at the University of Chicago, will speak this week at the student forum time, which is Wednesday noon at Thompson hall instead of the usual time, which is Wednesday.

The speaker is known in Manhattan, having been pastor of the Congregational church prior to his appointment at the Chicago school. His researches in the field of social ethics have won him wide recognition. Last year he was a member of the commission sent to India to investigate religious activities there. Since returning he has conducted a survey of philanthropic organizations in Chicago for the Chicago Theological seminary, a unit in the university.

"The Ethical Approach to Ethical Problems," will be the subject

Where Turkish tobacco grows

Eastward ho! Four thousand miles nearer the rising sun—let's go! To the land of mosques and minarets—so different from our skyscrapers, stacks and steeples. Let's see this strange, strange country. Let's see the land where the tobacco* grows in small leaves on slender stalks—to be tenderly picked, leaf by leaf, hung in long fragrant strings, shelter-dried and blanket-cured. Precious stuff! Let's taste that delicate aromatic flavor—that subtle difference that makes a cigarette!

XANTHI . . CAVALLA . . SMYRNA

*Turkish tobacco is to cigarettes what seasoning is to food—the "spice," the "sauce"—or what rich, sweet cream is to coffee! You can taste the Turkish in Chesterfield—there's enough of it, that's why. Chesterfield has not been stingy with this important addition to good taste and aroma; four famous kinds of Turkish leaf—Xanthi, Cavalla, Samsoun and Smyrna—go into the smooth, "spicy" Chesterfield blend. This is just one more reason for Chesterfield's better taste. Tobaccos from far and near, the best of their several kinds—and the right kinds. And pure, tasteless cigarette paper, the purest made. The many requisites of a milder, better smoke, complete!

That's why they're GOOD—they've got to be and they are.

PARENTS TO BE HONOR GUESTS HERE TOMORROW

PROGRAM INCLUDES VISITING CLASSES, GAME, AND BAN-QUET AT CAFETERIA.

FRED HENNEY SPEAKER

Organization Having Most Parents
Here Will Receive Prize As Will Those Having Parents Here
From Greatest Distance.

Fathers and mothers of Kansas State students will be guests of the college when they come to Manhattan tomorrow for the annual Parents' day.

The program this year includes the pep meeting tonight, the visiting of classes and the inspection of laboratories tomorrow morning,
the Kansas State-Oklahoma football game at 2 o'clock, and the banquet Saturday evening.

The feature of the day will be the Parents' day banquet which will be held in Thompson hall at 6 o'clock. This will be the annual meeting of the Kansas State college Parents' association of which P. A.
Fairbank, Topeka, is president.
Two hundred and fifty guests are expected.

Farrell To Preside.

Dr. F. D. Farrell, president of the college, will speak on "What Should Interest Parents." The parents will be represented by Fred Henney, managing editor of the Hutchinson
News and Herald. Jeannette Moser,
Blue Rapids, will be toastmistress.
There will be election of 1931 association officers. Other features of the program will include a vocal solo by Carol Moore. Ashland, and a reading by Katherine George, Buffalo, Okla.

There is a contest open between each of the sororities, the fraternities, and the literary societies.
The organization in each of these groups having the largest number of parents represented at the Parents' day banquet will be awarded a prize by the athletic department.
Last year the Phi Delta Theta fraternity took first place. Prizes will also be given the parent having the largest number of students at K. S. C., and the parent coming from the greatest distance.

Students May Change Seats.

Tickets went on sale in recreation center yesterday. After today they may be purchased in the alumni office. Students are urged to buy them as soon as possible. Dorothy Klein, Topeka, is in charge of the sale of tickets.

Students who wish to attend the football game with their parents may exchange their activity tickets for reserved seats at no extra expense if they will call at the athletic office, room 34, Nichols gymnasium.

HOLT TELLS ABOUT GANDHI

Dr. H. T. Hill is Next Week Forum
Speaker.

"Great Britain has done a lot to help India in attacking famine, building up her railway communication, and given her a fine legal system, and have been honest with India, but very stupid in not granting their desire to live in Indian fashion," said Doctor Arthur Holt, who spoke yesterday before the student forum.

Doctor Holt, who was recently in India with a commission sent to make a survey of religious activities
there gave a brief character sketch of Mahatma Gandhi and the nationalist movement. The movement, says Doctor Holt, has been moving in India for about 90 years,
and if Gandhi should leave his work unfinished, the nationalist would be in the hands of those unsympathetic with the non-violence policy of Gandhi. This would mean chaos for India, Doctor Holt said.

Next week Dr. H. T. Hill of the department of public speaking will expound on the subject "Joe College Would Have Flunked Logic."
The meeting will be on Wednesday
noon, the usual meeting time.

The Black List

The following instructors hold classes after the five minute
bell rings:

Prof. C. W. Matthews, English department.

Prof. J. O. Hamilton, physics
department.

Prof. Myra Scott, English department.

Prof. A. N. "Bo" McMillin, Kansas State football mentor, whose Wildcat crew is beginning a glorious march to the Big Six championship. From his never-empty bag of tricks comes at least one thriller each game to send the crowd into cheers of delight and bring to mind the cleverness which took him to the highest pinnacle of fame ever to be occupied by an exponent of the gridiron.

ADIEU TO FROSH LIBERTY.

No longer will the freshmen enjoy their unrestrained freedom and appear on the campus in carefree nonchalance. A regent checkup in the records of K fraternity reveal that 240 freshmen have not made the required purchase of the purple caps with white bills, symbolic of their infancy.

Rather than face the possibility of having to wield an unnecessary number of paddles in the Aggieville receiving lines today and tomorrow, this society of Apollos has arranged for a freshman cap sales counter in the Royal Purple office in Anderson hall. The caps may be secured at the same price as was charged at registration last September.

An ultimatum of Wampus
cat origin also has been issued, instructing all freshmen men
to boom with vigor, "Beat O.
U." when the command,
"Sound off," comes from the lips of an upperclassman. Two ribbons, one purple and one white, each 12 inches long and one inch wide, shall wave in the breeze from the buttons of the freshman caps today and tomorrow, according to Wampus cat instructions.

The old adage goes that, "A word to the wise is sufficient."

Woodring and Harger recommend Wildcats Schedule a Post Season Game with Wichita University There.

The proposition by Owen D.
Young, chairman of the national relief committee, that all colleges play post-season football games,
the proceeds from which will go to charity, has met with approval from every one. Considerable space has been devoted to the matching of games, and the acceptance of games in recent sport pages, and much enthusiasm has been created.

The Big Six conference has extended its permission to member schools to participate in charity games, and the schools have signified their willingness to play. An informal agreement between the Big Six and the Southwest conference calls for a charity game to be played in Dallas between the champions of the conferences. As Kansas State is still in the running for the Big Six title, K. S. C. athletic authorities are unwilling to schedule any other charity contest
at this time.

If Kansas State fails to win the championship, the team will play
anyone suggested by Governor Harry H. Woodring, or anyone else of authority, according to M. F.
Ahearn, director of athletics.

Governor Woodring and Chairman C. M. Harger of the Board of Regents have recommended that a post season charity game be scheduled between Kansas State and Wichita university, to be played at Wichita, and also that a charity game be scheduled between Kansas university and Washburn to be played in Topeka. The K. U.- Washburn game has been scheduled satisfactorily, and will be played on or before December 5, the date to be set later.

Marcia Conrad, Manhattan, won first place in a poster contest sponsored by the Women's Athletic as-rolled in John Helm, Jr.'s commercial illustration I and II classes competed. The posters were adverheld last night in recreation center.

The prize winning poster was placed in the north entrance of Anderson hall. Other posters are in the main hall of Anderson, the women's gymnasium, and the uptown Palace drug store.

Miss Conrad, who is a sophomore in general science, will choose be-

Daumiere is a French artist who was imprisoned several times be-history. Satire and humor are his outstanding traits. His lithographs

Norcatur, for the presidency of the ber of votes than any other Theo-

Stafford, candidate for marshal of the sophomore class, was high among the Vox Pop candidates with 175 votes.

McMILLINMEN PREPARE FOR SOONER TILT

INJURED MEN ALL BACK IN THE SWIM READY TO GO ON TOWARDS CHAMPIONSHIP.

HRABA MAY NOT START

Varsity Scrimmages Against Freshman Squad To Learn O. U.
Plays—Scoring Graham Leads Big Six.

With one more practice Bo Mcmillin will have his K-Aggie Wildcats in readiness for the Sooners invasion here tomorrow.

The men have been working all week on Oklahoma plays with the freshmen on the offensive. Although the strong O. U. plays seemed to baffle the varsity at first after a few downs the varsity boys took the plays with a grain of salt and downed the freshmen back of their own line of scrimmage so many times it looked as if the varsity knew all about everything.

Every night after practice the former Centre quarterback has been giving his men wind sprints after practice so they can stand the hot weather that has been prevailing all season on game days. "It just seems as though every Saturday is a hot one," Bo said the other night,
"and if there is anything that we need on a hot day it's surely lots of wind." Large crowds have turned out every night to watch the varsity practice.

Braba Out For Practice.

Although Adolph Braba's knee is still tender he has been reporting for practice the past three nights in full uniform. The other night when asked how his knee was he said, "It is just as good as ever, and believe me that Doctor Stever is pretty darned smart." However, he probably won't be in the starting lineup.

Walter Zeckler, that little fighting guard from Alma will be in the lineup ready to go. Zeckler has been kept from scrimmage since the K. U. game because of an injured knee which has given him considerable trouble.

Elden Auker, Norcatur, has fully recovered from the injury to his foot. It was feared for a while he had a burst blood vessel but after a thorough examination it was learned that he only had received a bad bruise.

Graham Leads Scoring Column.

Glen Harsh, El Dorado, has recovered from the injured eye he received in last week's game and will be ready to go tomorrow when the whistle blows.

With Ralph Graham leading the scoring in the Big Six it looks as though he would have to produce a little more than usual in order to hold his good record because the entire Sooners team will be watching that Graham boy. Ralph is one of the best defensive backs in the conference and so far has proven his worth at carrying the ball.

Lloyd Michaels, one-letter center from Lawrence, is the hero of the week. Michaels played a mighty nice game last Saturday and it was his perfect passing that made all the Wildcat plays good against K. U.

"BROADWAY" SETTING AMID "BRIGHT LIGHTS"

Paradise Night Club Is Scene Of Performance—Murder Furnishes The Plot.

The Paradise night club is the scene of "Broadway," Manhattan Theatre production which will be presented October 30 and 31. Most of the action throughout the performance takes place there, and the actors make entrances and exits constantly in variegated costumes.

The scene in which Roy Lane,
the hooper of the play, changes
clothes in full view of the audience, all the while making love to the heroine in lofty terms, thoroughly unconscious of the unconventionality of the situation, is the humorous climax.

There is a murder in the play, a leader of the gang, Steve Crandall, kills the leader of the rival gang.
The cornering of the murderer by Dan McCann, the detective, furnishes the plot. In the end the finance of the murdered bootlegger, who was "planted" in the cabaret of the night clubs to watch Steve Crandall, shoots down the man who killed her lover.

"Broadway" was produced by Jed Harris, New York.

portant interests of the students in a quiet, persistent and effective manner."—Adv.

Nigro Thrilled When He Attends First Pep Meet

After going to school for four years without having attended a pep meeting, Alex Nigro, former captain of Kansas State football and basketball squads during his college career, reports that he finds them quite thrilling. He attended his first pep meeting the other day.
"It certainly was a thrill to be there as one of the mob," says Alex. "Before, they always made us stay and go to bed early."
When asked how it felt to see the K-Aggie football team from the sidelines, he replied, "All the time I felt like running out there to help the boys, but I guess they didn't need my help."

Alex joined the Toledo baseball club last spring as an outfielder,
after having completed three years
of varsity competition in football, baseball, and basketball. He lacked a few points necessary for graduation and has returned to finish off his college work. It has been the practice of Kansas State coaches to bar all varsity men from attending pep meetings, hence it was a novel experience for a student who has been so closely associated with athletics to attend a pep meeting.
Nigro, when asked to compare
"pro" baseball with the amateur game, replied that while there was plenty of team work in "pro" baseball there was little sportsmanship and that the idea of the game was of secondary importance.

"Those K-Aggies sure looked good Saturday, and my heart is with them every time they move,"
he said, commenting on the K. U. game last week.

BREEDEN TO REVIEW NEW RAYNOLDS NOVEL

"Brothers of the West" Is Chosen
By English Professor To Be Third Of The Lecture Series.

Prof. A. W. Breeden of the department of English will review
"Brothers of the West" by Robert Raynolds, on Tuesday, October 27,
at 7:30 o'clock in recreation center.
This will be the third of a series of ten lectures to be given by faculty members of the department of English. The novel to be reviewed won the $10,000 Harper prize last year.

Robert Raynolds is only 29 years old. He was born in Santa Fe, N.
M., in the oldest house in the United States. Mr. Raynolds has spent three years traveling in western United States and Mexico gathering material for his literary works.

"Brothers of the West" is a novel which is amateurish in every particular," says Professor Breeden,
"but it is unconventional in its theme in that it is not written to reform anything. The novel is based on the idea that men and women live according to nature with no regard for ethics."

ENCHILADAS ELEC'S MEMBERS

Dancing Organization Admits Zeta Tau Alpha.

A meeting of Enchiladas, women's dancing organization, was held last Friday, Oct. 16, at the Kappa Delta house. New members were decided upon. This year Zeta Tau Alpha was admitted and will enter six girls.

According to Vera Bowersox, president of Enchiladas, the following girls are to be initiated in the spring: Genevieve Shellhaus, Alpha Xi Delta; Dorothy Blackman, Kappa Delta; Mary Alice McCreight, Mabel Amthauer, Lois Scripser,
Beta Phi Alpha; Hazel Brooks,
Laura Ward, Phi Omega Pi; Maxine Blankenship, Chi Omega; Margaret Colver, Mildred Harman, Pauline Patchin, Delta Zeta; Virginia Daniels, Delta Delta Delta; Virginia Hanes, Thelma Large, Eva Filson, Alpha Delta Pi; Vera Peterson, Hazel Blaud, Muriel Fulton, Edna Maxwell, Margaret Lynch,
Inez Hill, all of Zeta Tau Alpha.

ENTHUSIASTIC KANSAS STATE STUDENTS TO GATHER TONIGHT TO SPUR WILDCATSTO VICTORY

GIANT PEP MEETING WILL BE COMBINATION BLOW-OFF OF K. U.'S DRUBBING LAST WEEK AND TOMORROW'S EXPECTATIONS.

WILL ANNOUNCE COLLEGIAN PRIZE WINNER

Free Trip to West Virginia Football Game Given As First Award with Fifteen Minor Prizes to Follow—
—Bo McMillin a Headliner
on Program.

What is expected to be the biggest, noisiest, peppiest of pep meetings will be held tonight in the college auditorium, according to the "dope" passed out last night by Ray Spence, head cheerleader. The affair will be a combination blow-off in which the elation over the drubbing given K. U.
last Saturday and the expectations for a victory over the Oklahoma Sooners will be voiced. Feeling is running high on the campus after winning two conference games with prospects for a Big Six title in sight. A side feature of the program will be the choosing of the winners of the Col-legian's circulation contest which will close at 6 o'clock tonight. Anyone wishing to enter the contest may do so by subscribing to the Collegian at the office in Kedzie hall before that time.

PARTIES CLOSE AT MIDNIGHT

S. G. A. Passes New Rule to Prevent Confusion Concerning Time Limit.

A revision of the closing hour of social functions was made at the last meeting of the student government council and was approved by the faculty council.

The rule before revision was: The closing hour for social functions shall be 11:30 o'clock except one event each year for each organization, the closing time of which shall be 12:30. The present rule is that the closing hour of all functions shall not be later than 12:00 o'clock.
In practice this means a lengthening of one-half hour of all but one party which will be shortened one-half hour.

The revision was made for two reasons. The first one was that the new rule would avoid a great deal of confusion about whether the function was to close at 11:30, 12:00, or 12:30 o'clock. The other was that the sentiments of the majority of the students were against 12:30 o'clock parties.

ARCHITECTS TO DANCE.

Limit Attendance at Smock Dance to Those in Department.

Tickets will go on sale tomorrow in the architects' department of the engineering building for the Smock dance to be held November 6, according to Elmo Young, Hutchinson,
president of the Gargoyles club.

The dance will be the annual architects' ball and will be open only to architects. The admission charge will be 75 cents. Music for dancing will be furnished by Dale Thomas' Varsity Revelers.

400 PLEDGE THIS YEAR

More than 400 pledge slips have been received at the registrar's office from sororities and fraternities
so far this year according to Miss Jessie McDowell Machir, registrar.
This total represents about one-third of the freshman class of 913 students. A small per cent of the pledge slips have been for upper classmen who are new here this year, and a few are for students who were here the spring semester
last year.

Clarence Gatch spent the week end at his home in Woodbine.

The prizes will be awarded as the winners are chosen from the stage in the auditorium. The first prize as has been previously announced will be an expense-paid trip to the West Virginia football game to be played at Morgantown, West Va., on October 31. There will also be 15 minor prizes as was announced earlier in the term. A special price for today only has been announced elsewhere in the paper, to those wishing to enter the contest late.

According to Spence, the program tonight will feature a talk by Bo McMillin, head football coach and at the present time the Moses to Kansas State's Israelites. Mc-Millin is the n to whom all Kansas State is looking to bring the long coveted conference title relinquished in 1916 when the school was a member of the old Missouri Valley conference. Bo will present his team there and will present them to the rooters. "Doc" Hill, master of ceremonies par excellence,
will introduce the speakers who count the versatile "Bill" Guerrant
among the list.

Prof. Downey's brass band will be there with a full repertoire of pep tunes and will keep the crowd in tune on "Alma Mater" and the battle song, "Aggie Wildcats." The full roster of Purple Pepsters, Wampus Cats, and cheer leader will unload their blast of cheering. The exact nature of the plans following the meeting have not been announced
but it is understood that they are being formulated in such a way as to please all concerned.

MAXWELL WITHDRAWS

Dale Ivan Maxwell, who recently was operated on for appendicitis, left for his home in Columbus Friday. He will not return to school this fall, but expects to be back for the spring semester.

PLEDGE $1,526 TO STADIUM

Freshmen and new students pledged $1,526 for the completion of the stadium at the assembly Friday, October 16. The increase was $388 over the pledges last year of $1,138.

The assembly is the only person to person campaign to be conducted this year. Approximately one per cent of the money needed to complete the south and west wall was pledged.

Parents Become King and Queen for Day When Visiting College "Kids" Tomorrow

"The old campus looks different from the way it used to when I was in school. I remember when there were hitching racks from Kedzie to where Calvin hall now stands," will be theme of conversation for many parents Saturday
when they come to visit the campus and see just how life at Kansas State is conducted.

A few of them may have been students at Kansas State when chapel dates were spent riding in buggies drawn by a fast-stepping pair of spanking bays instead of in rattle-trap old cars or strolling to Aggieville for a coke. They probably won't admit they went any place but to assembly, but parents, too, are human.

It will be quite in order to see little groups of visiting relatives being conducted about the campus Saturday by proud undergrad-<

SAID MOTHER TO DAD.

A Kansas State mother to a Kansas State dad: "I see that October 24 is Parents' Day up at Manhattan. There's to be a big football game, a banquet, a parade, and a chance to see just what the children do at college. John wrote about it today."

Kansas State dad from behind his newspaper: "Zat so?"

K. S. mother: "I do wish I could get those Greek letters of the fraternities and sororities up there straightened out. Every time I send John's laundry bag back I'm afraid that I get the Alpha, Upsilon, Pi, or Delta twisted around. I wonder what his fraternity house looks like. He said it was 'a plop'."

K. S. dad: "I'd kind of like to look over the college herds up there some time. Maybe I could find out a way to make old Daisy produce more milk."

K. S. mother: "Mrs. Johnson said that when she went up to visit Sue she had a wonderful time. She's been talking ever since about the beautiful dormitory where Sue lives. She said Sue was taking some course where they cut up cats. Do you suppose it's true?"

K. S. dad: "The sport page says that game between Kansas State and Oklahoma university is going to be a good one. I haven't seen a real big football game for a long time. They say that the stadium will seat 20,000 people, and that the governor sometimes goes up there to games. Old man Stevenson's grandson plays on the team."

K. S. mother: "I was looking over that book of views the college sent John last summer. The campus must be beautiful. All the buildings are covered with ivy. I imagine the ivy is turning red by now, you know the way it is on the church."

K. S. dad: "I heard the president of the college give a speech at the fair once. He's got a lot of good horse sense. I'd like to hear him again. Who's that funny little Irishman that came down to the high school last year? Mike somebody, he was a jolly fellow." Pause while he turns a page. "By George, Mother, write John and tell him we're coming. I might as well see about that cow now as ever."

The Collegian hopes that you have arrived, Mother and Dad, and that you're finding everything just as you visualized it. Welcome to Kansas State, have a grand time, and come back again.—R.L.

FAITH AND FOLLOWING.

Tomorrow out on Ahearn field Kansas State is going to witness one of the toughest battles the football squad will have this season. But one of the best football teams ever to grace the halls of learning of this institution is going to be out there giving all it has to win a game that may be the deciding factor in the Big Six race this year. That team cannot hope to win without the cooperation of the entire student body. The cheers from the stands mean much to the man facing the enemy.

The press as well as the student body down at Lawrence is not backing the Kansas university squad as all loyal papers and students should. Because the team is not composed of the material found last year when the Jayhawks captured the conference title, it is being criticized and even booed by those who should be out there spurring the men on to greater things.

The University Daily Kansan said in one of its "ears" Monday, "Maybe we can win for charity!" Such remarks, even if they do seem sayable, certainly should not be voiced in a university paper which would do well to boost the losing team. Because C. E. McBride, sports editor of the Kansas City Star, when commenting on last Saturday's game, said, "The Aggies had the brilliant spirit that carried on all the way; the Jayhawks seemed to lack the inspiration that spurs football eleven to great deeds," the university press yells and screams. It even does the unmentionable thing of voicing a "rumor floating around that there is a disension and jealousy between members of the Kansas backfield." They do, however, give Coach Bill Hargis credit for knowing if such is the case and taking some measures of discipline. The best thing any paper can do if there is disension on the squad, is to ignore it. Rumors might be only rumors.

But, in spite of all the trouble in the other big Kansas school, Kansas State students swear by and even pray for the men Bo McMillin is playing tomorrow against the Sooners. It's a powerful team with plenty of the right kind of stuff. And it's up to you and you and you to help capture the championship title.

AND YOU CALL THIS CIVILIZATION!

Fraternities and other organizations at Kansas State as in other colleges and universities, maintain discipline in their chapters by beating. Not just a few little taps, but honest-to-goodness swats with thick boards purchased by the pledges at the order of the actives. Such a procedure runs contrary in this so-called civilized era which now supposedly exists. At least one chapter on this hill has followed the custom practiced in the larger institutions of disciplining their freshmen pledges by other means than the paddle. Campusing men pledges could easily have the desired effect.

Some time ago there was a Wampus Cat initiation held out on K hill. Some of the fellows initiated were beat most severely, according to information received by the Collegian. A few days following the initiation one of the initiates who was beat the worst came down with what doctors say is infantile paralysis. He is quite ill for several days and was partially paralyzed. His left arm and hand were affected most.

The theory then started that because of his "ever beating a vertebra had been dislocated and was touching a nerve in the spinal cord thereby causing paralysis. This explanation of his illness is more logical than that of his having the contagious disease, since he is now well on the road to recovery, and so quick a recovery would be practically impossible had he really contracted infantile paralysis. When this young man recovers, he will suffer no marked ill effects. Such would not likely be the case had he had infantile paralysis.

It is something for you actives to think over. Just because you were beat when you were first year men does not justify the hearty wallops you give to the younger men in the house. Use a little common sense and discretion when you beat your pledges, if you must beat.

UNEXPECTED BEAUTY.

Beauty spots of unusual charm and interest are not hard to find on the campus of Kansas State college. But there are some lovely views and tree-framed vistas, some glamorous sights when lights and shadows mingle and fuse in the setting sun that it may take some time for the beauty-lover to discover.

From your seat in the west wing of the stadium look toward the campus over the top and around the end of the east wing, where you are granted a view of tree tops and towers and portions of the more northly buildings.

If it is a clear fall day, take your eyes off the field for a few moments and look across the top of the east wing, where the green of the tree tops mingles with the darker tones of the roofs and clouds and blue sky—a romantic sight through the turreted top of the stadium. There, too, the tower of Anderson hall shows through, as well as the tops of the taller buildings—the "gym," Calvin hall and Fairchild.

Sweeping the gaze farther north the engineering building peeps around the end of the stadium wing and above it the power plant and tall smoke stacks. Even ugly details of dumped machinery are softened and mellowed.

If you are able to get an "objective" viewpoint of the campus, if you can associate it with more than classrooms and instructors and lessons, you will find real joy in these views that greet the eye so unexpectedly, these lovely little "vignettes" where trees and sky melt into the background of ivy-clad buildings.

Book Review

SHEILA KAYE-SMITH'S WORKS.

reviewed by
 Prof. R. W. Conover.

"Sheila Kaye-Smith portrays character and personality vividly in her novels," said Prof. R. W. Conover in a lecture on the English author Tuesday night at recreation center.

"Miss Kaye-Smith's characters have a mystical appreciation of nature which is the author's own love of the Sussex country in England. Her best works concern clerical heroes and heroines, bringing to attention the condition of the English church in general from the 18th century down to the present time.

"Susan Spray," the September choice of the Book of the Month club, is probably Miss Kaye-Smith's best novel. It is the character sketch of a woman preacher, described from birth. She is a hard woman, and she seldom shows womanly feeling and passion. Her common sense makes her master of herself even when things threaten her life. A strain of humor enters the story when Susan Spray receives a letter from her second husband, whom she thought dead, declaring her a bigamist.

"Sheila Kaye-Smith has no weak characters. Three or four of her novels are excellent studies in personality, and all of her work is readable."

"LIBERTY"

By Everett Dean Martin.

Reviewed by Ruth Wilkerson.

Perhaps there is no other nation in the world so determined to have liberty and no other nation in the world which allows it to be taken from her so easily, as does the United States.

If you don't believe this, take a peek at the political regime that monopolizes government. Take a look at the moral code and the infinite number of "common laws." One is not even free to eat his food with his knife without suffering from the highly organized social disapproval of the average person. But all this is beside the point. Take a good look at Everett Dean Martin's "Liberty," then read a few pages—and you won't stop until you see this "sole possession" of the American people discussed in an unprejudiced, comprehensive manner. The book is written with quiet, unexcited, sane appeal. Mr. Martin discusses liberty from every side. He is philosophic in every respect—but his is a direct appeal that gets to the bottom of the most idle consciousness and starts it quietly to thinking. Mr. Martin diagnoses liberty as a physician would diagnose a case. And the "symptoms" of liberty are worked out in such excellent detail that nearly everyone can find one to apply to himself.

No matter what your misgivings may be—gradual growth of religious intolerance—prohibition—political corruption—mob rule—or communism—you'll find them adequately discussed in "Liberty."—R. W.

— The Snoopers —

Just when everything seems to be all right and the world looks rosy again, those damn pests have to choke the college mail with a lot of flunk slips. Besides being a handicap to the well oiled postal system, these insidious things disturb one's mental equilibrium, to say nothing of the upheaval at the home town when the folks get their carbon copies.

Les Edmonds, sports writer for the Capital in Topeka, hit the nail right on the head when he said what this school needed was a good revolution, which brings echoes of a happily dead ghost—the old "Aggieville News" and its wild-hair ideas.

We are going to raise a howl right here and now about cigarette prices. Twenty cents for 20 cigarettes is just a few cents too much. Any place in Kansas you can get cigarettes for only the regular cost and the tax only. There's just no odds in this paying tribute. No wonder the Chamber of Commerce has to ride its hobbyhorse, "Trade in Manhattan," to try to keep money in town when you can get what you want at a saving out of town.

One of our wandering correspondents dropped into town the other day and said he saw a new machine operated in a show window by a beautiful young thing for the rolling of one's own cigarettes. Simple little contraption it was and it did the work—we have his word for it. Now, he claims, you can roll 20 cigarettes for five cents—use your own brand of tobacco and get just the flavor you want—toasted or with taste.

The first purpose of the organization is to send for one of these machines, try it out, and if it works to ask the manufacturer for some advertising. All charter members will buy the machine and they can roll all the cigarettes they want—twenty of them for a nickel—and we'll show the advertiser we can produce results for him.

Now that calls for an organization—so all youse guys and gals who think we're being hijacked, just write the Snooper about it, and we'll throw the hooks to 'em—what'd'ya say, huh?

Judge For Yourself

Always, there are alumni coaches. "Now if I were running the team...."

Now if I were running the team, I'd have the boys practice twice each day with a ball covered with goose-grease. I'd have them handle that slippery ball until they finally got so they could dig their fingers into that pig-hide and keep it.

If I were running the team, I'd have them play even more spectacular plays. I'd have funny passes and queer formations and I'd play them up to the crowd, the Kansas City Star and the rest of the newspapers. Yes, the newspapers! We could have the best football team in the world—a paragon of football teams, but without the newspapers we wouldn't have 22 cash customers.

If I were running the team, I'd keep it "colorful." I'd build the team around the box-office returns and percentages of gates.

What a football team! Brothers and sisters, you are viewing for the first time a football team that gets full column stories and top-headers in the Kansas City Star, the Kansas City Journal-Post, the Topeka Capital, the Topeka State Journal, the Wichita Beacon, etc., etc.

"The most colorful team in the middle-west," they say. Wow! The newspapers love "color." Fullbacks play tackles except when they play ends or halves. Halfs play fullbacks when they are not playing ends or fullbacks. A brilliant team cock-full of brilliant color.—Q. I. B.

The hill has seemed unusually quiet this year when freshmen have not been required to sound off at the bidding of an upper classman. Gone is that running and yelling between classes by the eager first year man trying to get to his next hour without being bawled out by those higher up. The K fraternity this year has not taken matters into its hands as in former years and has left the rousing of enthusiasm and noise to boosting Friars and sleepy Wampus Cats. The result has been quiet. A rumor floated around Thursday K men were again going to see to it that freshmen were caps, sounded off when told to, and ran when someone said "Scat." Kansas State could stand a little confusion and yelling between classes other than that made in recreation center by the clans.—E. M.

AT THE VARSITY THEATER.

"City Lights." The famous old tramp is staging another batch of mirth at the Varsity theatre this week end in the form of Charlie Chaplin's latest, "City Lights." The show is a scream, but many heart touching moments make the production one of the finest of comedies yet produced by this genius of the slapstick circles. Charlie does all of the comedy in the picture and the more serious part is carried by a beautiful little blind flower girl and her grandmother. The picture is silent as far as talking is concerned. But being silent didn't hurt this picture much, for that little detail was well accounted for in the splendid acting.—J. R.

GAMES TOMORROW DECIDE

If Kansas Beats Nebraska, and Kansas State Takes O. U. for Trimming, the Top
Run Is Near.

The Big Six football season has progressed far enough, to make possible the selection of the possible champions. The games played give an index to the strength of the various teams, although every team has enough tough games left to make the final ranking in the conference uncertain.

At the present time, Kansas State, with two victories, and Nebraska, with one victory, lead the conference. Missouri, Oklahoma, and Kansas have lost one game apiece, and Iowa State has not played a conference tilt yet.

Kansas State On Par.
The present dope indicates that the best teams in the conference are Nebraska, Oklahoma and Kansas State. These teams seem to be on a par, and each might finish first, second, or third. Because Nebraska has defeated Oklahoma, it might indicate the championship lies between the Cornhuskers and the Wildcats.

Of the other three teams in the conference, Kansas seems to be the stronger, with Missouri and Iowa State fighting to keep out of the cellar. Kansas has not hit its stride yet, and has the potential power necessary for a first class team. At Missouri, Gwinn Henry has a big, inexperienced squad that might start clicking any time. Iowa State, who plays its first conference game Saturday, is an unknown quantity. But judging from records in past years, they cannot hope to win more than one or two conference games this year.

Three More Wins Necessary.
In determining Kansas State's chance to win the championship, there are three factors to consider, namely the games with Oklahoma, Iowa State, and Nebraska. If the K-Aggies can defeat Oklahoma and Iowa State, they will probably meet Nebraska for the championship, November 14. The first hurdle the Wildcats have to jump is Oklahoma, who play here tomorrow. This game is considered a toss up, with possibly a slight advantage for the Kansas State men.

Presuming the Staters and Nebraska are undefeated when they meet November 14, neither team will enter the fray as the favorite. "Bo" McMillin will have his team on fighting edge and Nebraska, who long has been the leader in Big Six football, will be thoroughly aroused for the game. And when Nebraska gets aroused, it's a tough team to beat.

If Kansas takes Nebraska for a winner tomorrow in the game at Lincoln, Kansas State will be that much nearer toward the goal.

Cream-Sipping Wildcat Causes Jayhawk Cringe

With a technique worthy of S. S. Van Dine or A. Conan Doyle, a Collegian sleuth has discovered the clue to the scattering of Jayhawk feathers all over the Kansas university stadium last Saturday. It was the cream—24 pints of it. It's just an old agricultural college custom, this scientific feeding of animals.

For the benefit of less successful breeders, Frank Root, of the physical education department, has consented to the publication of the carefully balanced ration, the time, and the method which were used at the last feeding before the Wildcat entered the stadium where the Jayhawk was attacked.

The Wildcat had breakfast at the cafeteria at 8:45 o'clock Saturday morning, almost six hours before the attack. The idea was to let the cat sleep late and at the same time have a sufficiently long period for the digestion of food. The ration was: baked apples, cereal, roast beef, baked potatoes, creamed peas, toast, butter, tea or coffee, and 24 pints of cream.

According to Root there are persons who wonder why milk is not included in the ration. Aside from possible docility resulting, Root offers an explanation. "It is well known in nutritive circles that not all adult animals can handle milk well. The casein coagulates in the digestive tract, causing the animal to become ill when exercising violently or when overheated," he said.

It isn't the food alone nor the time—there is a psychological element to be considered. The Wildcat is sensitive and cleanliness of surroundings and attractiveness of service are not to be neglected.

The splendid condition of the Wildcat and its naturally combative spirit make one expect an equally violent attack on the Oklahoma Sooners tomorrow.

Sport Squibs

Football fans who gather in Memorial stadium Saturday to witness the fourth meeting of Kansas State and Oklahoma university since Bo McMillin took over his duties as head coach here, will undoubtedly witness the most spectacular game of the season.

Although Oklahoma has succeeded in winning the previous games, they have been close in scoring and have been spectacular in that both teams took chances with passes and played the open style of football that appeals to spectators.

The scores in the three previous meetings of the two teams are: 21-35 in 1928, 13-14 in 1929 and 0-7 in 1930, all in favor of Oklahoma.

In meeting Oklahoma in Manhattan Saturday, the Wildcats will be appearing before the home crowd for the first time of the season in a Big Six conference game, and with victories over Kansas and Missouri universities to their credit the Sooners are liable to find plenty of opposition in trying to bring their total victories over McMillin coached teams to four.

Oklahoma lost a game to Nebraska 13-0 early in the season, but scouts who saw the game say there was not that much difference between the teams.

So far this season the K-Aggies have been playing straight orthodox football, but Coach McMillin is noted for trick plays and it is presumed that the boys have been drilled in a few that will be used when necessary.

The few passes used by the Wildcats in games this year indicate that they have one of the most powerful passing attacks in the Big Six conference this fall, and if the Oklahoma men are not able to check Purple passes Saturday it looks like a big day for Kansas State.

Ralph Graham, sophomore fullback star, drove through the Kansas line almost at will last Saturday but he will probably find Oklahoma forward wall far more staunch, judging from the way it held Ernest Koy, Texas' 195-pound All-Southwest fullback, one of the hardest hitters in the South, at Dallas Saturday.

The other important game in the Big Six conference is the Kansas-Nebraska game in Lincoln. The Jayhawks are not conceded much of a chance to beat the Huskers, but if they could it would strengthen Kansas State's chance at the conference championship.

Women's Sports

Twenty-five girls have signed up for the camp counselor course to be given by Barbara Joy, director of Joy camps, Hazelhurst, Wis. The course will begin October 28.

Men's Intramurals

Competition between the fraternity soccer teams this week has been unusually keen. Results of the games show that three of the contests ended with tie scores, and the remainder, with the exception of a 4 to 0 romp which Phi Sigma Kappa staged over the Sigma Alpha Epsilon team, were decided by margins of either one or two points.

Last night Lambda Chi Alpha defeated Pi Kappa Alpha, 2-0. Tuesday night, Kappa Sigma played Tau Kappa Epsilon to a tie, one all, and again last night they succeeded in accounting for only one goal to tie with Sigma Phi Epsilon, 1 to 1, while Lambda Chi Alpha scored a win over Phi Kappa Tau, 2 to 0.

Earlier in the week, Phi Delta Theta won over Beta Pi Epsilon by a score of 2 to 1. Phi Kappa defeated the Aggie Knights by the same margin, 1 to 0, and Phi Kappa played to a scoreless tie with the Sigma Nu aggregation.

Games scheduled for tonight are Phi Lambda Theta vs. Delta Sigma Phi, Alpha Gamma Rho vs. Alpha Tau Omega, and Aggie Knights vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The Phi Lambda Theta, Delta Sigma Phi game and the game between Beta Pi Epsilon and Tau Kappa Epsilon, both of which were scheduled for the first part of this week, have been postponed indefinitely.

WILDCAT TWO-MILERS FACE SOONER TEAM

Don Landon, Topeka, Is Strong Peg
In Coach Haylett's Kansas
State Squad.

With Kansas State winning the two-mile race from Kansas 30 to 25 and Oklahoma losing to Nebraska by the same score, the dope bucket sits in a precarious position. In Warren "Bus" Moore, Oklahoma has one of the outstanding distance runners of the conference and Barrett finished ahead of all Kansas State hurriers at Norman last year. However, Track Coach Ward Haylett is putting great faith in young Don Landon, who has the best time in races run so far this year.

Kansas State men who will be entered are: Don Landon, Topeka; Lawrence Daniels, Halger, Neb.; M. W. Pearce, Miltonvale; M. E. Nixon, Manhattan; C. D. McNeal, Boyle; Lee Toadvine, Dighton, or E. C. Black, Utica.

Oklahoma men are: Captain Warren Moore, Barrett, Dale, Furee, Stroshine, and Peery.

JOURNAL POST WANTS MAN

Imposter Calling Sororities Is Not Representing Kansas City Paper. Calling sororities on the hill, and the editor of the Collegian, Tuesday night, a man giving his name as "Mr. Hutton of the Journal Post," informed those answering the phone that the paper he was representing was sponsoring a beauty contest between Big Six schools. Suspicious of the plan, which was not clear as outlined, the Collegian wired the Journal Post for further information.

The official correspondent for the paper here received the following telegram from the state editor, J. C. Johnson:

"The Journal Post has received word that a man posing as a representative of this newspaper has been soliciting members of the sororities of the Kansas State college in Manhattan, Kansas, in connection with a purported beauty contest. The Journal Post is not sponsoring a beauty contest of any kind. The Journal Post would appreciate prompt information covering the whereabouts of the imposter."

EDMONDS STRESSES UNNECESSARY RULES

Says Students Are Not In College to Learn Rules—Should Revolt.

Unnecessary rules and restrictions on the college life of students were stressed yesterday afternoon when Leslie Edmonds, writer of "Just As It Seems to Me" column in the Topeka Capital, spoke to journalism students in seminar.

Edmonds, a sports writer and referee of the Kansas State-Kansas university game, curiously enough did not talk about sports.

"Get rid of these silly rules and restrictions that they hamper you with," Edmonds said in part. "You aren't up here to learn a lot of little rules. You should have learned those at home. If you haven't been stimulated to think, your college life is a failure. I'd like to see you have a little more freedom and see what some of your ideas are."

Students were cautioned, however, that any change must be made gradually over a period of years.

Edmonds also criticized the excessive sensationalism of modern journalism in matter of crime and scandal. The prediction was made that newspapers in the future will be censored as movies are, if they do not change their tactics.

TEAM LEAVES TOMORROW FOR WEST VIRGINIA

McMILLIN TO TAKE SQUAD OF 24 ON INTERSECTIONAL TRIP
—ROSTER TO BE NAMED.

ALL REGULARS IN CONDITION

Mountaineers Have Won Three Games, Lost Two, in Hard Schedule This Fall—Hard Game Is Expected.

Kansas State's Purple Power house leaves for Morgantown, West Virginia, Wednesday, where it will play an intersectional game with the University of West Virginia next Saturday.

The outcome of Saturday's game with the Mountaineers will give grid dopesters some index as to the relative strength of Kansas State's team. West Virginia has played five games thus far, winning two of them. In the first game of the season, the Mountaineers defeated Duquesne 14 to 6. On the following week end, Forham defeated them 20 to 7. Pittsburgh university romped all over the Mountaineers
October 10, gaining a 34 to 0 victory.
On the following Saturday, the West Virginia aggregation, smarting from their defeat at the hands of Pittsburgh Panthers, turned and blanked the Washington and Lee Generals 10 to 0 before a record crowd at Charleston.
In their game of last week end, the Mountaineers were defeated by Detroit university 9 to 7. This was a night game played in Detroit last Friday.

McMillin Drills Men.
Bo. McMillin spent the entire practice session last night drilling his squad on new plays which he intends to use against West Virginia next Saturday. It was with much difficulty that the practice got under way due to the publicity men that were anxious to get
"shots" of the great K-Aggie aggregation.

Free injuries developed in the O.
U. game last week and it will be a fighting bunch of Wildcats that board the train tomorrow night for Chicago where the McMillinmen will practice Thursday. The Wildcats will continue their trip to Morgantown by the way of Philadelphia, arriving in Morgantown in time for a good practice and a day of rest.

Adolph Hrabka, veteran guard, who was kept from the game last week because of an injured knee,
has fully recovered and will probably be in the starting lineup against the West Virginia team.

Zeckser Nursing Knee.
Walter Zeckser, one-letter guard from Alma, is still nursing his injured knee received in the Kansas university game two weeks ago. Although "Zeck" was not kept from the game last Saturday, the injury slowed him up considerably.

The twenty-four men who will make the trip will be announced tonight after practice. The probable list, however, will include: ends,
Henry Cronkite, Belle Plaine; Dan
Blaine, El Dorado; S. H. Neely, Hopewell; Pete Fairbanks, Topeka;
tackles, Neil Weybrew, Wamego; Melvin Wertzberger, Alma; Alvin Stephenson, Clements; Lloyd Dalton, Garnett.

Guards, Adolph Hrabka, East St.
Louis, Ill.; Walter Zeckser, Alma;
Homer Hanson, Riley; Elden Teter,
El Dorado Center; L. W. Michaels,
Lawrence; Harry Hasler, El Dorado.
Backs, George Wiggins, Lyons;
Ralph Graham, El Dorado; L. K.
Shaffer, Dodge City; Tom Bushby, Belleville; Emmet Breen, El Dorado; Glen Harsh, El Dorado; Ray McMillin, Ft. Worth, Texas; and Elden Auker, Norcat.

INVITE COLLEGE DELEGATE.
Go to President Hoover's Building Conference.

Kansas State has been asked by the United States department of commerce to designate a representative to be sent to President Hoover's conference on home building and home ownership, to be held in Washington, D. C., December 2-5, according to President F. D. Farrell of the college.

The conference is to consider various engineering phases of house construction and equipment, and will be especially interested in methods of reducing home building costs.

Ann Eliza Martin, and W. Pearl
Martin of the extension division drove to Topeka last Friday to attend the funeral services of Dr. W.
McVey.

MUSICAL ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

The College Trio And Others To Present Numbers.

sic of the college. Miss Hilda Gross-mann, contralto, Charles Stratton, pianist, Edwin Seyre, tenor, and the college trio will appear on the program. The trio includes Max Martin, violin; Lyle Downey, cello; and Richard Jensen, piano.

The program will be:

My Joys, Chopin, and Etude in A minor, Op. 25, No. 11, Chopin. Mr.

Hildach, Miss Grossmann and Mr.
Seyre; Trio IV, Opp 11, Theme and will include musical numbers, readings, and dances. The high light of the evening will be the announcing of the woman who received the highest grades during her freshman year last year. Her name will be engraved on the silver plaque hanging in recreation center. Marjorie Pyle, Manhattan, was the first woman to be so recognized by Mortar Board.

Decorations will be in keeping with Halloween. Pumpkins, corn shocks, and witches will transform recreation center into a playground representative of the season's spirit.

Tickets for the dinner should be purchased by Wednesday night.
They will be sold in Anderson hall tomorrow or may be purchased today from members of Mortar Board who are Mary Jo Coteleyou, Barbara Brubaker, Lucile Correll, Galvesta Siever, Daphne Smith, Rachel Lamprecht, Louise Davis, and Mildred Edlin.

LOW ACCEPTS POSITION
H. M. Low, of the electrical engineering department, who has been doing work at the college toward his master's degree, left Saturday for Bartlesville, Okla., to enter the employment of the Phillips Petroleum company.

PARENTS' DAY CELEBRATED BY KANSAS STATE

ATTEND BANQUET IN THOMP-SON HALL WITH SONS AND DAUGHTERS AS CLIMAX.

ELECT BARRIER PRESIDENT

Eureka Man Replaces P. A. Fair-bank of Topeka—Mr. and Mrs.
H. R. Lantz, La Junta, Colo., Win Distance Prize.

Dads and mothers of Kansas State students from over Kansas and adjoining states, who had spent Parents' day on the campus and at the game brought to a climax the day with a banquet in Thompson hall, which they attended with their sons and daughters.

Dr. F. D. Farrell, addressing the parents, expressed appreciation of the high character of the students at K. S. C. and the splendid work they are doing. He said some people may have the idea that the college is a spraying machine, maintaining football teams and athletics to attract the students while education is sprayed on them, but while football and athletics have their place in inspiring the students with the determination to win, courage and pluck and these same characteristics are necessary in all the work in the college.

College Overcame Fests.
Speaking on behalf of the parents, Fred Henney, Hutchinson, said Kansas State college was highly regarded for the service the college and its extension department has been rendering.

"We appreciate what this splendid institution has been doing for agriculture," Mr. Henney said. "We realize how you have combatted and overcome the Hessian fly, the San Jose scale, the wheat weevil, as well as the Missouri Tigers, the Jayhawks, the Sooners, and other pests."

"But the crop that is most valuable is this crop of future citizens, the fine boys and girls whom we have entrusted to the care of this college. And, Doctor Farrell, we have faith that you and your splendid staff of associates here will take care of this crop, and turn it out ready to serve Kansas, and our nation. We are proud of this crop, our boys and girls, who, in the language of the wheat belt grade highest quality, No. 1, dark, hard, 67 pound test, high protein, $3.30 per bushel—Kansas' finest."

Jeanette Moser Toastmistress.
Other numbers on the program
at which Jeanette Moser, Blue Rapids, was toastmistress, were a reading by Katharine George, Buffalo, Okla., and a vocal solo by Carol Moore, Ashland, audition winner.

Prizes presented by M. F. Ahearn, head of the athletic department,
went to Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Lantz, La Junta, Colo., for parents coming the greatest distance, 565 miles;
and for parents having the most children in college to Mr. and Mrs.
George B. Morgan, 1648 Fairchild, who have three children, Muriel,
May, and Lawrence, enrolled here.
No prize was awarded to grandparents having the most grandchildren in college. For organizations having the most representatives
plaques were given to Phi Delta Theta fraternity, Delta Zeta sorority, and Ionia literary society.

P. A. Fairbank, Topeka, retiring president of the Kansas State Parents' association, presided over the business session in which the new officers elected were: Bert Barrier, Eureka, president; Fred Hen-ney, Hutchinson, vice-president;
Jerry Wilson, Manhattan, secretary;
N. E. Seekamp, Mulvane, treasurer,
and W. J. Brown, Fall River, director at large. A recognition was given Mr. Fairbank for his loyal work as president.

INEZ HILL TO CONGRESS Will Represent Women's Pan-Hellenic At National Meet.

Miss Inez Hill, Topeka, will represent the senior women's pan-hellenic of Kansas State at the national pan-hellenic congress which is holding session in St. Louis, Mo., in the Hotel Statler, Thursday to Saturday of this week. Miss Hill is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha.

This is the first year Kansas State pan-hellenic has sent a delegate to the national congress because in the past only alumnae members of sororities were asked to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Regnier, and Miss Laura Wiese of Spearville, spent the week end in Manhattan visiting Earl H. Regnier.

He Leads the "Purple Powerhouse"

A fitting captain of the Kansas State "Powerhouse" is Henry Cronkite, Belle Plaine, Kans. The Kansas State leader weighs 205 pounds and uses this to an advantage at his end position. Last year he was an All-Big Six selection and seems destined for some All-American honors this fall.

Grads Plan Whoopie Party at Morgantown

Friends and alumni of Kansas
State who reside in Morgantown,
W. Va., and vicinity are making preparations for a Halloween party to be held in Morgantown, Saturday, October 31, in honor of "Doc" King, Mike Ahearn, Bo McMillin, and his cohorts. This information was received this week from M. M.
Hoover, '24, and L. M. Pears, '05.

Hoover and Pears assure all Kansans adequate space in the stadium since they have a section of seats on the 50-yard line reserved.
For the information of those who are not up on their dates and holidays, Hoover says "Halloween begins in Morgantown about 2 o'clock in the afternoon and ends the next week when you sober up."

Mike has eliminated all possibility of Kansas State getting their pants locked off as they did last year—he has equipped the team with leather suits.

Since Kansas State defeated K.
U. 13-0, unlucky for K. U., Hoover and Pears think it is probably unlucky for West Virginia also.

In case the banks have taken all your cash, either a knothole or a suit will be furnished so you can witness the game as a player or a knot-hole peeper.

The party is not intended to be a secret and all Kansans, including those from Missouri, are invited to celebrate. Further information will be furnished to any one who will write the committee (Hoover or Pears) in care of the postmaster.

The committee specializes in information on any subject, even the score.

Ruth Jamison, Garrison, spent
the last week end with her brother, Homer Jamison.

Twenty Years Ago Tomorrow Unveiling Of Statue of William Harris Took Place

Tomorrow is an anniversary.
Twenty years ago, on the afternoon of October 28, the statue of William Alexander Harris, which stands north of Fairchild, was unveiled.

In the brisk autumn sunshine a distinguished company witnessed the ceremony. A guard of honored of college cadets, stood in a hollow square about the shaft.
Old friends, social and business associates, old comrades, hundreds of students, and almost all members of the faculty, were present. The college band played "America"
while the company assembled.

In his address Capt. J. G. Waters, president of the college at that time,
said of Senator Harris, "He was a clean man in thought and action."
Mild and suave in expression,
the velvet hid the iron of determination.

William Harris was a versatile man. He served as captain in the confederate army under Stonewall Jackson. He was one of the nation's

HOLD ONE VARSITY A WEEK

Student Council Issues Permit to Blake Wareham; Admission to be One Dollar.

Blake Wareham was issued the varsity permit for the year of 1931-32 by the members of the Student Council at a meeting held last night in the Y. M. C. A. office at the college. The permit calls for varsities to be held once a week, with an admission price of $1.00, a reduction of 25 cents from the amount charged last year.

President F. D. Farrell has requested the Student Council to continue the investigation of the Kansas university painting affair.
Adolph Hrabka, president of the council, said last night no definite clues have been found, but all was being done to find those who defaced the university's property.

Varsity chaperons voted on by the council were those overseeing the dances for the past few years, Prof.
R. F. Gingrich, of the machine design department; and Prof. M. A.
Durland, assistant dean of the engineering division.

T. W. Coberly was appointed Student Council representative to the Campus Chest committee.

TWO STUDENTS IN ACCIDENT

Helen Selwyn and Mort Henderson, students at Kansas State, and Mr. Henderson's father, Henry Henderson were not injured Saturday evening when the car they were driving hit a wagon near Silver Lake. The car was badly damaged.

KLOD AND KERNEL CLUB MEET

Klod and Kernel Klub will meet tonight at 7:30 in Waters hall, room 351. E. W. Johnson, forest nurseryman at Fort Hays experiment station will speak.

"BROADWAY" IN AUDITORIUM THIS WEEK END

FIRST MANHATTAN THEATRE PRODUCTION FRIDAY AND SATURDAY NIGHTS.

VIRGINIA BURCH PLAYS LEAD

Virginia Burch plays lead .....
Winfield Walker Has Leading Male Part—Others Are Captain
William Swift and Mrs.
Jessie Davis.

"Broadway," a melodrama full of action which moves at a rapid pace,
will be presented Friday and Saturday nights, October 30 and 31, in the college auditorium. Under the direction of Prof. H. Miles Heberer, the play will be the first production of the Manhattan Theatre this year.

It arouses constant laughter, has a strong dramatic appeal, is sentimental and humorous, besides having a love scene. The romance has a highly novel setting against the background of gang feuds, cabaret dances and vindictive murders.

The dances were composed and staged by Mrs. Lillian Amos Gros-beck of the Grosbeck school of dancing. The costumes worn by the six chorus girls were designed and executed by the Jo-Clare shop in Aggieville.

A few changes have been made in the cast. Winfield Walker, who has had considerable experience in plays, plays the male lead, having had the lead in "Outward Bound."
"Meet the Wife," and other Manhattan theatre productions. He plays the part of Roy Lane, the ambitious "hooper" in the play. Virginia Burch plays the feminine lead in the part of Billie Moore, girl of the chorus. Miss Burch is new here this year, but has had considerable experience before coming here. Captain William Swift plays the part of Steve Crandall. He had his first experience here last year in "Subway Express." M. D. Oimstead plays the part of Dan Mc-Corn, and will be remembered as having played in "Subway Express," and "Chip, the Miner's Daughter."

He plays the part of a detective and does it splendidly.

Mrs. Jessie Davis plays the part of Lil, the ex-chorus girl. She will be remembered as having played in "Your Uncle Dudley," the summer school play. Katie is being played by Zelma Ballinger. H. Miles Heberer takes the part of Dolph.

The play, written originally by Philip Dunning, found its origin in a series of three articles in a New York newspaper, called "The Night Clubs and Crime." Mr. Dunning knows the Broadway of which he writes. He caught his characters when they were not posing. Things are here, the assassin, the ambitious "hooper," the prima donna,
the Greek proprietor, the chorus girls, the gangsters, and the gun-toting hangers-on.

The box office will open Wednesday, in the auditorium, for sales, or changes in tickets.

PEP MEETING CASUALTY.

Ross Wilcox Is Struck on Head
While Resisting Officers.

Ross Wilcox, Dodge City, chemical engineering student, was injured Friday night in a tussle with police when a number of students attempted to "crash" the Wareham theatre after the pep meeting. The difficulty arose when the Dickinson theatre was filled to capacity with students, and the remainder assaulted the Wareham, which was not offering a free show.

According to student bystanders,
the police attempted to forcibly remove several students from the front of the theatre, and when Wilcox resisted, started taking him to the police station. The crowd followed, and in the scramble, Wilcox received a blow on the head, rendering him senseless. The students then endeavored to remove the prisoner, it is said, from the custody of the officers, who resisted successfully. At the police station, no charges were preferred and Wilcox was released.

PURPLE PEPSTERS GET POINTS
Purple Pepster members are getting points towards W. A. A. Women's Athletic association, by selling Collegians. Marjorie Lyles, Saf-fordville, president of the organization, says each member will receive 10 points for selling a Collegian to a faculty member or student, and 1 point for a signature.

According to H. C. Hofmann, Manhattan, business manager of the Collegian, the girls will probably get a free trip to Washburn
as a reward.

DAIRY JUDGERS COMPETE

Three Students Go To Atlantic City—Contest Yesterday.

The dairy products judging team
from Kansas State which left Thursday for Atlantic City, N. J., competing there yesterday in the Students' National contest in judging dairy products, held in connection with the Dairy Industries exposition there. Students making the trip are K. B. Dusenberry, Anthony;
G. R. Kent, Wakefield, and E. D.
Chilcott, Jewell. Prof. W. H. Martin of the department of dairy husbandry accompanied the team. The winning team will be announced this evening at a banquet following the judging.

Last year the team representing Kansas State college ranked first,
and Ralph F. Germann, Fairview, a member of the team, received one of the six scholarships awarded.

COMMITTEE DISTRIBUTES STUDENT ACTIVITY FUND

Appropriations Made From $25,000
Fund; 72 Per Cent Goes To Athletics.

The distribution of the student activity fund for the current academic year, as proposed by the budget committee and approved by President F. D. Farrell, was announced late last night by Adolph Hrabka, who as president of the Student Council, was appointed on the committee. Appropriations to the various activities were made from a fund of $25,000.

Division of the fund is much the same as that of previous years, with 72 per cent going to athletics. The judging teams were apportioned 9.62 per cent of the fund, while the band and orchestra received 5.93 per cent, debate 4.50 per cent, oratory 1.27 per cent, and glee clubs
1.27 per cent. The remaining portion of the 100 per cent goes to the Student Governing association to be allotted as the members of the Student Council decide.

The apportionment to the women's meat judging team is made with the understanding that the women students are going to Kansas City and Chicago. If they do not go to Chicago, the unused portion of the allotment made to them is to go to the men's meat judging team which goes to Chicago.

Members of the budget committee in addition to Hrabka are: L. A.
Pratt, Manhattan; and W. M.
Myers, Bancroft, student representatives; and R. I. Throckmorton, and H. W. Davis, faculty representatives.

The allotments are as follows:

Activity	Percentage	Amount
Athletics	72.00	$18,000.00
Judging Teams
Stock	4.00	1,000.00
Dairy and Dairy Products	1.73	432.50

ing at Stockdale, visited Mary Beach and others, Saturday and Sunday.

N-I-B-B-L-I-N-G-S

Dr. C. G. Libby, Glen Elder, still preserves a good deal of his youthful enthusiasm, as he never forgets an opportunity to attend a football game at the college, and this was again evidenced by his attendance at the Kansas State-Oklahoma game.

The professors in the press box at the games make up for the cigars they haven't smoked while on the hill. One of the promising track men was outwinded Sunday by his housemother when he trotted home from church at her side.

The varsity Saturday was attended by approximately 300 couples and stags. It was as noisy as it was crowded. Harsh and Auker were still able to track around at the dance in spite of the hard game they played. One of the engineers when filling out an information card, gave his reason for attending Kansas State as good looking women.

"Broadway" is said to have a chorus equal to that found in the metropolis production which includes a street by that name. Bill Guerrant pulled the usual stunt of jerking his coat and vest at the pep meeting Friday night. Whatta bore.

THE COLLEGIAN'S PLATFORM.

1. Name the Campus Drives.
2. Proportional Division Representation in Student Council.
3. More Student Participation in Student Governing Affairs.
4. Varieties Managed by S. G. A. with Proceeds to Go Towards Union Building.
5. Advanced Degrees for Kansas State.

SISTER ANDY GOES WITHOUT.

The student activity fund has been apportioned. And two activities in the public speaking department receive $1,442.50 to carry on the year's work. Probably not more than 50 students are active in these activities. The teams debate colleges and universities far from their native Kansas soil. The returns students at large receive from these debates are indeed small. Orators once a year go to a state or district meeting. They also enter competitive meets with other orators.

Approximately 175 students play in either the band or the orchestra. These two organizations receive 5.92 per cent of the 100 per cent, or in dollars and cents, $37.50 more than that allowed to the forensic activities. The band appears at the national livestock shows in Kansas City each year. At these shows are hundreds of state and national figures who if impressed favorably with the college's band and exhibits, might exert unlimited influence for Kansas State.

The judging teams should rightfully receive a large per cent of the varsity activity fund. However, other teams and organizations at the college prove to be as beneficial to the school as does the agricultural teams, but if they are awarded any funds at all, the money comes from the $1,442.50 allowed the Student Governing Council for miscellaneous expenditures.

The engineering division is not allowed one single cent in this apportionment, although it might figure in the Student Governing association allotment. The veterinary division is not given a penny unless the Student Council sees fit. The home economics division is not allowed any funds for various organizations expenses, unless the council decides differently.

But in the meanwhile, the debaters go on debating, the orators go on orating, and the band plays when it can on the extra $37.50. There is no sense of proportion present.

DOROTHY WHITE WINS SCHOLARSHIP AWARD

Burlington Student Averages 2.88
During Her Freshman and Sophomore Years.

Dorothy White, Burlington, has been awarded a $50 scholarship by Phi Alpha Mu for scholastic excellence during her freshman and sophomore years. Miss White has had a point average of 2.88 plus since she enrolled two years ago.

This is the first time Phi Alpha Mu, which is an honorary organization for women in general science, has offered the prize. The organization expects to continue the custom in order to promote scholarly endeavor among women of the division.

The prize was awarded Miss White at a tea last Thursday at which Dean R. W. Babcock of the division of general science and Miss Helen Block of the English department spoke on various phases of scholastic attainment.

Members of the organization are Barbara Brubaker, Mary Jo Cortel, Margaret Chaney, Marjory Dean, Selma Turner, Dorothy Rayburn, Ethel Wells, all of Manhattan, and Grace Morehouse, Emmett, Idaho. Miss Stella Harris, of the chemistry department, is faculty sponsor.

THIEF STILL AT LARGE.

Man Enters Delta Tau House Saturday Afternoon.
No trace has been found by the local police of the man who entered the Delta Tau house, 1224 Fremont, Saturday afternoon while bating, the orators go on orating, and the band plays when it can on the extra $37.50. There is no sense of proportion present.

LOCAL SAMSONS UNCORK TRICKS.

Last Friday night, students were given a bit of rough treatment by police, when they attempted to take a free show at the Wareham after the pep meeting.

The students were more or less in the wrong, and the police had the right to protect private property, it is conceded. Nevertheless, it is apparent from reports that the officer gave vent somewhat to ill-advised ill temper. Had there been a referee, he would have no doubt been penalized the customary yardage for unnecessary roughness.

Police are necessary in college towns the same as elsewhere, but they should bear in mind that students are not thugs or gangsters yet, and deserve civilized treatment. Colleges are composed almost entirely of people in the highest plains, socially, morally, and intellectually. Kansas State expects its students to act like gentlemen and the students likewise expect to be treated as such.

SHE GROANS AND SHE MOANS.

One of the Collegian's worthwhile platform planks is, name the campus drives. And, incidentally, were some repair work to be done, there would be less drives to name. The ups and downs are so close together produces an increase the distance, and the fact that the ups and downs are so close together produces an effect that is something fierce.

Guenivere groans and creaks as she cautiously picks her way from Kedzie down to Anderson avenue. And not only that, a permanent squeak has been developed—a high soprano one that grates on the nerves. The doors rattle and the fenders flap and the college drives are the fault of it all.

Guenivere is a decrepit Ford of 1928 vintage with 60,000 miles gone under her wheels with never a grumble until the campus drives were encountered. But now the grumble has grown to a roar accompanied by an occasional stubborn refusal to budge.

The Snoopers

Once again the Snoopers have a peeve to lay before whoever will read this column. We advance cautiously because we see no immediate way out of the difficulty ourselves. However, we would have liked to have seen the between-halves stunt the Wampus Cats had all fixed up for Mom's and Pop's approval at the game Saturday. But the two-milers and the band stole the show—and how!

The Cats were all set to give their version of what Dad sent to college and what Dad got back. It was a good stunt we have no doubt. The aged Snoopers have pounded the sidewalks of old Kansas State for many a moon and the Wampus Cats have uncorked some good ones in that time. Who objects to letting the boys show their talent now?

We've hunted the campus over, spread a drag-net around Aggieville, looked under everything including the divans in Rec center, in a vain effort to find the so-called dating bureau said to be in existence at Kansas State by a recent humor publication. We must be getting old—things like that seldom slide past us.

It's a swell idea, this bureau, and we'd give the sleeves out of our vests to find it. The information includes the size of the lady (very important), whether or not she smokes (absolutely necessary for the depressed boys), whether she necks and likes parties (well, it's nice to know).

We hate to be trifled with—and also refuse to end a sentence with a preposition, so it ends here. We rushed madly to answer the phone the other day (the first call we had received in weeks) only to hear someone inquire how to spell 'privilege.' All we could do was tell him to call 113.

members of the fraternity were attending the football game, and secured articles of clothing, a wrist watch, and a suitcase.
Mrs. Albert Dickens, a neighbor, notified the police immediately after she saw a man leaving the house carrying a suitcase, but the local force did not get on the case until 5 o'clock, since the fireman who answered Mrs. Dickens' call, did not inform the police upon their return to the station.

Three suits, a top coat, leather jackets, a wrist watch, and a suitcase are reported to have been among the missing articles. Two of the suits belong to Eugene Ross, Wamego, and the other suit and top coat belong to Alfred Wilson, Wichita.

Harry Brandon is the owner of a missing leather jacket and wrist watch, and the other jacket is the property of Albert Barber, Olathe. H. L. Oakes, an alumnus who has been working at Randolph, is the owner of the suitcase.

At The Theatres

AT THE WAREHAM.

"A Dangerous Affair."

Jack Holt as police lieutenant at a sleepy suburban station, and Ralph Graves as a sleepy reporter bemused the fact that nothing ever happens. Immediately a mystery, two murders, and a pretty blonde (Sally Blane) occur. The regular cob-webbed house, with secret chambers, groping hands make up the rest of the suspense. It isn't a bad show.—J. B.

AT THE DICKINSON.

"Susan Lenox"

(Her Fall and Rise)

The glamorous Garbo is the only actress who can appear alluring with a thick Swedish accent. But as Helga, farm drudge, she flees from a rustic lover to the home of Rodney, (spoken of by feminine movie patrons as "that nice Clark Gable, aren't his dimples just too cute?") As her father and rustic lover come to capture her, Helga flees on a carnival train—and there she falls. For the rest of the picture she and Rodney play tag, ending in a gn-hole in Singapore. We've seen the plot somewhere before.—J. B.

AT THE VARSITY.

"The Common Law."

Morals are the theme of discussion at "Common Law" now showing at the Varsity. The screen version is taken from the novel written by Robert W. Chambers, and if you've read the book, you won't be disappointed in the show. Constance Bennett does her usual bit in making this picture one of more than average quality. The lines are slightly risque. Think maybe you'd like it.—H. V.

ALUMNI VETS ATTEND GAME.
Alumni of the veterinary division who were up to the Oklahoma game were: Dr. C. G. Libby, Dr. Glen Elder, and Dr. Lee A. Scott, T. Cleburne.

To MEN only!

NO NEED to park a "Girls Keep Out" at the top of this advertisement. They'll shy off quick enough when they find out what it's about.

For it's a strictly masculine privilege—solace, satisfaction, retreat, call it what you will—the joy of smoking a pipe!

It's the smoke "for men only," any girl will agree—one of the few rights the women haven't crowded upon. And the only smoke for men, many a thoughtful smoker calls it. For the deep consolation and rare comradeship of a mellow, richly aged pipe are something every man does well to know.

And you taste the rich satisfaction of pipe smoking at its best when you fill up your bowl with Edgeworth. There's a tobacco that's made for a pipe. Cool, dry, slow-burning. Blended of fine, mellow, full-flavored burleys.

You've a rare smoke coming if you've never tried Edgeworth. You will find Edgeworth at your tobacco dealer's. Or send for special free sample packet if you wish. Address Lorus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Virginia.

EDGEWORTH SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive and exclusive eleven process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed and Edgeworth Plug Slice. All sizes, 15¢ packet package to $1.50 pound humid tin.

"None so good as LUCKIES"

"I've tried all cigarettes and there's none so good as LUCKIES. And incidentally I'm careful in my choice of cigarettes. I have to be because of my throat. Put me down as one who always reaches for a LUCKY. It's a real delight to find a Cellophane wrapper that opens without an ice pick."

Jean Harlow

Jean Harlow first set the screen ablaze in "Hell's Angels," the great air film, and she almost stole the show from a fleet of fifty planes. See her "Goldie," a Fox film and Columbia's "Platinum Blonde."

Made of the finest tobaccos—The Cream of many Crops—LUCKY STRIKE alone offers the throat protection of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays—the process that expels certain harsh, biting irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. ## K-AGGIES DOWN O.U. IN MARCH TO BIG SIX TITLE

GAME PACKED WITH THRILLS
AS SOONERS DEFEATED 14-0
BY PURPLE POWERHOUSE.

GOVERNOR'S PARTY ATTENDS

Ralph Graham Adds Another Touchdown to Growing List
—Cronkite Scores on Pass
From Auker.

Kansas State's Purple Powerhouse romped over a strong Oklahoma university team by a score of 14-0 to put another scalp in their belts toward a Big Six conference championship.

Led by "Rambling Ralph" Graham, the K-Aggie eleven drove through the Sooner line from one end of the field to the other with an array of plays that held the crowd breathless. Eldon Auker, triple-threat back, added to the thrills of the game with his passing and end runs.

The most brilliant playing of the game occurred when the K-Aggies took the ball on their own 36-yard line, and in 19 plays put over a touchdown. Graham carried the ball on 13 of these plays. He added another touchdown to his growing string by plunging through the Sooner line for the score.

A pass, Auker to Cronkite, gave the Kansas State team their first touchdown. This play bought the crowd to their feet when Captain Warren, Sooner safety, attempted to knock down the pass. He failed and Cronkite reached up and grabbed the ball on the five yard line. Cronkite then stiff-armed Warren and stumbled across the line for the first score of the game.

Just prior to the starting kickoff, Governor Harry H. Woodring and other members of Pres. F. D. Farrell's party were saluted by a detail from the military department with the 3-inch anti-aircraft gun. President Farrell's party included, in addition to Governor Woodring and his sister, Miss Lita Woodring, Ernest A. Ryan, adjutant of the Kansas department of the American Legion; and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Merriam of Topeka.

TWO-MILERS WIN FROM O.U.

Kansas State Distance Men in Second Win of Season—
Score 36 to 19.

Scoring its second consecutive Big Six conference victory in two starts, the Kansas State two mile team swamped the Oklahoma tracksters by a 36 to 19 score last Saturday.

Coasting into the finish, Captain Moore of Oklahoma broke the tape ahead of Landon, Kansas State, after he had trailed Landon for nearly seven laps. Moore's time was 9:53.6.

The remaining runners finished in the following order: third, Daniels, Kansas State; fourth, Pierce, Kansas State; fifth, Nixon, Kansas State; sixth, Barrett, Oklahoma; seventh, Black, Kansas State; eighth, Dale, Oklahoma; ninth, McNeal, Kansas State; and tenth, Parce, Oklahoma.

Iowa State defeated the University of Missouri 36 to 19 in their dual race at Ames last Saturday.

The two-mile team will compete in a three-way race with Nebraska and Missouri next Saturday, when the Missouri and Nebraska football teams meet at Columbia.

MORE STADIUM PLEDGES IN

No Building Will Take Place This Year—Attempt To Pay Debts And Return Borrowed Money.

Students are still pledging to the stadium fund. Organizations are sending in reports, and a few of them report that the members have pledged 100 per cent, $40 from each student. Dr. J. V. Cortelyou, chairman of the stadium corporation, said that the approximate total sum of pledges could be obtained in a few weeks. The student organizations will continue to solicit pledges from their members for two or three weeks.

Doctor Cortelyou says there will be no work started this year, but that the organization is trying to eliminate the debts and pay back the borrowed money so there would be no increasing interest. A surplus can then be started with which to continue the work.

The labor on the stadium is done by contract, but some student labor is used. In past years students have been employed during the summer.

Compared with stadiums of other colleges, the stadium here ranks with the best, and when finished will seat 25,000 people. The Kansas State stadium is the only one in the Big Six that is not finished. One reason is that the college here is not situated in a large city, and is not close to a large city. Also the number of pledges, other than students, are small.

BASKETBALL MATERIAL LATE

Post Season Football Game Prevents Gridsters from Reporting.

No small amount of inconvenience is going to be caused the Kansas State basketball team in the event that a post-season football game is scheduled. The Kansas State basketball season starts December 11. This will give Charley Corsaut, basketball coach, approximately a week to work on the basketball men who are now out for football.

Corsaut will probably depend in the first few games on some of the men who are practicing now. At present there are five varsity men and nine freshmen reporting for practice. The purpose of this practice is to develop good individual players.

Coach Corsaut is giving the squad extensive practice on fundamentals. Most of the varsity men are sophomores who are good prospects but need experience. The varsity men reporting now are: Andy Skradski, Kansas City, Kans.; letterman; John Bidnick, Kansas City, Kans.; William Pattison, Topeka; Jack Silverwood, Ellsworth; and "Bus" Boyd, Phillipsburg. The last four men were members of last year's freshman team. Men who have been picked on the freshman squad are: Ralph Marshall, Northeast high, Kansas City, Mo.; Frank Groves, Atchison; James Freeland, Trenton, Mo.; Homer Dreier, Kansas City, Kans.; Kenneth Phelps, Manhattan; Max Leek, Great Bend; Lawrence Donat, Norfolk, Nebr.; and Joe Creed, Bartlesville, Okla.

This squad is a tentative one and may be changed somewhat after the football season is over. At present the freshmen are scrimmaging the varsity and are giving them plenty of competition.

As soon as football season is over the basketball men who are playing football will report to Corsaut. Basketball lettermen out for football are: Captain Eldon Auker, Norcatur; Paul Fairbanks, Topeka; Henry Cronkite, Belle Plaine, George Wiggins, Lyons; and Henry Dalton, Garnett. Sophomores who will report for basketball after football season are: Dan Blaine, El Dorado; Emmett Breen, El Dorado; and Homer Hanson, Riley.

Let's talk Straight from the Shoulder

WHAT you want in a cigarette is taste. You want mildness... smoothness... and satisfying pleasure when you smoke.

All right then... get this straight.

CHESTERFIELD pays top prices... yes, and a premium for the ripest, mellowest, sweetest-tasting leaf that grows.

The curing and conditioning is done by specialists... men carefully trained in handling these fine tobaccos.

IN BLENDING, also, Chesterfields are different... Instead of merely mixing the tobaccos together... we cross-blend them. It's like making a new and better-tasting kind of tobacco. That's how we get that Chesterfield flavor. Milder... and a more pleasing aroma.

Cigarette paper? Only the purest that's made is good enough for Chesterfield.

"Yes Sir - Mild yet they Satisfy"

PICK UP a package. Note its clean appearance... free from heavy inks. It's moisture-proof, too.

And three big factories at Richmond, Durham and San Francisco—operating under the strictest sanitary standards—rush them fresh to you.

Good... they've got to be good. Because they're made that way. And most important of all... you can taste this goodness in the cigarette. You can tell it in the smoke.

Light up, Mister! Try Chesterfield.

Let the cigarette do its own talking.

You'll get the whole thrilling story, in just two words... "They Satisfy!"

SHAW'S RECENT PLAY WILL BE REVIEWED

Prof. Ada M. Rice To Give Lecture
Tuesday Night In Recreation Center.

Prof. Ada M. Rice of the department of English will review George Bernard Shaw's recent play, "The Apple Cart" Tuesday, November 3, at 7:30 o'clock in recreation center.

George Bernard Shaw is one of the most talked about authors in the world today. He is a socialist and expresses his ideas freely. In 1926 he won the Nobel prize in literature.

"The fact that 45,000 copies of this play sold the day it came from the press shows the popularity of the author," says Professor Rice.
"It is similar to his other plays in that it is as effective when read as when seen as a play. George Bernard Shaw, himself, classifies 'The Apple Cart' as a political extravaganza."

EXHIBIT HERE NOVEMBER 24.

exhibits will continue each year.

Shots Ring Out; Man Groans; Kappas and A D Piss Scream

"Don't shoot, My God, don't shoot!"
Hearing this cry at about one o'clock Wednesday night, the Kappas and the Alpha Deltis rushed to the windows just in time to witness a real shooting. Five shots rang out and one man fled screaming, pursued by another waving a pistol.
The Kappa house had received a message earlier, supposedly from the police, telling them of two desperate men thought to be in their neighborhood and asking them to phone the station if they saw anyone. The police, however, when summoned, knew nothing of the call or of the two "desperate" men. No one had seen where the men went,
and no trace could be found of them, but the opinion is that it was just "some of the boys" out to have some fun.

SIGMA PHI SIGMA, LOCAL FRAT, TURNS IN CHARTER

Organization Founded in 1923 Disbanded Tuesday; May Reorganize Second Semester.

Sigma Phi Sigma, local fraternity turned in its charter to the college
by telephone to Harold Howe, faculty chairman of student affairs, Tuesday afternoon. This was the final action of the fraternity and marked the disbandment of that organization.

For some time the organization has been operating under a depleted membership and after repeated conferences with Harold Howe,
Prof. F. L. Dudley, faculty advisor; R. W. Kiser, sponsor, and several of the alumni, it was deemed the wisest action to disband and to give up trying to make a go of it under such a heavy handicap.

Sigma Phi Sigma was organized
as a local fraternity at Kansas State in the spring of 1923. Previous to that time it was the Tri L club. It was the first organization to win the intramural challenge trophy. The chapter has occupied consecutive houses at 610 N. 14th
St., 1408 Fairchild, 1404 Fairchild, 307 N. 16th St., and 1521 Leavenworth, where it has been this year and last year. Mrs. Jennie M.
Coles, 1126 Laramie, is the owner of the house.

Mrs. Della O'Brien, Omaha, housemother, returned to the fraternity this year, but left last week before any final action was taken.
The members in the house this year were, Henry W. Allard, Topeka, president; Walter E. Keyser, St.
Mary's, vice-president and secretary; J. L. Baird, Wellsville, manager; and L. H. Hay, Clay Center. C.
O. Aspegren was the only pledge returning from last semester and was to have been initiated this fall.
There were two new pledges to the organization this year. They were Lu Cortis Whitely, Long Island,
and Donovan King, Kansas City, Mo.

Although the organization has disbanded there will still be business carried on by the members of the organization in getting things settled up. Approximately ten old members are coming back to college
the second semester, and reorganization may take place at that time,
Allard said last night.

ALUMNI WRITE FOR GRID RESERVATIONS

Elaborate Plans Under Way to Enertain Grads and Other Homecoming Guests.

Alumni and homecoming guests are already making reservations for the Nebraska-Kansas State football game November 14, says Kenny Ford, secretary of the alumni association. Letters show that the enthusiasm has been aroused and that the guests of the campus for the week end are planning on a good time while they are here.

Th Cornhusker-Wildcat game has the prospect of being the greatest ever played on Ahearn field. The K-Aggies have not lost any games
so far this year and at the present time are leading in the Big Six conference. Other entertainment beside the game, for the graduates who return to visit K. S. C. will be the pep meeting on Friday evening before the game, at the college auditorium. Saturday noon at the cafeteria will be the annual alumni luncheon. Mr. Ford says there will be no speakers or program at the luncheon because on this occasion everyone is too excited to sit still long enough.

Manhattan hosts are looking forward to showing the alumni a good time. Fraternities and sororities are preparing for old grads, parents, and guests from Nebraska.
Fraternity houses will be decorated and a prize given for the one rating first as seen by the judges. The Manhattan business district will share in the gala time too by decorating with colorful windows, school colors, and the welcome flags. All stores will be closed during the game.

The local chapter was organized at Beta Pi Epsilon in 1923 as an

was granted a charter when it presented its petition to Theta Xi at the sixty-seventh annual convention of the national brotherhood
September 3, 4, and 5 in Columbus, Ohio.

Chapters of Theta Xi in the Big Six are located at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, and at the Iowa State college, Ames. Other central chapters are at Iowa university, the University of Colorado, the University of Texas, and Washington university. Theta Xi is one of the older fraternities in America, having been established in 1864 at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y.

There are 32 chapters at the present time distributed over the United States, but the greater portion of them are in the east.

The names of the active members of Beta Pi Epsilon, who will go to St. Louis for initiation into the national fraternity are as follows: D.

HOLD MORTARBOARD DINNER

Aurel Gage Announced as High in Scholarship During Her Freshman Year.

Members of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary organization, held their annual Halloween dinner for Kansas State co-eds last night. Three hundred were served a hot plate dinner. The occasion was for the announcement of the girl with the highest grades in her freshman year. Aurel Gage, Hos-ington, sophomore in general science, had the honor this year, making a score of 2.9.

Marjorie Pyle, Manhattan, was announced last year at the dinner
as the woman with the highest grades during her freshman year.
Miss Pyle's, and Miss Gage's names are engraved on the silver plaque which will hang in recreation center.

A program, planned by Barbara Brubaker, Manhattan, carried out the Halloween idea. Marjorie Pyle, Manhattan, played a violin solo;
a grotesque figure was presented by Carol Moore, Ashland; and a toe dance was given by Nelda Acken-hausen, Kansas City, Mo. Mary Jo Corelyou, Manhattan, president of Mortar Board, explained to the girls
the purpose of the organization.

PRODUCTS TEAM SEVENTH.

Fifteen States Represented in Atlantic City Contest.

The dairy products judging team
from Kansas State, which competed Monday in the Students' National contest in judging dairy products, at Atlantic City, N. J., ranked seventh, according to a telegram received Wednesday morning.
From Prof. W. H. Martin, of the department of dairy husbandry.

The team consisted of K. B. Du-senberry, Anthony; G. R. Kent, Wakefield, and E. D. Chilcott, Jewell.
About fifteen states were represented in the contest. Michigan ranked first, Massachusetts second, Nebraska third, and Vermont fourth. Scholarships went to Iowa, Massachusetts, Ohio, Michigan, Mississippi, and West Virginia.

ganizations are invited to try out ton streets, at open house to be held tonight from 8:30 to 11:30. The new building has just been completed, and is open for public inspection

today.

may do so. Music will be furnished by Paul Waller and his orchestra.

SERVICES FOR ETHEL ARNOLD TO BE TODAY

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF ART
DIES OF HEART'S DISEASE
TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

DEATH COMES AS BLOW

Was Prominent In Various Campus Projects — No Art Classes This Afternoon.

Private funeral services for Miss Ethel Arnold, 34, associate professor of art at the college, will be held at the home of her parents on rural route five at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Public funeral services will follow at the Methodist church at 3:30 o'clock. Burial will be made in the Sunset cemetery.

Miss Arnold died Tuesday afternoon of heart disease in the office of Dr. F. P. Cooney. She fainted and could not be revived by a pulmotor or medical aid.

Received Degree Here.

Miss Arnold received her bachelor of science degree at Kansas State college in 1918, graduated from the French-American School of Costume Design in Los Angeles, and received her master of arts degree at Chicago university. In 1922
she was made an assistant in applied art at this college, and later was instructor, assistant professor, and associate professor. At the time of her death Miss Arnold was acting head and chairman of the department of art committee.

She was interested in journalism and publicity in connection with her art. She was a free lance journalist and has had articles published in Woman's Home Companion, Country Gentleman, Farmer's Life, and McCall's. At the time of her death, she was writing a book entitled "Manual for Teaching Costume Design in High Schools." This it finished would have been her first book.

Active On Campus.

Miss Arnold took part in many activities on the campus and co-operated in every possible way in any organization of which she was a member. She was chairman of the publicity committee for the division of home economics, a member of Quill Club, Alpha Xi Delta, and Pi Kappa Delta, forensic organization, and an honorary member of the Domestic Science club.

Among art workers Miss Arnold held an enviable reputation. At the western convention of the American Federation of Arts held in Kansas City last year, she was one of the principal speakers. She was comparatively young and no doubt would have reached a higher position in her field if death had not overtaken her. In memory of Miss Arnold the department of art will conduct no classes Friday afternoon.

MILITARY BALL DATE SET

Annual Event Will Take Place December 12.
December 12 is the tentative date set for the annual military ball, according to C. M. Rhodes, Newton, chairman of the committee in charge. This will be the first formal of the year which is a change of policy as always before the ball has been held later in the season. Also the admission price will probably be lower than in former years.

Governor Harry Woodring is expected to attend and R.O.T.C. officers from all the Big Six schools have been invited. The honorary officers, a colonel and two majors, will be nominated soon. The ball will probably be held at the Wareham ballroom.

ENGINEERS TAKE OFFICE.

Officers in the Kansas State Engineering association, which has charge of all activities in the engineering division, have been elected. R. C. Hay, Parker, has been named president, P. C. Perry, Little River, vice-president; E. R. Jensen, Herington, secretary; A. R.
Hraba, East St. Louis, Ill., treasurer, and R. C. Rohrdanz, Manhattan, manager of the engineers' open house.

GUY C. CALDWELL TO SPEAK

Guy C. Caldwell, naturalist, will be the speaker in student assembly Wednesday, November 5. The subject of his illustrated lecture will be "Birds, Songs and Flowers."
Caldwell is able to imitate the calls and songs of the birds he studies. The pictures he will show were taken in Colorado and include many excellent examples of plant life.

TO MEET GRIDSTERS.

Although no definite arrangements have been made,
the students of Kansas State are planning to meet the train which brings the Purple horde back from its intersectional football game with the West Virginia Mountaineers, Monday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

According to Ray Spence, head cheer leader, the band and students will go to the train together, prepared to give the boys the royal welcome
they will deserve. Songs, cheers, and talks will be in order.

The reception will probably inconvenience those who have sixth hour classes, but all students who are free to do so are urged to be at the U. P. station.

"BROADWAY" OPENS AT AUDITORIUM TONIGHT

Play Is First Production Of Manhattan Theatre This Year.

Romance amidst gang feuds, cabaret dances, vindictive murders, and underworld action all go to make up the melodrama, "Broadway," which will be presented tonight and tomorrow night in the college auditorium at 8:15 o'clock.

The play is under the direction of Prof. H. Miles Heberer and is the first production of the Manhattan theatre this year.

All the picturesque and expressive language of the underworld characters and nightclub "hoofers" on Broadway is used in the play to make it realistic and colorful. Besides its strong dramatic appeal
"Broadway" is sentimental and humorous and arouses constant laughter.

The chorus of cabaret girls has been trained by the Lillian Amos Groesbeck school of dancing and is said to be a close equal of the genuine choruses in the Broadway night clubs.

The cast is composed of Dan Mc-
Corn, M. D. Olmstead, Manhattan;
Dolph, John Duncan, Manhattan;
Nick Verdis, Martin Keck, Kansas City, Mo.; Joe, Wayne Hook, Manhattan; Maisie Smith, Cora Oliphant, Manhattan; Katie, Selma Balling, Kansas City; Ann, Harriet Swan, Washington; Grace, Erma Jean Miller, Manhattan; Ruby, Miriam Clark, Iowa; Elsie Ruth Rand, Kansas City; Perky Thompson, L. Albert WiWiheim, Arkansas City; Scar Edwards, Lyman M. Hall, Manhattan; Steve Crandall, Captain William Swift, Manhattan;
"Billie" Moore, Virginia Burch, El Dorado; Roy Lane, Winfield Walker, Manhattan; Lil, Mrs. Jessie Davies, Manhattan; gangsters, Kenneth
W. Putney, Manhattan; W. D.
Cowan, Suma, Texas.

The box office opened Wednesday for sale of single or season tickets or for changes which may be made in reservations.

K. U. BAND TO PLAY DANCE

Barney Scofield and his K. U. band, the orchestra that competed with June Layton's in a battle of bands at Lawrence the night after the big game, will be in evidence at the varsity Saturday night at the Wareham ballroom. All members of the band are university students.

The party will be in the form of a Halloween event.

JUDGING TEAM TO ROYAL.

Will Enter Crops Contest in Kansas City Livestock Show.

The crops judging team representing Kansas State college, will compete again this year at the American Royal Crops contest, which will be held in connection with the American Royal Livestock show, November 17, at Kansas City, according to Prof. J. W. Zahnley, of the department of agronomy.

Last year the team placed third at the contest held in Manhattan, and first at Chicago.

SEMINAR FOR ENGINEERS

A seminar for freshman engineering students was held at the auditorium at 4 o'clock, Thursday.

classes after the five minute bell rings:

department.

partment.

gineering department.

Prof. F. C. Fenton, agricultural engineering department.

cine division.

medicine division.

GRIDGRAPH WILL SHOW GAME WITH MOUNTAINEERS

INTERSECTIONAL BATTLE WILL NOT BE BROADCAST OVER RADIO.

SQUAD LEARNS NEW PLAYS

Doyle, Dotson, of West Virginia's Squad of 1930, Still With Team—Look for Plenty of Action.

An afternoon of thrills is to be expected when the Gridgraph presents a play-by-play report of the football game between Kansas State's Purple Powerhouse and the West Virginia Mountaineers. Arrangements have been made by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, to receive full details of the game, which will be telegraphed by Russell Thackrey, journalism instructor, who accompanied the team to Morgantown.

The show will be held in the college auditorium and will start at one o'clock. (2 o'clock Eastern standard time.) An admission charge of twenty-five cents will be made. This game will not be broadcast over the radio.

Workout in Chicago.

The K-Aggies left Wednesday night for Morgantown, arriving in Chicago Thursday morning. There they took time for a work-out on Northwestern university's field. They will arrive at Morgantown in time today for a work-out this afternoon.

THE CITY DADS ARE COMMENDED.

The city commissioners and the mayor are to be commended for their attitude in the recent scrap trouble arising over students attempting to break into the Wareham theatre for a complimentary show, and the taking of one student to the police court. While no charges were filed against the student, who was said to have been disorderly, the commissioners and onlookers felt the student to be in the wrong. However, because they do not believe an officer should use firearms when dealing with students, the commissioners have temporarily suspended the officer involved from service.

Students, when given one free show, should appreciate the favor and not try to take advantage of the occasion by trying to break into another one. Should a similar performance take place during the remainder of the season, the managers of the theaters will no doubt cease to allow students to attend the shows without charge.

THE DAILY KANSAN WHIMPERS.

The Collegian, the University Daily Kansan says, is off its base. And all because it published "repeatedly editorials criticizing, condemning, or ridiculing the University of Kansas." The Kansan insists the Collegian has taken the liberty of prescribing an editorial policy for a "problem of which it is totally ignorant," namely, the athletic support given to the university team.

In spite of what the Kansan says, the Collegian is of the opinion no matter what the problem might be that the university paper is confronting, it should back its team. The university is accustomed to producing winning teams, and when Bill Hargiss' men continue to lose, it is apparently more than the newspaper can tolerate. The sport pages scream at the men, the "ears" cynically remark about "winning charity games," and "moral victories." The Collegian not only regrets but also dislikes to see any newspaper knock the ones who are down and out. It is those men who need encouragement rather than criticism. The Kansan would do well to follow the Collegian's advice, rather than condemn it for even mentioning the editorial policy of the paper.

JUST FOR FUN.

Don't go by the churchyard, the ghosts will be scampering around the tombstones. Beware of the number 13, bad luck will haunt you the rest of your days. There goes a black cat, dodge it quick. The old witch, herself, will fly on her broom stick across the face of the laughing moon. The corn will rustle down the plow marred rows as an old lady tripping down a church aisle. The goblins will frolic on the pumpkin dotted fields. Masqueraded figures will slip around the corner, a grinning Jack o'Lantern lighting their path. It's October 31, and Halloween.

How absurd, how out of place the old superstitions are in this modern, efficient, scientific world which has made its own gods. It is the one uncommercialized reminder of the day when people believed in saints, in fairies, and admitted that they put their faith in charms and superstitions. Halloween is a relic of the middle ages. It isn't logical, but isn't it fun?—R. L.

"BROTHERS OF THE WEST."

reviewed by
A. W. Breen.
"Brothers of the West," recent novel of the 29 year old author Robert Reynolds, was the subject of Prof. A. W. Breen's lecture Tuesday night in recreation center.

"This book is not a picture of how the upper one-half lives nor has it any of the appeal of Kathleen Norris's novels. It simply grows out of the wish fancy of a shut-in man."

Two brothers, heathens, and of Herculean strength are characterized in the days before pioneers. Briefly, the two men steal a woman, placate her lover as servant to them, adopt a boy, and finally marry and settle down in a western neighborhood.

"The last two-thirds of the book is feeble and sketchy. A panorama is so much harder to present than a stationary affair that the author loses out in his story. Except for a few scenes the novel is extremely amateurish with big ideas and rather pretty English. Otherwise there is not a great deal to be said of the book."

— The Snoopers —

We've been snooping again. This time in the Collegian copy before its trip to the composing room. In it we found a "judge for yourself" article bemoaning the fact that 236 frosh have totally disregarded K fraternity's request that the purple and white turbans be purchased.

Immediately we rush forth with our usual solution to knotty problems. We have a sneaking idea that the fraternities are not sufficiently impressing their freshmen that the wearing of the Purple is the best thing for their own welfare.

There is one consolation, however. The old grads who trundle in for the Homecoming game will be longing for a chance to swing the old oaken slab at the trouser seat of the scampering hatless frosh.

A paddle-line from Aggieville to the post-office might turn out to be the feature of the day.

Not only ducks are making their southward trek. Authoritative reports have it that Blake Wareham has ensnared Grant Moore and his Black Devils to dispense varsity tunes in the near future. They, too, are on the wing; leaving frigid Milwaukee for the sunny southern climes.

The intramural cross-country bugbear looms in the offing. Aged and decrepit as we are, it begins to look like we must extend our knobby knees and take off with the thundering herd in Memorial stadium.

Dame Rumor steps in with the warning that precautions will be taken against tricksters who do not choose to run. Old timers recall that the north side of the engineering building was a haven of rest and comfort while the virtuous ones plugged around the three-mile course. Some were not above commandeering passing autos to better their time.

We think the psychic marvel, Prince Zomar, is barking up the wrong tree when he predicts an Iowa State victory over the Purple Horde next week.

Maybe the prince is "nerfs" on that prediction.

We take it upon our humble selves to extend congratulations to C. E. McBride, clever sports editor of the Kansas City Star, for his undivided attention to Elden Auker's gridiron welfare. A most deserving effort to give credit where credit is due.

Judge For Yourself

IF!

As far back as we can remember there has been always before us that biggest little word in the English language. It has been there to haunt us and hold us back, to keep us from going ahead and doing the things that we wanted to do. Who are we to let there be such a bugaboo to our aspirations?

There are 30 men on the Kansas State football squad fighting, working, praying for the Big Six championship this year. They have a wonderful chance—IF, they don't lose a game. IF—they beat Nebraska and Iowa State, and IF—something doesn't happen.

There are 3,000 students wishing for that championship as hard as those 30 boys on the team. There are many thousands of alumni begging the team to win the championship for them, and they will have it, IF the team doesn't let them down.

To those 30 boys fighting so hard for what they want and what they deserve there is no IF. They don't even know that there is such a word. It was dropped from their vocabulary. They have no fear of losing, to them there is no reason why they should lose. They are going to beat Iowa State. They are going to beat Nebraska. They are going to win the Big Six championship.

"Yea-a-a-a-a! Team! Let's go!"—H. A.

TWO-MILERS MEET M. U. AT COLUMBIA TOMORROW

Kansas State Team Leads Big Six Schools with Two Victories, No Defeats—Iowa Second.

Kansas State two-milers will seek their third conference victory when they meet the University of Missouri harriers at Columbia tomorrow. The Kansas State team is now in a tie for first place with Iowa State for the Big Six two-mile leadership.

The race at Columbia will be a triangular affair with the University of Nebraska also competing. The K-Aggie squad will be competing only against Missouri, while the Tigers will be in competition with both the Wildcats and the Cornhuskers.

Those who will make the trip are Captain E. C. Black, Don Landon, L. R. Daniels, M. W. Pearce, M. E. Nixon, C. D. McNeal and Lee Toadwine.

The present standings of the Big Six two-mile teams are: Kansas State, Iowa State, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Oklahoma.

Iowa State meets Oklahoma in the only other scheduled conference two-mile race Saturday.

Sport Squibs

Perhaps you're wondering just what the Purple horde is going to do about the game with West Virginia tomorrow. Kansas State was taken for a ride by the Mountaineers last year, and things like that just have to be avenged.

The principal reason for the Kansas State defeat by the Mountaineers last year seemed to be all psychological. The gang went in and scored a touchdown in the first few minutes of play. . . and then kidded themselves along with "this is going to be like taking candy away from babies" stuff.

Well, they returned to earth at the close of the game, hanging onto the short end of a 19 to 7 score. . . It will be safe to say that their attitude towards the ability of the Mountaineers will be a bit different this year.

If you want some index as to how the game might come out, put these figures down on the table cloth: Detroit university beat West Virginia 9-7 and Iowa State was defeated 20-0 by Detroit. Iowa State beat Missouri 20-0, and Kansas State beat M. U. 20-7. . .

Just for the sake of comparison, put this down for reference: Fordham did things to Drake last Saturday, beating them 46-0, while the best Fordham could do against West Virginia was a 20-7 victory. Drake, you recall, was the outfit Notre Dame humbled early this season, 66-0. . .

Missouri's two-mile team believes in "taking on all comers"—they're going to run Kansas State's two-milers and the University of Nebraska's team at the same time next Saturday. Nebraska is playing Missouri at Columbia at that time.

Dr. F. C. ("Phog") Allen, director of athletics at K. U., in a newsletter from the university, says "we hope and believe that the Kansas State college team will win the 1931 football crown in the Big Six. That will keep the title in the family, as it were, and be a big boost for football as played in the state of Kansas."

Doctor Allen went on to point out that Kansas is the only state to have two schools in the Big Six conference. Well, you know the rest of the argument. Nebraska has about the same number of students as the combined enrolment of K. U. and K. S. C.

"In some of the other states

THE PRINCE ERRS

Prince Zomar, famous mentalist scheduled to appear on the stage of the Wareham theater this week end, must have relatives living in Iowa.

For the past week readers of the Manhattan Mercury and Chronicle have been sending questions to the Prince for his answers, which appear daily in the two papers.

Someone addressed this question to him:

"Who will win the Kansas State-Iowa State football game that is to be played Saturday, November 17?"

And the Prince's answer: "I am sorry that my opinion is not likely to be in your favor, and in that connection, I sincerely hope that I am wrong. Everything points to victory for Iowa State."

Kansas Staters will probably lose their faith in the Prince after that.

which have Big Six conference schools there is no division of the schools into separate institutions such as the university and the agricultural school."

Thanks, Doctor, for your bouquet. We're glad to know that the student body at K. U. and the citizenry of Lawrence feel the same way about it. . . It all serves to show that our sentiments and convictions about the championship are not based entirely on this stuff called loyalty and patriotism. Kansas State knows it has a winning team.

There is some talk about the K-Aggies playing a game on the West Coast next fall. Seems as though U.C.L.A. has November 11 open, and quite by coincidence, Kansas State has no game scheduled for that day. . . Mike Ahearn told reporters Wednesday that he hadn't heard anything about it yet. All the gossip started out on the west coast, anyway.

And while gossiping, did you hear that Dana X. Bible, the Nebraska head coach, has been asked, invited, or requested to coach the "West" team in the annual East-West game.

See you at the Grid-graph game in the auditorium tomorrow. . . P.L.D.

Men's Intramurals

With but ten more days in which to finish their soccer schedule, the intramural teams will begin their final drive for the right to play in the finals sometime after November 9.

Sigma Nu representatives easily defeated Pi Kappa Alpha Monday night, 4-0. In the other game Monday, Lambda Chi Alpha won from M. E. A. C. by a score of 3-0. Friday, Delta Sigma Phi won from Phi Lambda Theta, 2-0, and Alpha Gamma Rho won a closely played game from Alpha Tau Omega 1-0. Phi Lambda Theta lost to Tau Kappa Epsilon Tuesday by a score of 0-1 and Sigma Phi Epsilon and Beta Pi Epsilon played a scoreless tie.

Another no-decision game was played Wednesday by Beta Theta Pi and Phi Kappa who tied with 3 points each. The Aggie Knights won a close one from the Phi Sigma Kappa team by a 1-0 score.

With the tenth round in horse-shoe singles and doubles just finished, the handball schedule only in the fourth round, and with many games on the soccer schedule yet remaining to be played, it is too early to make any attempt to ascertain the standings of the various organizations entered in College Intramurals this year. Last year Kappa Sigma fraternity succeeded in annexing the huge trophy cup which is offered each year.

The intramural cross country race will be run Tuesday, Nov. 3, with the race starting in the Memorial stadium at 4:30 o'clock. The entry list for this event was closed last night. Each organization competing is allowed fifteen entries. Results of this event should count considerably on organization standings.

It is not too late for any junior or senior women to see Miss Saum about enrolling in this course, if it is done immediately.

It pays to look over the wall

The industry that succeeds today is the one that looks outside its own "back-yard" for ways to make itself more valuable.

For many years, Bell System men have been working out ideas to increase the use and usefulness of the telephone. For example, they prepared plans for selling by telephone which helped an insurance man to increase his annual business from $1,000,000 to $5,500,000—a wholesale grocer to enlarge his volume 25% at a big saving in overhead—a soap salesman to sell $6000 worth of goods in one afternoon at a selling cost of less than 1%!

This spirit of cooperation is one reason why the Bell System enjoys so important a place in American business.

INDIAN WHEAT SAMPLES HERE

The department of milling industry at K. S. C. has received 19 samples of wheat from Karachi, India. The samples, which were sent by order of the Indian chief of agriculture, are to be given milling, baking, and chemical tests by the milling industry department to determine their qualities.

Dr. and Mrs. Enos Davies and Lois Elita Davies of Clay Center will be week end guests of Doreen Davies.

APPEAR AT THREE DAY
SESSION.

GOVERNOR'S BALL IN GYM

All Fraternity Members Asked to Dance; Banquets and Receptions Also Part of Entertainment.

Kansas State college and Manhattan will be the scene of one section of the Kansas State Teachers' association meetings, November 5-7.
The governor's ball, a reception and dinner in honor of Governor Harry H. Woodring, will be one of the many attractions for teachers in attendance. This will be the first time a section of the State Teachers' association has met in Manhattan.

Many noted speakers will address
the sessions. President F. D. Farrell, of the college, will give an address of welcome; Tom McNeal, editor of the Kansas Farmer, will speak at one of the general sessions; Governor Woodring will give one of the non-technical speeches; Allen D.
Albert, assistant to the president of the World's Fair association, Chicago, will speak at one of the general sessions; L. A. Pechstein, of the University of Cincinnati, will speak at the general session November 8;
and many other noted speakers
have been obtained to deliver addresses.

Governor's Ball Thursday

The governor's ball will be held Thursday, November 6, in Nichols gymnasium following the program in the auditorium, at which Governor Woodring and Tom McNeal will speak. Everyone will have an opportunity to meet the governor at the ball. Besides the reception and dance, the entertainment will include some numbers by the physical education departments of the college and high school and music
by high school students.

According to an announcement made by the Chamber of Commerce, all fraternities on the hill have been invited to the ball, but they must tag the dance. Women will be admitted on their teachers' association cards.

Alumni of various schools will hold meetings and banquets during the convention. Friday, November 6, there will be a dinner at the cafeteria for University of Chicago alumni. The Kansas university alumni will also hold a luncheon on Friday, at which L. N. Flint, of the Kansas university journalism department, will be the feature speaker.

The Riley county alumni will hold a banquet Friday, for Kansas State alumni attending the meeting. The banquet will be held at the college cafeteria.

Although the Kansas State football team will be in Iowa this week end, M. F. Ahern, director of athletics at the college, has promised a football game between two freshman teams for the entertainment of the teachers. If weather conditions are good, the three Manhattan parks should draw
many of the teachers.

Free transportation has been secured for the teachers by the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce. The Boy Scouts will also assist in making the meeting a success. They will meet the trains and act as guides for the teachers.

Lounging rooms will be available
also. The Parent Teachers' association Woman's club house at Ninth and Poyntz will be open to teachers. Other lounging rooms will be at the Community house, United Telephone company building, junior and senior high schools, and recreation center in Anderson hall at the college.

cine division.

medicine division.

Husband-To-Be Takes Wedding License Touring

The most cautious and foreseeing individual at Kansas State has been found. It seems that one of the members of the dairy products judging team which participated in the contest in Atlantic City, N. J., last week, was so anxious about his coming marriage and its attendant difficulties that he procured his marriage license before he left for the East, one week and four days before it was needed.

He carried that license around in Washington, D. C., took it with him to see all the wonders of the dairy exposition in Atlantic City; and brought it back through Chicago without even having it marred by a bullet hole.

It all ended happily, as a good fairy story should, with the marriage of Keith Dusenbury and Sylvia Isbell on Sunday.

ADD FOOTBALL FILM TO "CAMPUS LIFE" PICTURE

K. U.-Wildcat Game Shown in Connection With Alumni Association Film.

A motion picture film of the Kansas university-Kansas State football game last October 17, has been secured by the Kansas State alumni association. The picture is an addition to the film, "Campus Life," that was made last year on this campus. The picture was taken by Steve Smith of the Hall Stationery company, Topeka.

The new motion film shows play
by play, the entire game with Kansas university this year. There are also closeups of the players, coaches and officials. There are many scenes of the crowd and the stadium here. The cheerleaders are shown in action, both school bands marching and forming letters on the field between halves of the game. The track men are shown, Touchdown II, and the Purple Peppers and Wampus Cats giving yells.

The alumni association obtained
this film to show at alumni meetings over the state. It is also shown in high schools of Kansas by Prof. Lawrence Hall of the educational vocation department of the college, or by the "go to college"
teams that go out every spring.
Both this film and the "Campus Life" film are to be shown at the teachers' meetings this week in Wichita and in Dodge City.

RETURNS TO FACULTY.

Classes of Late Ethel Arnold.
Mrs. Solon Paddelford, Manhattan, will conduct the classes taught by Miss Ethel Arnold, instructor in the department of art, who died suddenly last Tuesday. Dean Margaret Justin of the home economics division has appointed Miss Dorothy Barfoot to serve as chairman of the committee in charge of the art department.

Until her marriage two years ago, Mrs. Paddelford was head of the department of art, and she will now be employed temporarily until permanent arrangements can be made.

NEW BUS SERVICE HERE.

Two buses of five passenger capacity each under the management of A. L. Hedman will be operated over routes similar to those used at present, in the new Manhattan bus service.

The dormitory bus will leave on the hour and half hour from Second and Poyntz. The sunset bus will start at Second and Yuma on quarter of and quarter after the hours. On Sundays the buses will be run from nine o'clock in the morning until one o'clock in the afternoon. On week days the buses will be in operation from 6:30 in the morning until 10:30 at night.
The fare will be ten cents or fifteen cents round trip.

WICHITA TO NATIONAL MEET

partment of architecture has been selected to attend the President's conference on home building and home ownership to be held in Washington, D. C., December 2 to Panhellenic held last night at the Phi Kappa Tau house, members decided to again give a cup for the best decorated house at homecoming.

"The European Corn Borer Situation of 1931," was the subject of a speech given by Prof.
O. A. Dean of the department of entomology before a meeting of the Popenoe Entomological club next day afternoon.

KANSAS STATE POSSESSOR OF NEW DIVISION

FORMER GRADUATE COUNCIL DEPARTMENT CHANGED
AS AID TO STUDENTS.

ACKERT DEAN OF GRADUATES

Marked Increase in Number of Graduate Students in Recent Years—217 Now Enrolled for Further Work.

Kansas State is the possessor of a new division and a new dean due to action of the state board of regents at a recent meeting. The division of graduate study is the official name of the new addition, and Dr. J. E. Ackert will be the new dean at its head. Doctor Ackert's appointment became effective November 1. He now occupies a place on the council of deans along with the deans of the six other college divisions.

The administration of graduate study will not be altered by the new change, however it will place graduate work done here on an equal footing with similar work in other universities and colleges.

Ackert Chairman Since 1923.

Since 1923, Doctor Ackert has been chairman of the graduate council, which has heretofore been in charge of the administration of graduate study. There has been a marked increase in the number of students doing graduate work at Kansas State in the years since Doctor Ackert became chairman of the council. From an enrollment of 192 advanced students in 1923,
the number has increased to the extent that 506 studied the advanced courses during the past college year. Doctor Ackert's duties in his new position will be somewhat the same as before, with the difference of the promotion as to title.

He spent last year in further study of zoology, his major field,
at Cambridge university, Cambridge, England. As professor of zoology and parasitologist of the agricultural experiment station, Doctor Ackert has been connected with Kansas State since 1913.

217 Enrolled Now.

Two hundred and seventeen students are enrolled in graduate work
this semester. Of this number Manhattan leads, with 124; Topeka ranks second with six; Wichita and Junction City four each; Abilene and Hutchinson three each; Westmoreland, Emporia, Hays, Lindsborg, and Bucklin two each. Forty-four towns are represented by one graduate each.

Fifteen states besides Kansas are represented among K. S. C. graduate students: Iowa and Texas have two each; Nebraska, Idaho, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Louisiana,
California, Illinois, Montana, West Virginia, Washington, Utah, and North Dakota are represented by one graduate each.

Kansas State has only three foreign graduate students. Petrus Johannes Serfontein of Tromps-burg, Orange Free State, South Africa, is majoring in poultry nutrition, and Lee Foo Hing and Lily Lee of Hongkong, China, are majoring in child welfare and authentics.

GLIDER CLUB MEETS

To Exhibit Glider in Downtown Section Soon.

The Glider club, student organization for the promotion of aeronautics held a meeting in the engineering building Thursday, October 29. Plans for a membership drive were discussed.

Members of the club had conducted a preliminary canvass for funds last week, and while they met with good response it was decided to discontinue the canvass for the present. Members of the club plan to exhibit their glider
in the downtown district in the near future.

The following are officers in the club: L. A. Gore, Bushong, president; M. W. DeGeer, Lake City,
vice-president; E. E. Reed, Smith Center, secretary, and J. H. Reed, Manhattan, treasurer.

TWO ENTER BEAUX ARTS.

Robert Lockhard, Norton, and Niles Resch, Independence, are the only two architects submitting work to the New York Beaux Arts institute of design. Both are graduate students of architecture. The fee for entrance has been raised from $10 to $15 this year.

Kenneth Harter, El Dorado, was at Wichita Saturday and Sunday.

Dumbbells and Exercises are Popular With Co-eds Trying to Improve 'Figger'

Blame it on the Eugenie hats, the new wasp-waisted dresses and the long skirts if you want—Anyway corrective "gym" has lost its sting!

In the old days when a girl could hide her defects in a loose, baggy dress or what is known as the "Garconna" type frock, the urge to have a correct posture, to be slim
and straight as a Grecian wand, was not so strong.

Today, with a fashion premium on slender waists, swan-like necks, and hipless grace, women students take more interest in the corrective classes.

"And we are stressing the fashion importance of a poor posture on appearance," said Miss Bernice Patterson, instructor in physical education in charge of corrective gymnasium work. "Particularly is this important now, since styles insist that a woman stand straight so that there will be no curves where nature does not want them. It has in a way made our classes easier for what woman does not want to look her best always?"

One hundred of the five hundred freshman girls, ranging from the ages of 17 to 21, who entered Kansas State this fall, were found to have posture defects resulting from bad habits in walking, standing, and sitting. According to Miss Patterson, no structural cases, such as curvature of the spine, conditions

RUSSIAN FORUM SPEAKER

The Five Year Plan Will Be Discussed At Weekly Meeting By Martynoff.

Matvey Vorisovich Martynoff, or Melvin Martin as he is known in America, will be the speaker at the weekly student forum meeting at noon Wednesday. The meeting will be held in Thompson hall. Martynoff has announced his subject to be "The Economic and Social Aspects of the Five Year Plan."

Martynoff is well qualified to speak on the subject since he is a native Russian and was imprisoned in Siberia during the White revolution. He escaped his prison and after fleeing to Japan entered the United States. At the present time he is enrolled at the University of Nebraska in the school of engineering. As soon as he is granted his degree, Martynoff plans to return to his native land and enter the services of the United States of Soviet Russia.

In recounting his life of adventure it was disclosed that his father was an officer in the Imperial army and his uncle a count in the Royal regime. Martynoff had two brothers who were killed with his uncle in the massacres that occurred during the revolt.

Martynoff will be quite busy while in Manhattan. Tonight he will speak at the meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Warcham hotel at 6:30 o'clock. Tomorrow he will appear before the student forum meeting at noon and in the evening before a joint meeting of the Y. M.
C. A., the Y. W. C. A., and the Cosmopolitan club. The latter meeting is to be held at 8 o'clock in room 58
in Calvin hall.

MEAT JUDGERS INSPECTING.

Six Men and Four Women Students on Trip.

Students in meat judging classes
under Prof. D. L. Mackintosh went to Kansas City last night. They will inspect and judge meats in the coolers of the Cudahy packing plant there as practice work in preparation for contests soon.

Boys making the trip are Fred Bowles, Walnut; Fred Helm, Chanute; H. L. Kugler, Abilene; L. B.
Morgan, Manhattan; R. C. Munson, Junction City; L. T. Perkins, and George Washington, Manhattan.

Members of the women's classes,
which will probably stay in Kansas City an extra day to see some of the markets, are Norma Sayre, Ingalls; Lola Simmons, Manhattan; Libbie Smerchek, Garnett; and Eunice Schroeter, Ellinwood.

NAMES OMITTED FROM LIST.

Names of three seniors in the division of home economics were omitted from the list of those elected to Phi Kappa Phi in the Collegian story Friday. They are Emma Francis Shepeke, Narka; Catharine
Eva Zink, Lincoln; and Lyla Sophia Roepeke, Manhattan.

ARCHITECTS MAKE FAVORS

Members of Tau Epsilon Kappa, women's honorary architect's society, are working this week to fill orders just received for party favors and tallies. A meeting will be held some night this week in Calvin hall, although a definite time has not yet been set.

Larry Porter, Jewell, visited at Emporia over the week end.

resulting from rickets in youth, or misshapen bones are treated in the corrective classes of the institution except those recommended by physicians.

Fifty of these one hundred students are enrolled in corrective classes that will meet three times a week for the first semester. The fifty girls are divided into two groups of 25 each with Miss Patterson and four student assistants in charge, making it possible for each girl in the class to receive individual instruction.

Special exercises for correcting individual defects are given to the girls at the beginning of the year and they practice these "religiously"
hoping against hope for miraculous results. If they are really sincere in their desire to improve their posture and acquire better figures the effect is astounding. But, as Miss Patterson says, this is not accomplished unless the desire is great enough to make them practice the correct methods of walking, sitting,
and standing, upon leaving the gymnasium as well as when they are doing class work.

Because the figure must be practically flawless to wear the styles
in evidence today, these girls exercise on making violent attempts to acquire that sylph-like "figger" coveted by the females of this generation.

STUDENT DIRECTORIES OUT

Copies May Be Obtained by Presented Student Activity Books.

Three thousand seven hundred directories of officers, faculty, and students of Kansas State college
are ready to be issued from the office of Dr. A. H. Holtz, Anderson 43. According to Lawrence A.
Pratt, Manhattan, chairman of student directory committee, these directories are available afternoons from 1 to 5 o'clock and free copies may be obtained by presenting a student activity book. This means of identification is used to prevent any individual from procuring more than one copy. The directories will be mailed to all instructors through the college postoffice.

CAMPUS CHEST COMMITTEE MEETS

to Present Appeals Before Deciding Board November 13.

The Campus Chest committee
will again sit in session on Friday, November 13, at 4 o'clock in the Y.

that time interested parties will have an opportunity to present appeals for portions of the annual Campus Chest fund, to be secured in a drive later in the year. The fund is to be devoted to those off-campus charities most needy in the judgment of the committee.

The committee consists of eight prominent faculty members, and nine students, each representing a student organization. Faculty members are: President F. D. Farrell,
Dr. W. H. Andrews, Dr. A. A. Holtz,
Dean Mary P. Van Zile, Miss Jessie
M. Maehrl, Prof. H. T. Hill, Miss
Dorothy McLeod, and Prof. Fred L.
Parrish, who is chairman of the committee. Student members are:
John Jontz, Abilene; H. W. Coorly, Gove; Otto Koontz, Jetmore;

TO OFFER TAX STUDY

Kansas State Cooperates With Others In Giving Lessons.

Kansas State college will cooperate with the state university,
Iowa organizations and Kansas
Chamber of Commerce in offering a state-wide tax study school for Kansas this winter. The economics departments of Kansas State and Kansas university are to prepare a series of ten lessons on taxation
ABC's to be used as texts.

Courses will be available to outside persons who are interested.
These outside courses will be carried on by correspondence.

A committee of five to assist the college heads in preparing and distributing the lessons will be appointed.

FORMER STUDENT PROMOTED.

Beatrice Charlton, graduate in home economics in 1930 and former student stenographer in the office of the registrar, has been placed in charge of the new home information center recently established in Emporia by the Emporia Women's City club in cooperation with the Kansas Electric Power company of Lawrence.

IOWA NEXT FOE FOR POWERFUL PURPLE HORDE

ENTHUSIASTIC CROWD MEETS
K-AGGIE SQUAD ON RETURN FROM EASTERN CONQUEST.

TEAM GETS DEFENSE DRILL

Cyclones Upset Dope Bucket by Defeating Missouri and Oklahoma in Conference Tilt; Grete Their Star.

An enthusiastic group of Kansas State students and supporters greeted the K-Aggie purple horde upon their arrival yesterday in Manhattan from West Virginia.
They sang their song of "Hail, the Conquering Heroes Return."

As far as Coach A. N. ("Bo") McMillin is concerned, Saturday's game is history. His chief worry is mending the flaws in the K-Aggie game, and according to the members of the squad, he can find flaws. Intensive practice sessions will be held tonight and tomorrow night. After tomorrow night's workout, McMillin will announce the roster of the squad to make the journey to Ames for Saturday's game with the Cyclones.

Prepare for Foe.

The K-Aggie squad lost no time yesterday afternoon after their arrival in preparing for their coming game with Iowa State next Saturday. Bo put his charges through a stiff workout against the freshman team last night. He drilled his team intensively in defense, and introduced a few new plays into their repertoire for their battle with the Cyclones.

Kansas State's squad was fortunate in sustaining few injuries
in the game with the Mountaineers.
Ray McMillin, Walter Zeck-ler, Adolph Hrab, and "Rambling Ralph" Graham carried away a few marks of the battle, but nothing so serious as to upset "Bo's" plans for the Iowa game.

Cyclones Perform Well.

Iowa State has shown unexpected offensive power in conference games this season. The Cyclones gave football followers a big surprise when they turned Missouri back by a score of 20-0. This was their first Big Six victory since 1928 and comparatively few fans doped
Iowa State to win.

The Cyclones added another upset in Big Six circles when they were able to win from Oklahoma university last Saturday, 13 to 12.
Iowa State fans are jubilant over the defeat of Missouri and Oklahoma by the Cyclones and are singing their approval of their new coach, George Veenker, who has stirred the Iowans from their lethargy.

Iowa Has Good Material.
Dick Grete, left halfback for the Cyclones, is easily their outstanding offensive threat. He scored two touchdowns against Missouri, in addition to one kick from placement.
Grete tuned a tie into a victory with the Sooners at Norman last Saturday when his try for point was good and gave the Cyclones a one point victory over O. U.

Roger Bowen, quarterback and captain of the Iowa eleven, is also an outstanding man.

GUESTS AT BANQUET.

The Riley County Teachers' association will be host at a banquet
Friday evening from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock to alumni and former students of Kansas State who are attending the teachers' meeting. The banquet will be upstairs in Thompson hall.

The program committee of which Miss Alice Melton is chairman, announces that there will be an informal program of group singing and talks under the direction of Dr.
Howard T. Hill, head of the department of public speaking.

POSTMISTRESS RETURNS.

Nellie May, postmistress of the branch office at Kansas State college, has just returned from Miami, Okla., where she testified in a trial
for the recovery of stamps stolen from the college post office here
two years ago. The robbery occurred in October, 1929, after the Kansas State-Oklahoma university football game. Stamps worth $2,000 were taken.

CALDWELL TO BE SPEAKER.

"Bird, Songs and Wild Flowers" will be the subject of a lecture by Guy C. Caldwell, Estes Park, Colo., in student assembly, Wednesday,
November 4.
Caldwell, a naturalist, specializes in studying birds and flowers of Colorado. He will imitate the calls of birds and show lantern slides to illustrate his lecture.

MEET McMILLINMEN.

When the Kansas State football team stepped off the train at the Union Pacific station yesterday afternoon, a small but enthusiastic crowd, headed by Ray Spence, cheer leader, was there to meet it.
Coach A. N. ("Bo") McMillin and the members of the squad received many congratulations from the students and followers of the Purple team for their splendid showing against the Mountaineers, who incidentally,
were the last team to defeat
the McMILLINMEN.

"DULCY" PRESENTED BY MANHATTAN THEATRE NEXT

Story of "Craziest Woman Ever Born," According to Heberer.

"Dulcy," the second production of the Manhattan theatre, will be presented Friday and Saturday nights, November 20 and 21, at the college auditorium.

"Dulcy," a farce, tells the story of the craziest woman ever born, according to H. Miles Heberer, director. She succeeds in getting herself in many trying predicaments
in attempting to help her husband, who is about to merge with a large business corporation. She doesn't realize her short comings, but keeps the show moving with her brain-lessness. For the week end she brings together a group of her husband's associates, a scenario writer, an aggressive advertising man, and a famous pianist. She has a convict paroled from the county jail
to serve as a butler.

The cast includes: Dulcie, Marjory Allman, Manhattan; Gordon
Smith, Dulcie's husband, Harlan Rhodes, Manhattan; Bill, brother of Dulcie, Ted Skinner, Manhattan;
Mr. Forbes, Ben Markley, Bennington, Manhattan; Angela, Margaret Bacon, Abilene; Vincent Leach,
scenario writer, Merle Burgin,
Coats; Sterrett, advertising man,
Sumner Lyons, Lucas; Henry, ex-convict and butler, John Wallcott; Blain Patterson, Charles Funk, The part of Schuyler Van Dyke, pianist, has not yet been filled.

TRI-K CLUB HOLDS MEET.

The Tri-K club of the agronomy department met Tuesday evening in the east ag building. In a short business meeting the following new men were voted into the organization: Harold Tower, A. Eberwine, Louis Bacon, Harold Simpson, D. H.
Dally, Lee Albion, Hilton Hollenbeck,
Dain Sandlin, Lawrence Reed, E.
A. Ward, Donald Gilmore, Gene
Woodruff, and A. B. Ehlhart.

The club voted to have a hike to Sunset park Sunday evening.

E. W. Johnson, state forest nurseryman and assistant professor of horticulture, talked on "Trees in Western Kansas."

WHEN THE TRAIN PULLS IN—BE THERE!

Kansas State students are not turning out as well as they should to meet the football men when they return from hard fought games. If this small group of students can make a long train trip to some distant point, play the game, and make another long trip home, students here can at least be at the station when the train bearing the squad pulls into the station.

It should not be necessary to notify the students when and where the train will arrive. They should take it upon themselves to find out, and to be there. Of course, if classes interfere, there is reason for their absence. Otherwise there is no reason.

Yesterday the band was minus, while only a comparatively few students were there to shake the football men's hands when they returned from a victorious contest with West Virginia. When the team returns from Iowa State next week, all loyal K-Aggie students should be at the train, ready to cheer when the first glance is caught of the McMillinmen.

GIRLS WILL BE GIRLS.

Girls will be girls and nature will be nature. Nothing can stop them.

Grandmother rubbed red calico on her cheeks mother "tinted" hers with red tissue paper dipped in cologne; daughter colors hers with scented rouge—but they all get painted, if with different brushes.

Grandmother wore a hoop skirt; mother wore a bustle; daughter wears pajamas—but they are all equally deceitful.

Grandmother drove the old gray mare; mother drove the dog cart; daughter drives the flivver—but they are all going somewhere and nothing can stop them.

Grandmother blushed, mother dropped her eyes to the floor; daughter laughs it off—but they all listen when a man starts talking sentimental nonsense.

Grandmother coquetted; mother flirted; daughter pets—but they all get kissed sooner or later.

Grandmother loved only one man; mother one at a time; daughter one right after another—but they all get smitten after some sort of fashion.

Grandmother was proposed to on a moonlight buggy ride; mother was courted on a "bicycle built for two"; daughter in a taxicab—but they all get the same old thrill and the same big disappointment.

Grandmother dropped her eyes and clung to his coat label; mother hung on his arm and trembled; daughter grips him around the neck—but they all do their best to keep him from getting away.

Grandmother called him "my suitor"; mother called him "my fiancé"; daughter calls him "my boy friend"—but they all manage to lead him to the altar in the end.

Grandmother married her husband; mother endured her; daughter divorces hers—but they all get tired now and then.

Grandmother knew how to make a pie; mother knew how to make a dollar go a long way; daughter knows how to make a living—but it all amounts to the same thing when it comes to making a good wife.

Grandmother married her son; mother blessed him; daughter "kiss him along"—but they all know that a man must be managed.

Other times, other manners—but all roads lead to matrimony when a woman drives—Miss Aggie Smith, '31, in the Augusta Gazette.

A SATIRICAL SEARCHLIGHT.

There is a collection of cartoons by Honore Daumier, French artist, on exhibit in the architectural gallery, which is well worth seeing. Beautiful, not in themselves, but in workmanship, these cartoons and caricatures are an echo from the political and social unrest of the middle nineteenth century in France. These cartoons are like a spotlight turned on the petty customs of the day, social, political, diplomatic. It bathes the press, society, the courts, the government, His Majesty, and the human feelings in a searching, satirical light.

Daumier's cartoons were published in French newspapers and magazines. Imprisoned several times by the royal faction for his flaunting advertisement of the pettiness of government political actions, he is now cited by French biographers as a loyal patriot.

It was his fearless belief in the truth of things that caused him to remonstrate so forcibly and pointedly. His activity may be an ideal for any artist, be his tool brush, chisel, even typewriter, because he attempted to show things in their true light. He worked to turn the balance away from the petty, trivial, and unethical, to the true and real.

But an astounding observation is that the very trivialities that Daumier ridiculed in society and politics a hundred years ago, are still here today. It is one phase in which modernity has not progressed.—E.M.

PESSIMISTS TURN OPTIMISTIC.

In order to realize the importance of the screaming headlines which covered some of the Kansas newspapers yesterday predicting "dollar a bushel wheat," consideration should be given to values of other products which will rise and fall accordingly.

Only a few weeks ago the wheat market struck a new low that reflected indirectly upon all livestock, minerals and stocks and bonds that were quoted that day. In other words the wheat price was lower than it had ever been known to be up to the present time, since the market had been quoted. This extended over a period of more than thirty years. Old man depression seemed to be with us.

The rise of the market to 65 cents with a strong prediction of a higher price, as quoted in Chicago, should send a cheerful feeling into our homes. The piles of wheat which were dumped in the fields, and the bins that have been filled, may look like treasure chests. What relief could the Kansas farmers, merchants, and tradesmen look forward to with more pleasure than this?

The reaction which accompanies the high or low of the wheat market will probably reflect a hopeful light in the student's eyes, if he has not received his monthly allowance yet. Maybe there will be an extra five dollars added to the check.—D.T.

— The Snoopers —

Layton's band was a sight to behold at the Pi K A cornjigger not long since. Even staid and dignified June himself evidenced his fear of high water by the rapidity with which his pants fit. Balanced by his cornstalk baton he cut loose on a tap dance that left the jiggers agape. A bull's-eye thrust with the trusty baton at the enlarged stomach of Pewee Brewster brought whinnies of delight from the trumpet of that versatile musician.

We wonder at the advisability of sending invitations to the fraternities for Governor Harry Woodring's ball for the visiting school ma'ams Thursday night. No greater thrill has ever been experienced than to successfully "crash" a party, but these blanket stag bids make the boys a trifle leary.

Somebody is going to get a break, but we can't figure out whether it's going to be the teachers or the "frat fellers."

We rounded a corner in the vicinity of Anderson hall yesterday morning in a flashy sprint to make a first hour and came face to face with a half-grown bovine led by an overalled attendant. In the wake of the pair followed a man with a scoop shovel and another behind a tin wheelbarrow.

Gibbering a foolish message to our feet below we stumbled on to class to spend a feverish hour keeping a paragraph ahead of the professor.

For the second time this year we made a diligent but vain attempt to greet the homecoming Purple Horde. Earnest deliberation on the part of three Pi Phi maids in the purchase of rouge landed us at the station in time to witness the departure of the train.

We envy Max Fockele in his heroic efforts yesterday morning to retrieve a glove from a cavorting flap-eared pup. The Kansas State swimmer executed a perfect Australian crawl with a Trojan kick for a fruitless ten minutes on the lawn of Fairchild hall before getting a firm hold on the mitten.

Home and to bed came two press representatives of the college from the West Virginia gridiron fray, suffering of the fear of speeding automobiles. A miscalculation of time caused their misconnection with the homeward-bound train. A hair raising dash at many miles per hour was necessary to bring the locomotive to heel.

Our idle wonder for this week is this: How far, if placed end to end, would all the bandages and adhesive tape used by football teams reach? Our bet would be that it would be from here to there.

And here is the parting suggestion: How about having a big crowd down at the station Thursday evening to see the team off to Iowa?

"BROADWAY"

reviewed by
The Hofmann.

H. Miles Heberer's choice of "Broadway" to open Manhattan Theatre's fifth season of plays was startlingly different from anything previously produced by that organization. To say that the innovation met with the unanimous approval of the theatre goers that saw it last Friday and Saturday nights would be slightly off tune as would any such broad statement; but the consensus of opinion was favorable.

"Broadway" is the story of the happenings in a back-room of a cabaret in New York. Bootlegging wars, chorus girls, and an ambitious "hooper" made up the argument of the play. The cast showed excellent coaching, seldom seen in local amateur dramatics. Difficult parts were well played by Mrs. Jessie Davis, Winfield Walker, Dennison Olmstead, Captain Swift, Elsie Ruth Rand, and Virginia Bruce.

Honors were stolen by the performance of Mrs. Davis, as she played the part of the ingenue-of-years-long-past who was at once tough, kittenish, and drunk; Captain Swift, as the gangster chief-tain, played the part of the villain to the approval of everyone. Virginia Bruce's portrayal of the young, innocent chorus girl was a match for the finished work of Winfield Walker as her partner in ambition. Dennison Olmstead's characterization of the suave, slow speaking, cocksure detective was far from being ordinary.

Kansas State will do well to watch the future performances of Manhattan Theatre if "Broadway" is to be considered a sample.—R. G. and H. H.

Girls vote for PIPES (for men!)

ASK any girl you know to name her favorite smoke—for men! Ten to one she'll say a pipe!

She's discovered—trust her bright little eyes—that it's the BIG men, on the campus and off, who welcome the mental stimulation and relaxation they get from this real man's smoke.

And if she's very wise in the ways of smokers, she'll go one better than that. She'll tell you the men who know, smoke Edgeworth!

No two ways about it, you do get a doubly satisfying smoke when you fill up your pipe with this famous old blend. It's a happy combination of choice burleys—cut long to give you a cool, slow-burning smoke. And its mellow flavor and rich aromahave made Edgeworth the favorite pipe tobacco on 42 out of 50 campuses.

Help yourself to a pipeful next time someone pulls Edgeworth out of his pocket. Pick up the familiar blue tin yourself at any good tobacco stand. Or for a special free sample packet write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

WITH OLD GOLDS

It's not only good manners to avoid offending others with your smoking. It's good sense. The best way to insure your own enjoyment.

For the same reason that OLD GOLDS do not taint the breath, or discolor the teeth... for that very reason OLD GOLDS are a finer smoke... easier on the throat and more delightful in taste.

Pure tobacco... that sums it up. Sun-ripened tobacco... sweetened by nature herself. Tobacco so good it needs no added flavoring.

If you'll take a dare... and try natural-flavored OLD GOLDS for a day... we predict OLD GOLD will win another life-long friend!

GRAHAM STARS IN OFFENSE

Rain And High Wind Hinder Players In Game On Muddy Field—Breen Scores On Pass From Auker.

The Kansas State purple horde continued on its way to a no-defeat season by defeating West Virginia university at Morgantown last Saturday 19-0.

It was a scrapping bunch of Wildcats that entered the field against the eastern opponents. The rain-soaked field made playing difficult and it was the perfect place kicking by Captain "Hi Henry" Cronkite that first made the encounter a Kansas victory.

In the first quarter Cronkite booted a beautiful kick between the goal posts and repeated the same stunt in the second period to boost the score to 6 to 0.

Breen Scores First.
The first touchdown of the game resulted from a pass, Auker to Breen, in the third quarter. Breen was wide open as he took Auker's pass on the West Virginia ten-yard line and ran the remaining distance for a touchdown. Auker added the extra point by a kick from placement.

The scoring was completed when in the final period, Ralph Graham, fighting sophomore back, tore off consistent gains and shattered the West Virginia line to within six inches of the goal. On one plunge through the center of the Mountaineers' line, he went over for a touchdown. The try for point failed.

Fumbles Were Frequent.
Fumbles were frequent and passes were made uncertain by the rain. Four West Virginia fumbles were recovered by K-Aggie men, Harsh recovering three and Stephenson one.

Only a few injuries were reported

after the game. Although Ralph Graham, sophomore from El Dorado, was taken from the game in the last few minutes of the game it was learned that the injury was not serious.

Walter Zeckser, Alma, guard, received an injured knee in the fracas last Saturday. Zeckser, however, was out to practice last night in the best of condition so he will be ready to go for the Iowa State game.

Three Injured Last Night.
Adolph Hrab, East St. Louis, Ill., received a cut over his left eye, but the injury was not serious.

During practice last night three players were injured. Thomas Bushby, Belleville, received an injured knee and was taken to the doctor. It was not known late last night how bad the injury was but it was not considered serious. On the same play Robert Lang, guard, Denver, Colo., received an injured nose. The nose was not broken as it was feared at the time of the injury.

Russell Smith, Manhattan, was knocked unconscious while making a tackle, but he soon recovered and went to the showers.

Last night "Bo" drilled his men on Iowa State plays and new plays that he intends to spring on the Cyclones this week.

TWO-MILERS WIN FROM M.U.

Kansas State Team Still in Tie With Iowa State for First In Big Six.

By defeating the University of Missouri two-mile team 32 to 23 last Saturday at Columbia, the Kansas State tracksters won their third consecutive Big Six conference victory to remain in a tie with the undefeated Iowa State Cyclones for first place.

Don Landon, an outstanding man on the K-Aggie squad, led the pack to the tape to place first in 10:07.

The runners finished in the following order: Landon, Kansas State, first; E. Dunkin, Missouri, second; Daniels, Kansas State, third; Yates, Missouri, fourth; Wagner, Missouri, fifth; Pearce, Kansas State, sixth; Nixon, Kansas State, seventh; McNeal, Kansas State, eighth; Black, Kansas State, ninth; and Baker, Missouri, tenth.

In the same race, Nebraska also defeated Missouri by a 32 to 23 score. If the K-Aggies had been in competition with the Cornhuskers, tabulations show that they would have come out on the big end of a 30 to 25 score. Iowa State overwhelmed the Oklahoma Sooners 40 to 15 to win their second consecutive conference race at Norman, Saturday.

Saturday the two-mile team will meet Iowa State at Ames. They will leave Thursday evening with the football squad.

CORSAUT TO USE SOPHS IN FIRST CAGE GAME

Seven Basketball Regulars on Football Squad Will Report Late.

A squad composed mainly of inexperienced sophomores will, in all probability, be used in the first basketball games, when the season opens December 11, with a game with the University of Kansas basketball team.

C. W. Corsaut, head basketball coach, is building a skeleton squad, which will be completed by the addition of regular basketball men who are now on the football squad.

Reports have been coming in from other schools concerning basketball practice. The Kansas university basketball team practiced two times a week during October and will practice three times a week during November. On the early season squad, Coach Phog Allen has Bill and Kenneth Johnson and Ted O'Leary, lettermen from last year. In addition to these men he has several fine sophomores who have promise and may develop into varsity players. One of the most promising new men is Harrington, of Wyandotte high school, Kansas City, who was an all-state man in 1930. Allen faces the same problem as Coach Corsaut does with his basketball team. Both coaches have only six days after football season in which to whip their teams into shape.

The Kansas State basketball squad lost one of its men last week through ineligibility. Bill Pattison, who formerly played at Topeka high school and Washburn college, failed to pass the required number of hours last semester and has been dropped from the squad. Johnson, another Topeka boy, reported the last of the week and has been playing at forward in practice.

For the rest of the pre-season practice, Corsaut has scrimmage planned. He will practice the freshmen against the varsity. Members of the varsity team, until the football season is over, are Stradski, Silverwood, Johnson, and Boyd. Freshmen who have been giving them workouts are Marshall, Frieland, Hutchinson, Creed, and Phelps. These men will get most of the coach's attention until Captain Auker, Fairbank, Wiggins, Cronkite, Dalton, Graham, and Breen report for basketball. Then there will be a merry battle for positions, with the bare possibility that one or two sophomores might make the team as a regular.

Sport Squibs

Now that Kansas State's purple horde has added the scalp of another victim to its belt, "Bo" has turned his attention to tuning up the Kansas State scoring machine in preparation for Iowa State's Cyclones.

The Iowans have furnished the Big Six circle with a pair of surprises by kicking over the dope bucket. They beat Missouri 20-0 and pulled the Oklahoma game out of the fire with a one-point margin, defeating the Sooners 13-12.

Predicting the outcome of Saturday's game by using Missouri as a standard, the K-Aggies will have a tough time, for Iowa didn't allow the Tigers to score. But to offset that prediction, there is the Oklahoma game to base your predictions on. Oklahoma scored two touchdowns against the Cyclones, while the McMullinmen held the Sooners scoreless.

Someone will have to appoint "Light-Horse" Harry Hasler as Pete's chaperon on future trips.

A bit of originality was shown by a cartoonist for the Kansas City Star in the "Highlights of Sport" strip last Sunday. Did you see the way in which he illustrated the K-Aggie victory over the Mountaineers? It was really clever.

All because the brakeman on the Union Pacific wasn't of the old-fashioned type and neglected to call out "Don't Forget Your Hats and Baggage." Pete Fairbank is minus some wearing apparel. In the rush to get off the train yesterday afternoon, Pete forgot a package on the baggage rack.

Kansas State's undefeated two-mile team meets the Cyclone two-milers, who are also undefeated, next Saturday between halves of the game. This race should be a good one, with both teams fighting to maintain the lead in the Big Six.

FOR BIG SIX CHAMPIONSHIP
IF THEY WIN TOMORROW.

GRIDGRAPH TO SHOW GAME

Cyclones, Under New Coach, Awake
From Past Season Lethargy To Defeat Oklahoma
and Missouri.

After four intensive practice sessions, Kansas State's purple horde left yesterday afternoon for Ames, Iowa, where they will meet the Iowa State Cyclones in a Big Six conference game tomorrow.

The team was given a rousing send-off by an enthusiastic group of students and followers as they left for Iowa at 5:30 o'clock.

Kansas State students and supporters will again be able to see the K-Aggies in action on the grid-graph. The game will be presented play-by-play on this electrically operated device in the college auditorium, starting at 2 o'clock. An admission charge of 25 cents will be made.

The only radio station broadcasting the game will be WOI, Ames. This is a small station, and radio fans are doubtful of the quality of reception from this station in the daytime, with more powerful stations on the air.

Iowa Surprises Big Six

Largely because of their poor showing during the past three seasons, the Iowans were regarded early this year as a comparatively weak aggregation. In their two conference games this season, they have proven to be a big stumbling block for other teams and have succeeded in surprising football followers in the conference by defeating Missouri 20 to 0, and turning back Oklahoma university 13 to 12. George Veenker, the new coach at Iowa State, revived football at that school and has also earned the respect for his brand of football by other coaches in the Big Six conference.

Practice this week by the K-Aggies consisted mainly of defense drill against Iowa State plays. A few new plays were added to the assortment already in use by the Kansas State team.

Graham Stays at Home. Ralph Graham, plunging fullback in the purple powerhouse, did not make the trip. Rather than to risk re-injuring Graham's knee, Coach McMillin is allowing Graham a (Continued on Page Four)

FRATERNITIES TO DECORATE HOUSES

Men's Organizations Will Enter Annual Competition For Homecoming Contest Next Week.

Fraternity houses at Kansas State will vie with each other next week to determine which house has the best decorative ability. "Welcome" signs and other decorations used for homecoming will be set up or new ones built.

Senior Men's Panhellenic council decided at its last meeting that each fraternity will be allowed to spend but $15. Since the labor is exacted from fraternity members, this sum should be sufficient to decorate as well as in previous years.

Judges will be picked from the faculty and Friday, November 16, between 4 and 6 o'clock, they will select the house which is decorated best in their opinion.

Last year, Sigma Phi Epsilon won first place and Phi Sigma Kappa second.

ARTISTS SEND PRINTS.

The Prairie Print Makers are sending a group of prints to the architects' department to be exhibited some time after the first of the year, according to Prof. John Helm, Jr., of the architects' department. C. A. Seward, Wichita, is secretary of the Prairie Print Makers.

The Black List

The following instructors hold classes after the five minute bell rings:

Prof. F. C. Fenton, agricultural engineering department.

Prof. H. F. Lienhardt, veterinary medicine division.

Dr. W. E. Jennings, veterinary medicine division.

MEET GRIDSTERS SUNDAY.

When Bo McMillin and his Purple horde step off the train Sunday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock at the Union Pacific station, every student should be on hand to greet them.

Members of the band will be toward giving the squad an enthusiastic reception.

The squad is carrying the biggest burden in this fight for the conference championship and it is only fair that the students contribute their support to show the team their efforts are appreciated.

CHEMISTRY CLUB ELECTS.

The Chemistry club, a student organization sponsored by the chemistry department, has elected the following officers for the current year: F. S. Martin, Manhattan, president; Edith Thummel, Washington, D. C., vice-president; and E. G. Kelly, Manhattan, secretary-treasurer.

MILITARY BALL TO OPEN WINTER PARTY SEASON

Committees Named To Take Charge Of Function—Honorary Cadet Officers To Be Elected.

Plans were made for the military ball to be held December 12, at a meeting of advanced military students Monday evening in Nichols gymnasium. A committee consisting of all field officers and captains will have charge of the ball, although it is likely that other advanced course men will serve on some of the six sub-committees which have been appointed to look after various preparations for the dance.

This year, for the first time, the military ball will be the official opening of the formal season, and it is hoped that in the future this policy can be continued. Many other colleges and universities open an official formal season with a similar all-school party.

The military ball is sponsored and planned by the cadet corps for the school as a whole, and not for the military department alone. In the past some misunderstanding has existed upon this point, probably for the reason that students may attend the party either in their military uniforms, or in formal dress. The military ball is the only party existing at present which was originally conceived as an all-school party.

The girls who become honorary cadet officers will probably be nominated and elected as in the past, although the matter has not been officially passed upon yet. In previous years, ten nominees have been selected by ballot of advanced officers only. The entire cadet corps votes upon these nominees, each cadet voting for four co-eds. Of the girls receiving the greatest number of votes becomes honorary cadet colonel, and the three next highest candidates become honorary cadet majors.

Results of the balloting will be kept secret until the night of the ball, when the newly elected officers will be announced.

Members of the committees in charge of preparation for the dance are: decorations, L. O. Stafford, Republic; W. H. Hemker, Great Bend; and J. C. Fickel, Manhattan. Advertising and ticket sales—A. J. Koster, L. A. Pratt, M. A. Wickham, and D. D. Berry, all of Manhattan. Orchestra and hall—M. W. Allen, Manhattan; and D. E. West, Hartford.

Favors and programs—Milton Ehrlich, Marion; Z. E. Wyant, Topeka; and E. C. Black, Ulica.

Invitations and miscellaneous correspondence—G. M. Donahue, Oden; W. S. Hornsby, Jr., Manhattan. Program and procedure—W. N. Tomlinson, Garfield; and J. D. George, Mulberry.

BUSY WEEK END PLANNED FOR COLLEGE ALUMNI

HOMEcoming GAME WITH NEBRASKA WILL BE MAJOR EVENT.

BANQUET SATURDAY NOON

Open House Will Be Held For Graduates In Recreation Center Friday Night After The Pep Meeting.

Old grads returning to alma mater for the homecoming game with Nebraska on November 14 will take possession of the campus next week end.

There will be an open house for all alumni on Friday evening, November 13, in recreation center, with the Riley County Alumni association in charge. This meeting will not start until after the pep meeting in the auditorium. Alumni will register at the open house and Saturday morning in recreation center.

The annual banquet for the alumni will be held at noon, November 14, in the college cafeteria, prior to the game. The committee in charge has made special plans for the event, to start promptly at 12:10 o'clock and close at 1:00 o'clock so all may get to the stadium without delay. There will be no speakers on the program, but the Wampus cats and the head cheerleader, Ray Spence, Fairbury, Neb., will be present to arouse spirit.

Dr. J. T. Willard and "Mike" Ahearn are to join the members of the committee in welcoming the alumni. Those on the committee are: George A. Dean, chairman, H. H. Haymaker, Mrs. Katherine Hess, H. P. Davidson, and Kenneth R. Chappell.

In previous years 300 alumni have attended the luncheon, but around 450 are expected to be present this year.

SORORITY HOUSE RULES CHANGED

Presidents and Representatives Meet With Dean Van Zile Tuesday To Make Revisions.

Sorority presidents and one representative from each of the organized houses met with Dean Mary P. Van Zile Tuesday afternoon in Anderson 51 to discuss chapter house rules.

Several revisions of the old rules were made. Any woman student taking a semester privilege, two of which are allowed, can stay out an hour after the function providing it lasts no longer than 12 o'clock. No definite time was stated last year. On Friday and Saturday nights the doors of sorority houses will close at one o'clock instead of an hour after the function as previously required. This year students are allowed only one mid-week party show as compared to an indefinite number allowed last year.

Robert Jack, Russell, and Helen Teichgraber, Marquette, were appointed on a committee concerning house mothers' entertainment.

A list of the new rules will be sent to the various houses soon.

INTER-SOCIETY MIXER SOON

Change Date Of Function To November 20.

Members of the inter-society council have changed the date of the annual mixer to be held in recreation center, to November 20, instead of November 21 as previously announced. The following members have been placed in charge of the committees.

Refreshments, Alleen Rundle, Clay Center; Lois Windiate, Nickerson Hall and orchestra, Franklin Thackrey, Manhattan; Myron D. Geer, Lake City. Tickets, Frank Freeman, Kirwin.

Inter-society debate captains will meet Monday to decide the question for inter-society debate.

Paul Waller and his orchestra will play for the mixer.

McFILLIN IN CAR WRECK.

A model A Ford driven by Willard McFillin, Manhattan, junior in agricultural engineering, collided with a Chevrolet sedan driven by Ruth Rockey, Manhattan, at the intersection of Laramie and N. Eleventh streets shortly before noon Wednesday. The Rockey car was turned completely over on its side by the impact of the collision. None of the occupants of either car was hurt.

HOST TO TEACHERS LAST NIGHT

Governor Harry H. Woodring, speaker at last night's teachers' meeting in the college auditorium, and later host of the teachers at a ball held in Nichols gymnasium. Governor Woodring stood in the receiving line until the social function was over, meeting all visiting teachers and others in attendance.

FIVE YEAR PLAN DISCUSSED

Young Russian Tells Of Native Country At Student Forum Wednesday.

New light was thrown upon conditions in Russia by Matvey Martynoff in a speech on "The Economic and Social Aspects of the Five Year Plan" at student forum Wednesday noon. Martynoff is a native Russian and has experienced imprisonment in China and Siberia, among other adventures. He is now a student of engineering at the University of Nebraska, and plans to return to Russia when he is graduated.

Martynoff's speech was primarily a plea to the United States to co-operate with Russia in her attempt to stabilize Russian industry and develop her social standards. In justification of his plea, Martynoff outlined briefly the economic, social, and religious systems employed by the Communistic government there. "The Five Year Plan, if successful, will be enough to convince the world of the advantages of Sovietism," Russia, he stated, only desires to establish itself on a friendly competitive basis with the United States. To the charges of "dumping" by the Soviet, he replied that they were wholly without foundation since the imports from United States last year were four times greater than the exports.

Martynoff outlined the growth of the Soviet government since 1917, showing that the population as a whole has benefited from the change. Illiteracy has been reduced from 77 per cent to 22 per cent in five years, according to Martynoff. In defense of the religious policy he stated that all the ideals of Christianity were imbedded in Communism. Under the new system the Orthodox has merely been made to join hands with cultural attempts and put in a place where new sciences will reach the people.

"In Russia every one must work, the women as well as the men," he said.

"The success of the Five Year Plan is a step to teach the next generation unselfishness, and to avoid capitalism," he said in conclusion.

W. A. A. SELECTS DELEGATES

The Women's Athletic association met last night in the women's gymnasium. Carol Moore, Ashland, was elected dance manager in place of Julianna Amos, Manhattan, who is not in school this semester. Royal Purple Has Reduced Price Of Representation In Class Sections To $2.50.

Charges for picture insertions in the 1932 Royal Purple will be reduced to $2.50 this year for freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, according to James Chapman, Manhattan, editor of the 1932 yearbook. A charge of fifty cents will be made for extra pictures.

The 1932 Royal Purple book sales contest will begin Monday, November 9, at 12 o'clock noon. Heads of fraternal organizations, Van Zile hall, and clubs, have all evinced interest in the new plan of giving recognition in the 1932 Royal Purple; all organizations are expected to enter the contest, which is open to any organization or any individual who wishes to sell books and nominate candidates for the contest.

Pictures of the outstanding students in each department will be placed in the division of the Royal Purple devoted to that section. The purpose of the sales contest is to secure nominees for the outstanding people.

The smoker is intended to acquaint freshman and sophomore members with faculty members and upperclassmen.

Besides alumni and faculty members of Sigma Delta Chi, invitations have been sent to Dr. J. T. Willard, Dr. R. W. Babcock, Bo McMillin, and Charles W. Corsaut.

SCIENCE FACULTY MEETS

Vote To Dismiss Classes Promptly At Ten Minute Bell.

The division of general science faculty, at a meeting November 3, passed a recommendation vote that class periods should be 50 minutes long with 10 minute intermission periods; in other words, classes be dismissed at the first bell, not the second.

Dean R. W. Babcock of the division presented the vote to President F. D. Farrell, but nothing further has been done. The general science division is the only one of the six divisions that has taken any action for the longer intermission period.

Clyde Lewis and A. L. Baker will spend the week end at their homes in Topeka. They plan to purchase a car Saturday.

GOVERNOR'S BALL LAST NIGHT IS MAJOR SOCIAL EVENT OF TEACHERS MEET

ABOUT 2,500 ATTEND FUNCTION IN NICHOLS GYMNASIUM; GENERAL SESSIONS AND ROUND TABLES CONTINUE TODAY AND TOMORROW.

CAMPUS OVERFLOWS WITH LEARNED GUESTS

President and Mrs. F. D. Farrell and Other College Faculty Members Stand in Receiving Line and Assist at Ball; City Turns Churches and Civic Buildings Over for Conferences.

Governor Harry H. Woodring was speaker and host at two functions held last night for state teachers here attending the Kansas State Teachers' association conference being held in Manhattan this week end. Governor Woodring made a short talk in the auditorium at the third general session of the conference, and later in the evening entertained the teachers, their guests, and others at a ball in Nichols gymnasium. Approximately 2,500 attended the ball.

Standing in the receiving line at the gymnasium with Governor Woodring were President and Mrs. F. D. Farrell; Mayor and Mrs. Evan Griffith of Manhattan; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sheffer, Manhattan; and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Wallace, Topeka. Sheffer is superintendent of the Manhattan city schools and Wallace is vice president of the teachers' association. He presided over the third general session of the conference last night in the auditorium at which Dean L. A. Pechstein, University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, Ohio, spoke on "Dealing Fairly with Children."

TEACHERS' ALUMNI BANQUET TONIGHT

Affair to Be Held in Thompson Hall From 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock.

Charles, extension division, alumni office, library, and the junior and senior high schools. Tickets are 75 cents, and the banquet will be tonight from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock in Thompson hall.

The following program has been announced by Miss Alice Melton, chairman of the program committee: greeting by college officials; violin solo by Prof. Max Martin of the department of music; selection by Marjorie Pyle, violin, Marjorie Fitch, cello, and Clara Jean Martin, piano; group singing led by Mr. and Mrs. T. O. McClung. Dr. H. T. Hill, of the department of public speaking, has charge of the program.

Vernie Clansen, 31, Alton and Alton and Nina Edelblute, 31, Stony Point, are spending this week end with Mary Beach, Edwardsville, and Elda Clausen, Alton.

N-I-B-B-L-I-N-G-S

Jean Scheel, man journalism student, received a bid to the Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism organization, party, held the other night. His name led those sending invitations to believe he was a girl. After a glance at the teachers here attending conferences, fraternity members decided to go to the governor's ball after all, despite their doubts earlier in the week when they were misled complimentary invitations. If Americans could be as enthusiastic when discussing their native country as the young Russian was who spoke before students at the weekly forum Wednesday, the sight of the flag would probably arouse cheers. Glen Harsh just before departing for Iowa State yesterday, was busy opening up his fan mail which Sally Shafer, peering over his shoulder, insisted started, "Dear Glen," and ended with "sincerely yours." Mickey Evans, former miniature Kansas State football player, looked like a subject for Ripley's believe it or not, when he stood beside Lloyd Michael, six foot two inch center, at the station yesterday. The freshman football coaches had a difficult time trying to get their charges out for scrimmage Thursday evening. They all wanted to watch the high school girls practice the dances they were going to give at the governor's ball in the evening.

HORT CLUB MEETS.

The Horticulture club met Tuesday, November 3 and decided to postpone their football game with the Tri-K club until after football season is over so that proper equipment may be secured. Hogland, Miller; and Margaret Knerr, Manhattan.

POULTRY JUDGES TRY OUT.

TRACK TRAINING SEASON MAY END.

Dean R. W. Babcock and his general science faculty made a move in the right direction Tuesday when they voted favorably on a recommendation to be sent to the president that all classes be dismissed at ten minutes to the hour rather than at five minutes. For years Kansas State students have been vainly trying to run from the agricultural buildings to Nichols gymnasium or vice versa in five minutes, and be ready to answer roll call at the next hour class. They, of course, have never achieved the impossible.

In high schools or small colleges where all classes are held in one or two buildings, the five minutes allowed for the passing of classes is adequate. But in a college with as wide spread campus as is found at Kansas State, five minutes is not enough time to get from one building to the other. It takes practically that amount of time for a student to pass through the congested area in Anderson.

Should the suggestion of the general science faculty be accepted, the Collegian suggests the bells in the various buildings be adjusted so they may be heard in every room, and that they ring at 15 minutes to the hour, as a warning to the professors that only five minutes is left of the period.

Students may cease to train for track.

DECORATE FOR HOMECOMING.

Several of the organizations on the hill are going to come up lacking next week when other houses plan and carry out their decorating ideas for homecoming. At present, only a small amount of consideration and time has been spent upon the plans by some fraternities.

When alumni and other visitors come to Kansas State for the Wildcat-Cornhusker clash, they will expect to see their respective houses gala with banners, and lights, and other decorations. They will be proud to point out the house to the wife, and tell her of all the work and thought that lies behind those decorations. In former years, the fraternities almost outdid themselves in trying to make their ornamentation excel that of the other chapters. Miniature Wildcat camps, huge animals representing the mascots of the Big Six teams, made over the exteriors of the houses.

Kansas State fraternities would do well to start formulating plans and then carry them out. Their efforts of course will be rewarded by the presentation of a cup to the winner.

FOUND WANTING.

"Modern college students dodge responsibility," says the business man tersely.

"College students do not know how to think," emphatically states the philosopher.

"Young people are not prepared for life," sorrowfully remarks the serious minded realist.

"Joe College should have flunked in logic," says the college professor.

If Joe College suddenly became really responsible and thought about life in a logical manner, he would probably give it up as a bad job and take one head long plunge to the damnation bow-wows, for these accusations are true. But it isn't entirely the student's fault that he is found wanting.

The world forgets that the college student is a victim of his circumstances, that for four years he has been told when to go to class, when to come home from a party, when to have callers, what subjects to take, and how to study them. Students do not need to think in college, if controversial questions are raised in class the instructor faithfully steers around them, the chaparones see that they behave as they should, and the assembly speakers are always on the right side of their subjects. It is no wonder college graduates flounder in life.

Colleges are failing their students by doing too much for them. A vote of confidence to the students from the college authorities would be repaid to the world which is asking the college graduate, "What are you going to do for me?"—R.L.

Judge For Yourself

Editor's Note: This column is open to any and all students and faculty members who care to express themselves in print, concerning any matter of student interest. Anything will be accepted with the exception of obscene, or otherwise objectionable matter. Copy must be accompanied with a full signature, but upon request only initials will be used in the Collegian.

One of the most useful organizations on the hill and one that receives the least credit for the work that they give is the band. Sixty per cent of the personnel of the band gives its time and service free to entertain the rest of the student body when such entertainment is needed. Yet for one seeming lapse of loyalty, the band is roundly criticized. An investigation was deemed unnecessary before it was tried and convicted of a lack of school spirit. Eight members of the band gathered at the station to meet the homecoming football players from Morgantown, West Virginia.

Every effort possible was made by the leaders of the group to get the members excused to attend this homecoming. It was necessary to get the permission of President F. D. Farrell before this could be accomplished. President Farrell said that under no condition could the band be excused from classes and that the responsibility for a concerted action by the band members would be placed upon the petitioning leaders. Thus it was that only eight of the members of the band were able to be at the station.

In the past the band has given loyal service. It has been present when called upon, ready to do its part, and yet, it is convicted of lapsing in loyalty by not cutting classes to play for 15 or 20 minutes. They gave even Al Capone a trial.—F. A. P.

Are the freshmen breaking an old and accepted Kansas State custom of their own free will, or is stern depression forcing them to neglect buying purple and white caps, the sign of their status on the campus?

Recently the K fraternity discovered that 240 freshmen had not bought the headgear which they are expected to wear. With commendable generosity, this "society of Appollos" arranged for said freshmen to buy caps in the Royal Purple office in Anderson hall in order to avoid punishing them for their neglect. And did the freshmen rush in and purchase their purple and white insignia?

An up-to-date check-up on the matter shows the Royal Purple office swamped with business and the sale of caps reaches the grand and sum total of four. (Note: No casualties resulting from the rush have been reported.)

So in spite of custom, K men, and an article in the Collegian bidding "Adieu to Frosh Liberty," the impression remains that if 236 freshmen (subtracting 4 from 240) so chose they might continue to "enjoy their freedom, unrestrained, and appear on the campus in care-free nonchalance" minus the customary purple and white.—MKG.

— The Snoopers —

The intramural cross country race was a bust. There were no rules, regulations or requirements pertaining to piston displacement or horse power of the cars which participated.

Runners trotted nonchalantly over the hill and out of sight to pile one atop the other in waiting autos. Winners, of course, came in with a spritely burst of speed on the first car.

One virtuous intramural manager lied himself toward the administrative offices with his tearful tale of woe to be informed that one of his own freshmen had been one of the joyriders.

Back from Governor Harry Woodring's teachers' ball with one finger still intact and able to peck feebly at the typewriter. The boys turned out in droves to trip the light fantastic with the visiting school mams when no mention of price was made. Tripping was frequent and some of it extremely fantastic.

The tap dancers were good, as were the girls who staged the calisthenics number, so we were told. We spent the time counting the stripes in the coatback of that huge pedagogue who loomed in front. We applauded longest and loudest of all and even piped a wheezy h'ray when the dancing skits were finished.

As the floor space grew less and the herd was milling in stifling despair, there arose that courageous daredevil, Ed Ames, and, with nary a wobble of the knee, threatened to stop the thing right then and there if the onlookers didn't move back, by grab!

The bystanders backed toward the wall and what ho! there sat an orchestra, unruffled as the hair on a bald pate, as if it had been there all the time. We wheeled, we had to, to keep from falling, and, lo and behold, the receiving line hove into sight, its members now doggedly smiling smiles that were set permanently in their faces.

The song is ended, but the melody lingers on (apologies to Ballyhoo).

LIBRARY ADOPTS NEW BOOK PLATE

J. M. Turner Draws Design Which Is Patterned After One Submitted by H. W. Ganstrom.

The new Kansas State library book plate drawn by J. M. Turner, Manhattan, a senior in architecture, went into use at the first of this school year. President F. D. Farrell recommended a change in book plates after the name of the college had been changed.

The book plate is distinctive in picturing the college library with a view of the northeast gables. Beneath this view are an open book, a lamp, a balanced scale, and the college seal. "Library, Kansas State College of Agriculture and Applied Science" is written below.

The problem of designing a book plate was submitted to architecture and art classes last spring. Of the first group of designs, none were entirely satisfactory. The design of H. W. Ganstrom, Hollis, a junior in architecture, was selected and submitted to the classes with instructions that they incorporate Ganstrom's ideas in another drawing. The present one is the result. Ganstrom did not have time to work on the second design. The former book plate was used "in approximately 65,000 volumes.

Albertine Randall Wheelan in 1911 designed the old book plate which has been used for the past 20 years. The former book plate portrayed a figure of Athene, typifying college, clearing a path for a student by removing brambles. The three male figures representing agriculture, engineering, and mechanical arts were rolling away stones.

Shaw's "The Apple Cart"

Reviewed by
 Prof. Ada Rice

"The Apple-cart" by George Bernard Shaw was reviewed by Miss Ada Rice, professor in the English department, at the weekly lecture given in recreation center Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Rice first told of the author's writings and other activities in which he has taken part. Shaw writes drama in order to popularize his ideas. It is said he is so popular in England that he can say what he thinks and be applauded for it. Supposed to be a socialist, he is so liberal in his views that at first his writings were not taken seriously, but he firmly impressed his views upon his readers by the personality and forcefulness of his character.

"The Apple-cart" is a 2-act farce of the struggle between democracy and monarchy in England, and both of them against plutocracy. King Magnus is constantly striving to reduce the power of his cabinet of ministers, while the cabinet is just as earnestly trying to take all the remaining power of the king away from him. Finally the cabinet hands the king an ultimatum to sign. Magnus refuses, and offers to abdicate the throne. However, he threatens to go into politics and bring power to the new king, his son. As this would turn over the apple-cart, the cabinet tears up ultimatum and everything ends happily.

Lab Run-outs Barred, Dairy Sales Counter Still Makes $16 Daily

It may be a long trek to the Ag building as one is so often reminded by the unfortunate students who have classes in library methods, accounting, botany, and military out there, but enough c: they hike out every day to enable the dairy sales counter to make about $16.00.

Accounting lab students have been weeping and wailing over the new restriction which has been put upon their freedom to leave lab and trudge from the third floor of the building down to the basement to refresh themselves with ice cream, chocolate milk, or cheese. Professors of accounting have at last caught on to the fact that approximately a third of every lab period was being spent at the sales counter and have become very hard-hearted on the subject.

Operators of the dairy counter, however, do not blame this new rule for the fact that there has been a decrease in daily sales from an average of $24.00 last year, but credit it to the depression.

For many years the college has had a sales counter of this kind. The counter was located in what is now chemistry annex No. 2 until 1923, when it was moved into the newly completed building.

Although cottage and cheddar cheese, milk, cream and butter are also sold, ice cream is the most popular product at the counter. Many flavors are offered, but it has been noted that nut ice creams are the most favored. Toffee leads all others in sales attraction, and the operators feel that butterscotch would run it a close second if they made more of it, but because of the great amount of sugar in butterscotch, it is difficult to keep. Most of the cheese sold here is dispensed in small, nickel slices to students.

Prices of most products sold here are about the same as at other dairies in town, although the ice cream and the whipping cream are somewhat cheaper. This lesser price is made possible by the fact that the dairy has no large overhead as do most creameries and does not have to pay taxes since it is a part of the college, a state owned institution.

REVIEW WORKS OF SIR EDMUND GOSSE

Miss Anna Sturmer to Discuss Noted English Author
 Tuesday Night.

Miss Anna Sturmer of the department of English will discuss "Silhouettes" and "Father and Son" by Sir Edmund Gosse, Tuesday at 7:30 o'clock in recreation center.

Gosse held a distinguished place in letters and also in the social world until his death in 1928. For over fifty years he served as critic on many topics both old and new. He wrote weekly critical reviews and many books. Of his work there has been comparatively little unfavorable criticism. The London Morning Post said of him, "As a critic Sir Edmund Gosse stands high and stands fast, and no man of perception is so foolish as to overlook the wisdom of his judgment."

"Father and Son" is considered to be Gosse's masterpiece. It is the story of a father and a son, a struggle between two temperaments, two consciences, making approximately two epochs.

CALDWELL SPEAKS ON BIRDS AND FLOWERS

Coloradonian Shows Slides Of Mountain Wild Life To Assembly Crowd Wednesday.

"Birds are responsible for some of the world's most lovely music," said Guy C. Caldwell in his lecture. "Bird Songs and Wild Flowers," in student assembly Wednesday, November 4. "We enjoy the music of bird songs and their repeated themes have been the basis of music by famous composers."

At his home at Lily Lake near Estes Park, Colo., Caldwell has collected numerous examples of Colorado flowers and has studied birds of the Rocky mountain region. To illustrate his lecture he showed the pictures he has taken of the wild life around his home.

"If legislation is necessary to preserve wild life, people do not have the right attitude toward beauty. Education of youth is desirable to protect nature," Caldwell stated.

W. H. Andrews of the department of education led the chapel service. A piano solo was played by Miss Clarice Painter, instructor in the department of music.

The student body paid tribute to Miss Ethel Arnold, whose death occurred Tuesday, October 27, as Richard Jason at the console of the pipe organ played "Funeral March" by Chopin.

The divisions took different routes and met on the flat by Wildcat, where they compared notes on the trip.

The class found about 85 different species of animal life, only six of which were birds, snakes which had not yet hibernated and larvae of aquatic insects. The object of the hike was for the students to find out what kind of life to expect in prairie, woody and water habitats.

The field zoology class went to Alta Vista, recently, where they skinned the river for specimens of fish, Carp, bass, sunfish, suckers, and white crappie were found.

TO LANDSCAPE BUILDING

TWO-MILERS WILL CONTEST CYCLONES FOR SUPREMACY

Both Big Six Distance Teams Will Go Into The Race Undefeated.

The two-mile race between the Kansas State tracksters and the Iowa State Cyclones at Ames tomorrow gives promise of being one of the best ones of the season.

This race between the two undefeated teams in the Big Six will play a large part in deciding the conference two-mile championship. Kansas State has won three contests and Iowa State two.

As far as dope goes, Iowa State has made a better record against the same schools that the K-Aggies have. The Cyclones defeated Missouri 36 to 19 while the Kansas State team won 32 to 23. Against Oklahoma, Iowa State scored 40 points to the Sooner's 15, and the K-Aggie Wildcats defeated them 36 to 19.

Don Landon leads the Kansas State team in scoring, winning two races and placing second in the third. Chapman seems to be the big gun of Iowa State's team, having won both of its duals. The Kansas State men have placed relatively high in their races, all six being in the first ten finishers in two of their races.

"It will be a mighty tough race," Coach Ward Haylett said. "As far as experience and dope goes, Iowa State has it on us, but anything can happen."

Those making the trip are Captain E. C. Black, Don Landon, L. R. Daniels, M. W. Pearce, M. E. Nixon, C. D. McNeal, and Lee Toadvine.

The Kansas university two-milers will race the University of Oklahoma at Norman tomorrow, and the Missouri Tigers will take on Drake university.

The present standings of the Big Six two mile teams are: Kansas State, Iowa State, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma.

Sport Squibs

Only two conference games are scheduled in the Big Six this week end—Kansas State against Iowa State, and K. U. battling Oklahoma U. at Norman.

Sports followers will focus their attention on the Kansas State-Iowa State game, for both teams have clean slates in the conference, and both are determined to stay on top.

And, too, Iowa State has been the nemesis for two teams which were doped to win from the Cyclones. Iowa State surprised mid-west football fans when they blanked Missouri 20 to 0 two weeks ago, and then added another upset to the dope sheet by winning from Oklahoma university, 13 to 12, last Saturday.

While Kansas State is predicted "fear" that something unexpected might happen to spoil the K-Aggies' chances for the title. That fear has been expressed by the more pessimistic on the hill—and those football pessimists are mighty scarce here.

Kansas State and Iowa State have played every year since 1917. Of these 14 games, Iowa State has won eight to Kansas State's five. In 1923 they played a 7-7 tie.

The race between the two-mile teams of the two schools should be a good go. Both teams are tied for first place in the Big Six conference. By comparison of scores, Iowa State should win by four or five points.

Coach A. N. ("Bo") McMillin took a squad of 29 men with him to Iowa. The "cripples" on the squad all recovered from their injuries and are in good shape for tomorrow's game.

Two Kansas State linemen may see service in the backfield against Iowa. "Bo" used Zeckser and Harry Hasler alternately in the line and backfield in practice this week. Hasler played a backfield position in high school football.

Coach George Veeper of Iowa State spent one night this week drilling his charges in pass defense work "to check the throws of Auker, clever Kansas State back whose passes resulted in two touchdowns last year to defeat Iowa State"—so says a newsletter from Ames.

Kansas university has been unlucky enough to lose two of their best backfield men within the past week. Phil Rorello is out, perhaps for the remainder of the season, because of an infected lung, and Elmer Schaake, half and fullback, was declared ineligible due to scholastic difficulties.

It is predicted that a record crowd will attend the Kansas State-Nebraska game to be played here next week end. The K-Aggies should win from Iowa, and Nebraska's conference standing not being affected by their game tomorrow, the battle between the two leading teams will bring the fans to Manhattan from far away places. Bow your head and offer up a little prayer for some good weather for November 14.

Women's Sports

The annual women's swimming intramurals began this week with 11 contestants. A one point lead is now held by Van Zile hall over X team. Their scores are 39 and 38 respectively. The remaining scores are Alpha Xi Delta 35, Kappa Kappa Gamma 34, Phi Omega Pi 29, Kappa Delta 27, Chi Omega 26, Delta Delta Delta 26, Alpha Delta Pi 24, Pi Beta Phi 22, Neophytes 20. It looks as if this year's meet will be an interesting one with the scores ranging only from 39 to 20.

A large number of teams are contesting in girls' archery intramurals which started this week. At present Kappa Delta has a 30 point lead. Their score is 82. Phi Omega Pi follows with an 82. Kappa Kappa Gamma and Neophytes come next, each with a score of 50. SCHOOL LIFE SIMILAR.
School life at Kansas State is similar to that of Panama, says Perez Herrera, a foreign student from Penonome, Panama. Perez is enrolled as a freshman in the division of veterinary medicine, and says he does not find the subjects he is taking particularly hard. When he finishes his four years of work here, he plans to return to Panama to practice as a veterinarian. Kansas State was recommended to Perez by the Panamanian council of New York.

NO FLORIST SHORT COURSE
The florist short course of the horticulture department that usually begins the first week of November will not be given this year on account of the present business conditions and the small number of people traveling.

RECEIVES APPOINTMENT.
E. E. Larson, who graduated from the civil engineering department, 1929, has been appointed assistant superintendent of construction at the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth. He began his new duties Monday, November 2.

CYCLONES NEXT HURDLE BEFORE PURPLE HORDE

longer time in which to recover for the Nebraska game. The K-Aggies should be able to defeat the Cyclones without this stellar performer's services. Oscar Hardtarfer, who has been out with an injured hand, will make the trip.

The remaining injured men of the K-Aggie squad have all recovered and will be ready for Saturday's game. Tom Bushby, Belleville, who received a minor injury to his knee in Monday night's practice, is recovered and it is expected that he will be used against the Cyclones.

Walter Zeckser has recovered from his knee injury and has been showing up exceptionally well both in offensive and defensive drill this week. Zeckser has been alternated between line and backfield in practice of late, and will probably be shifted into a wing back position in tomorrow's game.

Ray McMillin, the purple horde's heady field general, is expected to see service in the Iowa game after being held out of the West Virginia game on account of a leg injury.

Coach McMillin has been using Harry Hasler, El Dorado, in the backfield in practice this week. Hasler has been alternating at center with Lloyd Michael. Hasler played a backfield position on the El Dorado high school team.

Large Squad Makes Trip.

DATE SET FOR COMPLETION—3
New Delta Delta Delta House Will Be Finished December 24, According to Weigel.

The completion date of the new Delta Delta Delta house is December 24, as set by Prof. Paul Weigel, in charge of its construction. Whether or not the girls will move in then is a matter of conjecture, but the fact remains that the house will be ready for them.

The new chapter house is an Italian Renaissance style of white native sandstone with Bedford trim and red tile roof.

On the first floor there is a reception hall, living room with fireplace, dining room, drawing room, kitchen, serving pantry, library, house mother's suite consisting of living room, bedroom and bath, and a guest room. The second floor has 15 study rooms and dormitory, bath, and lounge which also has a fireplace. The basement, too, has its share of rooms. There is the chapter room, rest room for employees, men's room, trunk room, store room and laundry.

Some of the striking features of the house are its mantel which is a copy of an Italian duke's. The stairway between first and second floors is also an unusual feature, for there is an open balcony, making the reception hall two floors high. The library will be paneled, making it a striking room. Just above the doorway is the Tri Delta crest in white sandstone. The porches on either side of the house with their arches and columns, are in keeping with the Italian style of architecture.

DRAWING STUDENTS DRAWN
Eight in Department of Art From Out of State

That the home economics and art department at Kansas State is favorably known over United States is exemplified by the variety of states represented by students enrolled in this curriculum. There are 50 students enrolled in home economics and majoring in art and these students come from nine states in the union.

Students coming from states other than Kansas are: Pauline Andrews, Sycamore, Ill.; Louise Davis, Nashville, Tenn.; Jean Dexter, Columbus, Pa.; Sue Irons, Winterhaven, Fla.; Hazel James, New England, N. D.; Barbara Lautz, La Junta, Colo.; Audrey Osborn, Lawton, Okla. and Verdetta Watts, Kansas City, Mo.

Evelyn Young, Arkansas City, who has been ill the past three weeks, is improving and expects to return to school the latter part of this week.

A. R. Jones, of the economics department, was in Chicago last week on business.

HOLD VESPER SERVICES.
All Women Invited to Attend Weekly Meetings.

Barbara Lautz, La Junta, Colo., led the vesper service Tuesday from 4:00 to 4:30 o'clock in L58. This service which includes music, a call to worship, and a meditation, is conducted by the worship experiment group of the Y. W. C. A. Beulah Leach, Bird City, will have charge of the service next Tuesday.

The vesper service is a type of psychological experiment in integration of personality, and is a result of the requests from student and faculty women that such a half hour be offered each week where all might feel free in an interdenominational group to find quiet, beauty, and poise.

All are welcome to this service which is held every Tuesday in L58.

Edna Mann, Quinter, has as her guests Bertha Ulrich, Quinter, and Gullah Hoover, McPherson.

Shirley Jacobs, Lenora, a music student who stays at Van Zile hall, is ill at the college hospital.

NEBRASKA WILL FIND TOUGH FOE IN PURPLE HORDE

K-AGGIES IN VINDICTIVE MOOD
AS RESULT OF DEFEAT
BY CYCLONES.

RECORD CROWD EXPECTED

Homecoming to Draw Many Kansas
State Grads and Former Students to Campus for Annual Reunion.

Kansas State's purple horde returned to Manhattan, Sunday, in a vindictive mood. They're all the more determined to beat Nebraska
after that smarting one-point defeat they received at the hands of Iowa State's Cyclones.

A large crowd of K-Aggie students and followers gave the K-Aggie squad a sincere "vote of confidence" when they returned to Manhattan, Sunday afternoon.
Both congratulations and condolences were accorded the team.

Fans Don't Lose Faith.

Kansas State football fans have not lost faith in their team. The defeat last Saturday was "just one of those things." The K-Aggies proved themselves to be the superior team on the summary sheet,
but, as Coach A. N. "Bo" McMillin said, "It's scores that decide football games, not first downs or yards gained from scrimmage."

A block of fifteen hundred tickets was sent to Lincoln last week to be placed on sale on the Nebraska university campus. Cornhusker rooters are expected to come to the game
by special train Saturday morning.

Demand for Tickets Great.
The K. S. C. alumni office in Anderson hall has charge of ticket sales for Kansas State alumni and yesterday reported a good demand for tickets from those intending to attend homecoming.

Practice last night was devoted to dummy scrimmage and running through a few new plays introduced into the McMillin men's repertoire.
They were inconvenienced somewhat by the intermittent showers and spent most of the time under the stadium.

Graham Out For Scrimmage.
"Rambling Ralph" Graham, star sophomore back, was out in uniform for last night's workout.
Graham is expected to be in condition in time to take part in the battle Saturday.

Advance ticket sales indicate a large attendance at the game. With Saturday set as Homecoming, many K-Aggie grads and former students will attend. Followers of football in the Big Six conference will be looking for the "game of the season" when Nebraska and the purple horde meet.

COMMISSION MEETS.

Y. M. C. A. Freshmen Plan Semester's Programs.
Members of men's freshman commission met Tuesday night in Calvin 58 to discuss H-Y extension work and plan programs for meetings to be held later in the semester.

Joe Bragg, Dodge City, chairman of the program committee, presented for approval the following names of men who will be asked to address the commission this year:
C. V. Williams, A. N. "Bo" McMillin
and Rev. B. A. Rogers.

The speaker Tuesday night was Coach C. W. Corsaut, who talked to the men about loyalty to self,
school, family and community.
The next meeting will be held November 17, at eight o'clock in Calvin 58.

CLUB PLEDGES FIFTY

In a canvass of the downtown business district conducted Saturday by the Glider club, 50 new members were pledged.

According to J. C. Dalgarn, Manhattan, who is in charge of the campaign, the percentage of pledges from those interviewed was very high, and he is confident that the pledge total of 300 names will be reached in the near future.

NEWMAN CLUB MEETS.

The Newman club held its monthly meeting Sunday, November 8 at the Catholic church hall.
A buffet breakfast which was served to 75 members was followed by a program consisting of group singing, a short talk by Ed Kotapish, Blue Rapids, president, and an address by Reverend Weisenberg of St. Marys college.

COLLEGE INFIRMARY LIST.
College hospital patients are Mary Harvey, Harveyville, and Donald Miller, Cambridge, Nebr.

OFFER REDUCED PRICES

Because Kansas coaches will want to bring their teams to Manhattan Saturday in order that they might witness
the K-Aggie-Nebraska game,
the Kansas State athletic department has reduced the price of admission from $2.50, regular price, to $1 for any high school student in Kansas. A special section in Memorial stadium is being reserved for high school students. Kid brothers and sisters attending high schools should be invited, so they may watch the homecoming classic along with the rest of their school mates.

FASHION SHOW WEDNESDAY.

A fashion show, featuring the college girl's wardrobe, will be presented in Calvin hall, L58, Wednesday from 2 to 5 o'clock, and Thursday from 1 to 4 o'clock. The show will be an informal revue of what is correct, smart, and inexpensive in apparel and accessories for the college girl. Under the direction of a college trained woman, Emery, Bird and Thayer, Kansas City, Mo., are sending these fashions and models from their College Fashion shop to be shown to all students and faculty members.

N-i-b-b-l-i-n-g-s

It was a nice greeting one of the football men received Sunday at the station when his girl grabbed him around the neck and did her duty. . . . That Iowa State radio announcer was the one who defeated Kansas State last Saturday. After almost sorrowfully admitting there was still four minutes to play, and the Wildcats were on the nine yard line, listeners were told of only one more play, with the K-Aggies gaining three yards, and then—joyfully informed the game was over. . . . It was worse than heart rending. . . . The "who"
of the five W's, a requisite of all good news stories, is now holding reign in the journalism department. R. I. Thackrey, writer of sports and what not,
is the receiver of an owl sent him by Ted Guthrie, former Kansas State student. . . . Mis-semester came blowing in yesterday just like the wind. And they hit the students just as hard, and were even more nervous racking. . . . But these shot guns right at the critical moment are the worst. Any instructor that pulls a stunt like that during mid-semester week ought to remember time has been spent in preparing for the announced examinations. . . .

at recreation center where the movies taken last year of the cam-will have a chance to meet old friends and classmates.

Fraternities are doing their bit toward welcoming the "grads" by decorating the chapter houses. The best decorated house will be awarded the senior men's Panhellenic cup, which has been won by Sigma Phi Epsilon for the past two years.
Saturday morning the alumni will

STUDENT IN AUTO WRECK.

Lester Hoffman Injured as Speeding Car Strikes His Machine.

Lester Hoffman, Haddam, sophomore in agricultural engineering, will be out of school this week as a result of an automobile accident which occurred Sunday afternoon.

Hoffman was driving slowly along the road between Haddam and Washington, watching some boys who were hunting in a nearby field.
Thinking that the road behind him was clear, he started to drive over to the other side of the road to pick up the boys. A Pontiac car, coming at a high rate of speed behind him, crashed into him, completely demolishing his machine.

Although he received painful cuts and bruises, it is not believed that Hoffman's condition is serious.

THEN AND NOW.

Thirteen years ago on November 11 Kansas State students celebrated the return of peace in an hilarious fashion. Whistles were blown, cannons were fired, bands played, soldiers and students marched, and classes were forgotten by the students and teachers alike.

Today—lessons are assigned, students study, work and play goes on just as on any other day, not one thought is given to the Kansas State students who gave up their study to take a part in the conflict between nations.

Though outward expression is not shown today every Kansas State student should stop in the hurry and scurry of college activities to observe a few minutes of silence in memory of those who sacrificed their lives in the most terrible of wars.

M'MILLINMEN, STOPPED, MARCH ON.

The latest stages of the discussion of the Iowa game reveals many new angles. The K-Aggie team which seemed to be indomitable came to defeat last Saturday at the hands of the Cyclones.

A logical statement came from Captain Henry Cronkite, "We could push them all over the field, but we just lacked the power to score." The summary of the game shows that the M'Millinmen did this very thing. The yardage of the Notre Dame-Pennsylvania university game, in which Notre Dame gained about the same yardage that the Wildcats did, netted Notre Dame a victory of 49 to 0.

Graham probably could have carried the ball over the goal line if he had been put into one or two plays in the game. However, he would have played at the risk of being seriously crippled. Everyone knows that Bo McMillin doesn't consider anything like this in his style of playing the game. The game was coached and played as everyone like to see it except for the one point lead that Iowa State gained and nursed throughout the last half of the contest. It's just another game that had too many breaks for the other team. The purple powerhouse has more "go" to it this year than it has ever had; all set for Nebraska they will be hard to stop this coming Saturday.—D.T.

THE WILDCAT SPIRIT PREVAILS.

Kansas State's spirit, win or lose, is indomitable. Sunday when the team stepped off the train at the Union Pacific station returning from a defeat at the hands of the Iowa Cyclones, K-Aggie rooters were there en masse to greet them. It was a sad homecoming, and yet a sweet one for the football men who did what they could to win the game against an inspired Iowa eleven.

Fraternity and sorority houses cooperated with the cheer leaders in serving dinner early in order that members could be at the station to meet the somewhat discouraged McMillinmen. As the Kansas City Times reported it yesterday morning Ray Spence, miniature cheer leader, said, "We just wanted to show them how we felt."

This Saturday will still find a cheering, howling, enthusiastic bunch of Wildcat rooters in Memorial stadium giving the boys on the field all the support they could desire. They'll be out there yelling for a team they know to be a champion even if the score boards do read differently.

It'll be a great day. It'll be a great game. And it'll be a great victory.

— The Snoopers —

Once more we raise our voice in aching cry at the sight of the capless frosh. Not many of the youngsters own the purple and white toppers, and those who do show little incentive to wear them.

K fraternity has made a valiant but futile attempt to promote the wearing of the purple. Still it is difficult to distinguish the freshman section in the stadium.

Little crabbing has been heard over the loss of the Iowa State game last Saturday and we hasten to commend the student body for its co-operation. Bo McMillin's Purple Horde still stands ace-high in the minds of Kansas State collegians.

That dusky baton-waver, Grant Moore, and his New Orleans Black Devils burst forth at Saturday night's varsity with most torrid melodies. Novelty numbers followed each other in rapid succession and all the while the capers cheered the band on with lusty enthusiasm.

The stag line was a trifle depleted which made things great for dancing. The Kappas flung a midshipmen's ball and of course a crew was needed. It's an ill wind that blows nobody from the stag ranks.

The Homecoming tussle next Saturday night will undoubtedly have all the ear marks of a "duddy." If it's anything like the ramble last year the Snooper will ease the aged carcass into a ringside balcony seat to watch in peaceful security.

More and better leaves for the Tri Delt front yard. The pledges raked diligently all one afternoon and fixed just a dandy place for new leaves to land. Few, other than the rake-pullers, knew the cleanup had taken place for there were as many leaves the next morning as before.

Daisy Eilers

Daisy Eilers will always call this her big year. First, she learned to fly a plane. Then she married and found domestic bliss. Then she made a smashing success in "Bad Girl." As a reward Fox is co-starring her in "Over the Hill."

Made of the finest tobaccos—The Cream of many Crops—LUCKY STRIKE alone offers the throat protection of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays—the process that expels certain harsh, biting irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. Beta Pi Epsilon, formally installed Saturday in St. Louis as Theta Xi, was organized in 1923 as an engineering fraternity by nine men, M. R. Henry, E. O. Hokanson, G. D. Lingelbach, H. L. McCord, Manhattan, deceased; F. N. Brooks, G. R. Anderson, Henry Dougherty, jr., F. O. Miller, and Prof. J. H. Robert, department of applied mechanics, as sponsor and faculty advisor, to petition Theta Xi, then an engineering fraternity. In 1926 Theta Xi generalized and Beta Pi Epsilon changed to a general social fraternity also, in order that it might qualify for a charter.

Petitions were submitted in 1928 and 1930 but were not favorable because the members of Theta Xi objected to granting a charter at an agricultural school. In 1931 an investigating committee was sent to investigate Kansas State. The committee's report was favorable and the 1931 petition to the Theta Xi convention at Columbus, Ohio, September 3, 4, 5, was approved unanimously.

The installation services were held last Saturday, November 7, at the Iota chapter at Washington university in St. Louis, also the national headquarters of Theta Xi.

Officers of Alpha Iota, local chapter, are: W. S. Hemker, Great Bend, president; L. R. Schruben, Dresden; S. P. Cory, Hutchinson; D. E. West, Hartford; G. E. Cain, Pomona; and W. D. Grammer, Junction City;

George Branigan of the machine design department here and of the Alpha Epsilon chapter at Nebraska is the faculty advisor.

Other members are: L. E. Boley, Topeka; D. L. Berry, Wiley; V. E. Bradley, Belle Plaine; A. W. Crooke, Great Bend; D. H. Daly, Armington, Ill.; K. M. Kemker, Great Bend; A. H. Otte, Great Bend; E. R. ## CYCLONES SPOIL K-AGGIE HOPE OF PERFECT SEASON

DEFEAT, 7-6, LEAVES NEBRASKA AND IOWANS IN TIE FOR BIG SIX LEADERSHIP

GREFE ADDS STAR TO CROWN

Wildcats Up Against an Inspired Team—Auker Stars in the Hard Fought But Losing Battle

By P. L. DITTMORE

The Kansas State-Iowa state game last Saturday came to Grefe in the first quarter of the battle. After Eldon Auker, stellar K-Aggie halfback, ran the length of the field for a touchdown and failed at his try for point, the Iowans evened the score with a touchdown on a 35-yard pass and Dick Grefe, the Cyclones' "red-hot," added another star to his crown of glory by making good his try for point, giving the Cyclones a one-point margin—and a victory, 7 to 6.

It was Grefe who beat the Oklahoma Sooners with his accurate place kicking in their conference game at Norman, October 31.

Fate Adds Irony

Fate, as vacillating as it is, made Auker both the outstanding hero and also a victim of circumstances. It was he who made the sensational run for a touchdown from a fake punt formation, and it was he, who in attempt to spoil a Cyclone pass, tipped the ball into the waiting arms of Wells, Ames right end, who sped on for a touchdown. This, added to his failure to make the try-for-point good, only added to the irony of the situation.

The Wildcats cannot be accused of being over-confident. They went into the game knowing that it was going to be a tough battle. Iowa State had demonstrated her ability to wreck the hopes of apparently superior teams previously in the season. The Wildcats were playing good football, but they were playing against an inspired team—a team which was playing "way above their heads."

Three Iowans Good

Power was not lacking in the K-Aggie team. A glance at the summary demonstrates that beyond a doubt. In first down, the K-Aggies made 16 to Iowa State's three. The K-Aggies gained 393 yards from scrimmage to the Cyclones' 83. The K-Aggies threatened the Cyclones' goal in the third period, but the Iowan's defense stiffened and the K-Aggies were running into a literal stone wall in their effort to push the ball across the goal line. With the ball on the Iowa State 4-yard line, the K-Aggies gained only one yard in three smashes and their chance at scoring fizzled out on the fourth down when Auker was thrown for a nine-yard loss.

The Cyclones did not threaten to score after their first touchdown, and were never inside the Wildcat 20-yard line during the remainder of the game. They were playing a superb defense game, however, with Dick Grefe starring at breaking up the K-Aggies' attempts at ground-gaining by the aerial route.

Reserve Line Stars

Coach A. N. ("Bo") McMillin started the game with a reserve line, inserting the regulars one-by-one as the game progressed. In the Wildcat line, the work of Cronkite, Michael, Stephenson, and Hrabka stood out, with Hanson performing brilliantly at times. The K-Aggies will perhaps come in for a lot of criticism by the Barber Shop Coaching association for not attempting a field goal, or passing when they were inside the Ames 10-yard line on two occasions. There is no criticism to be made of the brand of football the Wildcats were playing. The bunch was simply playing an inspired team which wouldn't be beaten under any circumstances. Iowa State demonstrated that before in their game with Missouri and Oklahoma.

Sport Squibs

"I just can't believe it."

Those words were uttered by more than one K-Aggie Saturday afternoon, after learning of the outcome of the battle with Iowa State.

It was hard to believe—and harder to forget. It simply wasn't possible that the Cyclones could turn the Purple Horde aside and send them back home a stunned team.

But it did happen, nevertheless.

The Cyclones were playing a brand of defensive football which couldn't be denied. Yes, the K-Aggies made four yards to the Cyclones' one on scrimmage, and 16 first downs to the Cyclones' three, but those little items don't win football games. They do help lots, though.

The Iowans' "divine inspiration" spark" was sparkling just right last Saturday. They seemed to know just where the K-Aggie backs would hit that line in a desperate attempt to gain that needed yard for a touchdown or a first down.

The "fight" and determination displayed by the Iowans in their stone-wall defense when against their goal line is an admirable thing—no matter whose team shows it. Those boys played football at times last Saturday.

Dick Grefe has succeeded in making his bid for immortality on the Iowa State campus. He has won three football games for them thus far this season. That should be enough on any man's campus.

Kansas State can take a defeat like last Saturday's and still maintain that old fight. She proved that last Sunday when the students gave the squad a splendid reception upon their return.

Well, there is only one thing left to do, and that's to beat Nebraska. . . . It's got to be done, and it will be done.

Intramurals

Basketball

The intramural basketball season will begin Monday, November 16. The several teams have been getting practice periods of one hour a week at the gym for the past two weeks, as permitted by the intramural rules.

Soccer

Semi-finals in soccer will begin in a few days when several games that were postponed because of bad weather are played off.

As soon as the results of these games are in, Prof. L. P. Washburn, director of intramurals, will meet with the managers of the winning teams in each bracket to draw for the semi-final schedule.

Results of last week's games:

Monday, Nov. 2:
Phi Kappa Tau 4; Pi Kappa Alpha 0.

Wednesday, Nov. 4:
Beta Pi Epsilon 1; Kappa Sigma 0.

Sigma Phi Epsilon 1; Phi Delta Theta 0.

Friday, Nov. 6:
Phi Sigma Kappa 4; Phi Kappa 1.

Aggie Knights 5; Delta Tau Delta 2.

Beta Theta Pi 4; Sigma Alpha Epsilon 2.

The smoke you like... is the smoke she likes for you!

"I like to see a man smoke a pipe!"

You've heard your own girl say it, perhaps. You're sure to hear it wherever girls get together.

They puff away at our cigarettes. But they like to see us have a go at the "strong, silent man's smoke"—a companionable, time-proven pipe.

There is something satisfying about a pipe. It's a slow, reflective, hard-thinking smoke—or a calm, relaxing, restful smoke. The hunter's smoke, the fisherman's smoke, the engineer's smoke—a man's smoke, through and through.

And pipe smokers who know their fine tobaccos tell you there's no blend quite like the fine selected burleys of Edgeworth—the favorite tobacco in 42 out of 50 leading colleges.

Do try Edgeworth. Perhaps you will like it as well as most men seem to. Edgeworth is at your dealer's. Or send for free sample if you wish. Address Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d Street, Richmond, Va.

CYCLONES STAY ON TOP IN TWO-MILE CONTEST

Iowa Distance Men Sure to Win Big Six Championship

Making a clean sweep of the day's two contests, Iowa State twomilers defeated the Kansas State distance men 33 to 22 at Ames last Saturday.

This victory left Iowa State the only undefeated team in the conference and practically clinched the Big Six championship for the Cyclones.

As ideal weather conditions prevailed, both teams ran the two miles in good time. Chapman of Iowa State crossed the finish line first in 9:45.8, with Landon, K-Aggies, close on his heels. Landon's time was 9:46.1.

Landon, Pearce, Daniels, and Nixon all ran the race several seconds faster than ever before.

The runners finished in the following order: Chapman, Iowa State, first; Landon, Kansas State, second; Labertew, Iowa State, third; Eichelkraut, Iowa State, fourth; Pearce, Kansas State, fifth; Daniels, Kansas State, sixth; Duncan, Iowa State, seventh; Chisholm, Iowa State, eighth; Nixon, Kansas State, ninth; and Saboe, Iowa State, tenth.

Kansas university remained in a tie with Nebraska for third place by winning from the University of Oklahoma 31 to 24 at Norman, Saturday. Cunningham of K. U. won the dual in 9:46.6.

The present Big Six standings are:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Iowa State	3	0	1.000
Kansas State	3	1	.750
Nebraska	2	1	.667
Kansas	2	1	.667
Missouri	0	3	.000
Oklahoma	0	4	.000

K-AGGIES TO MAKE LAST BID FOR CHAMPIONSHIP HONORS

Big Day Planned For Graduates And Guests From Nebraska Today

The outstanding Homecoming since the oldest grad was graduated!

That's what this day promises to be, with a rousing pep rally in the auditorium this morning at 10:30 o'clock, a big parade to meet the Nebraska special afterward, an alumni luncheon, a plenty important football game, and a dance tonight.

The pep meeting this morning is expected to bring forth an unusual amount of collegiate noise, especially since today is a holiday. The meeting was postponed from Friday night until this morning to allow a good store of enthusiasm to accumulate. "Bo" McMillin, who has not addressed the students so far this year, will make his initial speech, and "Mike" Ahearn will also have his share in instilling the Wildcat fighting spirit in the students. Cheer leaders and the band will be on hand as usual to add atmosphere, spirit, or whatever it takes to help make the affair long to be remembered.

Crowd To Meet Train.

Immediately after the rally, the crowd will follow the band to the Union Pacific station to meet the incoming Cornhusker team and rooting section. The special will arrive here at 12 o'clock, and leaves this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. The Nebraska band is being brought to help make lots of noise for the invading team, and it is possible they will be heard at the station.

An alumni luncheon for grads and their friends, upstairs in the cafeteria at 12:10 o'clock will furnish a chance for reunions, reminiscences, and talk about the game. No speeches—just a general get-together is planned. The meeting will be over in plenty of time to allow those present to reach the stadium for the opening whistle of the game. Prof. G. A. Dean, Kenneth Chappell, A. P. Davidson, H. H. Haymaker, and Mrs. Katherine Hess comprise the committee in charge of the luncheon.

Dance at Wareham Tonight.

That all-important football game will occupy most of the afternoon. Grads who have head columns and columns about the performance of the Kansas State gridsters already this season will have an opportunity to see the team in action in what is probably the most important game of the season.

A dance at the Wareham ballroom at 8:30 this evening with June Leyton and his band as official music dispensers will provide an appropriate conclusion to the annual Homecoming "Gay." "Bo" McMillin and his football squad will attend the varsity as guests of Blake Wareham, manager of the ballroom.

HOME COMING EVENTS.

- 10:30—Pep meeting, college auditorium.
- 12:00—Meet Nebraska at U. P. station.
- 12:10—Alumni luncheon, college cafeteria.
- 2:00—Kansas State-Nebraska game.
- 8:30—Varsity, Wareham ballroom.

STADIUM PLEDGES INCREASE

Crusade To Continue Until Each New Student Has Been Asked Personally.

The Homecoming alumni this year will view the Wildcat-Cornhusker game from the Memorial stadium to which the freshmen and new students of this year have pledged $2,771 up to the present time. Dr. J. V. Cortelyou, chairman of the stadium corporation, said that the drive would continue until every freshman and new student had been asked personally to pledge.

The stadium crusade, that is being continued this year, began on the morning of April 25, 1922. The student body was gathered in the auditorium, Dr. H. E. King, M. F. Ahearn, W. A. Bibb, father of a student, Charles Bachman, football coach at the time, spoke to the students telling them that the stadium must be built, and of the K-Aggie men who died in the World war. And that morning those students who had been talking and thinking stadium pledged $77,000.

The stadium was an idea that Prof. M. F. Ahearn and President H. J. Waters formed before the World war. After the World war a need was felt for a service memorial to the hero dead of the college. Dr. J. T. Willard, vice-president of the college, then dean of the division of general science, made the motion that a stadium be built as a memorial to the 45 who never came back to the college.

The first K-Aggie football team was organized in 1893 without faculty sanction, and until 1922 the students and alumni sat on wooden bleachers at the south end and west side of the field.

PARKING SPACE AVAILABLE

- Parking space for all cars
- here for the game today may
- be found on the football practice field, the parking area
- west of the engineering building, and the baseball field. All
- cars parked in the baseball field will be directed out on the
- township road, west of the city
- limits. No traffic will be allowed in or out of Seventeenth
- street immediately after the game.

TWO-MILERS' RACE TODAY CLOSING BIG SIX CONTEST

Team Must Defeat Nebraska to Hold Second Place; Dope Favors Kansas State.

The Kansas State harriers will meet the University of Nebraska two-milers in their last conference race of the season here this afternoon.

The Iowa State team is in the lead in the Big Six without a defeat to mar its record; and it gives every indication of remaining there. The K-Aggies are now in second place and can remain there by turning back the Huskers today.

Dope favors Kansas State. Against Missouri the Wildcats and Nebraska both won by a 32 to 23 score. Kansas State piled up a 36 to 19 score against Oklahoma, while Nebraska won 30 to 25. The Cornhuskers suffered a 31 to 24 defeat at the hands of the Jayhawkers; the Aggies won from Kansas 30 to 25. Don Landon continues to lead the Kansas State team in scoring and Ayres has performed best for Nebraska.

Ayres, Storey, Morrow, Blazer, Seger, and England will probably run for Nebraska. Coach Ward Laylett's entries will be Black, Landon, Pearce, Daniels, McNeal, and Nixon.

The race between Oklahoma and Missouri will probably prove interesting as neither has won a conference dual as yet, and both teams will try to break into the win column today.

The other conference race is between Iowa State and the University of Kansas.

NEW SCENES ADDED TO CAMPUS MOVIE

Views of Football Game to be Taken Today by F. J. Hanna, Photographer.

A new scene is being added to the film, "Scenes at Kansas State," today in the taking of motion pictures at the Nebraska-Kansas State football game. Floyd J. Hanna, Manhattan, is taking the pictures. The film is being made for the alumni association and includes close-ups of the team, views of the spectators, pictures of the cheerleaders, Purple Peppers, and Wampus Cats in action. There will be short scenes showing the band, trackmen, and stunts presented between halves.

Hanna is a sophomore in agriculture and is taking work in the illustrations department. He has already made several parts to the film, part of which is the Kansas State-Kansas university game at Lawrence this year.

The alumni association will send the film to alumni meetings and with the go-to-college teams on their spring tours.

THREATEN PADDLE LINE.

The threatened paddling of freshmen yesterday in Anderson hall failed to materialize. However, the conspicuous presence of numerous paddles in the hands of upperclassmen and several broad hints drop as to the possibility of paddle lines in Aggieville and at other points at the edge of the campus caused many purple and white caps to blossom forth on freshmen heads yesterday.

ALPHA RHO CHI

AWARDED FIRST IN DECORATING

JUDGES BASE DECISION ON ORIGINALITY, CLEVERNESS, GENERAL APPEARANCE.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON SECOND

Decision Difficult Because Many Houses Had Excellent Decorations; Contest is Annual Event Sponsored by Panhellenic.

Alpha Rho Chi was awarded first place by the judges in the intramural homecoming decoration contest, according to an announcement made last night. Sigma Phi Epsilon received second honors and Alpha Tau Omega third. The judges, J. F. Heim, H. Miles Heberer, and C. S. Mott, based their decision on originality, cleverness, general appearance, and success in the presentation of the idea of homecoming and the Kansas State Nebraska game.

This contest is an annual event sponsored by senior men's Panhellenic. C. M. Rhodes, Newton, was chairman of the Panhellenic committee on decorations this year.

Alpha Rho Chi placed first with modernistic decorations. The house represents a pep meeting in full swing with life-like paintings of band leaders, pep leaders, and Wampus Cats. Luis Cortes, Bogota, Columbia, was chairman of the decoration committee.

Sigma Phi Epsilon, cup winner for the last two years, took second place. The decorating committee, with Jack Resch, Independence, Mo., as chairman, decorated with colored streamers, and a scene with covered wagons and K-Aggie football players bearing the legend, "Pioneers Blazing a Trail for Another Victory."

The theme of the Alpha Tau Omega decorations is a little theatre. Their house is converted into a front of a show called K. S. C. Theatre. Robert Spiker, Manhattan, was chairman of the decorating committee.

The judges' decision was not an easy one to make because so many of the houses had excellent decorations.

Kappa Sigma decorations indicate a cleaning up of all Nebraska football hopes. Bill True, Topeka; Lyle Smelser, Manhattan, and John Correll, Manhattan, were on the committee.

A miniature football field, a wildcat in a little house, and a card-board man giving out the glad hand are arranged in front of the Beta Theta Pi house.

C. J. Woodley, Tecumseh, was chairman of a decoration committee of the Theta Xi house, which was decorated with red and white, and purple and white.

Huge signs of welcome in Nebraska and Kansas State colors, miniature football players and old grads may be found at the Delta Sigma Phi house. Chester Crain, Paola, was chairman of the decorations committee.

Dick McCord, Manhattan, supervised decorations at the Delta Tau Delta house. Corn shocks and large welcome signs are used.

Spot lights show a big figure with an open hand, surrounded by large welcome signs, in the yard of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house.

Charles Powell, Frankfort, and Bob Parker, Manhattan, decorated the Lambda Chi Alpha house with wildcats, corn cobs, and college colors.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Webb, Lincoln, Neb., and Paul Nelson, McPherson, will be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Joines this week end.

CORNHUSKER BACKFIELD STARS

McMillinmen May Battle Centre In Post Season Game

The possibility that Kansas State will meet Centre college again this year seems a certainty because of negotiations taking place between the two schools at the present time.

The athletic councils of the two schools are trying to arrange a post-season charity game to be played at Louisville, Ky., on December 12. The final arrangements of the tilt have not been decided upon because of Big Six conference rulings concerning post season games. The conference faculty committee has already approved one charity game and special permission must be given before a second game can be scheduled.

Kansas State has one charity tilt scheduled and that is a game with Wichita university to be played December 5 at Wichita. The fact that the conference committee has granted permission to Oklahoma and Missouri to play two charity games leads Kansas State football enthusiasts to believe that the conference will likewise allow the Wildcats the liberty of playing another game.

Kansas State seems to be the outstanding team of this section of the country and Centre college seems to have a team that is capable of representing the Kentucky colonels. Each of the teams has been the victim of an upset. Kansas State has been beaten by Iowa State while the Praying Colonels were the victims of a 6 to 0 score in a game with a Boston college last week.

A more definite agreement will be reached at an early date but it is expected that this game will meet the conference committee's approval. If this game is accepted, the Wildcats will not be able to play the game at Dallas against the winner of the Southwestern Conference on December 5.

Past Games With Huskers Show Work of Aggie Stars

A review of past Aggie-Cornhusker football games shows K-Aggie stars standing out in every game, although last year was the first time the Wildcat ever took a decision from the Husker of the north.

Back in 1922, the first time the two teams had met for several years, Ray ("Russian") Hahn, all-Missouri Valley guard, and Burr Swartz, quarterback, helped to outgain and outfight the Huskers, but came out on the short end of a 21-0 score. Hahn is now head coach of the School of Mines at Rapid City, S. D., and Swartz is working with the Board of Trade in Kansas City. The next year Swartz was back, with splendid help from Art Stark, who made all-Missouri Valley halfback that year, A. A. ("Swede") Axline, another halfback, and Ralph Nichols, all-Valley tackle. Stark has been head coach at Creighton U., Omaha, for the last few years and Axline is with Cook Paint company in Ft. Worth, Tex. Nichols has since died, as has Dewey Huston, kicker extraordinary.

During these years Nebraska was turning out championship teams and the K-Aggies were generally losing only to the Cornhuskers. In the next few years H. W. McGee and Iyle Munn of Kansas State, guard and end respectively, were chosen on the all-Missouri Valley team. 1925 saw the Wildcats battle Nebraska to a scoreless tie, but in 1926 the Huskers won again by the margin of a field goal, 3-0. Several Aggie players turned to the professional game after they graduated, among them Elwyn "Tiny" Feathers, fullback, Bert Pearson, center, George "Babe" Lyons, all-Big Six tackle in 1928, Orin Tackwell and K. C. Bauman, all-Big Six tackle and guard respectively in 1929. They are all still playing professional football in the East.

More recent K-Aggie stars are Joe Holisinger, now manager of intramural sports and assistant football coach under Chas. Bachman at Florida U., Owen ("Chiff") Cochran, assistant coach at Kansas State, A. R. ("Monk") Edwards, coach at Concordia high school, Ted Fleck, now teaching in Clafflin high school, and A. H. ("Hoxie") Freeman, teaching in Mankato high school. So much for K-Aggie stars up to last year, the memorable year that the Wildcats first bowled over Nebraska. On that 1930 team were two all-Big Six (continued on page three)

Win From Huskers This Year Would Give Them Chance

Both Teams Go Into Game Today with But One Defeat Recorded Against Them—Nebraska Is in Good Shape.

HUSKERS MUST DEFEAT IOWANS

Best McMillinmen Can Do Is to Share First Honors with Nebraska—Iowa Plays Only Four Conference Games This Year Through Failure to Play K. U.—Final Big Six Tilt for Nine of the Wildcats.

Coach A. N. ("Bo") McMillin's purple horde is expected to stage a desperate fight today with Nebraska's Cornhuskers in an attempt to share the Big Six title. Today's game is the last chance for the K-Aggies to prove to their followers that they are a championship team.

Should the K-Aggies win, it would give them only a chance to share the championship with Nebraska. The outcome of the Iowa State-Nebraska game next Saturday will definitely determine the champions.

If Nebraska falls before the Kansas State team and the Nebraska whip Iowa State, then the K-Aggies and Cornhuskers will have equal claim to the title. This would be only one defeat for the Iowans, but their percentage would be less than that of the K-Aggies and the Cornhuskers, because the Iowans play only four conference games to five each for the K-Aggies and Cornhuskers.

Assuming that the race turns out that way, the final percentages would appear thus:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Kansas State	4	1	.800
Nebraska	4	1	.800
Iowa State	3	1	.750

Cyclones Could Win.

Should Iowa State beat Nebraska, it would give the Cyclones their first conference victory.

Both teams go into the game today with only one defeat against them. Nebraska was beaten by Northwestern early in the season, 19 to 7. The Cornhuskers are in the top of physical condition.

With nine men on the K-Aggie squad playing their last Big Six game, the battle promises to be full of thrills. Six of the retiring men are on the starting lineup. The probable lineup for the game is as follows:

Kansas State	Pos.	Nebraska
Blaine	LT	Joy
Stephenson	LT	Rhea
Zeckser	LG	Koster (c)
Michael	C	Ely
Harba	RG	Justice
Cronkite (c)	RT	Gilbert
Breen	RE	Durkee
McMillin	QB	Bauer
Auker	LH	Masterson
Shaffer	RH	Kreizinger
Wiggins	FB	Sauer

The Kansas Poultry and Egg Shippers' association is in conference this morning with discussions of producer's problems being held in Waters hall. Speakers on the program are: Prof. J. S. Hughes, department of chemistry, M. A. Seaton, extension poultry man, and Dean L. E. Call of the agriculture division. A luncheon will be served at noon in the cafeteria.

Prof. F. E. Muschell of the University of Nebraska and Dr. W. E. Grimes of K. S. C. were the principal speakers at the banquet last night at the Wareham hotel.

On November 19 the second annual Kansas poultry breeders conference will be in session at the college. Faculty members who are listed on the morning's program include Prof. L. F. Payne and Dr. D. C. Warren of the poultry husbandry department and Dr. Mary T. Harman of the department of zoology. Those who are featured on the afternoon discussion about inheritance are: Prof. A. M. Brunson, department of agronomy, Dr. H. L. Ibsen, department of animal husbandry and Doctor Warren.

PRACTICE FOR AGGIE POP.

Eight Competing Organizations Work On Stunts.

The nine organizations that are entering stunts for the annual Aggie Pop program to be presented at the college auditorium December 4 and 5 have met the approval of the selecting committee and are now practicing under the direction of Mary Meyers Elliott.

The eight organizations entered are Phi Omega Pi, Van Zile hall, Chi Omega, Delta Zeta, Kappa Sigma, Alpha Kappa Lambda, Beta Theta Pi, and Phi Kappa Tau. The women's glee club will have "Glee Club Jollities." This and the Women's Athletic association will present non-competitive stunts.

Modern K-ave Men Teach One Freshman Meaning of Tradition

"Sound off, freshman" was the command nonchalantly ignored by one lone member of the freshman class, yesterday, when Alex Nigro, R. F. Vohs, G. L. Tempero, and several other students wearing the "K" sweaters, were lined up near the library, displaying strong and sturdy paddles. Evidently the freshman had other matters on his mind too important to be interfered with, and as a result of his silence, the paddles of these brawny "K" men landed on this freshman's seating capacity. This bit of "tor-ture," however, failed to evoke those simple little words, "Beat Nebraska" from the freshman, and again the paddles were vigorously brought in to action.

By this time the freshman was sore, both mentally and physically, but he still refused to obey the orders of his superiors, and live up to the old traditions of the Aggies. "You guys can't get 'hard' with me, just because I'm a freshman," he protested.

Alex Nigro wondered if it should be explained to the freshman why it was necessary to wear those caps, and "sound off" in the proper manner. After a brief argument, and a few more taps from the paddles, the "K" men left the freshman to go his way, much wiser as to the customs and traditions of Kansas State.

REPAIR WIND TUNNEL

The wind tunnel at the college which has been used for testing wind resistances of automobiles is undergoing extensive repairs and alterations for additional work along that line. A 400-H. P. Liberty airplane motor will be used for driving the propeller. According to Professor L. E. Conrad, of the civil engineering department, under whose supervision the work is being done, it is hoped a wind velocity of about 50 miles per hour may be attained. Previously, with the old equipment, 38 miles per hour was the maximum that had been obtained.

GREEK FROTH ELECT.

Freshman men's Panhellenic party will be held February 5, at the Wareham ballroom. The contract for the orchestra will probably go to some out of town orchestra. Lavergene Banks, secretary treasurer says. Other officers of the freshman's Panhellenic are: N. Carter, Smith Center, Phi Kappa Tau, president; Martin Keck, Kansas City, Delta Sigma Phi, vice-president.

Dr. A. E. Hertzler and Doctor Speman of Halstead visited the college Thursday.

EXPECT 1,500 NEBRASKANS
Nebraska will be here today
1,500 strong, according to word received by the Collegian yesterday from the Daily Nebraskan, student publication.
The Nebraska band, the Corn Cobs, pep organization, students, and business men will make up the crowd.

History of Early K-Aggie Teams Shows Same Spirit

Kansas State's winning football team which almost reached Big Six championship must have had an interesting background. It was that K-Aggie spirit and that few who followed football back as early as 1896 that has made possible the great Kansas State-Nebraska game this afternoon before an expected crowd of 13,000 people.

Football has been an old sport at Kansas State. The Industrialist for October 23, 1875, has a suggestion in its columns that football be played. Football was no doubt played more or less before 1906, the year in which the Student's Herald, of which the Collegian is successor, was established, but as it had been introduced but a short time, it had not assumed much importance. In the fall term of 1896, there is recorded a game between the freshmen and sophomores as against the juniors and seniors. The lower classmen were champions in this notable event by a score 10-6. Menke, 1896, hit the line hard and King, also on the '96 team, bucked right guard with vim. Then the plea was raised, "Why cannot K. S. A. C. have a football team?" With such men as Pratt, Menke, King, Posten, Dial and others on this seemingly victorious team of 1896, they need fear no one.

Play Soldiers First.
Shortly after this, a team was organized of these hardy invincibles and taken to Junction City to play Fort Riley. On bad grounds and with sleet falling, the soldiers won by a score of 14-0. Posten, King, and Menken distinguished themselves and the enthusiasts were by no means discouraged. The next week the same teams played at Manhattan before a crowd of 500. Here, determination such as "Bo's" boys have, and brawn clashed, and in the gathering twilight the husky braves buried the hatchet and smoked the peace-pipe over an even drawn match.

Athletics Organized in 1897.
In February, '97, the Athletic association was organized, which put football on a firmer basis. That same year Ehrsmann coached the team, and in the first game, played with Dickinson county high school, the college was victorious by a score of 4-0.

The following year O. K. Williamson wrote a stirring appeal in behalf of football. Chapman was played two games with a tie score. Junction City was defeated, but Ottawa university defeated the college 16-6. This was the way football was started at Kansas State. All this happened before 1900.

After 1900, in 1901, Eddie Deitz, a halfback on the Northwestern team, an all victorious team of the so-called Big Nine which later was the Big Ten, became coach. Deitz was paid $300 for his three months' work, and "Bo" gets—sh! a winning football team. George Deitz, a brother to Eddie Deitz, succeeded Eddie, but both met with little success since there was little interest. They were followed by Booth, also a quarterback on the Northwestern team. Booth was connected with the faculty with his coaching interests. After two years Booth was followed by "Mike" Ahearn in the fall of 1905. He coached until 1908, then came Lowman, now on the athletic faculty at Wisconsin, then Bender and Clevenger, now head coach at Indiana university. Charles Bachman then took the reins, followed by "Bo." Bachman is now head coach of Florida university.

Players Furnished Suits.
The football suits were totally different from those of the "Purple Horde." They were varied, and as relates Prof. J. O. Hamilton of the physics department, one of the older faculty members, "In those days each player furnished his own equipment. One football was used for all games. The first game was played on the present Bluemont school site, and here was won the first game from Kansas university in 1906. The boys down the Kaw got $83.75 as their portion for this game." What will Nebraska get? In the earlier years, it is noticeable that training began late in the season, whereas the first week or even before, the Wildcats and "Bo" are at work. Football naturally took the place of baseball as the weather grew colder. Some wonder why it doesn't now, and why our boys don't warm up their blood and shine by trying it.

As the boys march against Nebraska this afternoon; that mass which grew out of a few, there seems to be the realization of that K-Aggie spirit and prophesy of 1896. "Let the good work go on and may the future see K. S. A. C. with the strongest team in the state"—and should there be added, in the Big Six.

MUSICIANS LEAD IN GRADES
Special to the Collegian
East Lansing, Mich.—In a comparative statement issued by the registrar of the grades for the first quarter at Michigan State college, it was found that a larger per cent of A grades were made by students in music while students in anatomy were only able to show five per cent A's.

The grade "C" headed the list in having the largest representation with 38 per cent of the grades being in that class. Thirteen per cent of the grades were A's, 33 per cent were B's, 38 per cent C's, 10 per cent D's while only three per cent of the total were failures.

A professor at Rutgers college admitted four days after the world's series that he did not know which baseball team won the championship or even the teams that played. He also insists that he has never heard Amos and Andy.

Ruth Claeren, '30, who is teaching in Coffeyville, will spend the week end in Manhattan visiting her parents, Major B. L. Claeren.

WAR VETERAN TALKS HERE ARMISTICE DAY

Kansas Chamber of American Legion Speaks For Comrades Who Died in World War.

D. W. Stewart, Independence, Kansas commander of the American Legion, addressed students at the Armistice day assembly Wednesday at the significance of Armistice Day.

Stewart spoke as the representative of his comrades who died for their country during the World War. He said in part, "On that original Armistice day, happiness, joy, sorrow, pride, and determination were predominating notes. On the annual day of commemoration of the coming of peace we feel these again. Of the four, my comrades would emphasize determination. Determination not to let their ideals perish. Determination to preserve peace with honor. Determination to hold our American privileges in trust and hand them down to posterity untarnished."

In speaking in favor of national defense Mr. Stewart said, "It is a fallacy to think that you can change human nature by enacting laws; to think that war can be prevented by adoption of treaties. First we need sufficient armed forces. Then we should have better understanding among the people of the world."

"Our national motto should be: 'Equal service for all and special privilege for none.' Once war becomes a common burden, war is less likely."

The chapel room was absolutely quiet as the significant hour of eleven o'clock approached and Commander Stewart sent greetings to his dead comrades in France and admonished them to rest in peace that they had so richly earned.

PAST GAMES WITH HUSKERS

men, Alex Nigro, captain of the Aggie and All-Big Six teams, and Henry Cronkite, this year's Kansas State captain, both of whom were given all-American honorable mention. Besides these two, there were a host of other stars on that aggregation that humbled the Cornhuskers. A few of them were Price Swartz, Lud Fiser, Eiden Auker, Adolph Hrabat, "Pete" Fairbank, and Alvin Stephenson. Most of these boys are back this year, all set to down the Huskers and gain a tie with them for the Big Six championship. With the help of a sturdy bunch of sophomores, this seems to be more than a possibility.

GANDHI CONQUERS BY LOVE

H. S. Dinsa, Indian Student at Kansas State Tells of Great Leader.

"Gandhi's force is love for his enemies," said H. S. Dinsa, who discussed "Gandhi and Conditions in India. He is now working on his dent forum. Dinsa is a native Indian and lived through the initiation of the non-violence movement in India. He is now working on his master's degree at Kansas State college.

Dinsa outlined briefly Gandhi's character and the conditions in India during and after the World War. "Gandhi has inherited both political and holy characteristics from his mother and his father. His mother was a devout Hindu, and his father a prime minister of an Indian province," said Dinsa. He stated that the great power Gandhi had over the non-violence followers was due to his faith in ultimate triumph of truth and his magnetic personality.

The Indian people as a nation look to Gandhi as a god sent from heaven to deliver them from poverty and ignorance to which they have been subjected for so long. "The rebellion, an aggressive and open desire for freedom will be successful because of the sincerity with which Gandhi is leading it," said Dinsa.

HELEN HOSTETTER TALKS.

Former Instructor Here Tells of Experience in the Orient.

"Go East, Young Man, Go East" was the subject of a talk given by Miss Helen Hostetter, until recently on the faculty of Lingnan University of Canton, China, in journalism seminar Thursday. Miss Hostetter was formerly connected with the journalism department here.

Miss Hostetter stressed the fact a journalist could travel without professional damage, but that inexperienced writers should have a sure feeling for writing and financial security before they attempted free lancing from the Orient. Another way to practice journalism in the East is to get teaching positions, which are plentiful if one is not too choosy, she added.

Life in China is not particularly dangerous, and a teacher has more off-campus social opportunities than those in America, according to Miss Hostetter.

TODAY'S GAME LAST FOR TEN

Paul ("Pete") Fairbank, Topeka, has been kept out of the lineup a great deal this year because of injuries, but when he does play, he makes up for lost time. "Pete" is expected to turn in a creditable game today.

Glen Harsh, Oil Hill, has been a ground gainer all year despite his weight. Harsh is one of "Bo's" speed merchants and has kept the opponents' defense on their toes, for once Harsh gets loose, it requires two men to catch him.

Robert Gump, Lawrence, who lettered at guard last year, will also end his Big Six career tomorrow. These men will be hard to replace, but "Bo" can be expected to develop new material.

Beauvais Dinner-Dance.

The annual Beauvais dinner-dance was given at the Wareham hotel Friday night. June Layton's band furnished the music. Chaperones were Prof. and Mrs. H. W. Davis, and Prof. and Mrs. H. Miles Heberer.

CABINET TO MEET

The Y. W. C. A. cabinet will meet Monday night at 8:15 o'clock in Calvin hall rest room.

Wilma Hartley, a former student who is now attending State Teachers' college at Emporia, is here for the week end.

Louis Dobson, former student, who has been employed with the state highway department at Sublette, returned to his home in Manhattan yesterday. He will enroll here second semester as a junior in landscape architecture.

By John Reinecke.

With two of the leading and surest of the most outstanding title contenders in the Big Six conference matched together in a grid class this afternoon, either Nebraska or Kansas State is to lose its championship hopes and Kansas State's guess is easy to understand—13 to 6 for the Wildcats.

Nebraska hasn't played a major game since the game they won from Kansas university, and they are coming into K-Aggie land with a squad that is physically primed for the contest. They will meet a Wildcat squad that will no doubt be crippled for the second consecutive week by the absence of Ralph Graham. Graham will be suited up but whether Bo McMillin will subject this great backfield powerhouse to the chances of further injury on the wet field, which is inevitable, is another question.

Graham's injuries have been rapidly mending and he has shown his usual amount of excess power in the last few scrimmages in which he has taken part. He will no doubt be ready to play, as far as he is concerned. But a wet field and a smashing Cornhusker line are two things that will make the coaches and trainers think twice before they let him take part in the game. Graham is a sophomore and has two years of conference competition before him.

The injuries of Graham and Wiggins can be compared easily because they are similar. Wiggins had a bright career before him but identical injuries removed him from the spotlight which he occupied in his sophomore year and now he has taken a back seat because he is not a noted ball lugger. Yet he is one of the most valuable men on the team and surely the most valuable on defense.

Bo may not play Graham today and the spectators will no doubt raise a howl, but they must remember that if he isn't playing, it isn't because the coaching staff doesn't think the Wildcats need him. But instead, it is because they think he is not able to play.

Auker will enter the game with an injured elbow. An injury which he suffered early in the season and re-injured in the Iowa State game. His passing will no doubt be nearly perfect, as in the past, but if he doesn't do his share, it is because passing plays aren't being used. This minor injury is nothing to worry the spectators, but it worries the coaches, because passes against such a team as Nebraska must be accurate to be successful.

This gridiron battle will mark the 15th game between the two schools. In these 15 games, Nebraska has gathered the lion's share with the lopsided advantage of 13 wins while the Wildcat teams have only been able to win one game, which was the one taken by the McMillin men last season. The two teams played to a 0 to 0 tie in 1925. In the fifteen games the Wildcats have only scored 40 points while the Cornhuskers have massed a total of 331.

The other Big Six conference battle played today is staged at Columbia, Mo., where the Missouri Tigers and the Oklahoma Sooners clash before a Tiger homecoming crowd. Missouri should bow to their southern rivals, although chances are about even, as both teams hold cellar positions in the conference standings. Kansas takes on a little exhibition practice before a Washington university homecoming crowd in a tilt at St. Louis. Dope favors the Washington squad, but K. U. deserves at least one more victory this season. Iowa State is resting this week end in the form of a game with Drake at Des Moines. It may be interesting to note that all Big Six conference members are playing in homecoming exhibitions this week end.

Men's Sports

Soccer.

Semi-finals in soccer will begin next Monday afternoon. The teams that have emerged victorious from the preliminaries are Delta Sigma Phi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Phi Sigma Kappa, and Phi Kappa Tau. On Monday afternoon the Delta Sigs play the Sig Eps and on Tuesday afternoon the Phi Sigs play the Phi Kappa Taus.

On Wednesday afternoon the winners of these two matches meet to play the finals.

Basketball.

With 29 teams entered in intramural basketball this promises to be a season of much competition and many good games. This is the largest number of teams ever to be entered in basketball in the history of intramurals. This increase is due to the number of independent teams which have been entered. There are six of these teams, calling themselves White Shirts, Lone Stars, Athletics, Macks, Aggie Knights, and Apaches. Two of these teams, the Aggie Knights and the Lone Stars, were entered in last year's schedules. The Sig Eps were the winners of last year's basketball trophy, defeating the Phi Deltas in the finals.

Prof. L. P. Washburn has organized the teams into groups for playing off the preliminaries. These groupings are:

Group one—Tau Kappa Epsilon, Acacia, Lambda Chi Alpha, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Sigma Kappa.
Group 2—Phi Kappa Alpha, Alpha Rho Chi, Farm House, Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Phi Epsilon.
Group 3—Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Gamma Rho, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Nu, Delta Sigma Phi.
Group 4—Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Kappa Tau, Kappa Sigma, Phi Kappa.

Group 5—Lone Stars, Athletics, White Shirts, Macks, Apaches.
Group 6—Aggie Knights, Phi Lambda Theta, Theta Xi, Alpha Kappa Lambda.

For the past two weeks the organizations have been practicing at the gym one hour per week. There are a number of former high school stars playing on the several teams, and a season of fast ball is expected. Games begin next Monday.

Women's Sports

Neophytes are intramural swimming winners. They finished with a score of 59.5. Kappa Delta came next with 37 points. Third and fourth places were taken by Van Zile hall and X team with a score of 44 and Alpha Delta Pi with 34.5 points came fifth.

Inter-class swimming meets started Friday, November 13, at 5 o'clock. The class teams are: Freshmen, Jean Dexter, Pauline Compton, Alice Kimball, Marian Wait; Sophomores, Mildred Forrester, Lura Larson, Barbara Lautz, Catherine McKinney, Jane Swenson, Mae Gordon; Juniors, Mary Holton, Florence Witte, Geraldine Cornwall, Helen Davis; Seniors, Margaret Chaney, Rachel Lamprecht, Ruth Silkenon, Esther Hobson, Galvesta Siever.

Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Xi Delta and Neophytes are the group winners of intramural archery. Kappa Delta ranks first with a score of 238. Next is Kappa Kappa Gamma with 134 points, then Neophytes with 116, and fourth, Alpha Xi Delta, 98.

The other scores were: Van Zile hall 113, O. K. team 107, Mac and Mac 103, Delta Zeta 90, Alpha Delta Pi 90, B team 88, Phi Omega Pi 83, Delta Delta Delta 80, K team 79, X team 72, O team 63, Beta Phi Alpha 50, W and M 41, Chi Omega 26, A and M 15, and J and M 15.

Elizabeth Hartley, class of 1929, is here for the Homecoming game. She is enroute from New York city to Tucson, Arizona.

Why Not Take a Bit From Each Proof To Make Final Picture?

"I like my hair in this one," says a co-ed, displaying a handful of proofs, "I like my eyes better in this one, but look at the way my hair lies."

"Really, I think yours are quite good, but just look at these," says another fair subject of a picture. "These are good pictures, but they don't look like you," says another frank soul.

And so it goes. Whether to sit or not to sit, that is the question. Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of outrageous friends and fellow students or to sit again before the peering eye of the camera and allow the defects of one's physiognomy to be displayed to the curious world.

Shall it be a smiling picture or do you like serious ones? It's a big problem, this one of deciding which proof will make the best picture, probably a half inch square, in the Royal Purple. It's a problem which is troubling many Kansas State students, for will not all their friends and all the high school buddies see that likeness in the yearbook?

By taking a consensus of his friends a student finally decides on the proof he will return to the photographer. But the tragedy is that he usually forgets which one was decided to be the best proof while he is on the way to the photographer, and he must decide all over again for himself which picture it will be.

ECONOMY IS BY-WORD OF STUDENTS AT N. U.

Orchestra and Ballroom Prices Reduced Ten to Twenty Per Cent.

Lincoln.—Economy is the by-word of the student body at the University of Nebraska. General retrenchment and reduction of prices on social functions advocated by The Daily Nebraskan and representative student organizations was realized a few days ago when Lincoln hotel managers and orchestra leaders expressed willingness to cooperate and consequently lowered prices of orchestras and ballrooms ten to twenty per cent.

On the heels of a resolution adopted by the inter-fraternity and Panhellenic councils, organizations representing the Greek letter societies on the campus, to reduce prices for social affairs, the hotel men and musicians conferred with committees from the councils together with faculty representatives. An agreement resulted in which the prices on ballrooms were slashed twenty per cent, and orchestras cut their rates from $10 to $25.

In response to the action, the student groups are urging campus organizations to refrain from contracting out-of-town orchestras, and insofar as possible to give an equal share of business to each of the hotels.

CLASS HAD TO CHEAT.

Texas Ordered to Use All Known Methods of Cribbing.

(Special to The Collegian.) Austin, Tex.—Cheating was compulsory in a quiz given recently in a psychology class at the University of Texas.

"Look at your neighbor's paper, compare your answers, change your seat if you wish; cheat in any way you can provide that you do not talk," were the instructions given at the beginning of the class period. Elated students need no urging, and with complacent expressions, cheerfully copied each others answers and willingly exchanged papers for the purpose of comparison.

Material covered by this quiz had previously been covered by a quiz in which no cheating was possible. The university maintains an honor system.

K. U. STUDENTS SEND PETITION TO HOOVER

Special to The Collegian. Lawrence, Kan.—A disarmament petition signed by 24 members of the world history class of the Mount Oread training school, and circulated by them, was signed by 565 persons before it was sent to President Hoover last Thursday.

Besides the members of the class, the petition was signed by students of Kansas university, parents of the students, and townspeople.

Oscar H. P. Snyder, instructor of the class, inaugurated the petition because of his interest in the plan, and because of its value as a class project.

Phyllis Lattimer and Louise Ware are week end guests of Eunice Schroeter.

TO OFFER NEW COURSE

Radio Speaking and Announcing Course to be Introduced.

Tentative plans are being made by the public speaking department to keep abreast of the times and, in conjunction with the staff of the college broadcasting station, offer a course in radio speaking and announcing next semester.

Though the plans are at present incomplete, this new course will probably be a two hour study and practice in the essentials of the radio speaking voice, preparation of material for broadcasting, radio announcing and customary studio regulations. One hour may be spent in class work and three hours in the laboratory by appointment. The laboratory used will be the station. Each class member might be given 30 minutes each week on the air in addition to class work and a considerable amount of work for studio broadcasting only.

The class will be limited to ten or twelve members selected by the head of the public speaking department. Mr. Longsdorf expects to use students of this class to present some of the subject matter talks now given by members of the faculty.

WISE CLUB TO MEET.

The Episcopal students' "Wise Club" will meet at the student center at Sixth and Poyntz at 5:30 o'clock Sunday. The regular supper will be served earlier than usual so that more time may be given over to entertainment.

The women's team will compete against the boys in giving humorous stunts. All Episcopal students and their friends are welcome.

SET DEADLINE FOR PHOTOS

December 19 is Final Date for Royal Purple Sitings—More Groups in Contest.

Deadline for sorority and fraternity pictures for the 1932 Royal Purple has been set at December 19. For every picture taken after this time, except for those who are not in school this semester, a fine of one dollar will be added to the original cost. "This rule will be strictly observed," said James Chapman, editor of the yearbook.

Pictures of the college administration will be taken next week. Housemothers' pictures will be completed before the Thanksgiving vacation.

Twenty-two organizations are competing in the sales contest which lasts until November 27. During this time these groups will earn the right to nominate candidates for pictures on the feature pages of the book by selling Royal Purples.

Five organizations have joined the contest since Monday, November 8. Betty Songster, Wellington, will supervise sales for Kappa Kappa Gamma; Buck Jones, Manhattan, for Lambda Chi Alpha; Faigh Daigh, Ashland, for Alpha Delta Pi; Elwyn Shonyo, Bushton, for Sigma Phi Epsilon; and S. Morford, Olsburg, for Alpha Kappa Lambda.

N-i-b-b-l-i-n-g-s

Homecoming means a celebration in more than one way. Midsemester examinations are over. Ralph Van Camp, junior in journalism, was told to act more dignified yesterday when one of the K men discovered he was not a freshman. When the street car tracks were moved, the paddle lines had to find other places to form. Rather sad. It had almost become a tradition for freshmen to run down the tracks as they were heated. Activity tickets were advertised yesterday on the campus bulletin boards, available at the athletic office. One underclassman is said to have been almost kicked out of the office when he asked Mike about them. The student suffering with barber's itch bears a marked resemblance to Abe Lincoln with his beard. Westher foreclosures must have been celebrating one day too soon. The flags on Anderson yesterday indicated fair and warmer climate. The rain which fell did not have the desired effect on fraternity house decorations. Some of the exteriors looked rather soggy. Max Focke has a nursery. But his spider, Charley, has a web. Focke feeds his pet files, and glares at ambitious pledges with house cleaning tendencies.

KANSAS STATE ENTERS WORLD PEACE DRIVE

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE TO BE HELD ON CAMPUS ALL NEXT WEEK.

STATE MEET AT WASHBURN

Student Forum Wednesday Will Be Devoted To Question—Faculty Men To Speak Here.

Disarmament will be the topic of discussion on many college and university camps during the next few weeks. Kansas State has planned a week's program to begin Monday, as have other institutions over the world. A state-wide conference on disarmament will be held at Washburn college, December 4, 5, and 6.

Blanche Duguid, Olathe, and Max McCullage, Manhattan, are chairmen of the committee of disarmament programs for the observance of the world's disarmament week, November 15 to 20. Meetings will be held Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday here. With the exception of Wednesday's meeting, which will be upstairs in the college cafeteria, all the meetings will be held in Calvin 58.

C. M. Correll, assistant dean of the division of general science, will speak on "Historical Background of Disarmament," Monday. Tuesday, Captain Ellsworth Young of the military department will discuss "Disarmament from the Technical Standpoint." "Disarmament from the Economic Standpoint" will be the subject of Dr. J. E. Kammerer's speech Wednesday. Doctor Kammerer is head of the department of economics and sociology at Kansas State. "Aspects of the American Proposal" will be discussed, Thursday, by Dr. Howard T. Hill of the public speaking department.

At the Topeka meeting delegates will be housed in Benton hall, sorority and fraternity houses, and in homes of members of the Topeka high school Hi-Y. Howard Gilpin, representative for the northeast district of the state Hi-Y, has asked that members of the Topeka Hi-Y be allowed to attend the conference as spectators. They have agreed to pay the registration fee.

Approximately one hundred prominent Topekaans have been asked to be patrons of the conference. The finance committee hopes to raise $150 in this way.

WORKS OF SIR EDMUND GOSSE REVIEW TOPIC

Miss Anna Sturmer of English Department Discusses Literary Genius.

"Sir Edmund Gosse's genius lies in his ability to paint pen pictures," said Miss Anna Sturmer in her lecture Tuesday night in recreation center on the "Critical Works of Edmund Gosse."

"Silhouettes," a study of 41 characters, is one of Sir Edmund's latest books. Nature in Poetry, Mrs. Humphrey Ward, Sorrows of Ovid, and other interesting chapters make up its pages. His masterpiece, "Father and Son," is a story written in the time of parental authority of the author's own life. "There were no quarrels between father and son, although they did disagree. He writes simply a story of a man who took a human being's privilege to fashion a life for himself and do his own thinking."

"His works are familiar to every student of literature, but they are no more enjoyed than those of any other author."

PHI LAMBDA UPSILON ELECTS
Phi Lambda Upsilon, national honorary chemical society, has announced the election of nine men, who are majoring in industrial chemistry or chemical engineering at Kansas State.

The new members are Ralph Conrad, Manhattan; Raymond Roepke, Manhattan; Crawford Beeson, Wamego; Romaine Cribbett, Parsons; Glen Hoglund, Miller; Fredrick Sent, Cawker City; Elwyn Shonyo, Bushton; Paul Warner, Whiting; and Sheldon Woods, Delphos.

Alpha Epsilon chapter of the organization was founded at Kansas State last spring and membership is selected from students having a high scholastic standing.

WINS CHAMPIONSHIP.

Olive Schroeder, Frederick, won the reserve grand championship with a black Angus steer that she exhibited at the Kansas National Live Stock show at Wichita. Miss Schroeder raised the steer as a 4-H club project.

President F. D. Farrell's Welcome

The countrywide custom of having college homecoming days is growing in favor and significance. The fact that the homecoming usually is associated with a football game indicates something of the public appreciation of the significance of college athletics in student life.

There are several things about a high class football game on a crisp November day that appeal to some of our most admirable and delightful instincts: the colorful crowd, the keen competition between the teams, the music of the bands, the fine sportsmanship of the players and of the spectators. It was not accidental that Greek civilization appreciated and practiced athletics.

This year Kansas State college is specially pleased to welcome her graduates and other former students and other friends. The football season has been a thrilling one. The college team has performed with great credit to itself and to the college. This year's homecoming game with University of Nebraska promises to be a thriller, in which will occur many of the typical incidents that make football so popular in America.

This year, as for several years, the spirit of the students here has been excellent. The team has been supported loyally, both in victory and in defeat. In this, as in many other important respects, the students of the college are setting their elders an excellent example.

It is hoped that there will be a specially large representation of former students at homecoming. In most instances, the interest of former students in their college increases as time passes. After ten or twenty years following graduation, a person is likely to be more sentimental than he was at graduation time. As one grows older, one ceases to be ashamed to be sentimental and learns that sentiment is one of the things that really matter. To participate sincerely in homecoming at one's college is to indulge a beautiful sentiment.

It is the wish of the officers and faculty of the college this year's visit of the homecomers will be interesting and pleasurable.

Westerners Like The Hill and Want To See The Game

"I certainly wish we were going to be here for that football game Saturday," was the only statement of down heartedness that could be obtained from any of six Wyoming boys as they lunched in Thompson hall Tuesday noon. The boys were members of the stock judging team from the University of Wyoming at Laramie, and had stopped in Manhattan for two days on their way to the Kansas National Livestock show at Wichita.

"We notice many things about the campus which are similar to ours, especially that wind Monday," remarked one of the boys. He explained that there is more shrubbery on the hill at Kansas State than at Laramie, and that there are many more buildings here. The buildings caught the fancy of the visitors. They explained that newer buildings at Laramie are made from native stone so that they hope some day to have a campus similar in appearance to this one.

The group from the west is at present planning to practice in the territory near Kansas City for a time following the Royal. Before going to the International show the team intends to visit the Iowa State college at Ames, the University of Illinois at Urbana, and the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis. All the members of the group praised the food at the Kansas State cafeteria, and expressed gratitude for the fine way in which they had been treated while here. They had been given Kansas State sheep and swine on which to practice and they commended the quality of the Kansas stock.

TO LAND GRANT CONVENTION

President F. D. Farrell and Four Deans Attend Chicago Meeting

President F. D. Farrell and deans of four divisions of the college will attend the 45th annual convention of the Association of Land Grant colleges and universities in Chicago, November 16, 17, and 18. The delegates will meet at the Stevens hotel.

Deans who will accompany President Farrell are Miss Margaret Justin, home economics; L. E. Call, agriculture; R. A. Seaton, engineering; and H. Umberger, extension division.

While in Chicago the delegation will attend a reunion of Chicago alumni of this college, November 18 at the civic opera house. L. A. Fitz will preside.

TO CHOOSE POULTRY JUDGES

Members Will Be Named Last of Month.

Members of the poultry judging team, which will compete in the intercollegiate poultry judging contest, in Chicago, December 5, will be chosen about the last of this month, according to Prof. Harold Scott, of the department of poultry husbandry.

Those trying out for places on the team are: L. E. Croy, Norcatur; Dale Halbert, Junction City; John Miller, Detroit; Earl Johnson, Norton; Virgil Unruh, Pawnee Rock; and Marvin Vantravers, Centuria.

Ione Clotier, Holton, and Everett McNay, Clay Center, attended the dedication of the new rural high school building at St. Marys Wednesday evening.

DIVISION GOES RUSSIAN WITH FIVE YEAR PLAN

ECONOMICS DOESN'T FIGURE IN CURRICULUM FOR GRADUATE REQUIREMENTS.

OTHER DIVISIONS SIMPLIFY

Hour Requirement for Graduation in Home Economics Reduced From 128 to 124; Five Hours of Chemistry Dropped.

The veterinary medicine curriculum of Kansas State college was changed from a four to a five year course this week. This was the most important change in curricula that was approved at a general faculty meeting Tuesday and becomes effective September 1, 1932. Iowa State college and Cornell university are the only other American colleges which have adopted the five-year course that allows the veterinary students to take one year of pre-veterinary medicine work. The new subjects will be similar to those taken now by general science students in the freshman class.

Makes General Work Possible. According to Dr. R. R. Dykstra, dean of the veterinary division, the change makes possible the study of more professional and more general work.

In the home economics division, the number of hours of work required for graduation was reduced from 128 to 124 by dropping five hours of inorganic chemistry. Next year freshmen students in home economics will take five hours of organic chemistry and five hours of inorganic chemistry. Previously, the course included ten hours of inorganic and five hours of organic chemistry. The changes will not affect the curriculum in art.

Changes in the engineering division included the addition of three new courses for graduate study in the electrical engineering department and the substitution of a few new courses for elective hours. More time will be spent in studying the electron tubes which are revolutionizing the field of electricity.

A few changes in the animal husbandry department of the agricultural division were necessitated by the change in the veterinary curriculum.

Courses were changed this week in order to include information about the changes in the new catalogs which will be printed soon.

HOFFMAN STILL CONFINED.

Student Will Return to Classes This Week.

Lester Hoffman of Haddam, who was injured in an automobile wreck near his home last Sunday is still unable to attend classes and is confined to his bed at home.

The accident occurred when the car driven by Hoffman collided with another car driven by a Miss Throop, also of Haddam. The scene of the wreck was at an intersection of two state highways which enjoy heavy traffic. This accident was the third of the week and the second of the day at this particular intersection.

Hoffman came from the smaller of the two highways and collided with the other machine as he entered the main highway. Both cars overturned and were badly wrecked. Hoffman was alone in his car and was unconscious when picked up. In the other car were three passengers, including Miss Throop, who received severe bruises and lacerations.

Hoffman gained his senses quickly, and it was not thought that he was severely injured. However, a car passing several minutes later found him again unconscious at the side of the road, and he was taken to a hospital at Narka, where he received medical attention. The injuries are confined to his back, but X-ray pictures fail to reveal any broken bones.

He is rapidly regaining his strength and will be able to return to classes next week, it is thought.

Dr. Martin Fritz, former member of the faculty at Kansas State college and now psychology instructor at Iowa State college, will spend the week end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fritz and sisters, Edna and Edith.

Fred Davis, Poseyville, Indiana, former superintendent of schools at Poseyville, is visiting his brother, Prof. H. W. Davis of the English department.

NO CLASSES TODAY

Homecoming day—no classes.

Such was the essence of a statement issued this week by President F. D. Farrell following a discussion with representatives of the Student Council and Dean Mary P. Van Zile, chairman of the faculty council of student affairs.

President Farrell commended "The fine spirit displayed by the students so far this year."

The statement follows in part: "This decision is based on a desire to cooperate with the Student Council and the student body to make the Homecoming Day successful and satisfactory."

Munson, Junction City; Dean McCammon, Manhattan; L. D. Morgan, Manhattan; R. O. Blair, Coleman, Texas; and W. L. McMullen, Oberlin. The Oklahoma A. and M. judges took second place, and the University of Wyoming team took third. R. O. Blair, Manhattan, was high point man in the contest, winning 298 out of a possible 300 points.

The Kansas State team will compete at the American Royal in Kansas City today.

LESLIE BEARD INJURED.

Suffers Fractured Arm in Car Crash Sunday.

Leslie Beard, a student at Kansas State two years ago and a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity, was one of the three McPherson youths who received injuries in an automobile accident near Topeka Sunday afternoon. The other two boys were Q. R. Lytle, who received a fractured arm, and Quentin Davis, a University of Kansas student. Davis suffered internal injuries and died at the Starmont hospital in Topeka Wednesday night.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Seaman road and Central avenue, north of Topeka, at 5 o'clock when the car driven by Leslie Beard crashed into a car driven by C. C. Holmes of Lincoln, Neb. Both cars were badly damaged. The three in the other car were taken to the Starmont hospital in Topeka.

TO ANNUAL CONVENTION

Maurice DuMars, Agra, and Ward Colwell, Omega, will leave early Sunday morning for Minneapolis, Minn., where they will attend a four day annual convention of Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism fraternity. DuMars is president of the local chapter.

STUDENTS ARE ASKED NOT TO TAKE HOLIDAY

HABA, PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL, WANTS COOPERATION OF STUDENT BODY.

SEATON ISSUES STATEMENT

Two Holidays Have Been Granted Already by President F. D. Farrell This Year For Football Games.

Irrespective of the results of today's game there will be no excuse for students cutting classes Monday, said Adolph Haba, East St. Louis, Ill., president of the Student Council, last night.

"In requesting a holiday Saturday, the Student Council presumed it was expressing the will of the student body. One holiday was granted when Kansas State played Kansas university at Lawrence, and today's holiday makes the second Saturday no classes have been held on the campus. The student body should not repeat the performance of last year, when it took a holiday following the victory over Nebraska."

In less than two weeks a three and one-half day holiday is scheduled for Thanksgiving. Students have already missed two days of regular college work, and any ungranted holidays than those scheduled would probably result in the increasing of daily assignments, in addition to placing the student body in an unappreciative light.

Dean R. A. Seaton of the engineering division issued letters to departmental heads Friday, which were read to engineering students during classes. The letter requested that there be no class cutting Monday regardless of the outcome of today's gridiron battle in view of the fact that President Farrell has declared a holiday today and a holiday was given the students the day of the K. U. game.

Dean Seaton asked the students to cooperate with the Student Governing association in regard to this matter.

ART STUDENTS RECEIVE PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE

Stage Exhibits and Design Posters For Children's Books For Teachers' Convention.

Opportunity for practical work in staging exhibits and designing posters and invitations was given students in art department last week in connection with the exhibit of children's books and the state teachers' association convention.

Jerrold I. Mills, student in industrial journalism, made the striking posters which advertised the exhibit. Helen Louise Davis, student in home economics, and Margaret Patterson designed the announcements of the exhibit and distributed them personally among the city school children.

Louise Davis, also a home economics student, designed and cut the linoleum block from which were printed the 1,500 invitations sent out by the home economics division to the visiting teachers for the tea Friday afternoon.

The novel idea of having the children's book exhibit in the form of a miniature book show, was originated by Miss Carrie Mae Weber, instructor in the department of art.

COLES SPEAKS TO AGS.

HOMECOMERS AND NEBRASKA. WELCOME.

Kansas State has long looked forward to this day which will mean so many different things to so many different people.

To Bo McMillin's team it will mean the last bid this year for championship honors in the Big Six conference.

To alumni returning for a week end on the campus they know so well, it means renewing of acquaintances, reminiscing, a day of experiencing that old college enthusiasm.

To Nebraska it means a victory or a loss for the football scoring card of the university, a good game to witness, and a big dance to attend.

To the organized houses it means a greeting of members both of the local and visiting chapters. Decorations express the sentiment of the Greeks.

To all it means Homecoming.
 Welcome.

OTHER CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Coming in the midst of an enthusiastic football season, the judging teams of Kansas State college are practically submerged. Thursday the livestock judging team won first place at the Kansas National Livestock show in competition with seven other large schools of this section of the country. Two men of the Kansas team were the ranking individuals of the contest.

Today and next week this same team and other teams representing the college will compete in other contests. Whether they win or lose will probably not be known by a majority of Kansas State students, but just the same they are making a record for the college which is not forgotten.

Congratulations and good luck to the Kansas State judges!

MUSINGS OF A STUDENT.

Care and worry has flown from the shoulders of Kansas State alumni. Pride is radiated from their faces as they proudly march up and down campus paths. But brave, forgetful and aged is the alumnus who can smile as he looks on a chemistry annex. Did he never have the haunting, perplexing quizzes that besiege the Kansas State student today? Has he forgotten the "long looked for, scared you'll get it" flunk slip? Or was he an individual who could stare chemistry in the face and succeed with a "D"? "But after all," says he, "what has that to do with beating Nebraska?" And so we quiz-haunted students visualize prosperous alumni days as we welcome them back to Alma Mater.

WILL WE DISARM

An unprecedented event will take place February 2, 1932, in Geneva, Switzerland, when all the nations of the world will send representatives in an attempt to limit national arms.

The expression, "disarmament," is misleading in that the aim of the nations is limitation of arms rather than complete disarmament. No doubt the conference will be accompanied with the same argument, delay, and unrelenting stands that the Naval Arms conference was in which five powers met. But for the world to meet to discuss a vital problem that may mean the end of wars, is a stride in advancement.

The movement has extended to colleges and universities. This means that the persons who will shoulder this problem tomorrow are studying it today. Students are holding "disarmament conferences."

What is Kansas State doing?

The Y. M. international group is working on disarmament. A special week of disarmament discussions has been planned for the week beginning November 16, at which time the problem will be discussed from the economic, technical, historical, and social aspects. Kansas State will send delegates to the state disarmament conference in Topeka in December. There are petitions around on the Hill to be signed by women who endorse disarmament or limitations of arms as stated in the agreement.

These steps indicate that American youth is interested in this big international question that will be its own within a few years. Will American youth investigate and judge accordingly, and defend its stand against opposition?—E. M.

— The Snoopers —

This rain proposition is dampening to say the least, especially to followers of the great pigskin sport. However, we'll do as they do in Rome when it rains—just let it rain.

On second thought, this precipitation may be the thing we need. Pleasant memories hark back to a few weeks ago when the Purple Horde seriously lacerated the vanity of the West Virginia Mountaineers on a slippery and muddy field.

Perhaps Captain Cronkite spent last night improving the accuracy of his now famous toe with a paper-wad football aimed between the ears of some freshman.

We wonder what strenuous function occurred last Thursday night that all the Wampus Cats went to. Few, if any members of that worthy organization were on the campus with their paddles at eight yesterday morning to form a receiving line for the capless frosh.

Personal nomination for a bigger and better tradition: the capless Frosh (we abhor repetition—so capitalize frosh).

Tonight at midnight we set sail for Minneapolis, Minn., with a coveted foot-long list of telephone numbers donated by Pal George Boone in our vest pocket. On the side, we shall attend meetings of the convention to which we are sent.

Solely as an accommodation to George we shall check his rating before his return to that metropolis for his next summer's vacation.

One Manhattan cleaner is a veritable bundle of sunshine. Yesterday he cheerfully remarked that the sky looked swell for the cleaning and pressing profession. Too bad he wasn't born a jillion years ago. Business must have been great long about Noah's time.

Judge For Yourself

NOT FOR ADOPTION

In the November 12 issue of the Kansas City Times, a caption under a picture of Dr. Howard T. Hill identifies him as a member of the faculty of Kansas City State college, Manhattan.

The picture leaves no doubt in the readers mind about it being Doctor Hill of Kansas State college. Once having seen him no one could mistake him for anybody else. The caption admits that the college is located in Manhattan, but still claims that the name of the school is Kansas City State college.

Obviously a mistake has been made on the part of the Kansas City Times. The question is, was the mistake purposely made or not? Possibly the copyreader who wrote the caption in question thought that Kansas City should adopt Kansas State college. If so, it was a commendable action on his part. Kansas State college is worthy to be claimed by any city. But that fact does not warrant the changing the name of the college at will. It took an act of the state legislature of Kansas to change the name last year, and the works of the state legislature are things not to be trifled with.

Possibly there was really a question in the mind of the copyreader as to just what the name of the college is, and he took this method of getting around the difficulty. Possibly there are others who are not just sure what the name of the college is, as enacted by the legislature. If they don't know, it is time that they were finding out.

Kansas State College of Agriculture and Applied Science is not an orphan to be adopted by copyreaders of city newspapers over the country. It is a child with two living parents, fathered by the United States and mothered by the state of Kansas.—H. A.

We are beginning to wonder just how our Kansas university friends do feel about us.

The following paragraphs were extracted from the October 28 issue of the Kansas City Times.

"All power to the Kansas Aggies in their fight for the Big Six conference football championship, was the general expression here now that the University of Kansas is definitely out of the picture to repeat as the champion. K. U. athletic authorities and football players all are joining in expressing wishes of good luck to the Aggies."

"The Kansas Aggies are a great team this season," Dr. Allen said, "and I believe they surely are headed toward the championship with such impetus that the two remaining opponents, Nebraska and Iowa State, will be unable to stop them. Anyway, Kansas is all for the Aggies to retain that championship for the state of Kansas."

After Kansas State lost to Iowa State Saturday the following article appeared in the editorial paragraphs of the University Daily Kansan.

"Into the darkest cloud there comes a ray of sunshine. Even though Kansas did lose Saturday—so did the Kansas Aggies!"

Fine spirit, K. U.—C.R.

FEWER CARS AT K. U.

(Special to The Collegian.)

Lawrence, Kan.—A decrease of approximately 18 per cent in the number of student automobile license applications at the University of Kansas this year was reported this week by Chancellor E. H. Lindley. This fact may be attributed to the action taken by the Board of Regents last summer, which requires that students must have their parents' permission to keep cars at the university, but the decrease of over 10 per cent in the number of cars registered by professors is hard to explain.

At the time of enrollment 806

students stated that they intended to drive cars during the school year, but many of them do not have their parents' permission yet, according to records at the office. Those whose parents have not sent in permits are being called to the chancellor's office for questioning. Many say they have changed their minds since declaring their intentions of having cars.

"I liked Chesterfield right from the start"

"No, I don't know a blessed thing about how cigarettes are made. But, of course, I would want the tobacco to be PURE. And then I've heard that the blending is very important. I'd want that to be done just right.

"Then the paper. I don't like paper that you can taste—or smell when it's burning. I'd want that pure too.

"Another thing. I want to smoke whenever I feel like it—without worrying about smoking too many. So I want my cigarettes MILD.

"But the main thing, of course, is TASTE. I don't care for over-sweetened cigarettes. I much prefer those that are just sweet enough.

"Chesterfield seems to satisfy in every one of these ways. That's why I'd rather have a Chesterfield."

SMOKERS tire of too much sweetness in a cigarette, and they don't like rawness. For a steady diet, they want a cigarette like CHESTERFIELD—a mild and mellow smoke, free from any over-sweetness or any harshness or bitterness. That's why more and more smokers every day are changing to CHESTERFIELD.
Good... they've got to be good.

CREDIT SYSTEM CHANGED

Classification Will Depend On Student's Course.

The classification of students has been changed from a definite number of hours and points regardless of curriculum to a system whereby students in different curricula will need different hours and point requirements according to the course they are pursuing, as a result of the recent action of the council of deans.

Under the old system a student in any curriculum must have to his credit 26 hours and points to be classified as a sophomore, 49 hours and points to be a junior, and 88 hours and points for a senior classification. Now that so many of the curricula have been reduced in hours and points requirements for graduation, it has been necessary to reduce the classification requirements accordingly, otherwise students who will graduate in the spring or at the end of the summer session are sometimes classified as juniors until they lack only one semester of graduation.

Under the new ruling each student in any curriculum must have "nine hours and points less than the full number of hours required in the one, two and three years, respectively, in the curriculum in which the student is enrolled" according to the action of the council of deans.

CAMELS are never parched or toasted!

FRESHNESS and flavor in a cigarette trace right back to natural moisture.

If you overheat or process tobacco so harshly as to dry out all natural moisture you drive out freshness and flavor too.

Camel never parches or toasts the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos it uses—they are naturally smooth, cool, mellow, with natural moisture retained.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack proves such a blessing to Camel smokers—it brings them a fine cigarette fresh to start with, and fresh to smoke.

If you don't realize what natural moisture means in genuine freshness and flavor, switch to Camels and see.

Try this mild, slow-burning, throat-friendly favorite for just one day—then leave it, if you can! R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, Winston-Salem, N. C.

RECENT DEFEATS DO NOT DAMPEN K-AGGIE SPIRITS

NEW MEN TAKE OVER REGULARS' ASSIGNMENT IN SCRIMMAGE

THE OLD FIGHT STILL THERE

Twelve Seniors Will Play Last Game On Ahearn Field Saturday When McMillen Meet North Dakota State.

Away from a cold slashing rain and the prying eyes of spectators, "Bo" McMillin sent his rejuvenated Kansas State football team through a light signal practice and scrimmage last night under the east wing of memorial stadium. It was a new team and several sophomores dotted the line in place of regulars who were injured or released from practice. New plays came with this new team and spectators can be assured that the Wildcat spirit hasn't been dampened in recent defeats.

It will be a fighting bunch of Wildcats that goes on the field against North Dakota State next Saturday. Although the Dakota team is untied against Big-Six competition, it is expected to be a tough game and the Wildcats are hard at work trying to overcome the jinx that has been hovering among them for the last two weeks.

North Dakota State, although losing two games to outsiders, has been defeated by one team in conference play. The dope was upset two weeks ago when they were the victims of an unexpected defeat at the hands of the South Dakota university team. Other game lost by the North Dakota Aggies are those to Big-Ten conference schools. They were defeated by Minnesota 13 to 6 and the Wisconsin university crew outpointed them 13 to 7.

Saturday's game will be the last home game for the Wildcats this season and the final home game for 32 Kansas State seniors. Although the game will probably be played with a lineup of sophomores and juniors, it is expected that the seniors will be given an opportunity to make their final debut before a Kansas State audience. Seniors that will be playing their last game will be Captain Henry Cronkite, Elden Auker, Alvin Stephenson, Adolph Hrabka, Ray McMillin, Oscar Hardacker, Paul Fairbank, Glen Harsh, Bob Gump, L. B. Pilcher, and B. H. Neely.

With the possibility of playing two post-season games, McMillin last night released the regular squad from practice until Wednesday night. Attention is being given the younger men so that they will not enter competition next year as green material.

Anyway There Is One Co-ed Who Doesn't Care For 'Wild Men'

"Now," lectured the young instructor in geology class, "you will observe from this diagram I have drawn on the board that the pull of the Himalaya mountains makes the water slope from the mainland to the island of Borneo."

The class yawned wholeheartedly and observed the diagram. "Which," he asked, nodding to a co-ed on the front row, "would you choose to travel to the Island of Borneo—a wooden or a steel boat?"

"Wooden."

"Why?"

"Because it would float."

A withering look from the instructor finished that co-ed as he explained that it would be the proper thing to choose a wooden boat, but because it would resist the pull of the mountains and not because it would float.

"Don't you understand that?" he kindly asked the wide-eyed little girl sitting on the aisle.

"Yes," she answered, "but really, I can't see why anyone would want to go to Borneo when there isn't anything there but wild men."

CANDIDATES NOMINATED BY ADVANCED CADETS

Pictures of the Ten Girls are Posted in Nichols Gymnasium—Winners Announced at Military Ball.

Four of the ten women students who have been nominated by ballot by the advanced course of R. O. T. C. are to be elected honorary colonel, and majors of first, second, and third battalions, and announced at the military ball, December 12.

The following girls are nominees: Marjorie Lyles, Saffordville; Jeanne Burt, Manhattan; Vera Bowersox, Great Bend; Isabelle Porter, Stafford; Inez Hill, Topeka; Mary Alice McCreight, Soldier; Freda Leasure, Manhattan; Leora Light, Liberal; Eugenia Ebling, Lindsay; and Doradean Dunn, Phillipsburg.

Neither the nominees nor student body will know the results of the election until the military ball when names of the four girls will be officially announced. The girl receiving the highest number of votes will be elected honorary colonel, and the three girls next highest will be majors of the first, second, and third battalions respectively.

Pictures of the ten nominees have been posted in Nichols gymnasium in the hallway across from the Military office so that R. O. T. C. cadets unacquainted with the candidates may have an opportunity to judge the good points of each.

MAKE PLANS FOR CONTEST.

Plans for the annual fitting and showing contest, sponsored by the Dairy club, are now being worked out, according to Prof. F. B. Wolberg, dairy husbandry department. Last year about 50 students entered the contest, which is held in connection with the annual Farm and Home week in February.

N-i-b-b-l-i-n-g-s

Both discouraged and elated expressions were seen on the faces of those students visiting the post office today. The midsemester flunk slips were being passed out wholesale. . . . Even if Glenn Hareh was knocked silly in the game Saturday he was still able to skate around at the Homecoming shin-dig at the Warehouse. . . . The Nebraska co-eds and men made quite a hit with Kansas State students when they visited here over the week end. In spite of their opportunity to take advantage of the situation, they conducted themselves very conservatively at the varsity. . . . Hawkshaw, the detect, was present at the Beauvals party, it is rumored. All those not standing on their feet as steadily as they might be, were instantly removed from the dancing space. . . . And it is also heard that others lurked in the shadows awaiting law breakers, if any. . . . But the boy hero from the northern city was the point of attention the past week end. Just like movie gridiron classics, this lad jumped from the sleek bed, watched his team going to defeat, and then in the last quarter saved the day and, of course, rode from the field on the shoulders of his team mates. . . . But he did an unforgettable thing, and that thing was a football game.

EXPERIENCED CAST WORKS ON FARCE COMEDY

MANHATTAN THEATRE TO PRESENT SECOND PLAY OF SEASON THIS WEEK END.

'DULCY' IS A SCREAM

H. Miles Heberer Says the Story Concerns the Craziest Woman That Ever Lived.

"Dulcy," a farce comedy, will be produced Friday and Saturday nights, November 20 and 21, by the Manhattan Theatre. The cast of experienced players has been rehearsing for several weeks and promises a good evening of entertainment.

"Dulcy," the second Manhattan Theatre production of the year, is predicted to be full of rollicking fun. The story, according to H. Miles Heberer, director, is about the craziest woman ever born. She succeeds in getting herself into many trying predicaments, in her efforts to help her husband. She doesn't realize her shortcomings, and further displays her brainlessness by bringing together for the week end one of her husband's business associates along with a scenario writer, an aggressive advertising man, and a famous pianist. For a butler she has a convict, paroled from the county jail.

The cast includes: Dulcy, Marjorie Allman, Manhattan; Gordon Smith, Dulcy's husband, Harlan Rhodes, Manhattan; Bill, brother of Dulcy, Ted Skinner, Manhattan; Mr. Forbes, Ben Markley, Bennington; Mrs. Forbes, Vendia Morgan, Manhattan; Angela, Margaret Bacon, Abilene; Vincent Leach, scenario writer, Merle Burgin, Coats; Sam Sterrett, advertising man, Sumner Lyons, Lucas; Henry ex-convict and butler, John Wallcott; Schuyler Van Dyke, pianist, Scott Hunter, Manhattan; others in the cast are Blaine Patterson, and Charles Funk, Manhattan.

Miss Allman is well known in Manhattan and has had special training in dramatics, at Mills college, Oakland, Calif., and at Radcliff college, Hartford, Conn. Tickets will be on sale Thursday morning at the box office in the auditorium.

SIGMA PHI SIGMA MAY REORGANIZE

Alumni of Recently Disbanded Chapter Meets Saturday and Discusses Problems.

Visiting alumni of the Sigma Phi Sigma fraternity, which just recently closed its house, held a business meeting Sunday morning to discuss the business aspects of the affairs of the fraternity and to determine the status of the organization.

It was finally decided to put the immediate affairs into the hands of a committee of three which will act in an executive capacity and at the same time cooperate with Scott Puetze, who is being appointed their assignee. The members of this committee are: Gene Leeper, alumnus from Centalla; Myron L. Sallee, alumnus from Miltonvale; and Henry W. Allard, Topeka, who was president of the organization this year.

There were 12 members at the meeting. It is the plan of the organization to be inactive for a time and to become active again at the beginning of the school year next fall. At that time the number of members returning to college will in all probability justify the returning of the organization to an active status.

Plans were made for a reunion banquet to be held immediately after Easter next spring. This will mark the tenth year of the founding of the organization.

PROFESSOR ROCKY TO REVIEW BOOKS

Books of Selma Lagerlof Will Be Discussed Tuesday Night.

Prof. N. W. Rocky, of the English department, will lecture Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in recreation center on the works of Selma Lagerlof, foremost Swedish writer and literary artist from 1890 up to contemporary time.

The 77 year old author is a very prolific writer, having written a large number of folk tales. Her great novels are "The Emperor of Portugallia," and "The Story of Gosta Berling." Selma Lagerlof started out in realistic writing, but she turned from it to that of her native spirit and ability in romanticism and realism. She writes in a simple and naive manner, revealing herself to be a thorough optimist.

"The Girl from the Marsh Croft" and "The Ring of the Lowensköld" are two of the books which Professor Rocky will review.

CIRCULATES PETITION.

Prof. Ada Rice, chairman of the International Relations committee of the American Association of University Women, is in charge of the women's petition now being circulated, and which will be presented to the International Disarmament conference which meets in Geneva, February, 1932. Professor Fitch to Place Jerseys in Royal Agricultural Show.

Prof. J. B. Fitch, head of the college dairy department, will leave this week to judge Jersey cattle in the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair at Toronto, Canada, the dates of which are November 18 to 26.

Only one other dairy cattle judge of the states has ever been invited to the Dominion to place dairy cattle at this royal agricultural show. The show of dairy stock is one of the largest and finest on the North American continent. The Ayrshire show is especially large, and the Jersey and Holstein shows almost as large.

Professor Fitch recently judged Jerseys at the National Dairy show in St. Louis, premier dairy cattle exposition in the states.

CONSIDER PLANS AND ESTIMATES FOR DAIRY BARN

PRESIDENT APPOINTS COMMITTEE TO MAKE TENTATIVE ARRANGEMENTS

TO BE ERRECTED NEXT YEAR

Seaton Is Chairman of Group; New Building to Stand On Site of Present Nursery Barn.

Preliminary estimates are being prepared for the new dairy barn for which an appropriation of $60,000, to become effective July 1, was allowed at the last meeting of the legislature in January.

A committee consisting of Dean R. A. Seaton, dean of the engineering department, chairman; Dean L. E. Call, dean of the agricultural department; Prof. J. B. Fitch, head of the dairy husbandry department; Prof. F. C. Fenton, head of the agricultural engineering department; Prof. Paul Weigel, head of the architecture department; and G. R. Pauling, superintendent of maintenance, has been appointed by President F. D. Farrell to make tentative plans and estimates for the building. Pauling is in direct charge of the preliminary estimates and plans to start work on them today. The plans must be completed by November 24, for which date a meeting with the state architect has been arranged.

Plans are being considered to erect the new barn on the site of the present nursery barn, north and west of the agricultural buildings. The nursery barn would probably be moved, according to Pauling.

The building is to be of limestone with a fireproof roof. The milk cow department, with a capacity for 70 head, will be in the center with the ensilage and feed room and four silos at the back. A separate milk house, 24 by 40 feet, will be at the front and divided from the main barn by a screened passageway.

In the left wing there is to be a judging space and space for 22 head of young stock. The bull pens are also in this part of the building. In the right wing are the calving pens and grain storage and test pens. The entire building, without the milk house, covers 210 feet by 112 feet.

It is expected that plans can be ready to be submitted to the contractors so that building can be started by July 1, 1932.

Klinge, Topeka, assistant treasurer; S. R. Mudge, Salina, first marshal, and I. E. McDougal, Atwood, assistant marshal.

Let the Women Pay Says Men on Hill When Approached on Fifty-Fifty Plan

Nine of fifteen Kansas State men said "Yes"—emphatically, when asked if they thought it would be a good idea for the girl to pay half the expenses of a date.

These nine agree with fourteen kindred souls attending Utah university. When George Thomas, president of the Utah university, suggested that women students share equally in the expense of social functions, 14 men students hailed him as a genius, and organized a club in honor of the idea. The important clause in the constitution of the "Fifty-fifty Club" reads that, "Any co-ed who accepts a date with any member of the club must be prepared to pay one-half of the expenses."

Wyatt Firmly Agrees.

Don Wyatt firmly believes that the Utah men have the right idea. In fact, he stated he would like to be a charter member of a similar organization at Kansas State.

Dick Fleming made a rather ambiguous remark, but probably meant he liked the idea when he said, "A man in my position would consider that a pretty good idea."

JUNIOR-SENIOR FROM SOON

The annual Junior-Senior prom will be held at the Warehouse ballroom, Tuesday, November 24, the night preceding Thanksgiving vacation. The party this year will be informal, according to Murt Makins, Abilene, manager.

Contrary to practices of other years, the freshmen and sophomores will also be admitted to the affair. Novelty numbers have been planned for entertainment. June Layton's band will play.

MU PHI EPSILON INITIATES.

Three Students Admitted to Honorary Music Organization. Mu Phi Epsilon, women's honorary sorority, held initiation service Sunday for three students in the department of music education.

New members are: Alice Bozarth, Lenora; Alice Clema, Manhattan; and Frances Jack, Russell. The new members were the guests of honor at a breakfast at the Gillett hotel.

Organization members who were present were: Lucile Correll, Edith Goerwitz, Clarice Painter, Reesa Tordoff, Marian Felton, Helen Jerard, Hilda Grossmann, Ruth Hartman, and Mrs. Edwin Sayre. Venita Schade of Manhattan, an alumni of the organization, also was present.

FARRELL NOT INTERESTED IN STATE GOVERNORSHIP

Says It Is Imperative That the College Be Protected From Politics.

President F. D. Farrell is not interested in being a candidate for governor, nor for any other political office, according to a recent letter to a friend, quoted by Cliff Stratton, in the Topeka Capital.

Various Republican leaders have suggested the name of President Farrell as a gubernatorial candidate. It is felt that he would strengthen the party ticket since he has never taken part in political or factional disagreements.

The letter follows as quoted in the Capital:

"If the college is to serve the state and nation as it should, it is imperative that it be protected in every possible way against becoming involved in state or national politics. For this reason it is distinctly undesirable for any officer of the college to be a candidate, or to seek to be a candidate, for any state or national office or to engage in state or national political activity."

"I am so deeply interested in the college and its mission in serving the state and the nation, and so firmly convinced of the truth and importance of the statements made in the preceding paragraph, that I positively would not be or seek to be a candidate for state or national political office or engage in a state or national political activity."

TEAM TO AMERICAN ROYAL.

Crop Judges Compete Today at Show in Kansas City.

Associate Prof. J. W. Zahnley of the agronomy department took the four members of the crops judging team to Kansas City, Monday, where they will compete at the American Royal today. The members of the team are Luther Jacobson, Horton; Ervil Fry, Porterville, Cal.; Will Myers, Bancroft; and Tom Dicken, Winfield, alternate.

STUDENTS HERE ARE QUESTIONED ON DISARMAMENT

WEEK OF NOON PROGRAMS PLANNED TO AROUSE PUBLIC SENTIMENT.

PETITIONS ARE CIRCULATED

Campaign Is Only Local Bout of World Fight to be Settled in Switzerland in February.

Kansas State students this week are being asked what they think about the disarmament question. A world wide campaign was launched here yesterday noon when Prof. O. M. Correll, of the history department, talked at a special student forum held in Calvin 58. Throughout the week similar meetings will be held and petitions will be circulated to determine the students' status on the controversial question which will be settled in Geneva, Switzerland, this coming February.

This campaign here is preliminary to the state disarmament conference to be held in Topeka, December 5 and 6, and is one of the campaigns which are being held in colleges and universities all over the United States preparatory to the World Disarmament conference at Geneva. Fifty nations will be represented.

Petitions Are Posted.

Petitions from organizations belonging to the national committee on the cause and cure of war are being sent to group houses and organizations here, and are being posted in conspicuous places on the campus to be signed by any student over 18 who wants disarmament for all nations. Students who are interested are asked to send letters to President Hoover and senators who will be representatives at the conference at Geneva so that they may know how public opinion stands among students in the United States on the disarmament question.

Louise Davis, Nashville, Tenn., was appointed co-chairman of the student state disarmament conference by the council of the Christian association, including representatives from Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. from all over the United States. She will also serve on the national students' committee for disarmament.

Delegates to Topeka.

Blanche Duguid, Olathe, and Max McCluggage, Manhattan, are chairmen of the committee of disarmament programs. Miss Duguid is one of a group of ten students from all over the state who will give a five minute talk at the Topeka conference. Her subject will be "The Attitude of France Toward Security and Disarmament."

Capt. Ellsworth Young, of the department of military science and tactics, will talk from 12:25 until 12:55 o'clock today on "Technical Limitations of Disarmament." At the same time and place, on Thursday, Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the public speaking department, will speak on "Aspects of American Proposals Regarding Disarmament." Dr. J. E. Kammeier, of the sociology department, will discuss "Economic and Social Aspects of Disarmament" at the regular student forum in the cafeteria Wednesday noon.

phatic in his dislike of any fifty-fifty business.

"No, I don't like that so well—don't think so much of it."

Dean McIntyre fairly shouted his disapproval. "It makes your date seem too darn independent."

Schoolboy Puts Thumbs Down. Red Schooley said "NO," but refused to state any reasons to back that lone word.

Adolph Hrabka is certain that the Utah men are a fine bunch of fellows, and considers their suggestion and its execution a "noble experiment."

Henry Cronkite is certain that he does not like the thought of having the girls go half and half. When asked why he felt thusly, he said, "Oh, I don't know. Guess it's just a habit. The boy always has paid the entire bill, and it rather goes against the grain for him not to do so."

THE WOMAN PAYS—AT UTAH U.

Acting upon the suggestion of George Thomas, president of the University of Utah, that women students should share equally in the expense of social functions, 14 courageous men students at that school banded together recently to form a "fifty-fifty" club. They decreed that "any co-ed who accepts a date with any member of the club must be prepared to pay one-half the expenses."

The reason or reasons which caused the school's head to make the suggestion is not known, but it may safely be attributed to one of two conditions of Utah university society—the boys, as a body, are financially embarrassed on account of the depression, or that their "prexy" is encouraging this widely discussed "woman's freedom."

If President Thomas made the suggestion as a temporary relief measure because of the financial status of the men students, there remains but little to be said about the matter. It may be that social life wasn't functioning normally at Utah U., and the president, in an altruistic frame of mind, saw a solution to the undesirable state of a socially unbalanced community.

But, if President Thomas is championing "women's freedom," his method lacks foundation. It is a bit too bolshevistic in its revolution from the accepted conventions of society today. Such a transition must be evolutionary rather than revolutionary.

To let the women students pay half the bill is too much of a blow to the pride of the men students. Man is a proud animal, and likes to imagine himself in the role of his ancestors of the dim past—conquering the elements for his "woman." Ladies, chivalry is not dead!

The plan of a "fifty-fifty" club adapts itself well to one thing, however. It gives the boys the opportunity to even the score with their "gold-digger" girl friends.—P.D.

NAME THOSE CAMPUS DRIVES.

During the process of explaining the location of a college building, a person who talks fluently and possesses the ability of giving descriptions with clarity may have to descend to the art of swinging his hands and arms like a pawnbroker on Monday morning.

The naming of the campus drives would serve a multifold purpose in that it would eliminate the descriptions which must seem inadequate to the person who desires the information. It would be inexpensive, yet these names could be one of the most distinctive memorials that could be given to distinguished Kansans, who have been connected with the college in some form.

As a suggestion, the journalism department has received recognition from the honorable Senator Arthur Capper. He has taken an active interest in the journalism department because it is directly related to rural work. He has given the department a silver plaque, with which scholarship may be recognized in addition to many other contributions. The drive which curves around and terminates at Kedzie hall could be named Capper drive, and with the direct connection of the name to the building; it could easily be remembered.

Many other names, which could be distinguished, may be applied to the beautiful drives of the Hill. Farrell's drive could be the one which winds through the trees, by the president's home. The drive by the engineering building could be named after the present dean, Roy A. Seaton.

Suggestions for campus drive names should be made by the student body who feels there is a connection between the things that could be named, and the men who have made them count.

The Collegian will gladly publish any suggestions offered.

NO HUNTING LICENSES ALLOWED.

Leap year is little more than a month away, and then, ah, then.

Ports of stone will be erected in front of the Hill's new fraternity houses, while telephones within will be equipped with silencers. The dating season will be on. And the women will be directing the hunt.

With the thoughts of the approaching opportunity-season, the women at one of the Kansas universities got ahead of themselves, the Daily Indian says. They are already taking the initiative of making dates. They go after the lucky stiffs in their cars, movie 'em, and even feed them before returning them to the dormitories. But the Indian says it is rumored roosters lay eggs in Kansas!

A suggestion was made at another Kansas school that fraternities maintain house rules as do sororities, and that all non-conformers be campused as are their fellow co-eds when the night is too great, and the time too big to make it in the front door before the key is turned.

It would be a novel thing to have the house-mothers of the fraternities concentrating the wary eye on the porch's dark corner where the moon could be seen but there was no moonlight. It would be even more novel to have her hand out the warning "the curfew shall ring tonight and he who doesn't hear it shall gain entrance over the window sill."

The spirit of revenge will prevail when January 1, 1932 rolls around. Revenge for the men who didn't cut at dances, and even worse than that for those who made breaking of dates necessary when the actives said "You're in, and for the week."

— The Snoopers —

We're pessimistic. Another football game has gone haywire, flunkslips are pouring in, and there is a war in China. Not that we care about the Chinese but it would be just our luck to have a stray bullet take a liking to us even if we are a long ways away. Besides the freshmen won't wear their caps.

Now you know how we feel and it's not caused by too much homecoming either. How can anyone be cheerful when some one keeps reminding you that right at the last of the game things went flooie and some guy by the name of Brown turned duck and swam for a touchdown? It's a wonder we didn't lose some money on that game. The only reason we didn't is because we decided a long time ago we were a failure at betting, but, how were we ever lucky enough to figure that out?

And who ever thought of this flunk slip idea? Some "A" student probably that thought people like us should be punished for being dumb. There's always something to take the joy out of life. If we're not worrying about football it's flunk slips, and if it's not flunk slips it's the Chinese. Next thing we know someone will be offering us some cider and it'll be fresh.

Judge For Yourself

MUST THERE BE WAR TO END WAR?

Captain Donald Stuart's chapel talk was certainly for patriotism, neither for war nor against it. Why did he even mention the fact that we must be a fighting student body to have a winning team?

If patriotism is what is desirable—what our past-war leaders are wanting to see—then why, necessarily train men for war? Especially when these, our boys, are being trained (adequately, so he said) to fight a type of war which never will be fought again. Because of the advance of science the next war will not be a hand-to-hand battle or even a machine-gun battle; it will be a chemical and germ warfare with all the horrible wiping-out of nations which that will mean. . . . Why then spend the money of the people so uselessly?

He spoke of changing human nature. Is not our greatest world conflict an economic and commercial one—a question of tariffs and dumping and unemployment? Why not use this wasted money to create legitimate jobs and wages for the unemployed? Why not use army equipment—trucks, trains, etc., to transport the unwanted wheat of the middle west to the great demand of the east—to be sold at cost price to the hungry mobs of the crowded cities?

How does the speaker know what his dead comrades want? He wants them to "rest, rest in peace." If they could hear him speak, they could also hear the blare of military music and hear the tread of marching feet. How could they "rest, REST in peace," complete peace, hearing this; knowing as they perhaps do, that the world is yet more heavily armed, that the cause for which they died was not helped by their deaths, and that we go on training men to die for the same cause just because we say that human nature is inevitably what it is. Must there be war to end war?—L. D.

Nebraska may have robbed the McMinnmen of a tie for first place in the conference title Saturday when the Biblemen beat them 6-3, but they didn't steal from the Wildcat the fighting spirit that has made the team a colorful one this season. The Kansas State team will be in that game fighting Saturday, it'll be in there fighting Thanksgiving when it meets Washburn, and it'll be more than doing its duty for charity at Wichita December 5. Then next year, these men who came from the freshmen ranks last season will be out for blood and the Big Six title which they had to relinquish this fall. But other football days—other victories won't dim the memory of a great team that fought and lost.

The fascinating Loretta Young stars again in "Big Business Girl." She tries to make her way in the modern business world after receiving her degree from college, where she was secretly married prior to her graduation. Both she and the husband must have careers, and in order to have those careers they must part, he going to Europe with an orchestra, and she staying here to work. Matters become complicated, but unwind satisfactorily, with a murder or so. Really, it's a lot better than this sounds, and Claudette and the others do quite well.—J. B.

She prefers A PIPE (For you)

HER name is Ruth. She's a popular co-ed on a famous campus. Yes, she'll have a cigarette, thank you (and smoke it very prettily). But for you she likes a pipe.

That's one smoke that's still a man's smoke. (And that's why she likes to see YOU smoke a pipe.)

There's something companionable about a pipe. Friendly, cool, mellow... it clears your mind, puts a keen edge on your thinking.

There, men, is a REAL smoke. Choice mellow burleys, cut especially for pipes—blended for the man who knows his fine tobaccos. It's cool, dry, satisfying—and you'll find it just in sales, first choice of smokers, in 43 out of 54 leading colleges.

We'd like nothing better than to drop in tonight and toss our own private tin across your study table. But since that can't be, just remember that you can get Edgeworth at your dealer's—or send for free sample if you wish. Address: Lorus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

THREE DEPARTMENTS CHANGE CURRICULUM

New Course to be Offered in Music to Take Place of Voice-Piano-Violin.

Changes made in the curriculum of several departments in the general science division to be effective at the beginning of the fall semester, 1932, have been announced from the office of Dean R. W. Babcock.

The music department will offer a new curriculum next September. This course, applied music, will require 120 hours for graduation and will take the place of voice-piano-violin.

Women physical education majors will be required to have 120 hours for graduation instead of the 133 that is required for the 1935 class; the requirement will take effect next September. The reduction of hours is the result of the department's dropping two courses, elementary journalism, and history of English literature, several professional courses have been combined, and the number of elective hours has been altered. Men physical education majors will not be required to take a three hour course in special histology making the required number of hours 131.

WITH OLD GOLDS

The marriage ceremony doesn't demand it. But the Newlyweds who take OLD GOLDS as their wedded choice in cigarettes are showing a nice consideration for each other.

For OLD GOLD is a pure-tobacco cigarette... 100% natural-flavored. Free of those greasy flavorings that burn into clinging, staining, and breath-tainting vapors.

To prolong that honeymoon charm, smoke pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS. No throat rasp, no smoker's cough can come from their clean, sun-ripened, nature-flavored tobaccos. And they leave no objectionable odors either on your breath or clothing, or in the room.

THE BROWN BOY FROM NEBRASKA DOES THE TRICK

THE RAIN AND SCORE DAMPEN KANSAS STATE'S CONFERENCE TITLE CHANCES.

THIRD BERTH FOR WILDCATS

Nebraska and Iowa Now Left to Fight Out Championship Honors After Local Squad's Disappointing Homecoming Defeat.

Little Lewis Brown, substitute halfback for the Nebraska Cornhuskers, gave the Kansas State Wildcats something to remember him by when he raced through the entire Kansas team to score the touchdown that brought his team from behind to win the annual Kansas State-Nebraska game before a homecoming crowd of over 14,000, by the score of 6 to 3.

By this win, Nebraska remains in a tie for first place in the Big Six conference and Kansas State finished the season with the assurance of remaining in third place. Iowa State shares the first place berth with Nebraska.

Cronkite Kicks Ball. Scoring started in the second quarter when Captain Cronkite of the Wildcats booted the ball far and high for a field goal and three points after the ball luggers had been unable to make a first down on the 25 yard line in three attempts. No one scored or even threatened a goal again until the last quarter when the Cornhuskers uncorked a drive that took them to the Kansas State three yard line, where they were held for downs.

Only a few minutes remained in the game and the three point margin held by the Wildcats looked like enough for a victory over the fast tiring Nebraskans. Auker punted on the first down and the ball went far down the field and a Nebraska fumble gave the Kansas squad the ball again. Two stabs at the forward wall of the Cornhuskers, and Auker punted. The kick was low and Brown caught the ball on the run on his 30 yard line, and was away down the sideline, and it wasn't long before he was sliding over the goal line with Wiggins making a valiant attempt to get some footing in the mud so that the dash could be stopped. But it wasn't done and the timekeeper soon ended one of the most spectacular grid spectacles ever staged in the mid-west.

Clouds Darken Day. Rain fell many hours before the game and the field was a sea of water. A few feeble rays of sunlight found their way through the mass of clouds a few minutes before the game, and all looked well. No rain fell until a black cloud came up from the southwest and amidst the splashing of rain, dealt the fourteenth Nebraska defeat to another Kansas State football team.

Scoring by periods:
Kansas State ..... 0 3 0 3
Nebraska ..... 0 0 0 6

Sport Squibs

Rumor has it that Kansas State is to be represented in the annual East-West football classic staged at San Francisco on New Year's day. Through a series of unconfirmed reports, it is learned that Cronkite will play, or has received an invitation to play as an end on the West's team. Hugh Rhea, Nebraska, is another Big Six star to receive this honor. Christianson of the University of Utah has also received an invitation and as it is doubtful whether he will accept, it is thought by several that Auker will be selected to fill this place if Christianson refuses.

The second charity football game that the Wildcats will enter into is an uncertain problem. The main issue before the athletic department is whether the team should have such an extended schedule. If a game is accepted for December 12, the basketball team will suffer, as four regulars on the court aggregation are also on the grid squad.

The first game of the cage season is with Kansas university December 11, and winning from the Jayhawkers is not an easy task with a bunch of green material. If the second charity tilt is to be played, it will either be with the Texas Christians or Centre college. If the athletic council sees that it is possible for the team to play this extra game, it will be left up to the decision of the players as to which of the two opponents they will meet.

Injuries were a common occurrence in the Kansas State-Nebraska game last Saturday. Kansas State will miss the able pivot work of Michaels who received back injuries that will probably keep him on the sidelines for the remainder of the season. No other serious injuries

Wildcats as they reported for practice last night.

The Nebraska team was badly battered and several men were carried from the game. The most serious injury on their squad was that of Koster, guard, who suffered a fractured ankle. Koster is the only letterman on the Nebraska basketball squad and this injury will prevent him from taking part in this sport for several months. The Nebraska basketball coach is now faced with the problem of moulding a court squad without the aid of any lettermen.

Fifty-two members of the freshman class are turning out for basketball practice at the University of Kansas. They are being coached by Forrest Cox, a member of the Kansas university team last year. Practices are being held on Monday and Wednesday and will be held nightly after the close of the football season.

Plans have been definitely formulated to have a post-season football game between the University of Kansas and Washburn college on December 5, the proceeds to go to charity. The game will be played in Topeka.

The "Traditions committee" of the men's student council at the University of Kansas met last week and discussed plans for the annual "Hobo" day on the campus. This day is observed each year before the Missouri football game, the purpose being to arouse spirit and pep for the occasion.

The Big Six football schedule for the week end is: Missouri vs. Kansas university at Lawrence; Iowa State vs. Nebraska at Lincoln; Kansas State vs. North Dakota State at Manhattan (non-conference).

LOCAL HARRIERS PLACE SECOND IN CONFERENCE

Landon of Kansas State Clinches the Victory Over Nebraska Saturday.

Sprinting down the home lap on a heavy cinder track at the Memorial stadium, Saturday, Don Landon broke the string shortly before Storey of Nebraska could master the last few yards, and incidentally won for the Kansas State two mile team second place in the Big Six conference with a 29 to 28 score. His time was 9:49.6.

The victory marked the fourth Kansas State win of the season to one defeat. Iowa State, the team which ran the local harriers to the wrong end of a score, will probably be first in the conference, but the Nebraska men may fool the Cyclones when the two teams meet at Lincoln, Saturday. Kansas and Missouri will also race at Lawrence, Saturday, but the outcome of that run will not change Kansas State's position in the conference.

The men and the order in which they placed Saturday are: Ayers, N. U., third; Pearce, K. S., fourth; McNeal, K. S., fifth; Morrow, N. U., sixth; Nixon, K. S., seventh; Baser, N. U., eighth; Daniels, K. S., ninth; and Seger, N. U., tenth.

Iowa State won from Kansas university in a race run as a between halves feature of the Iowa State-Drake game at Ames, Ia., last Saturday. Oklahoma easily outpointed Missouri to win its race with a Tiger team at the game at Columbia, Saturday.

The only remaining games to be run in the conference are those of Iowa State and Nebraska, and Kansas-Missouri.

Team Won Lost
Iowa State 4 0
Kansas State 4 1
Kansas U. 2 2
Nebraska 2 2
Oklahoma 1 4
Missouri 0 4

FIVE LETTERMEN OUT OF FIRST BASKET BALL TILT

All But Two of First String Men Are On the Football Squad.

The first hurdle that the Kansas State basketball team meets in the 1931-32 season is the problem of playing their first game with five lettermen missing. It is almost certain that Kansas State will meet Centre college in a football game at Louisville, Ky., on December 12, and this will conflict with the first basketball game of the season, which is a battle with the Kansas team at Lawrence, December 11. Eleven of the men on the first squad are on the football squad and this leaves Coach Charles W. Corsaut with only two lettermen to play against Kansas in the first game.

Coch Corsaut in a statement issued yesterday remarked that "with 11 of my first string men on the football squad, I must plan on using the men now on the squad in the first few games. Of these men, only two are lettermen and the rest sophomores."

Kansas university is not troubled with this problem as only two members of their squad are on the football team. Coach Allen will have only three lettermen available. Five freshmen are reporting for practice at the present time and two more will be out as soon as the football season ends.

Men's Intramurals

In a scrappy game that closely resembled a finals game, the Phi Delta Theta basketball team was able to nose out a one point lead over the Sigma Nu team and win its first intramural game last night by the score of 19 to 18. The game was one in which the lead changed often and each team held the lead about half of the time. Max Leek starred for the Phi Delta's, while the outstanding man on the Sigma Nu squad was Jack Gongs.

The other game last night which attracted much attention was the tussle between Beta Theta Pi and Lambda Chi Alpha, which ended in a 19 to 15 win for the Betas.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon bowled over the Alpha Gamma Rho to the tune of 27 to 7, and an Acacia quintet had little trouble winning from Tau Kappa Epsilon with a score of 10 to 3.

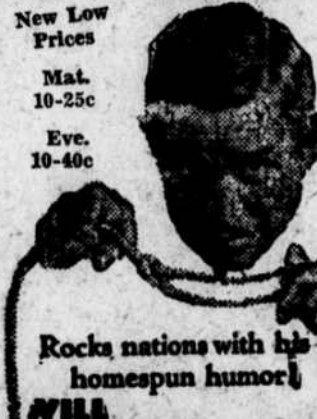

The Farm House-Delta Tau Delta game was postponed because of the fact that four of the members of the former's team are taking part in the American Royal at Kansas City. Alpha Rho Chi forfeited to Pi Kappa Alpha.

Competition appears keen in intramurals this season and the close point standing of the various organizations will cause the teams to do their best to gather points.

AWARDED CHAMPIONSHIP.

Allen Predicts Successful Basketball Season for Kansas State.

Now that P. C. "Phog" Allen, athletic director and basketball coach at the University of Kansas, has awarded the Kansas State basketball team the Big Six 1931-32 championship, the Kansas State basketball team remembers his past predictions and gives this statement of his little head.

It is an annual pastime of Allen's to predict that the Wildcats courtiers will win the championship. It seems only a modest way of saying that Kansas university will not have the strong team that they have enjoyed in recent years.

C. W. Corsaut, the Wildcats basketball mentor, greets this prediction with a smile and remarks that the championship will be won on the court and not by the press and pre-season statements of rival coaches.

Women's Sports

The first inter-class swimming meet was held last Friday. Freshmen and Sophomores tied for first place, each having a score of 35. Juniors received 18 points and the seniors 30. Jean Dexter, of the freshman class, swam the racing back stroke in 12.2 seconds. Margaret Wait, of the freshman class, swam the 100-foot crawl in 24 seconds. Ruth Silkenen, of the senior class, won the side stroke for form. Catherine McKinney, of the sophomore class won first in diving. The seniors took first in the medley.

Intramural dancing will start next week. There are four types of dancing being entered this year. They are social dancing, clog or tap, folk dancing, and interpretative dancing. Each group must enter two or more participants. The regulations for intramural dancing have been somewhat revised this year, and they are now posted on the bulletin in the women's gymnasium.

ATTEND SEEDSMEN'S SCHOOL

A seedsmen's school, held by the agronomy department last week in the laboratories at the college, was attended by 6 persons interested in the business. They were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Strong from the Kellogg seed company in St. Joseph, Mo.; Charles Ford, from the Haynes Hardware company, Emporia; Mr. Longston, from the Kellogg seed company of Pittsburg; and Charles Amon, of Manhattan.

spent the week end at their home in Marysville.

LIVESTOCK JUDGES WIN FOURTH PLACE

Team Only 20 Points Behind Winning Iowa Contestants at Kansas City American Royal.

The cattle judging team, which competed in the inter-collegiate livestock judging contest held Saturday, at the American Royal Livestock and Horse show, at Kansas City, won fourth place, among 14 colleges which were entered. R. C. Munson, Junction City, was high individual in the cattle judging. Iowa State ranked first, scoring 4,544 points, Michigan State, second, and University of Nebraska, third.

The women's meat judging team competed in the contest yesterday, and the men's meat judging team will try for high honors today. Both teams are under the direction of Prof. D. L. Mackintosh, of the animal husbandry department.

Members of the women's meat judging team are Eunice Schroeter, Ellinwood; Libbie Smerchek, Garnett; Loula Simmons, Manhattan, and Norma Sayre, Ingalls.

BRUCE SPEAKS HERE.

Wesley G. Bruce of the bureau of entomology in the United States department of agriculture, lectured at the Popone Entomological club Monday afternoon in Fairchild 52. He spoke on "Cattle Grubs." Bruce is stationed at Dallas, Texas, in the winter and is on his way to Fargo, N. D. He received his master's degree here in '28.

Capt. Joseph B. Sweet and Mrs. Sweet, both of the class of 1917, visited Vice-President J. T. Willard's office Saturday. Mrs. Sweet was formerly Mary Weld. Captain Sweet is now stationed at Ft. Leavenworth.

ENGINEERS' MAGAZINE HAS NEW FEATURE

Quarterly Magazine Makes Initial Appearance of Year on Kansas State Campus.

The November issue of the Kansas State Engineer, a magazine published monthly by the students of the engineering division, contains a new page entitled "Engine House Gleanings," conducted by Earl North, a senior in electrical engineering from Marlow, Okla. It is a cleverly handled, representative page of fun and events in the division.

Another part of this issue of the Engineer is devoted to Kansas State alumni whose names appeared in the 1931 edition of "Who's Who in Engineering." The names of 60 graduates of K. S. C. were listed.

Members of the staff of the Kansas State Engineer include: K. M. Fones, Kansas City, Mo., editor; K. F. Horn, Russell, associate editor; R. C. Rohrdanz, Manhattan, assistant editor; E. R. Jensen, Herington, technical editor; A. L. Reed, Cassoday, campus editor; M. H. Davison, Manhattan, alumni editor; A. K. Bader, Junction City, assistant alumni editor; E. E. Reed, Smith Center, feature editor; H. E. Rathbun, Manhattan, art editor; and E. C. North, Marlow, Okla., humor editor; comprising the editorial staff.

The business staff is headed by R. C. Hay, Parker, business manager; K. U. Benjamin, Deerfield, associate business manager; E. F. Clark, Jewell City, circulation manager; J. F. Alexander, Independence, Mo., assistant circulation manager; E. E. Cain, Pomona, assistant circulation manager; C. W. Kewley, Stockton, advertising manager; R. S. DeLaMater, Wichita, assistant advertising manager; E. L. Kent, Manhattan, assistant advertising manager; H. C. Johnson, Marquette, assistant advertising manager, and N. R. Resch, Independence, treasurer. George Wiley, Chanute, is the staff photographer. Departmental editors include: P. W. Jenick, Bushton, agricultural engineering department; H. H. McCord, Manhattan, architectural engineering department; E. G. Kelly, Manhattan, chemical engineering department; P. C. Perry, Little River, civil engineering department; I. E. McDougal, Atwood, electrical engineering department; J. P. Woolcott, Manhattan, flour mill engineering department, and R. C. Bealer, Manhattan, mechanical engineering department.

RECEIVE DEFORMATOR

The civil engineering department has received from a German manufacturer several new pieces of equipment which constitute a deformator. It is used to determine the stresses in very complicated structures, such as ring girders which were used in the framework of the Akron airship. The instruments will measure a deformation within one hundred thousandths of an inch and will be used for postgraduate work as well as class and laboratory demonstration.

ENROLLMENT DECREASES. According to Prof. J. V. Corbitt there has been a slight decrease in the enrollment of the modern languages classes. This decrease, he believes, is due to the general decrease in the total enrollment of school. The average decrease of the French, German, and Spanish classes is about 12 per cent, but the German classes have increased slightly.

Mrs. Fred Harris and daughter, Edith, of Kansas City, spent the week end with their daughter and sister, Helen.

Edna Kirkpatrick and Eula Underwood of Wichita were the week end guests of Ruth Kirkpatrick.

STUDENTS MAY EXPRESS VIEWS ON DISARMAMENT

WILL BE GIVEN CHANCE TO GIVE OWN OPINIONS IN STU-DENT FORUM TODAY

OTHER SCHOOLS INTERESTED

Regional Organization of Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado; Sponsored by Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A.
Under Regional Secretary.

Kansas State students will have an opportunity today to express their own views and hear what other students think of the disarmament question at a student forum to be held in Calvin 58 from 12:25 to 12:55
o'clock.

This meeting will conclude a series of five student forums held each day this week in Thompson hall
during the noon hour for the purpose of stimulating interest in intelligent study of the disarmament conference to be held in Geneva, Switzerland next February, and to exert whatever influence the students can toward disarmament in the United States.

Young Speaks Tuesday.
Captain Ellsworth Young of the department of military science and tactics gave a complete representation of the United States army and navy as it is today in the special student forum Tuesday. He said that the United States is as nearly disarmed as it is possible for it to be and that it is up to some other nation to make the next move. The subject of his talk was "Technical Limitations of Disarmament."

The economic situation in regard to disarmament and proposals for reducing arms was brought out by Dr. J. E. Kammeyer of the sociology department in his talk "Economic and Social Aspects of the War" at the regular student forum Wednesday noon.

"Disarmament does not mean doing away with the entire army and navy, as many people think; but maintaining a kindly and cordial agreement between nations toward reduction and limitation of arms," Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the public speaking department, explained in his talk "Aspects of American Proposals Regarding Disarmament", on Thursday. He also maintained that the United States should take the leadership in the disarmament conference.

Other Campuses Interested Prof. C. M. Correll spoke on the subject "Historical Background of Disarmament" Monday.

Similar interest in the disarmament question has been created on other college campuses in Kansas, Nebraska, and Colorado through a regional organization composed of the three states. Nebraska and Colorado will hold state conferences at Lincoln and Denver respectively
this week end, and the Kansas conference will be held in Topeka, December 4, 5, and 6. These conferences are being sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. and are under the supervision of Harold Colvin, Topeka, regional secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Colvin was in Manhattan, Wednesday, to help with conference plans here.

Louise Davis, Nashville, Tenn., and Blanche Duguid, Olathe, will attend the conference at Lincoln, Neb., this weekend, as well as the Topeka conference in December.
Prof. C. M. Correll will also go to Topeka as a leader of a group discussion. Several other students and faculty members are expected to make the trip.

Enchiladas Is More Than a Dancing Organization to Cosmopolitan Club

Havias and enchiladas, chop suey and tortillas became more than mere names of food to 50 members of the Cosmopolitan club when they were entertained last night by the Wesley Foundation at a dinner in the home of Rev. and Mrs. B. A.
Rogers, 1630 Olive street.

Nearly every country represented by a member in the Cosmopolitan club had a special delicacy included in the menu. The food was prepared during the afternoon by the various individuals who contributed the recipes.

Menu Is Varied

The menu was Chinese sausage, preserved ham and preserved duck,
potatoes Cuban, Filipino chop suey,
Mexican enchiladas, peas and eggs
Chinese, Bohemian rolls, English marmalade, tortillas, havias, Bradies, and Chinese peanuts. This list of food represents favorite dis-

FIRE DESTROYS CANTEEN; MAY NOT BE REOPENED

Student Eating House Damaged
Approximately $2,500; 13 Students Out of Work.

Fire believed to have originated from a coffee urn or a defective electric switch destroyed the fixtures and gutted the interior of the College canteen, 1423 Anderson,
early Thursday morning. H. Miles Heberer, dramatic instructor at Kansas State, discovered the fire at 2:45 o'clock and turned in an alarm.
A second blaze broke out at 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

Estimates of the damage to the fixtures have been placed between $2,000 and $3,000 by J. M. Cain, who operated the Canteen. Insurance on the contents amounted to $2,000.
The building, owned by the Manhattan Building and Loan association, is believed to have been damaged less than 50 per cent of its value. Under the Manhattan zoning law, a building in that district cannot be rebuilt if destroyed more than 50 per cent. Cain intends to continue business if the building is restored.

Persons who had meal tickets at the Canteen may transfer them to the Campus Side cafe.

College students who were employed at the Canteen are: Clare
Howard, Clyde; Eugene Peltier, Concordia; P. M. Rayback, Goodland; S. C. West, Kansas City; Mo-Wallace Dudley, Goodland; J. P.

November 27, in recreation center
at 9 o'clock.

The first part of the evening will be spent in get acquainted games, while the latter part will be devoted to cards and dancing. Each dance, and card will cost a penny. Refreshments will be served.

The penny party is an annual affair sponsored by the two Christian organizations for those students who must spend their holiday here.
Those in charge of the party are

ANNUAL MIXER TONIGHT

Only Ticket Holders Will Be Admitted Says Freeman.

The intersociety mixer will be given tonight at 8:30 o'clock in recreation center for all members of literary societies. Music will be furnished by Paul Walter's orchestra. Tickets may be received from the president of each organization or from the intersociety council.

Only those having tickets will be admitted to the mixer, according to Frank Freeman, Kirwin, in necessitated by the large number of non-society members who crashed the gate last spring. Tickets are distributed according to the membership of the literary societies.

FARRELL RECEIVES HONOR

Kansas State's President Wins Recognition For College When He Is Elected To Office.

President F. D. Farrell earned national recognition for Kansas State Wednesday when he was elected vice-president of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities at the forty-fifth annual convention of that organization in Chicago. President E. O.
Holland of Washington State college was named president, succeeding Doctor Rightmire of Ohio State.

The Association is made up of the land grant colleges in each of the 48 states. These colleges were originated under an act of Congress in 1863, which was signed by Abraham Lincoln, at that time president of the United States.

Members of the college faculty who attended the convention with President Farrell were: Miss Margaret M. Justin, home economics;
Dean L. E. Call, agriculture; Dean
R. A. Seaton, engineering; Dean H.
Umberger, extension, and Dean R.
Dykstra, veterinary division. The party will return Saturday evening.

ENGINEERS GIVE ANNUAL SMOKER

A. I. E. E. Entertains At Community House In Honor Of Electrical Engineering Students.

The Kansas State student branch of American Institute Electrical Engineers gave its third annual smoker, at the Community house,
last night. L. T. Palmer, Parsons, was chairman of the committee. All electrical engineers were invited.
The guests included all of the faculty members with which the electrical engineers come in contact.

An explanation of the Kansas State branch of A. I. E. E., was given by G. E. Cain, chairman of the evening session. Several numbers were given by a quartet composed of Willard Hemker, Great Bend; Dick West, Hartford; Karl Hemker, Great Bend; Duane Daly, Armington, Illinois.

"Cockiness" was the subject of a talk, given by Prof. L. N. Jorgenson, of the electrical engineering
faculty. Elmer Jensen, Herington, gave several numbers on his banjo.

IN MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT

Percy Griffin and Ivar Johnson
Sideswiped By Car.

Percy Griffin, Colby, is 'in the college hospital as a result of a motorcycle accident which occurred Wednesday afternoon at the corner of Seventeenth and Anderson streets.

Griffin and Ivar Johnston, Stonington, Colo., who was driving the motorcycle, were going east on Anderson about 1:30 o'clock when a car drove in from the south and sideswiped them. As both machines were moving slowly no one was severely injured.

Griffin is badly shaken and bruised and Johnston received minor bruises. The car was not damaged and the motorcycle received only a bent fender and broken headlight.

Galvesta Seiver is visiting in Lincoln, Neb.

THEATRE TICKETS ON SALE.

Tickets for the Manhattan Theatre production, "Dulcy," are on sale today in the box office at the auditorium. H. Miles Heberer, dramatic coach, said
last night after dress rehearsal,
the play should go off well, and prove a favorite with Kansas State audiences.

JACOBSON IN ACCIDENT

Student Collides With Taxi At Eight and Houston.

Frank Jacobson, Manhattan,
sophomore in commerce, and Walter Gravenstein, taxi driver, were principals in an automobile collision Wednesday afternoon at Eighth and Houston streets. Neither of the occupants were hurt, although both cars were damaged badly.

Jacobson, driving a Studebaker, approached the intersection from the south, and Gravenstein, in his taxi, was driving west on Houston.
The cars crashed, the Studebaker turning over twice.

BIG SIX DIRECTORS MEET

Annual Committee Will Be In Session December 7 and 8 Instead of 5 and 6 As Scheduled.

The problem of lessening athletic revenue expenditures in the Big-Six schools was the subject discussed at the special meeting of the conference athletic directors in a session held in Kansas City last Monday and Tuesday.

The problem will be worked out in the regular annual meeting of the directors committee to be held in Kansas City on December 7 and 8.
This annual meeting was scheduled for the Friday and Saturday following the Thanksgiving holidays
but that would necessitate a session this year on December 4 and 5.
All Big-Six football teams have charity games scheduled for December 5 and it was decided to set the date ahead to the following Monday and Tuesday. The coaches of the various member schools will not attend the annual gathering this year
as has been a custom in the past.

Their absence is a result of a decision handed down by the directors after last Monday meeting.
The directors made no definite move towards curtailment of minor sports but it is expected that at the December meeting they will no doubt vote to abolish round robin competition in minor athletic events and substitute conference tournaments as a method of deciding championships.

It is probable that the number of men usually sent to indoor track meets will also be lowered as will
the number of men representing the Big-Six in the national track carnivals next spring.

The faculty committee has made no decision as to the change of the date of its meeting which is also scheduled along with the directors
but it is expected that they will move to assemble the same time the directors hold their gathering.

M. F. Ahearn represented Kansas
State at this directors meet. Dr. H.
H. King of the chemistry is Kansas State's representative on the conference faculty committee. Doctor
King is chairman of the committee.

ETCHINGS TO BE SHOWN.

Student etchings and a few black prints from architects' classes here will be on display in the architects' department in January, according to Prof. John Helm, Jr., of the architects' department.

In February an exhibit of prints from the Prairie Print Makers, a western company, will be shown.

N-i-b-b-l-i-n-g-s

Some smarty called the Tri Deit house the other night, kept asking for "Boo," and when the unsuspecting soul on the other end wanted to know "Boo Hoo?" the masculine voice told the little girl not to cry. . . . ugh.
Even Noah would have been bored with that. . . . The word
"enchiladas" in Mexican means
"hot stuff." . . . H. Miles Heberer, dramatic coach and detective, turned fireman early Thursday morning when he sent out the alarm the Canteen was burning. . . . One of the small boys about town called the Kappas, the "Kappa Kappa Grandmas." . . . Chili Cochran has so many bosses in the athletic department he calls them by numbers, beginning with Mike Ahearn as Boss No. 1. . . . Glen Harsh, after working out last night in a hard scrimmage, walked across the driveway near the gym, turned his ankle, and as a result put himself on the injury list with the injury termed a "sprain."

The livestock judging contest was which took third. R. C. Munson, Junction City, was high individual scorer in this contest.

Luther Jacobson, Norton, was high individual scorer in the grain

TODAY IS POSTURE DAY

Do you have a hump or a curve,
a bend or a swerve? Is your head right? Do you have "angel wings", or a sway back? If you have leanings, forward, sidewise, or backwards or anyway you should take a look at one of the girls on the campus today wearing a red tag because she stands and walks the way it should be done.

Today is posture day in Health week sponsored by the Women's Athletic association and girls having good posture will wear the red tags.

MUSICAL PROGRAM TONIGHT.

A free musical program consisting of the Manhattan high school orchestra, choruses, girls' sextette, boys' quartette, a mixed chorus of 150 voices, and a solo of Negro baritone spirituals by Lorraine Alexander will be presented at the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock, Friday evening, November 20.

Co-eds Want to Pick Their Dates If They Must Help Pay For Them

Kansas State co-eds can't seem to agree among themselves about this business of having the girls pay half the expenses of a date. Most of them who favor the idea believe that such an agreement, if accepted as a campus social standard should entitle the girls to ask the "man of their choice" for a date,
not leaving the bidding privilege for the men. However, not all the Kansas State women like the idea—and some are quite violently opposed to it.

Jacquelyn Haskell discreetly stated, "As an idea, it's O. K., but to carry it further than an idea would not be so good."

The presence of the depression seems to influence the opinion of many of the girls. Jerry Cornwell said, "I think it's a good idea, if the girl can afford it—particularly while the depression lasts. I think it would work, too; that is, if everyone did it."

Wilda McNally evidently agrees with Jerry, for she said, "It's a good idea, if the girls can afford it."

Helen Louise Swan didn't have much to say concerning her opinion of the idea itself, but she had quite decided opinions as to what should happen if the girls did go fifty-fifty. She stated, "If girls pay half, they should be able to ask for dates. If, however, they're go-

TICKETS GO ON SALE.

The block of 500 tickets to the Kansas State-Washburn game at Topeka Thanksgiving day is selling fast and a complete sellout is expected before the game,

retary in charge of ticket sales at the athletic office. A similar block of 500 tickets is being sold by the Chamber of Commerce.

A special Union Pacific train will be run from Manhattan to Topeka and the round trip fare will be $1.25. The game will be broadcast over WIBW, the Capper publications at Topeka, and also by the White Eagle Oil company over WDAF, the Star,
at Kansas City.

With special bleachers, Moore stadium at Topeka will hold 10-000 persons, and it is expected that it will be filled to capacity.
The game will start at 2 o'clock.

Because of the unfavorable weath-

therefore this honor team will be finger, which is the result of injuries received in last Saturday's game. He was able to leave the hospital Thursday, and it is expected that he will be able to play in the game next Saturday.

Good For Steadies.

idea was a good one. She qualified her statement by saying, "It's a good idea which would work with those who are dating steady. Otherwise,

AN EXPRESSION OF APPRECIATION.

To the men who will tomorrow play their last intercollegiate football game on the home field, the Kansas State Collegian wishes to express its appreciation and praise for the work they have done this season.

Despite the fact the McMillinmen did not come out as well in the conference as some sports writers said they would, the Purple Horde of this year is a great little team, with all the fight that goes to make victories. Through hard luck, and perhaps a slight staleness of football resulting from seven games played on seven consecutive Saturdays, this great team lost. The team is still the same great team. It is still composed of the same men who made the forecasts of early September look so bright.

These men, wherever they go when they finish their college careers, will no doubt make successes of their attempts because of the determination they all possess to do what they started to do. Set backs may come, but as in the football world, another day will mean only a harder battle, and this battle will be won by the men Bo McMillin graduates from the rank and file to football fame.

— The Snoopers —

Well, there's still a war in China, but the flunk alphas have quit coming in. It's a good thing we're not taking any more subjects, or they would start charging us for the paper on which is written our doom. We're still looking for the fellow who gave birth to that flunk alfa idea, and for more reasons than one.

As for the freshmen wearing their caps, we've seen five wearing them since Tuesday.

Conditions improve. One of them still had the Purple and White ribbon attached. We were afraid to tell him to sound off for fear he'd yelp. "Beat K. U." This intelligent freshman bunch!

One of the fellows attending a convention in Minneapolis wrote he is being entertained royally, luncheons, dances, et cetera, and his message was written on Y. M. C. A. stationery! At least his front is respectable.

In our snoopings during the last two or three days we discovered there's a football game Saturday. It took quite a bit of eavesdropping to find all this out since everyone is either afraid to mention football or is leary of the outcome. From all we can gather it is going to be a mighty good game with plenty of seats to pick from.

Anyway, thank gawd for Thanksgiving—and a vacation.

"WORKS OF SELMA LAGERLOF"

reviewed by
Prof. N. W. Rockey.

"Selma Lagerlof writes word interpretations of life as she sees it," said Prof. N. W. Rockey in his lecture Tuesday night at recreation center on the works of the Swedish author.

"She is aiming at something more than writing in her books. She has a distinct quality of idealism and romanticism. A certain type of Swedish people would say she was all very well, but a little cold—no feeling in her books—too much optimism."

"The Ring of the Lowensolds," one of Selma Lagerlof's latest works, is the story of a valuable signet ring which belonged to a general and was buried with him when he died. A man and his wife, while the grave was still open, stole to the cemetery and took the ring from the casket. They had planned to sell it and live comfortably the rest of their lives on the money it would bring. However, the ring brought much bad luck, cursing them wherever they went.

FORMER KANSAS STATE STUDENT DIES TUESDAY

Death Of Josiah Mudge, 82, Result Of Stroke Of Apoplexy.

Josiah Mudge, 82, former student at Kansas State college and one of Manhattan's oldest citizens, died at his home Tuesday afternoon, after a short illness. His death came as the result of a stroke of apoplexy suffered November 6.

Mr. Mudge was the son of Benjamin F. Mudge, who was elected to the Kansas State faculty in 1866 to teach natural history and geology and served in that capacity until February 7, 1874.

Mr. Mudge is survived by his wife, Mrs. Josiah Mudge of Manhattan, and five children, all of whom attended Kansas State. They are: Mrs. Bess Houser, graduate in 1901 Lexington, Ky.; Mrs. Carl G. Eling, graduate in 1905, Manhattan; Josiah B. Mudge, Jr., New York City; and Benjamin F. Mudge, Ashley, Saskatchewan, Canada. Two sons-in-law were also graduates of Kansas state college and have been connected with colleges since graduation. They are: J. S. Houser, of the state entomology department of Ohio State college, and Carl G. Eling, who is in the animal husbandry department at Kansas State. The other son-in-law, Mr. Dimock, is professor of botany at the University of Kentucky.

Others who survive Mr. Mudge are a sister, Mrs. E. B. Irish, Manhattan, former student at Kansas State, and now librarian at the Manhattan high school; a niece, Mrs. Eusebia Thompson, graduate in the class of 1893, Manhattan, with whom Mr. and Mrs. Mudge have made their home recently; and a granddaughter, Mary Houser, Wooster, Ohio, who is enrolled at Kansas State at the present time.

TO MORTAR BOARD MEET.

Mary Jo Cortelyou, president of the Kansas State chapter of Mortar Board, was the chapter's representative at a section convention held in Lawrence last week end. Section five, which includes the local group, will entertain the national Mortar Board in Estes Park the last of next June.

The Women's Student Governing association of Kansas university entertained the convention at luncheon Saturday noon, and in the evening the delegates attended a banquet given by the Lawrence alumni of Mortar Board.

A formula to end "Mother Hubbard buying"

Bare "cupboards" or overstocked ones—are costly in any industry. In the Bell System a safe margin of telephone supplies must always be on hand to assure continuous, efficient service.

Telephone men attacked this problem of distribution in a scientific spirit—studied every angle of purchasing, shipping, warehousing, costs, methods. There emerged a mathematical formula. From this, tables have been developed showing just how much of any item should be stocked to meet requirements most economically. Result: investment in stock is kept low—turnover is speeded-up—99.25% of orders are filled without delay!

The working out of this formula is typical of the thought Bell System men give to improving the telephone art in all its phases.

KAMMEYER PRESENTS ECONOMIC SIDE OF WAR

Gives Statistics Showing Loss To Army and Navy Departments; Emphasizes Opportunity Costs

Dr. J. E. Kammeier, head of the department of economics and sociology, presented the economic side of the appeal against war, Wednesday noon, at student forum when he talked on "The Economic Aspect of Disarmament."

Doctor Kammeier gave statistics showing the economic loss in dollars to the war and navy departments of the United States, but he laid emphasis on "opportunity costs" showing how many vital and necessary things the people are doing without because the money has been spent for equipment and maintenance of armies. His argument showed that war is not inevitable, but that war grows out of human relationships which are governable by man. He refuted the idea that war is beneficial to the human race, to science, culture or art. If armaments are for defense, then there is no reason for their existence, he said. Although men are wiser today than in the past, and live on a higher ethical plane, the reform will come slowly. It may be years before the nations of the world agree to complete disarmament, Doctor Kammeier concluded.

Petitions to be signed and sent to President Hoover and to the conference to be held in Geneva were circulated by Blanche Duguid, student chairman of the Y. W. C. A. international committee.

WRESTLING SQUAD LOOKS PROMISING

New Material Will Fill Vacancies Left By Lettermen Not Returning; Doyle and Tempero Back

Prospects for a winning wrestling team look especially bright this year in spite of the fact only two letter men are back. Coach B. R. Patterson said yesterday. All the wealth of new material available this year will go to fill out the vacancies left by the graduation of the men around whom the team was built last year.

Other strong teams in the Big Six are Iowa State and Oklahoma, who finished second and third respectively last year. Missouri, Kansas, and Nebraska will also be materially stronger, and should make the title race close. Besides winning the Big Six last year, Kansas State placed second to Oklahoma Aggies in the National Intercollegiate tournament.

Men not returning this year are Duke Errington, Ruleton; John Richardson, Douglas; and Fiekel, Chanute, Big Six champions; and Chapman, J. Warner, and Griffiths. The two lettermen around whom the team will be built this year are Bill Doyle, Douglass, National and Big Six 145 lb. champion, and H. L. Tempero, Broughton. Doyle is the captain of the team and wrestles in the 145-lb. class, while Tempero is in the 135 lb. class.

Other men showing up well on the squad are Hinson and Watson, 115 pounds; Burbank, Campbell, and Walters, 125 pounds; P. Warner, 145 pounds; Roberts and Johnson, 155 pounds; Bozarth and Miller, 165 pounds; Merkle and Davidson, 175 pounds; Wertzberger, Nelson and Thiele, heavyweights. Of these, Burbank, Campbell, Warner, Merkle, and Wertzberger won freshman numerals. Burbank was a state high school champion in his class.

GLIDER CLUB DRIVES FOR MEMBERS BY AIR

Members Divided Into Three Groups, Winning Group to Christen New Glider.

Taking to the air in a glider is what members of the Glider club like best, but a decision was made at a meeting of the club held Thursday, November 19, in the engineering building, to resort to an aerial method of attack in their membership drive which was begun recently.

Club members have been divided into three groups, with J. K. Reir, Manhattan; M. W. DeGeer, Lake City, and C. H. Lundberg, Manhattan, as flight commanders. Each group flies a different area, and the group which returns the greatest number of pledges to the club will have the honor of christening the new glider which the club plans to purchase with receipts from the drive.

According to L. A. Gore, Bushon, president of the club, a new type of glider is necessary if the club is to be represented at the National Glider club meet to be held at Elmira, N. Y., next August. The glider which the club now has is not adaptable to the soaring flights which will be made at the national meet. Mr. Gore says, but he believes that with a secondary type glider, the Kansas State Aeronautical association would be able to meet the requirements of the national meeting.

HOME EC CLUB MEETS.

Different Sections of Magazines Illustrated by Members.

Illustrating the different sections of a magazine was the manner in which the program of the Home Economics club was carried out yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in L59 at the club's second meeting of the year.

The advertising section was under the direction of Arlene Marshall. This consisted of the dramatization of two ads, Royal baking powder and "Hasn't scratched yet."

Pauline Vall played a violin solo to illustrate the music review.

Fashions, the last section, was a demonstration of coats which were modeled by some of the girls and explained by Miss Alpha Latsky of the clothing department.

"Dulcy," the second Manhattan Theatre production of the year, will be presented Friday and Saturday nights, November 20 and 21, at 8:15 in the college auditorium.

"Dulcy," the second production of the season, bids fair to hold the audience with its uproarious fun. "Dulcy," the brainless wonder of the show, according to H. Miles Heberer, director, is the cause of much laughter in her sincere efforts to be a help to her husband, who is having business difficulties. She cannot see her shortcomings, and gets herself into many trying predicaments, to the enjoyment of the audience.

The cast includes a list of experienced players, many of them well known to Manhattan Theatre goers. Dulcie, Marjory Allman, Manhattan; Gordon Smith, Dulcy's husband, Harlan Rhodes, Manhattan; Bill, brother of Dulcy, Ted Skinner, Manhattan; Mr. Forbes, Ben Markley, Bennington; Mrs. Forbes, Vendia Morgenson, Manhattan; Angela, Margaret Bacon, Abilene; Vincent Leach, scenario writer, Merle Burgin, Coats; Sam Sterrett, advertising man, Sumner Lyons, Lucas; Henry, ex-convict and butler, John Wollcott; Schuyler Van Dyke, pianist, Scott Hunter, Manhattan; others in the cast, Blaine Patterson and Charles Funk, Manhattan.

Tickets are on sale at the box office in the auditorium.

C. S. Manley, Junction City, is working at a flower show in Junction City.

M'CONNELL IS SHOT; BELIEVE IT SUICIDE.

Officials Investigating Death of Winfield Superintendent Find He Purchased Gun.

W. W. McConnell, 42, superintendent of the Winfield, schools, who was an instructor of a two-weeks course in extra curricular activity at Kansas State college last summer, was found dead on the Winfield high school grounds, about 10 o'clock, Tuesday evening, November 17.

Discovery that he had purchased the revolver found near his body, lead officers yesterday to believe the school head committed suicide. Identification of the old, oddly shaped revolver as one purchased by McConnell at 4 o'clock on the day of his death, was made by H. C. Linenkolh, Arkansas City pawnbroker, who recognized a newspaper man photograph of the Superintendent.

McConnell has been the superintendent of Winfield schools for the past 10 years. Last summer he taught a two week course in extra curricular activities, which was given by the educational department here. He had been asked to teach the course again next summer. McConnell was here last Saturday to attend a meeting of the sub committee on economics and education of the Kansas State Teachers association, which was held with superintendent W. E. Sheffer of the Manhattan city schools.

The average, of the 112 who have made pledges, is $29.78. Dr. J. V. Cortelyou, chairman of the stadium corporation, said, "I do not believe that the new students understand that the pledges do not have to be paid until after graduation, at which time they may pay at their convenience."

TEAM VOTES DOWN GAMES.

Members of the Purple Horde voted Wednesday night to refuse all offers for post season games following the one with Wichita university December 5. They decided studying is better than playing football all winter. Ten games in ten weeks is enough football for any college team they agreed. Offers had been made to the K-Aggies by Centre college and the Texas Christians for a game sometime in December.

AGGIE KNIGHTS MEET

Joyce Miller Elected Marshall Of Organization Wednesday.

Joyce Miller was elected marshal of the organization Wednesday night. Plans were made for the annual fall party, Friday, December 11 and committees were appointed to make preparations.

E. S. Wild, intramural manager, reported a favorable outlook for the Aggie Knight basket ball team which won from Phi Delta Theta by a score of 34-7 Tuesday evening.

There will be no meeting next week.

against the Wildcats. They have a line that averages close to 200 pounds, and a backfield that will miss this mark slightly.

Two outstanding players on the Bison squad are Joe Selliken and Captain Lonsbrough. Selliken is a triple threat star and plays at end, center, or back, or just about any place that a good football player is needed. Lonsbrough leads the Bisons and is their quarterback. Besides being signal caller for the Bisons, he leads about all of the scoring and ball lugging columns in the northern states.

The probable starting line-ups are:

Kansas State: North Dakota:

Blaine: LE: Meyers

Weybrew: LT: Schoenfelder

Hanson: LG: Jahr
Hasler: C: Gray
Zeckser: RG: Orness
Wertzberger: RT: McMillan
Dalton: RE: Selliken
Auker: QB: Lonsbrough
Wiggins: FB: Bunt
Breen: LH: Fisher
Shaffer: RH: McKay

G. B. Wegner, assistant entomologist of the United States department of agriculture, whose office has been located at the Kansas State experiment station since 1927, has been transferred to Kansas City, Mo.

The work of this division is investigation of stored products and insects. The major work is control of the various flour mill insects. The office has been in connection with the department of entomology. Future investigations will be carried on in Kansas City.

"You needn't tell me
—I know Camel is
the fresh cigarette!"

Never parched, never toasted

CAMELS are FRESH

in nature's own mild way!

EVERYONE knows now that Camels are the fresh cigarette.

If inquiry went deeper, it would reveal that Camels are the natural moisture cigarette.

That's important, because in handling fine tobaccos, when you process out natural moisture, you sacrifice freshness and flavor too.

Camel smokers needn't worry about that, because Camels are blended of fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos that are never subjected to violent processing. They need no parching or toasting to make them smooth, palatable, cool.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack is such a boon to Camel smokers—it preserves the freshness, flavor, natural moisture, fragrance that are in this fine cigarette to start with.

Camels are fresh in nature's own mild way, and if you want to see what that means in unalloyed smoke, enjoyment, switch to them for just one day—then leave them, if you can!

Don't remove the moisture-proof wrapping from your package of Camels after you open it. The Camel Humidor Pack is protection against perfume and powder odors, dust and germs. ## CORSAUT DRILLS BASKETEERS FOR GAME WITH K. U.

WICHITA CHARITY GAME PRE-VENTS FOOTBALL MEN FROM REPORTING FOR PRACTICE

FOUR PRE-SEASON GAMES

Official Season Opens January 9 at Columbia When Wildcats Meet
Tigers—Play 15
Games.

Intensive basketball practice for the first game with Kansas university at Lawrence December 11 is still being hampered considerably by the fact that 12 men on the varsity squad are now participating in football and will be unable to report for practice until the close of the gridiron season.

For more than a month Coach C.
W. Corsaut has had a squad of men working out four nights a week. Those who have been reporting are Skradski, Brockway, Silverwood, Boyd, and Bidnick. Of these Skradski and Brockway are lettermen and the others are sophomores.

Twelve Men on Gridiron.
Included in the list now on the football squad are six valuable guards, Captain Auker, Fairbanks, Wiggins, Hasler, Blaine, and Morgan; three centers, Cronkite, Dalton, and Weybrew; and three forwards, Graham, Breen, and Hanson. Five of these men are lettermen.

Stiff practice sessions to round
the squad into shape for the four pre-season games will begin Monday. These games will give Coach Corsaut a good opportunity to test his reserve material as it will take a little time for those who have been in football to get into shape.
The pre-season games are with Kansas university December 11,
Washburn college December 15,
Kansas university December 18,
and St. Louis university December 19.

K. U. Has Strong Team.
The Wildcats will enter these games with much less practice than their opposing teams. Coach "Phog" Allen of Kansas has been working out his squad for over a month and has every potential basketball man on his aggregation at the present time. Page dropped football for basketball and completed Allen's
squad.

Kansas State has more basketball men tied up on the football squad than any other school in the Big Six. When all these men join the varsity squad next week, the ensuing practices will bring out the team's possibilities. Stiff competition is expected for every position on the team.

The Kansas State basketball schedule as now completed is as follows:

- December 11—Kansas university
at Lawrence.
- December 14—Washburn college
at Topeka.
- December 16—Kansas university
at Manhattan.
- December 19—St. Louis university
at St. Louis.
- January 9—Missouri at Columbia.
- January 15—Kansas university at Lawrence.
- January 18—Nebraska at Manhattan.
- January 22—Oklahoma at Manhattan.
- January 30—Iowa State at Manhattan.
- February 6—Nebraska at Lincoln.
- February 9—St. Louis university
at Manhattan.
- February 12—Kansas university
at Manhattan.
- February 16—Oklahoma at Norman.
- February 19—Iowa State at Ames.
- February 27—Missouri at Manhattan.

INSTALL NEW STACKS.

New stacks were installed recently in the west stackwell of the library, which were used to be equipped at the time of the erection of the building. The same company, the Art Medal company, with district headquarters at Kansas City, Mo., that installed the east stacks, installed these. The completion of the new stacks about doubles the stack capacity, but the old stacks were so congested that the new ones only allow for normal expansion. The new library was first occupied in 1927, and the east stack was built at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Wagner were in Sedalia, Mo., for Thanksgiving vacation.

EDITOR TO SPEAK HERE.

John Redmond, President of Kansas Press Association. To Talk.
John Redmond, editor of the Burlington Republican, and president of the Kansas Press association, will speak to journalism students at seminar Thursday, December 10.

Redmond's paper is one of the most successful small dailies in the United States, and is the result of the consolidation of 30 or 40 small newspapers in the territory around Burlington.

The editor's talk will concern the problems of a small town editor.

A. I. E. E. TO MEET

The student branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will meet in the engineering building Thursday, December 3, at 4 o'clock. Ivan Buys, chief engineer for the United Power and Light company at Abilene, will speak to the group.

JUDGING TEAM IN THIRD PLACE AT CHICAGO MEET

Munson and McCammon Second and Third Individuals; Crops Team Also Third.

Kansas State captured third place
in two of the intercollegiate contests at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, Saturday, when the livestock judging team and the crops judging team came out in the third column.

R. C. Munson, Junction City, and Dean McCammon, Manhattan, placed second and third respectively,
as high individuals in the livestock
judging competition.

The champion Iowa State livestock judging team continued its winning streak Saturday by taking first place. And it was North Carolina who took the cup home in the crops judging contest. The southern school won for all time the much contested cup on which the names of Kansas State and North Carolina had already been twice engraved.

The Kansas State livestock judging team which is composed of Munson, McCammon; W. L. Mc-
Mullen, Oberlin; L. D. Morgan, Manhattan; R. O. Blair, Coleman,
Tex.; and T. L. Jones, Garden City, placed first in judging hogs, third in judging hogs, and fourth in cattle. Prof. F. W. Bell of the animal husbandry department is coach.
The team has had a good season,
having won first at the Kansas National show in Wichita, and fourth at the American Royal, before the Chicago contest.

The members of the crops judging team which won first at the American Royal before the international are Luther Jacobson, Horton; Ervil Fry, Porterville, Cal.; Will Myers, Bancroft; and Tom Dicken, Winfield, alternate.

MARLATT VISITS HERE.

Doctor Abbie Marlatt, head of the home economics department at Wisconsin university, is visiting friends in Manhattan. Doctor Marlatt was graduated from Kansas State in 1888.

N-i-b-b-l-i-n-g-s

The Manhattan Mercury last night, by a transposition of lines, came out with the following statement: "Members of Delta Delta Delta sorority, of which Miss Briggs was seriously injured, but is suffering a member understood she is not from cuts and bruises." All of which leave a doubt in the reader's mind as to whether the sorority really causes her much pain. . . . Two collegiates went squirrel hunting over the week end. The squirrel ran into a hole. The collegiates lighted a match. The squirrel burned up. . . . It takes some people a long time to get over a disappointment. The evening Topeka paper proves this. . . .
Returning from a nice week end of loafing, makes classes seem a little stupid and studying worse than that. . . . Muddy cars, traveling long distances to the far corners of the state, and even out of the state, came rattling into town last night. . . . And the Duke of Chronicle fame came out in his sheet swearing that some other fellow swore that he saw two members of the most elite of the elite sororities sneaking out the side door at two in the morning, ohmehmy, to meet two boys parked in a waiting car. . . . And two housemothers are rumored to have turned romantic, and questioned a waitress about the big man with the ten gallon hat driving a Cord.
. . . But a vacation after all means a change from the usual routine. . . .

BUSY SCHEDULE IS PLANNED FOR LOCAL DEBATERS

KANSAS STATE ARGUERS TO APPEAR NINE TIMES
DURING MONTH.

DEBATES TO BE BROADCAST

Unemployment Insurance and State Support of Secondary Education Are Questions to be Considered.

Kansas State representatives will debate nine times during the month of December, according to Prof. H.
B. Summers, debate coach. Most of the debates will be given before high school assemblies or broadcast over station KSAC for the benefit of high school debaters.

Mary Lou Clark, Burr Oak, will represent Kansas State in the first two debates, both of which will be on the relative merits of large and small colleges. Miss Clark's opponent will be two boys from Bethany college. Today, Miss Clark is debating at Council Grove and in the afternoon at Herington. Both debates will be given before the students of the two schools.

Debate at Blue Rapids.

On December 4, the question of unemployment insurance will be debated at Blue Rapids by Kansas university and Kansas State debaters. O. J. Selfridge, St. John, will represent Kansas State.

The same question will be used against Nebraska university at Marysville, December 8, with Waldo Wilmore, Halstead, and Helen Mangelsdorf, Atchison, debating against the N. U. team.

Nebraska university will oppose
O. J. Selfridge on the same question at Washington, December 8.

Arguments On Air.

Station KSAC will broadcast the debate December 10 with Drake university on the question of unemployment insurance. Robert Wilson, Manhattan, and Malcolm Laman, Concordia, will be the Kansas State debaters.

Two debates will be given at Junction City on December 14. The question of state support of secondary education will be argued before the Lions' club and the question of unemployment insurance will be disputed at the high school.
The debate at the high school will be against Kansas university, and
E. G. Kelly, Manhattan, and Otto
Chase, will debate for K. S. C.

Oklahoma university and Kansas State will debate the question of unemployment insurance December 18. Oliver Selfridge and Helen Mangelsdorf will represent Kansas State. This debate, the last to be given during this month, will be broadcast over KSAC.

Unemployment insurance is the question to be contended by the state high schools and is used by Kansas State debaters before high school assemblies and over the air to give information and pointers to high school debate squads.

THREE STUDENTS IN WRECK NEAR ABILENE

Harriet Briggs Sustains Severe Bruises as Auto Overtakes Down Embankment.

Harriet Briggs, Hutchinson, sophomore in the division of home economics, suffered severe bruises as the result of an automobile accident which occurred a short distance west of Abilene Sunday night.
Clayton Robertson, sophomore in agricultural engineering, and William Fair, freshman in mechanical engineering, both of Hutchinson, were in the car, a Buick coupe, with Miss Briggs returning to Manhattan after the Thanksgiving vacation.

The car overturned several times down a steep embankment after leaving the slab on a curve. Robertson and Fair sustained minor cuts and bruises. The three students came on to Manhattan yesterday.

PAVING PROJECT PROGRESSES

The work of paving the driveway west of Nichols gymnasium and Calvin hall is progressing as rapidly as can be expected, in view of the bad weather the last few weeks.
This drive will be paved from Anderson avenue to Anderson hall, as well as the curving driveway going up past the gymnasium. The college is furnishing the materials for paving and the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, the labor, thus partly relieving the local unemployment situation.

Disarmament Parley Leaders

Student leaders in the forthcoming Kansas Student Disarmament conference at Washburn college, Topeka, are: 1 and 2—Waldo

Y. M. C. A., and Miss Louise Davis, president of the Y. W. C. A. at

MILLER TO TELL OF PERSIA

To Show How Country of Arabian Nights Goes Modern With Other European Countries.

William McE. Miller, member of the traveling staff of the Student Volunteer Movement for foreign missions, will speak at noon today at the student forum upstairs in Thompson hall. Mr. Miller will speak on "Aspects of the New Persia."

Mr. Miller, for the last 10 years, has been active in missionary work
at Meshed and Teheran in Persia,
where he has studied the significant social and religious changes which have been taking place during the last decade. The speaker has degrees from Washington and Lee university and Princeton theological seminary, and is working with Persian people, has a knowledge of their language. He will show how glamorous Persia of the era of the Arabian Nights goes modern with other European nations.

Mr. Miller will talk at 12:30.
Dr. Allyn K. Foster, student secretary of the Board of Education of the Northern Baptist commission, will be the speaker at the special student forum on December 9 in Thompson hall. He will be the guest of the Baptist students at dinner on the day before.

In a book Doctor Foster has written, "The Coming Revival of Religion," he says that he holds a very warm spot in his heart for Manhattan because of a noticeable presence of the spirit of the pastors, church people, and citizen groups of this community. He says the whole community atmosphere is of spiritual revival.

Doctor Foster was Y. M. C. A. secretary in the United States,
France, and Germany during the World war. He has spoken in Manhattan several times before.

FRESHMAN ENGINEERS MEET.

A general seminar for freshman engineering students will be held Thursday, December 3 in the auditorium. Prof. F. C. Fenton of the agricultural engineering department, Prof. C. O. Swanson of the flour mill engineering department, Prof. W. F. Brown of the chemical engineering department, and Prof.
Paul Weigel of the architectural engineering department, will speak on the opportunities that their representative divisions offer to the beginning student.

ACKERT TO LECTURE.

Dr. J. E. Ackert will address the Horticulture club this evening, illustrating his talk with pictures taken during his trip to Europe last year. The lecture will stress types of architecture, landscape plantings, etc., according to an announcement made Monday by Earl H. Regnier, chairman of the program committee.

HOLD AGGIE POP STUNTS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

ANNUAL ENTERTAINMENT TO BE HELD IN AUDITORIUM—
SPONSORED BY Y. W. C. A.

BABCOCK TO AWARD PRIZES

Six Long and Four Short Stunts—Two Non-Competitive by
W. A. A. And Glee
Club.

Aggie Pop, the annual stunt night sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. will be held December 4 and 5 in the college auditorium at 8 o'clock,
under the direction of Mary Myers Elliott of the public speaking department.

According to Mary Alice Schnacke, La Crosse, manager of Aggie Pop, the stunts of the various organizations that have been chosen to compete are unusually clever.

The Women's Athletic association's "Bird in a Cage," a non-competitive stunt under the direction of Johnny Moore is a song and dance novelty. Another non-competitive stunt is "Glee Club Jollities," directed by Prof. Edwin Sayre. The Delta Zeta stunt, directed by Margaret Colver, Manhattan, "The Pied Piper's Dream" is the modern version of an old legend.
"Rhapsody in White" to be given by the Phi Omega Pi's under the direction of Lucille Nelson, Jamestown, combines beauty with singing and dancing. Chi Omega's "Prison Fantasy" is a weird imaginative portrayal of a prison scene.
Nelda Carlson, Morganville, is directing Van Zile ha.3. stunt "The Woman in the Shoe," a clever interpretation of the old nursery tale.

The short skits include "Everything for Good Old Nectar," Kappa Sigma, under the direction of John Correll; Phi Lambda Theta
in eight minutes of "Bally Hoo"; Phi Kappa Tau, a back woods skit, and Alpha Kappa Lambda's "Here
a Kidney There a Lung."
Dean R. W. Babcock will award
the prizes which will be cups.

PHI KAPPA PHI TO INITIATE SENIORS

ganization Will Be Held Thursday Morning.

ary scholastic fraternity, will conduct initiation services for its new members Wednesday night in Calvin hall. A special assembly will be held Thursday morning for recognition of new members and the awarding of certificates of merit to high freshmen of 1930-31.

The following new members, representing the upper five per cent of the senior class, will be initiated:
Lucille Correll, Mary Jo Cortelyou,
Barbara Brubaker, Selma Turner and Lyla Roepke, all of Manhattan; W. M. Myers, Bancroft; W. L.
McMullen, Oberlin; Jay Bentley,
Ford; John Schafer, Center, Colo.; Max Eaton, Colby; Edwin Hulland, Wilson; Ralph Hay, Parker; William Tomlinson, Barfield; William Hall, Lindsborg; Lee Stafford, Republic; Wilbur McDaniel, Michigan Valley; Forrest Schooley, Hutchinson; Catharine Zink, Lincoln; and Emma Shepek, Naska.

Sophomores who were in the upper ten per cent of their class last year will receive Phi Kappa Phi recognition. Seniors and sophomores to be honored will sit in a special section of the auditorium.

MAGAZINE RATED CLASS A

Kansas State Engineer One of Eight
To Receive Rating

The October issue of the Kansas State Engineer, was one of eleven of the magazines listed with the Engineering College Magazines Associated to receive class A rating for that month, according to R. C.
May, Parker, business manager of the Engineer.

Engineering College Magazines
Associated lists 23 engineering magazines, many of which are publications of larger engineering schools than that of the division at this college.

FOREIGN ART DISPLAY.

Members of the art element class,
under the direction of Miss Vidu Harris, have a collection of industrial art objects from foreign countries on display in Anderson hall room 55. This exhibit contains articles from countries as Spain, Arabia, and the Orient.

SPEED PROVES COSTLY.

Henry Cronkite, Kansas State's All-American end, gained new recognition for his speed
during vacation when a Wichita speed cop judged him fast enough to be hailed into police court.

Judge Enos Hook, a graduate of K. U., assessed the fine upon Cronkite. "Your team beat mine this fall," said Judge Hook. "The fine will be $6.90."

But the judge took pity upon his natural enemy and reduced the fine to costs, $1.90.

GEIGER TO SPEAK HERE.

J. C. Geiger, construction engineer with the Kansas Gas and Electric company at Wichita, will speak at the general seminar of the American Society of Civil Engineers to be held in the engineering building next Thursday at 4 o'clock.
Geiger, who was graduated from the civil engineering department at K. S. C. in 1923, will talk on warehouse building construction.

CHI OMEGA LEADS IN ROYAL PURPLE CAMPAIGN.

Organization Sells 44 Books, Tri-Delta Are Second With 38 Sales.

The initial thrust in launching the 1931-32 Royal Purple sales campaign resulted in the sale of 416
books, according to Jim Chapman, editor of the publication.

Chi Omega sorority is leading the sale of books by organizations with 44 books sold. Delta Delta Delta sorority is second with the sale of 38 books. The campaign among sororities and fraternities is not definitely closed yet for those organizations turning in names of seniors who have not yet paid their senior dues can count those names providing the dues are paid before this Saturday.

For every 20 books sold an organization can enter one nominee to represent one of four sections of the year book: class section, administration section, activity section, and organization section. Two nominees can be entered for 40 books sold, and for 50 books three nominees can be entered. With 60 books and four dollars for every nominee over three as many nominees as desired may be entered.

The college is ordering approximately 125 books to be sent to high schools over the state, according to C. M. Rhoades, Newton, business manager of the Royal Purple.

MATTHEWS TO GIVE LECTURE ON MAUGHAM

English Professor Will Discuss Works of Man Who Wrote
"Cakes and Ale."

"Cakes and Ale" by Somerset Maugham will be discussed by Prof.
Charles W. Matthews of the department of English, Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in recreation center.

Because of the liberties he took in "Cakes and Ale," semi-biographical novel on Thomas Hardy, Mr.
Maugham, according to the members of the English department, has alienated himself from the British public. Critics in the past few years have been watching Maugham in hopes of finding a successor to Galsworthy, Bennett and Wells.

Professor Matthews' talk will deal largely with the novels of "Human Bondage" and "Cakes and Ale," although reference will be made to "The Moon and Sixpence"
and "The Painted Veil."

PLAN ADDITIONAL PROGRAMS.

A new correlated educational plan which applies to agriculture and home economics programs is being considered for radio broadcast.

Dean H. J. Umberger of the extension division at Kansas State and L. L. Longsdorf, extension editor have made trips to the commercial radio stations between the bordering line of Kansas and Oklahoma and Kansas and Missouri in regard to an innovation in correlated programs.

The plan, effective January 18, is for each station to broadcast for fifteen minutes each week material on the two subjects. Practically all the states in the country are cooperating in the correlated program idea.

SEMINAR FOR AG ENGINEERS.

A seminar for the local branch of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers will be held in the engineering building next Thursday, at 4 o'clock. T. E. Martin, Manhattan, and June Roberts, Ford, who are senior students in agricultural engineering, will explain methods of applying for positions after graduation.

Miss Dorothy Barfoot spent the holidays visiting in Kansas City.

LION'S SHARE OF HONOR ACCORDED K-AGGIE STARS

SPORTS WRITERS OVER COUN-TRY PLACE MANY K-AGGIE MEN ON TEAMS.

CRONKITE, AUKER PRAISED

Two Outstanding McMillinnes
On All-American Eleven—Mc-Bride Names Cronkite Captain of All-Big Six Team.

Kansas State received the lion's share of honor and glory at the close of the football season when various sports writers and authorities over the country named their all-Big Six and all-American teams.
On the Associated Press all-Big Six team, the McMillinnes annexed four places. Edw. W. Cochrane of the Kansas City Journal-Post picked three for his mythical first team; C. E. McBride, sports editor of the Kansas City Star placed two Kansas State warriors on his selection; and Captain Henry Cronkite won a berth on the first all-American team selected by the sports staff of the New York Sun. Cronkite was placed on Walter Trumbull's second all-American club, with Auker receiving "honorable mention."

Leslie Edmonds, sports official and columnist for the Topeka Daily Capital, placed Auker, Cronkite and McMillin on his all-Kansas honorary eleven.
Names All-American.
Grantland Rice, dean of American sports writers and sports editor of Collier's, and Alan Gould, sports writer for the Associated Press, have not named their all-American teams as yet. The latter's team is to be announced Saturday.

The Associated Press all-Big Six team was selected with the advice of coaches, athletic directors, and sports writers.
Ends—Henry Cronkite, Kansas State, and Charles Schiele,
Missouri.
Tackles—Hugh Rhea, Nebraska, and Otto Rost, Kansas.
Guard—George Koster, Nebraska, and Adolph Hrab, Kansas State.
Center—Paul Young, Oklahoma.
Quarterback—Richard Grefe,
Iowa State.
Halfbacks—Elden Auker,
Kansas State, and Ralph
Graham, Kansas State.
Fullback—George Henry Sauer,
Nebraska.

Commenting on the selections for the first team, Charles A. Grumlich, Associated Press sports writer, says
of the Kansas State men:

"Elden Auker, Kansas State halfback, was one of the most finished all around backs in the Big Six in his last season of collegiate compe-

TOO MANY LAWS—NO LAW!

When mother and father send son and daughter to college they believe son and daughter to be old enough and well versed enough in the ways of the world to be able to at least partially look after their own welfare. But the deans in those colleges often have other ideas. They take over the responsibility of these sons and daughters' welfare. They make up little rules. Rules usually much more strict than those laid down by the parents at home. As a result the sons and daughters either bow down to submission to these little rules, or they rise up in wrath, and do as they please until they are found to be disobedient by the authorities higher up.

Most students come to college to get an education. Otherwise they certainly wouldn't bother themselves to crawl out early in the morning, attend classes all day, study half the night, and then get up the next day to repeat a similar routine. These students, because their time is naturally limited, are necessarily kept in at nights because they want to be in. But if for some reason or other they have things outside of the rooming houses or sorority houses, or dormitories they want to do, and they feel in their own minds they should be allowed to do, they break any rules set down in order that they might be able to carry out their plans.

Rules in this college are superfluous. Perhaps for the first year student, they are not unduly strict. But for the upperclassman, here to gain the knowledge he can from the institution of learning, here spending money his father has saved for his education, they prove a hindrance.

How is the young man or young woman, graduating from college after spending four years in a house where the rules are cut and dried, going to compete in a business world where each man is his own boss, and only the fittest survive? How is he going to be able to cope with a situation in which he has never before been placed? How, in other words, will he be able to take care of himself after having that responsibility fall on shoulders of those who thought themselves more competent?

The problem of living, of forming life time habits, is one which should be solved in colleges and universities. How is any student going to be able to figure out his mode of living and carry out his ideals, if others lay down the rules?

He won't. He'll go out of college with a degree and start hunting for someone to tell him what to do next. Or he'll do exactly what he has never been allowed to do.

The result is far from pleasing.

THE HOME ECS COULD PRACTICE.

What, asked the Kansas City Star recently on its editorial page, has become of the old fudge parties.

And the Collegian asks, why shouldn't they be revived? What could be more fitting to the pocketbook in this time of depression, than fudge parties. A nice quiet evening spent at bridge, with a move to the kitchen later in the evening to make the candy, would be one way of spending these cold winter nights. With backgammon, pinocle, and even pitch now being in vogue, plus the radio entertainment available, and the wax floors found in the various houses, there is no reason why the women shouldn't bear the small expense of the date, and keep the boys in for the evening.

In the organized houses, it would of course be a little awkward for all the members to have their friends in for the fudge making. But the members could speak for the kitchen at different times, and thereby once in a while, have exclusive use of the lower floor.

Then, too, there comes to the hostess, the privilege of politely yawning, and with repeated glances at the clock, a chance to explain to those present a first hour must be attended in the morning and the need of sleep is great. It would be one way of getting rid of boresome dates early without too much arguing.

Besides the novelty of the entertainment would be diverting. And after all, that's what these students want, a change, something different, and something cheap.

It's a suggestion, anyway.

WORTH WHILE AND INTERESTING.

In order to appreciate the study and preparation which is spent in developing a subject, interesting and educational, one must only develop enough energy to attend the English lectures which are given by the English faculty on Tuesday nights at recreation center.

Students seem to be taking advantage of these talks more this year than here-to-fore. The attendance a few years ago centered around an elderly group in which the average student seemed to feel out of place. If a student was seen at the meeting it was because of his instructor's urge to go and hear his lecture, which the ego of the instructor deemed important. In the respective class period that followed, the instructor would discuss the subject and the student had to go to the lecture or create the ill-will of the instructor.

Where there formerly was a sprinkling of students in the audience there now seems to be a sprinkling of elderly people in the group of students and instructors.

Prof. Charles W. Matthews will talk this evening on the novels of Somerset Maugham "Cakes and Ale" and "Of Human Bondage" and he always carries on a flow of lively discussion. Take your date to hear Professor Matthews tonight; it's inexpensive in addition to being a good excuse for staying out on a week night.—D.T.

"DULCY."

Talking about the Manhattan Theatre play "Dulcy" which was presented in the college auditorium the week end prior to Thanksgiving vacation, is almost as bad as mentioning last summer's boy friend, but the play was just as entertaining as the boy friend probably was.

H. Miles Heberer did some plenty good coaching for this comedy-farce, which was both to the audience. Marjorie Allman, playing the part of "Dulcy," the craziest woman in the world, couldn't have been any better in that part if she had come out of a mail order catalogue. And Ted Skinner, as her brother; Harlan Rhodes, as her husband; Benjamin Markley as an irate guest, and the remainder of the cast were great. The acting didn't even seem like acting, it was all so natural.

And when the show was all over, the audience agreed that Dulcy probably remained still deplorably dumb, still as innocently sweet, and still as incorrigibly meddlesome in her husband's business affairs of which she knew nothing, and in which she insisted upon taking a part through the entire performance.—E.D.

We hold silent meditation for all poor little fur covered fellows when we see their pelts running around in the form of fur coats. There are black ones, white ones, brown ones, sleek and wooly ones. They go to varieties, football games and class rooms where their owners would fear to tread. Some poor seal must lie down in despair when he sees his good name tacked onto dyed rabbit. In spite of this abuse and misnomer Kansas State is very grateful to the fur-bearing species for their support in the Nebraska game.—W.

— The Snoopers —

Vacation has slid into the past. We heartily agree with one wise instructor who assumed that everyone had so much time to prepare the assignment that it was unnecessary to ask any questions in Monday's recitation.

It's easy to see that we haven't been living right. Yesterday we went to a morning class to be smacked squarely in the face with a shotgun quiz. Later in the day an instructor failed to give an assigned exam for which we had spent a diligent half hour in preparation. It might have been in the cards, but we missed it.

A few of the hometowners and the boys who were broke stayed in town over the vacation. Numerous stag banquets were held. At one we were served a bun, a hamburger and three lumps of gravy, with a dill pickle and a radish for dessert, not to mention a liberal draught of stolen milk.

In a moment of weakness Peanuts Pratt, one of the regular banquetters, revealed the king pin reason for the high social rating of Sigma Nu. It is the adroit hoisting of a coffee cup in the crook of the little finger, thereby leaving the rest of the hand free to steady the spoon which frequently sticks one in the eye.

How the little feller from Topeka can howl! We sat not ten feet from the diminutive sports editor of the capital city's evening newspaper in the press box during the Washburn football game and had no idea he was smouldering in silence because Cronkite and Graham had failed to don their boleros. His eruption apparently was violent, however, the disturbance was only local.

It's too bad Murt Makins went to so much trouble digging up the history of the Junior-Senior prom shepherd's crook. Everybody still thinks he was lying in the resulting speech.

We note that Former Governor Paulen has been mentioned to fill the senate chair for Kansas. Would it be out of place to suggest that he take a course in the art of oratory before he attempts any such procedure? Perhaps it would—we'll just not mention it!

Late Owner of Old Bibles Was Former Student at K. S. C.

The article reprinted in the Kansas City Star from the New York Sun last week about the collection of old Bibles at Baker university that were formerly owned by Bishop Quayle, reminded the older faculty members at Kansas State of the year when the bishop was enrolled for general work in the college here, preparatory to his study for the ministry at Baldwin.

Quayle was enrolled here in 1897 and a study of the bound copies of the Kansas Industrialist disclosed that his name was not omitted from the honor roll for even one month during the entire year. And to be on the honor roll in those days would be quite an achievement since one's grades had to average 85 per cent or above.

Nor was high scholarship the only honor Quayle had while attending school here. Part of his time was spent in supporting himself by serving as a janitor here. He won the reputation of being one janitor who always swept the corners clean. Besides doing janitor work Quayle worked for his room and board at the home of Professor Hofer, of the department of music, whose son now has charge of the Manhattan Type-writer Emporium.

Dr. J. T. Willard, vice-president, who has been connected with Kansas State college for fifty years, recalls having been in an English literature class with the bishop that year under Prof. M. L. Ward.

Bishop Quayle left this institution after that one year in college to take up the study for the ministry at Baker university. He was elected president of that institution while still a very young man and was later made bishop in the Methodist church, and served in that capacity until his death, March 9, 1925.

SOCIETIES CHOOSE DEBATE QUESTION

Annual Competition Between Literary Society Debaters Will Start December 7.

The literary societies will hold their annual debates this year starting December 7, on the question "Resolved that a combination of the counties of Kansas would be socially and economically desirable." ## HOLD INITIATION BANQUET

Steel Ring Honors New Members of Organization

New members in the Steel Ring were given an initiation banquet at the Wareham hotel Tuesday, November 16. K. D. Grimes, assistant instructor in the electrical engineering department, acted as toastmaster. P. C. Perry, Little River, president of Steel Ring; M. H. Davison, Manhattan, and Prof. L. M. Jorgenson of the electrical engineering department, spoke to the group.

New members of the Steel Ring are S. H. Keller, Newton; R. A. Alcxander, Independence, Mo.; I. E. McDougal, Atwood; L. A. Gore, Bushton; M. H. Davison, Manhattan, and J. P. Woolcott, Manhattan.

ETHEL ARNOLD'S SUCCESSOR NAMED

Miss Pauline A. Pinckney Will Fill Position Left Vacant By Death of Late Art Department Head.

Miss Pauline A. Pinckney, Austin, Texas, has been employed to fill the position in the art department left vacant by the death of Miss Ethel Arnold. Miss Pinckney has previously taught in Purdue college at Lafayette, Ind., and in Southern Methodist university at Dallas, Texas. She received a B. A. degree at the University of Texas, Austin, and a M. A. degree at Columbia university, New York. She began her work at Kansas State today.

Miss Dorothy Barfoot is chairman of the committee in charge of the art department. This was the position held by Miss Arnold until her sudden death about six weeks ago.

WORKS FOR GOVERNMENT

Andre Audant, who received his master's and bachelor's degrees in science here last summer returned to Haiti and latest reports say that he is expected to be made head of the department of entomology and zoology in the reorganized technical agricultural service of the government.

GILBERT MAKES CHARTS

Henry W. Gilbert, Manhattan, a student in entomology, is making a set of six charts for the department. He has mounted photographs artistically on charts and is lettering them. These charts are of exceptional merit and will be placed in Fairchild 32.

FORTNIGHTLY LUNCHEONS.

An agriculture experiment station luncheon, followed by speeches, will be given for faculty members Friday, November 28, at the college cafeteria. This is the first of a series of meetings to be held every two weeks until after Easter. Reports will be made about the many experiments worked out in the agriculture department.

Glady Winegar, who received her master's degree here in 1927, and is at present instructor in the department of clothing and textiles at the University of Nebraska, was the guest of Prof. Myrtle A. Gunselman last week end and attended the Kansas State-Nebraska University game.

At The Theatres

AT THE DICKINSON

"Gals About Town"
Lillian Tashman and Kay Francis are renowned as the clothes horses of Hollywood, and in this show they show their complete wardrobe, and perhaps do a little acting. As a couple of Broadway diggers they get paid for hooking visiting butter and egg men for a broker. Key falls in love with Joel McCrea, one of the suckers. Her ex-husband does a little blackmailing, and nearly spoils the path of true love. Imagine her disgust!—J. B.

AT THE WAREHAM

"Monkey Business"
The four Marx brothers seem more clever than they have ever been in "Monkey Business," now showing at the Wareham. From their first appearance in the herding barrels until the show closes with Groucho looking for "the needle in the haystack," the comedians pack the talkie with jest. At the finish, one will have a little regret that there is no more, just as you felt in "The Cocoanuts."—D. T.

AT THE VARSITY

"Devotion"
Ann Harding is her usual charming self when she gives all the devotion she has, and incidentally no small part of her heart, to Leslie Howard, her plenty good supporter, in the picture "Devotion," taken from Pamela Wynne's novel. Despite the apparent seriousness of the title, the audience musters many laughs during the entertainment. The English setting works well with Miss Harding's type of beauty. It's a good show.—L. D.

CONDUCT BABY CONFERENCES

Dr. Helen Sharp, of the department of child welfare and eugenics conducted the Well Baby conference in Calvin hall Monday afternoon from three to five o'clock. This was one of a series of conferences held by Doctor Sharp each Monday in cooperation with the American Health association. Children enrolled in nursery school are taken to one of the conferences once a month to be weighed and measured. It is also open to the public and mothers bring their babies to Doctor Sharp to discuss their problems. No prescriptions are made, however.

INVESTIGATE MEDICINES

RECEIVE NEW MOTOR

The department of civil engineering has received a 12 cylinder, 450 h. p. Liberty motor from the United States war department, which will be used in wind tunnel tests. #### CYCLONES TO HAVE GOOD CAGE SQUAD

Iowa State Will Open Basket Ball Season December Fifteen

Ames, Iowa, Nov. 25—With the end of the Cyclone football season and Coach Louis Mays relieved of his duties as backfield coach, the Iowa State basketball team begins intensive training for the opening game of the season here December 15 against Brigham Young university.

Prospects for a winning team this year are exceptionally bright as almost the entire squad from last year is available. Dick Wilcox, who was graduated, is the lone exception. Dick Hawk, two-year veteran is not in school this quarter and will miss the first three games, but will be back after Christmas.

Led by Captain Jack Roadesp, all-conference selection at forward last year and high scorer in the Big Six, the Cyclones are expected to make a serious bid for the title this winter. Al Holzman, rangy center for the past two years, and Max Rieke, two-year veteran at guard, are back to take two berths on the Cyclone quintet. Ralph Thompson, tenth high scorer in the conference last winter, is making his bid to retain his old post as forward. Other members of last year's freshman and varsity squads are pushing the veterans for regular positions are Holmes, Craghead, Dilla, Rudyer, Ludwig Jones, Wepner, Sebon, King and Holckvam. Roger Bowen, Gordon Nagel, and El Roe, members of the football team, are expected to report for practice next week.

In addition to 10 Big Six games, the Cyclones will play three games with Drake, one with Central college and one with Brigham Young.

Threatened Arrests Brings Crooks Home With Stolen Crook

As a result of clever strategy on the part of the upperclassmen, the shepherd's crook which was presented to the junior class by the senior class at the annual junior-senior prom, November 24, remains safely in the hands of the juniors. Joe Murphy, Schenectady, New York, and Bud Weiser, Scott City, both sophomores, stole the crook from the window of the Palace drug store at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, despite the fact that it is contrary to custom to steal the crook before its presentation to the juniors at the prom, and drove to Topeka with it. Murt Makins, Abilene, manager of the prom, located the crook through Lawrence Froelich, Abilene, a sophomore, and told Froelich that he had obtained warrants at the police station for the arrest of Weiser and Murphy if the crook was not returned by 9 o'clock that night.

Frightened by this ruse Murphy and Weiser drove from Topeka in 62 minutes and surrendered the crook at 7:45 o'clock, thus saving the seniors from placing black ribbons in the place of their class colors, as is the custom when it is stolen by the underclassmen.

Two hundred couples attended the prom, according to Makins. Milton Ehrlich, Marion, president of the senior class, presented the shepherd's crook to Eugenia Ebling, Lindsborg, vice president of the junior class, in the absence of Harry Hasler, Junction City, president. Ernestine Putnam, Salina, gave a tap dance.

Until 1895 a silver spade had been presented to the juniors by the seniors in a special chapel before the prom. In 1895 two seniors, F. A. Johnson and T. L. Smith dropped the spade in the river and it has never been recovered. The shepherd's crook made its first appearance in 1898 and has been in use ever since. Each year the seniors add their class colors to the crook, unless it is stolen by the underclassmen when black colors are added in place of the class colors.

PREPARE FOR BASKETBALL

Allen Begins Daily Practice Sessions For Kansas Jayhawkers

Lawrence, Kans., Dec. 1—With the football season over, the Kansas Jayhawkers are beginning to prepare in earnest for the coming basketball season. Dr. F. C. Allen, director of athletics and basketball coach at the University of Kansas, has been holding practice twice a week since early in October but from now on the practices will be held daily.

Those who turned out for practice last week included the following: Ted O'Leary, Lawrence, and William Johnson, Oklahoma City, letterman, and Kenneth Johnson, Oklahoma City; Blon Miller, Ft. Scott; Tom O'Neil, Bartlesville, Okla.; Lawrence Skinner, Lawrence and Lawrence Filkin, Bonner Springs, former squad men.

In addition to these men the following new men have reported for practice: Max Colson, Joplin, Mo.; Hudson McGuire, Leavenworth; Robert Gribble, Ashland; Stewart Chambers, Kansas City, Mo.; Chester Linley, Atchison; Ernest Vanek, Ellsworth; Floyd Prichard, Bartlesville, Okla.; Douglas Daugherty, Independence, Missouri; Ron Roberts, Wray, Colorado; Don Knight, Independence; Phil Beatty, Ellsworth; and Paul Harrington, Kansas City, Kans.

Dick O'Neil, Bartlesville, a member of the football squad, also warmed up with the squad last week, but he will not join the squad in daily practices until after the close of football season. Other football men who are coming out for basketball will also not be available until after the Washburn football game, December 5th.

Four lettermen were lost from last year's championship team by graduation. They were Forrest Cox and Tom Bishop, regulars, and Floyd Ramsey, utility, and Benny Baker, reserve guard.

The first game of the season will be December 11th with the Kansas Aggies at Lawrence. This is a non-conference pre-season game and will not affect the standing of either team in the Big Six race, but nevertheless, each team will be anxious to turn in a victory in its opening game.

COMPILES K. U. SCORES

University Has Played 546 Contests Against 99 Different Opponents—Won 374.

Lawrence, Kan., Dec. 1—Compilation of scores of all basketball games played by the University of Kansas, from 1899 to date, just completed by the K. U. news bureau, shows that the university has played 546 such contests against 99 different opponents, and has won 374, or 68.5 per cent of these games. The total points amassed by Kansas in these games is 16,829, while the opponents were piling up 12,880 points.

Almost half of the Kansas games have been played with the five other schools now members of the Big Six. Of these, Kansas has won 171 and lost 97, and has piled up 7,722 points to the opponents' 6,667. While Kansas first played Nebraska in basketball in 1902, the record is not continuous, but with Missouri, starting in 1907, there have been at least two, often four, and sometimes five games a year, without interruption. Six games were played in 1909 with Nebraska, a post-season series settling championship between the north and the south of the conference.

The most points scored in any one game were 95 when Kansas defeated Drake 63 to 33 in 1910, for a total of 95 points. On the other hand, Independence, Mo., defeated Kansas in 1901, 11 to 8, in a game in which only 19 points were scored. Another game prolific in scoring was the 46-44 victory of Kansas over Oklahoma A. and M. in 1928, for a total of 90 points and only a 2-point margin.

Of the 546 games listed, 16 were decided by one-point margins, in 10 of which Kansas had the single point advantage, and in six of which the opponent had the point. The closest game, therefore, was the one won by Washburn in 1913, 41 to 40. The most overwhelming victory was the Kansas defeat of Washington in 1918, 68 to 8. Average Kansas score in all 546 games was 30.5 to its opponents' 23.5. In Big Six competition alone, the margin is a little narrower for the "typical game," with the Kansas average 28.8 and that of the opponents 24.8.

SHOCKER GAME TO BE K-AGGIE SEASON FINALE

CHARITY TILT AT WICHITA SATURDAY LAST GAME FOR NINE KANSAS STATE MEN.

GRAHAM EXPECTED TO PLAY

Kansas Conference This Year With Seven Victories In Nine Games Played.

Kansas State's Purple Horde will don their football togs for the grand finale of the 1931 football season when they play Wichita university in a charity tilt at Wichita next Saturday.

Saturday's game will be the last intercollegiate contest for these Wildcat gridsters: Henry Cronkite, Lyons; Elden Auker, Norcatur; Belle Plaine; George Wiggins, Alvin Stephenson, Clements; Ray McMillin, Manhattan; Oscar Hardtacker, Lawrence; Paul Fairbank, Topeka; Glen Harsh, El Dorado; and Robert Gump, Lawrence.

Want "Rambling Ralph" Graham to use "Rambling Ralph" Graham in the game, interest in the tilt is increasing.

Last Saturday against Washburn, "Rambling Ralph" produced the scoring punch that sent the K-Aggies on their way to a 22 to 0 victory, and it would be a treat for the people down on the Arkansas to again see the big Rambler in action. When Graham was in high school, he played many games in Wichita against the three high schools there.

To Be Tough Contest.
The game Saturday will probably be one of the toughest games to win that has been played so far this season. Wichita university is pointing to the game with Kansas State, and the Shockers will be hard to subdue.

"Bo" McMillin has been working his men on few new plays, but has been revising old ones. Last night the team went through a light scrimmage against the B team.

Auker Won't Play.
The Shockers are coached this year by Al Gebert, who learned his football at Notre Dame under the late Knute Rockne. Most of their offensive threats are hinged about the deceptive Notre Dame shift, with Tip Tucker, Shocker backfield ace, bearing the brunt of the burden. The Shockers have won seven of nine games played.

Elden Auker, Norcatur, may be kept from the game because of a pulled muscle in his leg, which he received in the Washburn game, Thanksgiving day.

Hraba In Hospital.
Adolph Hraba, East St. Louis, is still in the hospital where he is recovering from an attack of pneumonia. Hraba, a two letter guard, has been one of the most outstanding linemen throughout his college football career.

Lloyd Michael, Lawrence, has completely recovered from his back injury which was received in the Nebraska game. "Mike" saw much action in the Washburn game when Hasler was injured early in the first quarter.

Sport Squibs

Washburn's Moore Bowl proved to be a mortar in which the Ichabods were ground into submission. 22 to 0, by the hard driving Kansas State Wildcats in the Thanksgiving day football fray between the two schools.

The K-Aggies had a hard time getting started, and when Ralph ("The Rambler") Graham entered the game at the start of the second half, it was all over as far as Washburn's scoring threat was concerned.

Graham made quick work of amassing a good lead for Kansas State when he scored 13 points in less than that many minutes. "The Rambler" drove over for the first touchdown in five consecutive plays, starting from Washburn's 23-yard line.

The Purple Horde literally "slipped in a fast one" when Graham made good the point after touchdown by going through the line from a fake kick formation.

Kansas State's basketball season starts on Friday night, December 11, with a game with Kansas university at Lawrence. This will be followed closely by a game with Washburn at Topeka on December 14.

Coch C. W. ("Charley") Corraut is getting a bad break because of the extended football season. Twelve basketball prospects, Auker and Cronkite among them, are on the football squad.

C. E. McBride, sports editor of the Kansas City Star, added to his praise of Henry Cronkite and Elden Auker in his column in last night's Star. McBride expressed the opinion of many in the mid-west when he said, "Suppose Elden Auker or Henry Cronkite had been playing on Notre Dame or Northwestern or Southern California, they would have graced every all-American selection from coast to coast. . . . Auker and Cronkite have the weight, the height, the speed, the experience, everything a great football player needs. Chances are that Auker is a greater back in all-round ability than any man who placed in the backfield of Walter Trumbull's selections heretofore referred to. . . . Cronkite won a second place end position on Trumbull's selections. Dalmirpe or Tulane and Oral of Colgate were the first team ends, I doubt if either is as great an end as Cronkite."

Well, that's that.
McBride says "amen" to it all with "Marty an all-American player was born to star—unseen and waste his deeds on an unsung gridiron."

Which all may serve to call the attention of Eastern eyes to the fact that there may be two or three real football players between Osgood, Indiana, and Vallejo, California.

LION'S SHARE OF HONOR ACCORDED K-AGGIE STARS

tition. He punted adequately, plunged well, place kicked extra points and was the slingshot on passes to the towering Captain Cronkite, who was also a field goal specialist with a total of three for the season, all booted from treacherously slippery gridirons."

Graham Is Praised.
Graham received his share of well-deserved praise in the following comment:

"Ralph Graham, Kansas State sophomore, adds power to the backfield. He was the spearhead of the K-Aggie running attack which fared well until he was injured against West Virginia and withheld from the last two conference games."

Hraba's position on the first team was closely contested by both Walter Zeckser, Kansas State guard, and Charles Teel, Oklahoma. Zeckser and Teel both placed on the Associated Press second team.

C. E. McBride, sports editor of the Kansas City Star and a veteran football official in the Missouri Valley, announced his selections for the mythical all-Big Six team in the Star last Sunday. Kansas State placed two men on his team, Cronkite and Auker. On the second eleven are Hraba, McMillin, and Wiggins.

McBride Makes Selection.
McBride's selections are:

Ends—Schiele, Missouri, and Cronkite, Kansas State.
Tackles—Rost, Kansas, and Rhea, Nebraska.

Guards—Teel, Oklahoma, and Koster, Nebraska.
Center—Ely, Nebraska.

Quarterback—Bowen, Iowa.
Quarterback—Bowen, Iowa State.
Halfbacks—Auker, Kansas State, and Grete, Iowa State.

Fullback—Kreisinger, Nebraska.
Elden Auker received the individual honors on McBride's mythical team. Of Auker, McBride says:

"In the right halfback position Elden Auker, Kansas State, the finest all around player in the Missouri Valley as this correspondent saw them, and so the Valley's best bid for all-American. Auker is 6 feet 2, 190 pounds, 21 years old and a senior. Forrest C. Allen, basketball coach at Kansas, has named Auker as the greatest basketball guard in the Big Six. He is a baseball pitcher and combines the wisdom of experience in all sports when he dons the cleated shoes."

Auker Valuable Man.
"Auker is a triple threat man, and he is a star in each threat. Exceedingly fast for a big man, this Kansas Stater runs with a high knee action that doesn't do the opposing tackles any good. He can side-step and use a stiff arm with skill. In class work Auker is an excellent student. He is the best rounded football player this correspondent has seen in the Valley country over a long span of years and our first nomination for all-American honors."

McBride showered more praise upon Kansas State's ball club when he named Captain "Hi" Henry Cronkite as his second selection from the Big Six for all-American honors. McBride's praise of Cronkite is:

"Cronkite and Schiele are awarded wing places. Each is a six-footer, Cronkite standing five inches more than six feet, so it should be unnecessary to call attention to his ability to reach far up and far out for forward passes. No secondary defense man has been able to effectively cover this powerful Kansas Stater. He takes passes with ease and right out of the stretching arms of pass interceptors. . . . Cronkite is Loaded.
"Pass receiving, however, is not the only strong point of Cronkite and Schiele. Each is a hard tackling defensive end, hard to get around and fast down the field under kicks. Cronkite also is an excellent punter and place-kicker. Twice against West Virginia, in the rain, he made placement kicks, one of forty yards, one of forty-six, and in the Nebraska game his place-kick of thirty-eight yards was the only score his team could assess."

"Cronkite is named captain of the mythical eleven. He is an excellent student, a thorough observer of the rules of football, a fine team leader, a sportsman. You needn't tell me
—I know Camel is
the fresh cigarette!

Milder because they're fresh CAMELS are never parched or toasted!

FOLKS who smoke really fresh cigarettes made from choice sun-ripened tobaccos never have to give a thought to their throats.

That's because such fresh cigarettes retain natural moisture—and are gratefully smooth, cool, throat-friendly, mild.

Camels are the fresh cigarette—everyone knows that now—they're blended from the finest Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos that money and skill can buy.

We would never dream of parching or toasting

these choice sun-ripened tobaccos—that would only drive off or destroy the natural moisture that makes Camels fresh in nature's own mild way.

The Camel Humidor Pack protects a fine cigarette fresh with natural moisture—it could do little or nothing to freshen a cigarette that is dried-out or factory-stale.

If you smoke for pleasure, see for yourself what freshness means in mildness and flavor—switch to Camels for just one day—then leave them, if you can!

Recommendations for awarding varsity letters to 24 members of the football squad, six members of the two-mile team, and 24 numerals for the freshman football team, were made by the athletic council at a meeting held last Wednesday noon.

The varsity awards include sweaters and letters while the freshman awards include the sweater with the year of this year's freshman class upon it in purple numerals.

THEATRE TRYOUTS SOON.

"Berkley Square" To Be Given In February.

Tryouts for the next Manhattan theatre play, "Berkley Square," will be held Monday and Tuesday, December 7 and 8. Only persons to whom cards have been sent, and those having previously been in Manhattan theatre plays are eligible for the tryouts.

"Berkley Square" will be given February 5 and 6. It is a drama of the eighteenth century, and is being given as Kansas State's contribution to the Washington bi-centennial.

The play, according to H. Miles Heberer, "was one of the best New York productions of 1930." It comes so highly recommended that Manhattan theatre goers are looking forward to it with a great deal of interest and pleasure.

Prexy and Deans Panned and Praised in Collegian Survey

Prexy.

Dean of Women.
Dean of Men.
Dean of General Science.
Dean of Engineering.
Dean of Agriculture.
Dean of Home Economics.
Dean of Veterinary Medicine.
Dean of Graduate Study.

Nine titles. They all sound good to the Kansas State students—but what do those students think of the men and the women who are at present occupying the positions so designated? Some are liked, some are tolerated, and some are quite heartily disliked.

No One Knows Prexy.

No one knows President F. D. Farrell well enough to voice an opinion. As one co-ed put it, "He doesn't get around enough to let us even know what he looks like."

The women of the Kansas State campus like Mrs. Mary P. Van Zile. They feel she is fair. She has tact, poise, and good judgment. Therefore she commands their respect. One upperclass co-ed who has attended school elsewhere feels, however, that the Dean of Women insists on too many rules and regulations.

"Doc" A. A. Holtz is pretty well liked by most of the men of Kansas State. Few or none have succeeded in getting past his gruffness. Consequently the majority agree with the senior who said, "I like him all right, but I'm not just what you could call 'herb' about him."

Babcock Is Okay.

Perhaps the most popular divisional dean is Rodney W. Babcock. A senior who should know what he is talking about boomed very emphatically. "He's just plenty OK—the best dean this college has ever had." The fact that Dean Babcock seems to take a personal interest in every student accounts to some degree for his popularity. His fairness is another attribute that makes a big hit with the students enrolled in the general science division.

Quotations concerning Dean R. A. Seaton show most clearly the division of sentiment concerning him. One peppery student stated quite concisely, "Oh, he's a horse-grouchy as the devil." A senior who knows Dean Seaton somewhat better than the peppery individual does, said, "Well, I like him. Until you know him he seems pretty tough, but he's a plenty good part of a fellow, really."

Call From The Arctic.
The ag students, from freshman to senior, agree that Dean Call is "too aloof"—"too dignified"—"darn frigid, if you ask me." Dean Call like Prexy, is one of those persons you'd like to know better but just aren't given the opportunity, the students think.

Few of the girls in the home ec division seem to know Dean Justin very well. They like her "menseness," and wish they had the opportunity to become better acquainted with her. "She's so lovely," one girl remarked, "one instinctively likes her." Her colleagues value the friendship of such a charming, well-poised lady. Others outside of the division, who do not know Dean Justin in the same light as do those students enrolled in home economics, feel she is slightly superficial because she smiles in such a queer way, and seems so "nice."

Dykstra Good Fellow.
"He's a good guy!"—a freshman speaking, evidently—but he voices the feelings of all the vet medicine students concerning Dean Dykstra. A senior expressed the same sentiments in a slightly more dignified manner by saying, "We rate Dean Dykstra ace high. He's friendly, knows all the vets by name, and seems to have a real personal interest in each of us."

Everyone agrees that Dr. J. E. Ackert, dean of Graduate Study, has a very unusual personality and a very likeable one. From numerous conversations concerning him it is easy to see that the better one becomes acquainted with Doctor Ackert the better one likes him.

FLOODLIGHTS PLANNED FOR "KS" ON K HILL

Steel Ring Obtains Cost Estimate Of Project—Fund Committees Appointed.

Plans for the erection of flood lights to illuminate the letters KS on "K" hill, east of Manhattan, were discussed at a meeting of Steel Ring, engineering organization, held last Tuesday afternoon.

According to P. C. Perry, Little River, president of the club, a cost estimate has been obtained for construction of the lights, which will make the K. S. visible at night to both highways from the west. The organization hopes to receive the support of the chamber of commerce and merchants of Manhattan, and committees are being appointed to raise the necessary funds.

Plans were also discussed at the meeting for an all-engineer get-together meeting to be held in the near future for the purpose of better cooperation and acquaintance between students in the various departments.

LITWILLER TO WASHINGTON.

Prof. E. M. Litwiler of the extension division left Monday for Washington, D. C., where he will attend President Hoover's conference on Home Ownership and Home Improvement. Professor Litwiler, who is a landscape gardening specialist for the division, will work mainly with the beautification of the home and grounds. He is expected to be gone about three weeks.

N-i-b-b-l-i-n-g-s

In a recent quiz given to students in "Ancient Civilization," a co-ed couldn't answer the question, "Who built the Chinese wall?" She asked Tine Lantz, who said, "Fu Manchu." . . .

Early the other morning the following note was found on the library floor. "Dear N. It's all off between us. The end has come. I'm in love with someone else. Forgive me, I do not mean to hurt you. Goodbye forever. (Signed) L. . . . And then she added a P. S. "I always want to be friends. Amen." . . . Melldrammer, right here in this school, by gar. . . R. S. Hay, business manager for the Kansas State Engineer, is running a racket this week. As an active member of Sigma Tau he sells his signature to the newly elected students, for so much work. . . . The Sigma Tau pledges assure all they do not have a "number" for life, in spite of the fact they're carrying irons which they insist are not "balls and chains." . . . The divisions are going to come out in colm form soon. The Collegian intends to catch about this and that in the engine house, the veterinary, the home ec kitchens, the ag barns, and the places where are found general scientists. . . . And then the instructors are going to get told in the next issue. All those venturing to assert their authority in places other than the proper ones will be mentioned, even more than mentioned, while those men and women here who stand in well with the student body will be told what it is the students like about them. . . .

George Washington, Minus Hatchet, Is Doubted By Mayor

It happened in the lobby of the Hotel Sherman, Chicago.

George Washington, Manhattan, whose real name is George Washington, asked at the news stand for a copy of the Kansas City Star. Washington was in Chicago with the Kansas State meats judging team, which took first in the International Livestock show, duplicating its American Royal victory.

The counter girl explained that only one Star was left and it was reserved for "B. B. Smith."

"Just then a well-groomed business man came up and called for the paper.

"It's a good thing you got here," Washington said. "I was just about to talk this young lady out of the paper."

"Are you from Kansas City?" asked the man, pleasantly.

"No, from Manhattan."

"I'm B. B. Smith, mayor of Kansas City," said the newspaper purchaser.

"I'm George Washington."

With a look of pained surprise the newspaper purchaser turned on his heel and walked off.

George Washington, whose real name is just that, would like Mayor Smith, if it was Mayor Smith, to know that he wasn't just another college boy trying to get fresh.

CHILD GIVES VICTROLA

Marjorie Rogers Presents Gift To College Hospital.

Because she thought "the poor sick people needed it worse than I did," 10-year-old Marjorie Rogers, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. B. A. Rogers, recently presented a victrola to the college hospital.

In appreciation of the gift the hospital staff entertained Marjorie at a dinner at the hospital just before the Thanksgiving holidays. Marjorie was much impressed with the kindness of the nurses and was surprised that they let her play the victrola whenever she wanted to. There were several new records she liked, too.

TO MAKE ANOTHER DRIVE

J. C. Dalgarn, Manhattan, was elected to take the office of secretary of the Glider club formerly held by E. E. Reed, Smith Center, who has dropped school. The election took place at a meeting of the club held Thursday evening in the engineering building.

A suggestion was made by C. H. Lundberg, Manhattan, that the club conduct a drive for new members in the Manhattan high school. A vote was taken and a decision made to begin the drive next Monday.

HOME EC HEADS LUNCH.

Miss Margaret M. Justin, dean of the division of home economics, and Margaret Ahlborn, assistant dean, met Tuesday noon with the heads of the department at a luncheon served in Thompson hall, to discuss matters of interest to the department.

SIGMA TAU TO HOLD BANQUET

Sigma Tau, honorary engineering fraternity, will give an initiation banquet for new members Thursday, December 10, in the Wareham hotel.

Plans for the program have not been completed, according to C. W. Kewley, Stockton, who is chairman of the program committee. Dean M. A. Durland, E. F. Peterson, graduate assistant in electrical engineering, and R. J. Alexander, Independence, Mo., a Sigma Tau pledge, have been asked to speak at the dinner, Kewley said.

The 17 new members were elected by Sigma Tau actives in a meeting November 17.

COMMISSION GROUPS MEET

Freshmen in Y. M. and Y. W. to Discuss Personality Problems.

Catherine Knittle will lead the groups of Freshman commission in the discussion on "Men and Women," Monday night from 7:15 to 8:15 o'clock in Calvin hall. This is the second of a series of personality problems worked out by this group.

In order that each girl will have a chance to participate in the discussions the girls are divided into smaller groups with a leader in charge of each. Lura Larson, Wichita; Muriel Fulton, Wichita; and Edith Fritz, Manhattan, are the leaders. Their assistants are Jeannette Moser, Blue Rapids, and Dorothy Blackman, Manhattan.

All freshman girls are invited to come to these meetings which are held every Monday night in Calvin hall.

CANTEEN MAY REOPEN.

J. M. Cain Will Attempt to Secure A New Lease.

"The Canteen will be reopened if I can renew my lease," said J. M. Cain, former proprietor of the restaurant, which was partially destroyed by fire on November 19. The building is being repaired and put in first class condition. The property is for sale and will not be released under the present owners.

"I can't afford to put in new fixtures as my property lease expires in August," Cain said, "but if the building is sold and the owner will lease it as an investment, I will re-furnish and open for business."

Students who still have meal tickets at the Canteen may secure refunds from J. M. Cain at the Campus Side cafe.

STAGE ANNUAL AGGIE POP STUNTS THIS WEEK END

Performances Tonight and Tomorrow Night in Auditorium—Sponsored by Y. W. C. A.

Judges have been selected and final plans are being made for the seventeenth annual Aggie Pop which is to be presented by the Y. W. C. A. in the college auditorium tonight and tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Judges for the four long acts and four short acts in the competition will be Mrs. M. S. Spencer and Winfield Walker, Manhattan, and Burr Smith of the department of architecture for the performance Friday night; and Mrs. Blanche Forrester, Manhattan; Miss Dorothy Barfoot, of the applied arts department; and L. V. White, of the department of civil engineering, for Saturday's performance. Decisions will be based on cleverness, artistic beauty, and presentation for the long stunts; and on cleverness and presentation for the short stunts.

Dean R. W. Babcock of the division of general science will make the presentation of the cups on Saturday night following the counting of the six decisions. Announcement will be made of first and second ranking in each group and a silver cup will be awarded to the organization ranking first in each group.

Judging from the dress rehearsal last night, Mrs. Mary Meyers Elliott, general director of the performance, seemed confident of the superiority of the program. She is directing the program again this year in spite of the fact that she is the mother of a six-weeks-old son and was in an automobile accident last week.

"I have directed many Aggie Pop programs," she said, "and I believe this one may easily rank not only with the best of them, but with the best of all similar productions."

Ticket sales under the direction of Mary Lou Clark, Burr Oak, have been coming in satisfactorily according to her statement yesterday.

Last year Chi Omega placed first with "Studio Caprice" in the 12 minute stunt group, and Delta Delta Delta with "Black Magic" placed second in the short stunt group.

The program for this year's performance is as follows:

"A Bird Cage," by Women's Athletic Association, non-competitive; "Out Our Way," Phi Kappa Tau; "The Pied Piper's Dream," Delta Zeta; "Here a Kidney; There a Lung," Alpha Kappa Lambda; "Prison Fantasy," Chi Omega; "White and Gold," Phi Omega Pi; "The Little Show," Phi Lambda Theta; "The Woman in a Shoe," Van Zile Hall; "Everything for Good Old Nectar," Kappa Sigma; "Glee Club Jollities," Women's Glee Club.

ASSOCIATION OFFERS PRIZE

Kansas Home Economics association is offering a prize to any student enrolled in home economics for the best paper written on the subject "Standardization and Simplification of Consumer's Goods." The object of this contest is to create an interest among students in the question of standardization and simplification and is sponsored by a state committee appointed by the association, which has been doing research work on that subject.

MANY RECEIVE PERMITS.

Only six parents have refused to sign the cards giving their sons or daughters permission to drive automobiles while in college, according to Miss Jessie M. Machir, registrar. A total of 687 cards were sent out. Of this number, 406 have been signed, and returned so far.

One reason assigned for a rather large number of the cards not being returned is the fact that a good many of the students have been unable financially to keep cars in school, due to the hard times.

BEAUTY QUEENS MAY HAVE TO HAVE MORE THAN BEAUTY

Royal Purple Candidates May Be Chosen in Person If Yearbook Staff Plans Pan Out.

Beauty queens, for the 1931-32 Royal Purple are to be selected in a different manner this year from that of years before, according to James Chapman, Manhattan, editor. Although no definite arrangements have been made it is hoped that the queens may be chosen by judging the candidate in person rather than by photographs. A beauty pageant has been suggested.

After the names of nominees have been sent in from organizations a general election will be held to determine the all-around student, the best liked faculty member, the activity student, the most popular girl or boy, and Kansas State's best sportsman. No definite date for the election has been announced.

Organizations selling 20 books or over will be allowed to enter one candidate for one of the four sections of the yearbook: class section, administration section, activity section, and organization section. Two candidates may be entered for the sale of 40 books or over and any organization selling 50 books may enter as many candidates in addition as they wish by paying a fee of four dollars for each additional candidate.

LABORERS ON CAMPUS.

On the campus, laborers are being employed to rebuild the road west of the gymnasium. The trees at the city park are trimmed and wood is being cut from a timber south of town by the use of this money. The committee later will make a detailed report stating how every penny was spent.

The departments and offices pledging 100 per cent by December 1 were the president's office, vice-president's office, agricultural engineering, architecture, building and repair, custodian's office, district agents, education and summer school, electrical engineering, household economics, extension engineering, heat and power, home economics extension, superintendent of maintenance, mathematics, mechanical engineering, military, postoffice, physics, student health, and divisions of agriculture, engineering, and home economics in the administration office.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS EVENT TO BE HELD

In Recreation Center.

Verna Evelyn, Boyd, is in charge of the Y. W. C. A. bazaar, which will be held this year in the form of an International Christmas Gift Shop in recreation center, December 10 and 11. There will be gifts for men, women, children, and students, and the prices will be considerably lower than they were last year.

Louise Jones, Manhattan, will be in charge of the Chinese booth; Ruth Langenwalter, Wichita, the Japanese booth; and freshman commission, the European booth. Merle Mark, Abilene, will have charge of publicity.

In addition to the booths, there will be candy, decoration, and special feature booths.

THE BLACK LIST

The following instructors hold classes after the five minute bell rings:

Prof. H. F. Lienhardt, veterinary medicine division.
Dr. W. E. Jennings, veterinary medicine division.
Prof. W. C. Jones, mathematics department.
Prof. L. P. Washburn, men's physical education department.
Prof. C. H. Scholer, applied mechanics department.
Prof. R. G. Kloeffer, electrical engineering department.
Prof. E. V. James, history department.
Prof. A. W. Breeden, English department.
Dr. H. T. Hill, public speaking department.
Prof. I. Victor Hes, history department.

PREXY, JANITORS GIVE ALIKE TO UNEMPLOYMENT

STATE WORKERS ON THE HILL CONTRIBUTE TO LOCAL RELIEF FUND.

EACH DONATE A DAY'S WAGE

One Department Head Makes Up Deficiency In His Personnel's Fund; Many Pledge One Hundred Per Cent.

Contributions of one day's wages to the unemployment relief fund are being made by all state workers on the hill, including those from the president to the janitors, in order that the more unfortunate might survive. Funds amounting to $1,237.45 had been received by December 1, according to Prof. E. L. Holton, member of the unemployment committee.

The aim of the members of the committee is to have every department in the college pay 100 per cent, and many have paid this share. One employee who is getting one dollar a day in wages sent one dollar for the unemployment relief fund, perhaps the greatest contribution that has been made.

Makes Check Larger.

A head of one department found that a few members in his department would be unable to pay, and he added more than a day's salary for each of them to his check.

This money will be paid out in wages to men and women, living in Manhattan, who have no employment and have no means of buying food and clothing for their families.

THE BLACK LIST GROWS BLACKER.

For weeks the Collegian has inserted on its front page the names of instructors who habitually keep students after the five minute bell rings. The names of those instructors have been given to the editor by students in the classes which are kept overtime. Some of the instructors placed on the Black List have ceased to hold their classes, others pay no attention to the Collegian's comment nor to the rules of the college. They continue to keep the students in the room when they know the next hour takes up in a few minutes, and the campus is too large to get over in less than five minutes.

The queer part of the list is that most of the names on it are those of instructors in the general science division. And the general science faculty members in a recent divisional meeting, voted to recommend a ten minute passing period between hours! The recommendation was made to the president. And now the instructors who voted for it are not even allowing students five minutes between hours. The whole procedure is not logical.

Why any instructor cannot get all he has to say off his mind in fifty-five minutes is more than any student can conceive. Most of them could say all the important things they have to offer in much less time than that. If they would do a little more organizing, and a little less raving, the hour could be worked out systematically, and everything could be said and done in forty minutes.

The Collegian intends to continue to run the names of those instructors who persist in violating the college rule, until those instructors release the students on or before the ringing of the five minute bell. Then if those instructors continue to keep their classes, Collegian reporters will either visit the classes and learn why it is the instructor has so many things to say and apparently such a short time in which to say them, or will have students in the class report on the amount of time spent on various class room instruction.

DO RIGHT BY THE HOUSEMOTHER!

"Committee for the Investigation and Prevention of Cruelty to Housemothers" might be the name of the committee appointed by Dean Mary P. Van Zile to investigate conditions pertaining to the entertainment of housemothers of the various sororities at Kansas State.

It may be interesting to note the recommendations which will be made by this committee after it has received reports from the organizations. If, as a result of the work of this committee, Panhellenic were to adopt a standard set of rules for the entertainment of housemothers, such situations as the following would not arise. Mother So-and-So of the Alpha Beta Gamma house hurries into the room where her colleagues are waiting for her to begin the bridge game and says casually: "So sorry to be late, but the girls just insisted that I go to dinner with them tonight and then for a ride. The country is just beautiful—blah—blah—"

The other housemothers who ate dinner at home and took a taxi to the bridge party immediately feel at a disadvantage and wonder if they are as well liked in their house as is Mother So-and-So of the Alpha Beta Gamma house.

Opinions which may be very enlightening are to be expressed by each group as to the amount of money which should be spent on the entertainment of housemothers and the things which should rightfully be done for them.

Should housemothers be taken to all school entertainments as the guest of an active or a pledge of the sorority? Should an active or a pledge take her housemother to shows every week? Do housemothers need escorts to church and to Sunday night supper? Do some sororities do much more entertaining of this kind for their housemothers than others? These are the types of questions which are to be answered by the committee, which is composed of Roberta Jack, Russell, Delta Delta Delta, and Helen Teichgraber, Marquette, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

A TOOTHLESS DOG CAN'T BITE.

Approximately 20 students and faculty members from Kansas State are in Topeka today attending a disarmament conference sponsored by the regional organizations of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Delegates from practically all other school in Kansas are also in attendance. While the meeting will perhaps have no immediate influence on the international disarmament conference to be held in Geneva, starting next February, it and similar meetings held over the country will do much to promulgate the cause of disarmament. There is a whole lot of ground work to be laid before nations will come together and discuss disarmament and arrive at any definite conclusions.

The chief obstacles met by the Preparatory Commission were fear, caused by economic unrest over the earth, racial prejudices, hatreds, and traditions. In addition, there was the spirit of intensified nationalism—jealousy which blinded nations and caused them to refuse to break away from the vicious circle.

General Pershing was one of the first to point out the advisability of disarmament. Shortly after the World war he said: "It would appear that the lessons of the past six years should be enough to convince anybody of the danger of nations striding up and down the earth armed to the teeth. But no one nation can reduce armaments unless all do. Isn't it then time for an awakening among enlightened peoples to the end that the leading powers may reach some rational agreement which would not only relieve the world of this terrible financial load, but which in itself would be a long step toward the prevention of war?"

If student organizations can educate the people of their own countries to the folly of continuing such practices, the problem of disarmament is practically solved. Doubtless, they'll meet with a lot of counter-arguments or even rebuke from rabid "patriots," but nothing of lasting benefit has ever been accomplished without overcoming stubborn opposition.

It'll be a long, hard pull.—P. D.

THE WISE MAN DOWN EAST.

Dr. F. C. "Phog" Allen, director of athletics and head basketball coach at K. U., has assumed the role of the unveiled prophet in Big Six athletics.

After Kansas State defeated K. U. in football, Allen retired to his inner sanctum, stroked his brow, gazed into the crystal and then issued the statement that Kansas State would win the Big Six title.

Things didn't turn out exactly as Doctor Allen had foreseen them, but that little misfortune didn't discourage him. He recently went into a huddle with the spirits, facts and figures, and doped Kansas State to place high or win the Big Six basketball championship.

And along with the pre-season prediction, there is an undertone of wailing lamentations because of the "lack of varsity material at K. U."

That may be for either of two reasons. Maybe Doctor Allen is sincere and wants to get his alibi in first, or he may be a psychologist.—P. D.

— The Snoopers —

"What the devil are we going to do Saturday night?" seems to be the prevailing question circulating through Aggieville loitering places. The Wareham ballroom will be dark tomorrow night for the first time in many moons, owing to the absence of Dance Putter-On Blake Wareham. It'll be a grand time to crash parties, if there are any parties.

Far be it from us to whimper about faculty treatment. But after having prepared two papers, one for us and one for someone else, we get a D and the other party gets a C, it just can't be right, by grab! There's an Ethiopian in the kindling heap somewhere, we betcha.

Today many will lie themselves to Wichita, while others will wait and lie tomorrow, to see the Wildcats and the Shockers do battle. And, incidentally, to do their bit in the interests of that great institution, charity.

According to numerous reports, the McMillin-aggregation will bristle with El Doradoans. They perform well, and will no doubt prove Pied Pipers to their home town.

The after the game activities interest us. First, Wichita feeds the gridsters of our alma mater. Then, from the banquet room, they trek to the Broadview, with their girls, the report says (in the big cities they are hostesses), to a shindig. There the Wildcats will dance to the torrid tunes of a bevy of red headed gals.

Well, we got this to say: If goings on like these are to occur, it's a darn good thing this game ends the football season!

In scanning the Black List recently we found that Capt. Ira Snyder had been taken to task for holding classes overtime. Since when has Manhattan's eminent barrister been using the military title? And he ought to be ashamed of himself for holding his classes too long!

On Other Hills

A professor at Purdue has a class in which he has students bounce around on furniture. The bouncing is equivalent to riding at 55 miles per hour. The class is one in upholstery for automobiles, and these experiments are for the purpose of testing the durability of the products.

College endowments grow larger every year. Harvard has an endowment amounting to $108,000,000; ranking first; Yale has $88,000,000; Columbia, $77,000,000; University of Chicago, $50,000,000; M. I. T., $31,000,000; Stanford, $30,000,000; University of Texas, $27,000,000.

Students at the University of Omaha have devised a new method of raising the total figure of their loan fund. Five cents a week for twenty weeks is the new plan that is being passed around at that college.

Students at the University of Oklahoma are planning to establish a bank on the campus of their college. Stock in the institution would be owned by the students and alumni. Deposits will be made by the student body and money will be loaned to deserving students.

"The Private Life of Woodrow Wilson," is the title of a book published recently by the Princeton university press. It contains an intimate record of the life of this statesman while a student at the university of which he later became president.

Notre Dame university has the good record of 14 undefeated football elevens in the last 43 years.

Eight miles of the tracks of the Colorado and Southern railway which are on the campus of the University of Colorado are to be removed in a short time if a petition now before the interstate commerce commission is acted upon. The danger of this arrangement is the principal objection of the student body.

The entire student body of 2,000 at the University of North Carolina spends $20,000 weekly, according to a recent survey by marketing department of that school. This large purchase represents money spent annually on 4,000 suits of clothing, 30,000 pairs of socks, 20,000 shirts, and 4,000 pairs of shoes.

Cigarettes absorb $2,362.50 a week, or $82,687.50 a year, the daily consumption being 45,000.

Fifty per cent of the graduating class of 300 will purchase or operate automobiles upon graduation.

College men prefer college women as life companions, according to the nation-wide poll of the College Stories Magazine. The survey revealed that men preferred college girls because they have "it," intelligence, and a knowledge of the higher values of life.

STUDENTS SERVE MEALS.

Home Economics Majors Prepare Breakfasts and Luncheons.

Students enrolled in Foods 1 classes under the supervision of instructors Nina Browning, Gladys Vail, Isabelle Gillum and Eva McMillen are serving breakfasts during regular class period this week. Each pair of girls serves the meal to one guest, one critic and themselves, after having planned the menu and prepared the food. Next week will be luncheon week, with an entirely new plan of serving, and new guests and critics.

Among those who served as critics this week were: Libbie Smerchek, Garnett; Doris E. Butrum, Holton; Eva Filson, Scott City; Ruth McCammon and Mary Sayre, Manhattan; Winifred Johnson, Frankfort; Isabelle Gallimore, Arkansas City; Helen Evers, Winfield; and the four instructors in charge of the various classes.

PERSIANS ARE TURNING MODERNISTIC—MILLER

Religion Is Losing Hold While New Ideas in Thought and Dress Are Being Adopted.

As a result of the royal edict commanding the men to wear hats with a visor instead of the customary turban, the whole social regime of Persia is tending to change, according to William M. Miller, representing the student volunteer movement for foreign missions, in a student forum speech Tuesday.

Speaking of the social aspects of Persia, Miller gave the steps in the recent developments there.

When the king of Persia, Reza Shah Pahlavi, a man who started out as a private in the army and arose when the government was overthrown to minister of war, then to prime minister, and finally to the throne, ordered the hats with visors to be worn by the men, caps were selected, as the visor could be turned around so as not to interfere with the prayers.

However, the caps presented a rather smart, military appearance, which contrasted sharply with the beards worn by many of the men. As a result, a great many of the men cut off their beards.

Consequently, the smooth-shaven faces and military caps looked out of place with the long flowing robes. Therefore, modern clothing was adopted—coats, shirts and trousers. The wearing of shoes followed.

With all this clothing it was found difficult to sit on the floor, so chairs became necessary. As a result of the chairs, tables, knives and forks came gradually into use.

As these new modes of dress have entered the country, so have new tides of thought entered Persia from the Continent, the British Isles, America and also from Russia.

The old religious ideas are going fast, and the choice of the Persians now is between Christianity or a dying interest in religion. "Especially in the younger generation is a lack of interest in religious practices and thought taking hold," said Miller.

Notable improvements have been made in Persia in recent years, such as the building of good roads and establishment of new schools with better educational programs. However, there are yet many children of Persia who should be in school and are not.

SIGMA TAU PLEDGES BEWAIL "HELL" WEEK

Seventeen Engineers Don Boots and Leather Jackets to Make Honor Society.

It's a grand and glorious feeling to be elected to Sigma Tau, national honorary engineering organization, but this business of getting initiated means washing cars, shining several pairs of shoes, helping build a cabinet for a faculty member, painting a door, and cleaning up several rooms for the actives, one pledge of the organization reports.

This is "hell week" for the 17 prospective members of Sigma Tau, and they are wearing boots and leather jackets (the uniform of their profession), and around their necks they carry a four inch rail section attached to a blue and white ribbon. Their pockets are bulging with an ample assortment of gum, cigarettes, and mints to satisfy the hunger of their superiors, for even professional engineers, active members of Sigma Tau, have appetites.

As a further part of their duties the pledges must secure the signatures of 36 faculty members and the 25 active members of the organization. This is where the few little odd jobs come in, for signatures do not come free.

Initiation will be held tonight in the chapter room at the Bible college. The pledges will wear old clothes, and bring two large paddies, which will be used by the actives in punishing those pledges who do not have a complete list of signatures.

Students who were elected to Sigma Tau are G. N. Purcell, El Dorado; S. R. Mudge, Salina; R. J. Alexander, Independence, Mo.; O. S. Ekdahl, Manhattan; L. L. Smelser, Manhattan; W. R. Stewart, Lowmont; I. E. McDougal, Atwood; J. P. Woodcott, Manhattan; R. C. Besler, Manhattan; J. P. Kesler, Overbrook; L. A. Gore, Bush-ton; J. R. Long, Abilene; H. McCord, Manhattan; R. B. Smith, Manhattan; and R. S. DeLaMater, Wichita.

TO WINFIELD MEETING

The 66th annual meeting of the Kansas State Horticultural society will be at Winfield, December 9 and 10. R. J. Bennett, professor of horticulture, and G. A. ## ENGINEER DRIVE PLANNED.

Plans for a circulation drive this week have been announced by E. T. Clark, Jewell City, circulation manager for the Kansas State Engineer, student publication of the engineering division.
According to Clark, 750 letters are being sent to alumni of the engineering division, explaining the new features of the magazine.

Prof. F. C. Fenton, head of the department of agricultural engineering, left Monday evening to attend the meeting of the American society of agricultural engineers in Chicago. He is presenting a paper at the meeting on "The Design of the Gambrel Roof to Withstand Wind Loads." He was accompanied by F. J. Zink, of the agricultural engineering department.

JUDGING TEAM WINS FIRST

Meat Judges Score 2,404 of Possible 2,700 Points at International Livestock Exposition.

By scoring 2,404 of a possible 2,700 points, the Kansas State men's meat judging team won first place Tuesday in the meat judging contest at the International Livestock exposition in Chicago. R. C. Munson, Junction City, was high individual for the whole contest; L. D. Morgan, Manhattan, was third; and Alfred Helm, Chanute, seventh.

Before going to the Chicago competition the team had won first place at the American Royal Livestock show in Kansas City. The Chicago contest is sponsored by the national livestock and meat board.

This made the third high place taken by Kansas State judging teams at the International, the livestock judges having won third, and the grain team third.

George Washington, Manhattan, was alternate on the team, which is coached by Prof. D. T. Mackintosh.

POULTRY JUDGES TO CHICAGO

Will Represent Kansas State at Coliseum Poultry Show Now in Session.

Members of the poultry judging team and Prof. H. M. Scott, poultry husbandry department, the coach of the team, left Wednesday to attend the Coliseum poultry show being held at Chicago this week.

Those who will represent Kansas State at the contest of poultry judging are V. A. Unruh, Pawnee Rock; J. T. Miller, Prescott; G. C. Moore, Manhattan; C. G. Page, Norton; and L. E. Croy, Norcatur.

The Coliseum poultry show is the largest in the middle west, and ten to 12 states will compete for high honors, according to Prof. L. F. Payne of the poultry husbandry department.

Last year the Kansas State college team placed second in the contest at Chicago, and in 1929 the team ranked first with 11 states competing.

GEMMELL GOES VISITING.

Dr. George Gemmell, chairman of the committee on junior colleges, is visiting various junior colleges of the state this week. The visits are intended to familiarize the students with the various curricula of Kansas State college, so that those who decide to enroll here will be able to plan their courses.

Mona Holmes, Zeandale; Evelyn Young, Arkansas City; and John Comer, Manhattan, have withdrawn from college until the spring semester.

MATTHEWS REVIEW'S MAUGHAM'S WORKS

English Novelist Stresses Character Appeal Rather Than Plot.

With discernment and keen appreciation Prof. C. W. Matthews of the department of English reviewed the works of Somerset Maugham, English novelist, Tuesday night. His lecture was one of a series on contemporary writers given by members of the department.

"Of Human Bondage," according to Prof. Matthews, will take its place in the great succession of the English novel. In many ways, he stated, it is a comedy humane resembling Thackeray's "Vanity Fair."

However he described the novel as practically plotless, its character portrayals being of greater value than its plot.

"The picture of life in the Latin quarters," he said, "is priceless because it showed the generation of revolutionary French artists just coming into being. Somerset Maugham knew the life intimately."

In his review of "Cakes and Ale," fictional life of Thomas Hardy, Prof. Matthews criticized the book from the viewpoint of bad taste, and he pointed out that an anonymous author in writing "Gin and Bitters" had successfully taken Somerset Maugham to task for some of the "sins" included in "Cakes and Ale."

Prof. Matthews agreed with critics who believe Somerset Maugham's work to be melodramatic and more theatrical than the high-type of drama.

REPLACE OLD SIDEWALKS

The college maintenance department has been repairing the sidewalks in front of the new power plant this week. The narrow walk in front of the power plant was taken up and a wider one is being laid in its place. The blocks from the narrow walk will be used to construct a new sidewalk leading to a gasoline tank north of the building.

K-AGGIES READY FOR FINAL GAME WITH SHOCKERS

SQUAD LEAVES THIS MORNING FOR WICHITA—HRABA IN HOSPITAL.

DINNER, DANCE FOR TEAM

Wichita U. Squad Boasts of Light, Fast Backfield—Uses Notre Dame Style of Offense.

Kansas State's Purple Horde left early this morning by bus for Wichita, where they meet Wichita University in their last football game of the season. The proceeds of the game will go to charity.

Wichita university has one of the strongest teams in the Kansas Conference this year, having won seven of nine games played. They are coached by Al Gebert, former Notre Dame quarterback. Most of the Shockers' offensive threat is centered around the deceptive Notre Dame shift.

Shockers Are Fast. The Shockers boast of a light but fast backfield, with such stars as "Tip" Tucker and Koch to do the ball lugging.

Elden Auker, Kansas State's triple threat star, is back in the line-up again after being out for a few days on account of a torn leg muscle received in the game with Washburn on Thanksgiving.

Adolph Hrabka, veteran K-Aggie lineman, is the only member of the squad who is not making the trip. Hrabka is still confined to the college infirmary where he is recovering from pneumonia.

Last Game For Eleven.

Tomorrow's game will be the last Kansas State game for 11 men on the squad. Eight of the 11 are lettermen. Outstanding among those playing their last game for the Purple are Captain Henry Cronkite, Elden Auker, George Wiggins, and Ray McMillin. The remaining men who sing their swan song are Paul Fairbank, Al Stephenson, Robert Gump, Bob Lang, L. B. Pilcher, and Oscar Hardtarfer.

Those in charge of the game are anticipating a large crowd to be in attendance. Wichita is expected to turn out en masse for the event, particularly because of the number of Kansas State players from that section of the state. El Dorado is well represented on McMillin's squad with six men, all of whom have formerly played in Wichita, during their high school days.

Ralph ("The Rammer") Graham will be the main reason for many El Doradoans attending the game. Harry Hasler and Ken Harter, also of El Dorado, are expected to get into the line-up during the game. Other squad members from El Dorado are Glen Harsh, Emmet Breen, and Dan Blaine.

A dinner and dance will be given the Kansas State squad in Wichita, Saturday night. One of the main features of the dinner will be that it will be "speechless."

Women's Sports

Intramural dancing starts, Monday, December 7, with 11 organizations entered. They are: Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Delta Delta Delta, Alpha Xi Delta, Beta Phi Alpha, Phi Omega Pi, Van Zile Hall, Zeta Tau Alpha, Kappa Delta, Alpha Delta Pi. Competition will be held in the Browning literary room, N-51.

Four types of dancing will be represented, with each team choosing and working out its own dances, furnishing costumes, and music. The dances are judged on a basis of 10 points: six for performance and 4 for originality.

Last year Delta Delta Delta won first place, and Chi Omega second.

Schedule for Intramural Dancing:

Group I: Alpha Xi Delta, Beta Phi Alpha, Phi Omega Pi. Group II: Pi Beta Phi, Chi Omega, Gamma. Group III: Van Zile Hall, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma. Group IV: Zeta Tau Alpha, Kappa Delta, Alpha Delta Pi.

Women's intramural volleyball begins at 5:00 o'clock Monday, December 7. Organizations entered—Alpha Xi Delta, Beta Phi Alpha, Neophytes, Phi Omega Pi, Delta Zeta, Pi Beta Phi, Chi Omega, X Team, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, 2 groups from Van Zile Hall, Zeta Tau Alpha, and Kappa Delta.

BOXERS WIN AT TOPEKA.

Three Kansas State fighters appeared on the boxing card at Topeka last night and came through with victories.

"Bus" Breeze, slashing Kansas State lightweight, outpointed Mickey O'Day, Sedalia, Mo., in four rounds.

George Hidenright, another hard-fisted fighter, defeated Dan White, Sedalia, Mo.

Mel Taylor, welterweight, won a technical knockout in the third round over Sonny Dodson, Lawrence.

ADDS NEW SPORT

Kansas State will have a tumbling and apparatus team this year for the first time. Coach C. S. Moll will hold practice and tryouts in the handball court of the gymnasium at 7:00 o'clock the evenings that basketball games are going on, starting this evening. Everyone interested in trying out is invited to attend the practices. Several exhibitions have been scheduled for the next few weeks, and the team may later compete with other schools.

ISSUES CALL FOR SWIMMERS

C. S. Moll, swimming coach, has issued a call to all persons interested in varsity or freshman swimming to attend a meeting to be held in the K room of Nichols gymnasium this evening at 4:15 o'clock. There will be a freshman swimming team this year as well as a varsity team, and everyone interested is welcome to the meeting.

Ditt's Dozen

With the football season ended for Kansas State students, the majority of them are eagerly looking forward to basketball with its quick and his booming "two-o-o" and "you can't do that."

Well, you don't have much longer to wait. The first game, a pre-season game, is to be played with K. U. on December 16. The K-Aggies play K. U. at Lawrence on December 11, and Washburn at Topeka on December 14.

Kansas State is going to have a tumbling and apparatus team. Echoes of "alley-oop" will soon be heard outside the gym—or perhaps that sickening thud or dull boom... when somebody doesn't do the right thing.

It is hoped that the acrobats won't waste half their time posing, rubbing resin on their shoes, tossing handkerchiefs back and forth, and all that stuff as the professionals do it.

Here are two nominations for the team: The freshman in the next room. That guy is the best gymnast in Kansas... judging from the acrobatics he indulges in. All you need to do to get his repertoire of stunts is to give him a chair and a broom stick.

Here's hoping he doesn't invent a stunt in which he uses the bath tub.

And another minor sport which should be represented by a varsity team is "pecking." There are two or three couples, or maybe more, whose technique, dexterity, and novel "holts" should be kept secret no longer. Mail your nominations to the sports editor, and he'll see What Can Be Done About It.

No, that isn't the sports editor's way of being subtle in getting a line on "neckers."

The week's worst wall is emitted by Dean William A. Irwin of Topeka. Says Mr. Irwin in part, in writing to the Topeka Capital: "My little girl, eight and a half years old, like Mr. Edmonds' boy, is a football fan. When Captain Cronkite deliberately stuck both knees in Barnett's back, she turned to me and said: 'Daddy, isn't that dirty?'"

On the basis of his conduct here last Thursday, Cronkite is a disgrace to a good school, a disgrace to Kansas football, and a disgraceful choice for the all-American teams. Yours very truly, disgusted "Aggie" admirer—William A. Irwin.

Awah! Awah!

El Dorado will probably be in Wichita Saturday, watching six of their Local Boys Make Good. If Graham gets going, the fans won't go back home dissatisfied.

Graham is leading 'em all in scoring so far this season with eight touchdowns and one point after touchdown.

TO PUT ON STUNT

Purple Pepsters, women's pep organization, will put on a stunt between halves for the basketball game, December 16, according to Marjorie Lyles, Saffordville, president.

ELSA HORN'S FATHER DIES

F. A. Horn Came Here Year Ago To Reside With Daughter.

F. A. Horn, 63, who was born in Sheboygan, Wis., in 1867, died in a Manhattan hospital early Wednesday morning of pneumonia and chronic asthma. Mr. Horn had been a resident of Manhattan about a year, having come to Manhattan to live with his daughter, Elsa Horn, now working in the botany department on the Hill. Funeral services were held Thursday morning.

ALLEN SAYS K-AGGIES CAGE TEAM STRONGEST

Laments Lack of Material at K. U.; Loses Men Through Graduation.

Lawrence, Kans., Dec. 3—A survey of the basketball situation in each of the schools of the Big Six conference has just been completed by Dr. F. C. Allen, director of athletics at the University of Kansas. In his statement he summarizes the situation which each school faces as follows:

Only Two Regulars Out.

The Kansas basketball squad at the present time comprises two regulars, William "Bill" Johnson, Oklahoma City, and Theodore "Ted" O'Leary, Lawrence, Kansas. Lee Page, guard, Kansas City, Mo., the other remaining member of the regulars is out for football. The Kansas varsity lost Forrest "Frosty" Cox, Newton, and Tom C. Bishop, Oklahoma City, the two all "Big Six" first team selections, through graduation. Floyd C. "Spark Plug" Ramsey, utility man and valuable pinch hitter, also graduated.

Richard "Dick" Hale, Kansas City, Mo., did not return to school. He is attending the St. Louis university, studying for the priesthood.

While Johnson and O'Leary have improved in their play, Kansas cannot hope or expect that the nucleus of veterans from this year's team will pass the brilliance of the men lost through graduation from the varsity," said Dr. Allen. "When Lee Page returns from football we will have three of the regulars returning. After the Washburn game the basketball ranks will be strengthened by Lee Page, Frank Bausch, Richard O'Neill, Ernest Casini, Warren Plaskett, and Jay Plumley," Doctor Allen said.

Regarding the outlook for the Big Six conference season it seems as if the two agricultural colleges have a decided advantage for top honors.

Praises "Three Musketeers."

The "three musketeers" of the Kansas State football squad loom as formidable in basketball as they did in football. Henry Cronkite, Elden Auker and Ralph Graham, all of these men giants in stature and exceptional in three sports will make the Aggies the most feared and powerful team in the conference. As a substitute for Cronkite, Dalton 6 feet, 5 inches, from Independence, Kansas, will give the Aggies another powerful man at center. Andrew Skradski and S. H. Brockway are two lettermen, forwards, that can be counted on heavily. Graham will take the place of Alex Nigro in fine fashion. Coach Charlie Corsaut will have the largest list of returning lettermen of anyone in the conference with the exception of Iowa State, which has a like number.

Paul Fairbank and Ralph Wiggins together with Hasler and Weybrew make a great quartet of guards. Morgan, from last year's squad, playing either forward or guard, will be available.

It's The Man That Pays Thinks Adolph Hrabka, Suffering

Adolph Hrabka, president of the Student Council and one of the Associated Press' choices for a Big Six guard, is learning, despite what others say, it is the man that pays and pays and pays. He is in the college hospital paying for recognition on the football field.

Hrabka was injured in the North Dakota game here. Injuries developed into an abscess on his chest and traumatic pneumonia. His condition resulting from pneumonia is steadily improving, but the abscess became worse until Dr. C. M. Selver, college physician, lanced M. Selver, college physician, lanced in the hospital for several days yet.

Men's Intramurals

Intramural horseshoe championship for doubles has been awarded this year to the Lone Stars, being won by R. W. Mather and L. H. Brown. Mather also won the horseshoe championship in doubles last year, and will play E. S. Sims later this year for the championship in singles.

Due to conditions of the soccer fields the semi-finals have been postponed until Friday afternoon, when it is thought that the fields will be in condition to play upon. The teams fighting in the semi-finals this year are Delta Sigma Phi vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Phi Kappa Tau.

Results of the intramural basketball games played Tuesday and Wednesday are as follows: Lone Stars 25, Macks 9; Phi Kappa 23, Phi Kappa Tau 15; Alpha Tau Omega 19, Kappa Sigma 6; M. E. A. C. 26, Phi Lambda Theta 8; Alpha Kappa Lambda 29, Aggie Knights 15.

BALCH TO GARDEN MEET.

The Associated Garden club meeting will be held in Wichita, December 8. Walter B. Balch, associate professor of horticulture, will attend this meeting.

TWO-MILERS FINISH SECOND IN CONFERENCE

Coach Ward Haylett Recommends Six Members of Squad to Receive Letters.

The Kansas State two-mile team finished a successful season by placing second in the final Big Six standings.

For the second consecutive year the Iowa State Cyclones have won the conference championship. Iowa State was undefeated this season while the Aggies lost only one dual, that to the Cyclones.

Oklahoma dropped down to fifth place this year after winning second last year. Missouri finished in the cellar without registering a single victory.

The final standings are as follows:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Iowa State	5	0	1.000
Kansas State	4	1	.800
Kansas Univ.	3	2	.600
Nebraska	2	3	.400
Oklahoma	1	4	.200
Missouri	0	5	.000

Coach Ward Haylett recommended six members of the two-mile team for award of a varsity "K." The men recommended are: Don Landon, Topeka; C. D. McNeal, Boyle; Lawrence Daniels, St. Francis; Marion Pearce, Miltonvale; M. E. Nixon, Manhattan; Elmer Black, Utica.

BUYS SPEAKS TO ENGINEERS.

Ivan Buys, chief engineer for the United Power and Light company at Abilene, spoke at the electrical engineers' seminar in the engineering building Thursday afternoon. Other features of the program included a film, "Light of a Race," and electrical current events, which were presented by G. M. Donahue, Ogden; C. A. Palmquist, Concordia; D. A. Bly, Pierceville, and G. H. Ellinger, Abbiyville.

SIGMA DELTA CHI MEETS

A report on the Sigma Delta Chi, men's honorary journalism fraternity, convention which was held in Minneapolis, Minn., November 16-18, was the feature of the meeting of the local chapter yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock when it met in the club room in Kedzie hall. Those who attended the convention and made the report were: Maurice Du Mars, Agra; Paul Dittmore, Manhattan; and Ward Colwell, Onaga.

Ags Take Up Football Among Themselves To Complete Education

"Farmers, get that quarterback!" has been suggested by some wag as the yell for the agricultural economics club during the open season on football between the various departmental clubs. The Klod and Kernel team from the agronomy department meets the "ec" team Saturday afternoon, and a fine game is expected, according to reports from stenographers from both divisions, who are planning to be present in force.

"The game will be played on Ahearn field if it is not muddy," F. E. Davidson, Madison, big shot of the agronomy team, said today. M.

W. Ewing, Beloit, is directing the practices of the economics group. Neither man, of course, would give out much information concerning the type of play he expected to use, and strangely enough neither reported a star man out with injuries.

Meanwhile, the preparations of the stenographers are being rapidly made. One office has even appointed a nurse and a female "water boy," while all of the women are planning, according to Professor R. I. Throckmorton's secretary, to sit right down on the sidelines where they can yell at the players and be heard.

The long-awaited football game between the Horticulture club and the Dairy club will be played at 4:30 o'clock this evening, probably on the women's soccer field. The presidents of the two clubs report that they will have good line-ups on the field, and the game should be a thriller, with lots of fumbles and fun. Dope says the game will be a toss-up, and that the team making the most points will probably win, barring upsets, of course.

WRESTLING MEET PLANNED

All-College Competition to be Staged December 14-15.

An all-college wrestling tournament is being planned by B. R. Patterson, wrestling coach, to take place December 14 to 15.

This tournament is open to all college students, including the varsity and freshmen wrestlers. The bouts are to be seven minutes in length.

James Rexroad, a Phi Kappa Phi honor student, came to Manhattan from his home at Partridge to attend the Phi Kappa Phi honor chapel. Rexroad, a freshman last year, is attending a junior college this year, and will return to Kansas State next fall.

ELECT ZECKSER TO CAPTAIN GRID TEAM NEXT YEAR

SQUAD ELECTS TWO-LETTER GUARD AT BANQUET IN WICHITA.

MAINSTAY IN PURPLE LINE

Alertness and Dependability Keynote of Praise Accorded Captain-Elect—Has Earned
Two Letters.

Walter Zeckser, Alma, was honored by his team mates last Saturday night when elected to the captaincy of Kansas State football

ZECKSER

for the season of 1932. It was a happy football squad that sat in on a banquet at the Hotel Lassen at Wichita that evening and topped off a very successful day by unanimously electing this stellar guard
as leader of next year's purple horde.

Zeckser only recently finished his second year on the Kansas State football team and next year will be his last. He is one of the strong holds of the Wildcat line and is a player that the coaches have learned to depend upon. He always is at their call and fills the position in a manner fitting to the powerful line of which he is a part.
Injuries never bother his football.
His pluck and fight seem to have the spirit of good football and he is always there at the right time.
Many Big Six football teams remember him as the man who stopped their team by breaking up their plays before they had a chance to get started.

Zeckser started his football career on the high school team at Alma. He played on the freshman team in his first year at Kansas State and has been on the varsity since his eligibility. He is of slight build but this small handicap is made up by his speed.

Football is Zeckser's only sport.
He plays this game and plays it right but makes it his sport. He is assigned to a line position on the Wildcat squad although he played fullback in his high school days. He has always played in a line position for "Bo" McMillin with the exception of the Iowa State game this year when he played half of the game as a halfback.

With the election of this aggressive lineman to the captain's position, the coaches and other members of the 1932 purple horde feel they have elected a true leader. Although in his regular guard berth, Zeckser is playing an obscure position, but a line that holds is a line made up of men like the Wildcats newly elected captain.

SPONSORS MIXER THURSDAY.

Kansas State-K. U. game was ked on "The History of Physical Education at Kansas State."

SEATON TO LAWRENCE.
Dean R. A. Seaton of the engineering division will go to Lawrence, Friday, to attend a meeting of the Registration Board for professional engineers of Kansas.

The Black List

All instructors are conforming to administration rules. None have been reported as having held classes overtime.

LAST FORUM WEDNESDAY

Allyn K. Foster Will Speak to Student Group.

The last of the fall series of Student Forum will be held Wednesday noon when Allyn K. Foster speaks on "Scientific Needs of an Adequate Faith," in Thompson hall
at 12:25 o'clock.

Mr. Foster needs no introduction to students of Kansas State, as this is his sixth or seventh appearance here. He is a very popular speaker among the colleges of this country, having been secretary of the Board of Education of the Northern Baptist Convention since 1920, and in this capacity visiting colleges in every state in the union.

INITIATE NEW MEMBERS

Phi Lambda Upsilon, honorary chemical fraternity, will hold initiation for nine new members at the Wareham hotel Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. Those to be initiated are: E. S. Shong, Rushton; F.
R. Senti, Cawker City; S. E. Woods, Delphos; Lyle Roepke, Manhattan;
J. R. Cribbert, Parsons; R. M. Conrad, Manhattan. Membership in the organization is based on outstanding work in the chemistry department.

ATHLETIC HEADS MEET TO ARRANGE SCHEDULES

Minor Sports in Conference May Be Curtailed Due to Decrease in Football Profits.

In order to arrange their 1932 sports program, athletic directors of the Big Six conference are meeting at the Kansas City Athletic club the first of this week.

The major problem facing the directors is the probable curtailment of minor sports. Reducing the schedule of these sports has become a necessity because of the great decrease in football receipts this fall, upon which most of the minor sports are financially dependent.

Minor Sports Discussed.
Five interscholastic sports are listed for this probable cut. They are wrestling, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, baseball, and tennis.

The tentative plan of the directors is to eliminate round robin schedules in some events and to economize on traveling expenses of the rest by limiting competition for at least part of the season to championship tournaments.

Football receipts have been on the decline steadily since they reached new heights in 1929. At that time general tournaments were discontinued because it was felt that they duplicated the round robin schedules.

The absence of coaches from the annual meeting is but more evidence of the retrenchment program being planned. It was decided that it would save some expense if they were left at home.

Nebraska Attendance Increases.
In spite of the fact that most schools reported reduced attendance at football games, Nebraska university made a new all-time attendance record of 146,450. The fact that the Cornhuskers played two big intersectional games with Northwestern and Pittsburgh swelled
the aggregate attendance.

Last year Kansas university set a new attendance record when the Jayhawks won the conference title,
but this year the box office receipts suffered great cuts. This fact of reduced attendance has also been noticed at all the other schools in the conference.

Athletic Director M. F. Ahern is representing Kansas State at this meeting.

PRESS TEAM TO BELOIT.

Five Journalists Will Edit "Gazette"
There.

A press team from the Kansas State journalism department will go to Beloit, Thursday, to publish the December 16 issue of the Beloit Gazette. Ward Colwell, Onaga;
Esther Morgan, Hutchinson; Fred Peery, Manhattan; Wyona Florence, Manhattan; and Clay Reppert, Harris, will make up the team.

A team from here went to Beloit
two years ago and put out a 24-page Christmas issue, which pleased the publishers, L. F. Brewer and Athel B. Dunham, so that they have invited college teams to work on the paper twice since then, once last April and again this time.

VETS TAKE OVER PRACTICES

J. L. George, Mulberry, and C. H.
Paige, Manhattan, seniors in the division of veterinary medicine, are taking over the practices of graduate veterinarians for a few days, the first of this week. George is working for Doctor Perrin of Lincoln, Neb., and Paige for Doctor Herrington at Lexington, Mo.

"This is a custom which gives the students experience, and which is a convenience to the doctor. It is not required," said Dr. E. J. Frick, head of the veterinary hospital.

Students See Black When They Think of Twenty- Three Instructors on The Kansas State Campus

Disliked—quite wholeheartedly
by the majority of Kansas State students who have been in their classes, twenty-six professors have qualified for the "Black" list.

The faculty members have been roughly, and perhaps somewhat rudely divided into four classes;
those the majority dislike, those about whom there is a decided and heated difference of opinion, and those about whom no one stops to wonder. A simpler distinction of those classes names
them: White, Black, Checkered, and Gray.

Reasons Are Many.

Some of the professors have made a place for themselves on the Black list because they are unfair, some because they are cocky, some for avoidable mannerisms, that are irritating to all the members of their classes. The reasons are as numerous as the places on the black list.
One of the most common faults for the "dark" professors is that of failing to make the class sufficiently interesting to keep the students alert and awake.

Prof. J. C. Peterson heads the lullaby group. He knows psychology from A to Z, but no one lulled
by his muttering monotone, can remain awake in his classes long enough to find that out. Professor Peterson seems too absorbed in his research to care much about making the elements interesting to students. These faults seem to run in the psychology department, for Miss Dorothy Triplett is blacklisted for the same reasons—she knows her subject, but cannot get it across.

Byrne Is Sarcastic.

Appearances deceive. The most suspicious would hardly score Frank Byrne for sarcasm, just to look at him. It is, however, so mor-dant, this most unnecessary sarcasm, with which Professor Byrne hits the black.

Efforts at scintillating wit in the classroom disgust the students who take courses under Ted Beach to such an extent that they vote black heavily for him.

As a dean Doc Holtz may rate
"Gray" but he certainly goes
"Black" as a professor. The students in his classes feel that he does not know the subject which he is attempting to teach. He stresses unimportant points and leaves the vital part of the course drifting in the breeze of his own bombast.

Summers On Wrong Track.

Students taking courses under Prof. H. B. Summers become more certain each day that H. B. has lost sight of the fact that he is teaching speech courses, and not library methods. That is about the only logical conclusion at which they could arrive when one considers the comparative amount of library and oral work he requires.

The music department has two representatives on the Black list—Lyle Downey and William Lindquist. The students think that Professor Downey is unfair and prejudiced. Consequently they do not like him as an instructor. Another thing that helped to turn the vote to black was his cultivated "temperament." Professor Lindquist is classified with the big heads whose craniums are too large for their positions. He is also considered unfair.

Sturmer Is Unfair.

Miss Anna M. Sturmer was blacklisted as an instructor because the men and women in her classes think that she is unfair, in that she requires the impossible in the way of achievement. She drives the students, and does not give them a proportionate reward in grades.

The volumes given as reasons why Louise Schwenson should be blacklisted may be summed up in the four letter word, mean. All the students who have had dealings with Miss Schwenson are quite positive that she would rather do dirty, than be nice to them—in fact, that she would go out of her way to be nasty.

Another instructor panned for unfairness is W. A. Van Winkle. His eccentricities, of which is apparently so proud, prevent any of the students from respecting him.

Burr Smith A Smarty.

Single words usually constituted
the reasons for the black votes given Burr Smith. "Smarty"—"Cocky" —"Smart-alecky"—are some of the more restrained ones used. Smith comes into the "know it all" class with his "Big I and little you."

There is one man in a division
by himself. No student questioned, man or woman, has a good thing to say of him, either as an instructor or a man. His repellent personality ostracizes C. W. Colver and makes of him either an object of detesta-tion or a laughing stock for almost 100 per cent of the students.

C. F. Lewis might be classified with Professor Colver were it not for the fact that he is liked as a math instructor by some of the men.

Miss Weber and Doctor Sharp are both so indefinite and slipshy in assignments and class discussion that the women who are taking work under them have an extremely decided opinion that they should be placed in the black.

J. O. Faulkner and his unpleasant habit of petrifying defenseless freshmen with needless sarcasm goes black with a vengeance among the lower classmen. Upper classmen gray the vote somewhat because Jake curbs his tongue when talking to those who might retaliate.

REGENTS HERE TODAY.

- Members of the State Board to Meet With Faculty.
- Members of the state board of regents will arrive by bus
this morning to attend their regular meeting, which is scheduled to be held here at 10 o'clock. The board members will have luncheon at 12:15 o'clock in Thompson hall with the college deans and departments. Following the luncheon the regents will visit a number of departments of the college, chiefly to inspect research work in progress, and at 7:30 this evening they will meet with the faculty in recreation center.
- It is expected that C. M.
Harger, Abilene, chairman of the board, will address the group along with possibly one other regent. Routine business will be covered in the meeting.
- Members of the board follow:
Chairman Harger; Oscar
Stauffer, Arkansas City; C. C.
Wilson, Meade; Leslie Wallace,
Larned; B. C. Culp, Beloit; W.
E. Ireland, Yates Center; Drew
McLaughlin, Paola; Fred M.
Harris, Ottawa; and Ralph O'Neil, Topeka.

ced students of the R. O. T. C., will the Wareham ballroom, December 12.

The usual ceremony, which includes the presentation of the honorary cadet officers, will differ this

Manhattan, are to be pages in the

SAPPENFIELD TO TELL OF VARIOUS TRAVELS

Former Graduate's Adventures
Have Been as Versatile as His School Activities.

H. D. Sappenfield, Kansas State graduate in industrial journalism and dramatics, globe-trotter, play manager, lecturer, and for seven years member of a chautauqua circuit, will speak at the auditorium Friday at 8 o'clock on "Travel Adventures of a Vagabond Kansan."

Citing some instances when, he says, "the wheat fields of Kansas would have looked like a bit of heaven because of their peace and safety," he tells of an evening in Singapore when he was suspected of being a British official and narrowly escaped from one of the opium-den districts with his life. Another time he spent three hours submerged up to his nose and ears in the "holy" tank of a Hindu temple while irate priests searched the grounds for him with smoky flares and modern flashlights.

Sappenfield was a prominent student when on the hill, according to the Collegian reports of 1923-24.
He was a member of the Quill club, Playwright's club, Purple Masque, Sigma Delta Chi, and the Athenian literary society. He was sports editor of the Collegian in 1924, and cartoonist of the Royal Purple in 1925. During the time that he spent in Kansas State Sappenfield took parts in several little theatre plays.

The lecture is being sponsored by the Cosmopolitan club, of which Sappenfield was a member.

BARNETT TO MEETING

R. J. Barnett, professor of horticulture, will leave tonight to attend the 65th annual meeting of the Kansas State Horticulture society at Winfield, December 9 and 10.

FAMOUS PLAYERS TO GIVE SHAKESPEARE'S DRAMAS

Ben Greet and Company of English Actors to Appear Here
December 14.

Two Shakespeare plays, "As You Like It," and "Macbeth," will be presented at the college auditorium the afternoon and evening of December 14 by the Ben Greet players, said to be the most outstanding of production companies.
The box office will open Thursday and special rates will be given to students.

Sir Philip Ben Greet, the head of the company, has been an important figure on the English stage for the past 50 years and is considered the most noted of English actors and producers.

Greet is especially well noted for producing Shakespeare's plays in the same manner in which they were produced at the time they were written. His stage setting is simple, Greet being of the theory that the stage should stimulate and inspire the imagination instead of satisfy it. His only modification of the true Elizabethan manner is the use of more elaborate hangings.

Greet was knighted by King George of England in 1929 in recognition of a life devoted to the betterment of the drama. There are few colleges or universities where the Ben Greet players have not appeared.

On his tour of America, Ben Greet has with him a company of well-known actors, most of whom have been trained by him. Russell Thorndike, eminent British author and actor will take the principal roles in both "As You Like It" and "Macbeth."

Y. W. C. A. BAZAAR FEATURES GIFT SHOP

Affair Will Be Held in Recreation Center Thursday and Friday.

A wood block calendar portraying the four seasons of the year with Kansas State college scenes is one of the interesting features of the Y. W. C. A. bazaar, which will be held December 10 and 11 in recreation center. This calendar was designed by Louise Davis, Nashville, Tenn., a senior in the division of home economics and applied art.

The bazaar will be in the form of an International Christmas Gift Shop with gifts for men, women, children, and students. The articles will be on sale from 8 to 5 o'clock on Thursday, December 10 and from 8 to 12 o'clock Friday, December 11.
Verna Eveleigh, Boyd, is in charge of the bazaar.

Freshman commission will have charge of the European booth.
Louise Jones, Manhattan, will have charge of the Chinese booth. Ruth Langenwalter, Wichita, will be in charge of the Japanese booth.

Aurel Gage, Holsington will be in charge of the candy booth. Esther Dorgan, Alta Vista, has charge of all the decorations for the bazaar, and Merle Mark, Abilene, has charge of publicity. This year the prices of the gifts are considerably lower than they were last year.

WORK ON CHRONICLE

Seven members of the advanced reporting class wrote Christmas sketches for the Sunday Chronicle.
The students who reported were:
Esther Morgan, Hutchinson; Henry
Allard, Topeka; E. Allen Thompson, Partridge; Paul Dittmore, Manhattan; John Reinicke, Great Bend; Eugenia Ebling, Lindsburg; and Ralph Van Camp, Council Grove.

BEGIN WORK ON OPEN HOUSE

Engineers Will Stage Annual Event
March 18 and 19, Says
Rohrdanz.

Plans for the annual engineers'
open house to be held at the college
March 18-19, are now under way,
according to R. C. Rohrdanz, Manhattan, manager of the event. Special features of the event will include a special chapel program and an all-engineers' ball.

With the election last Friday of Robert Alexander, Independence, Mo., to the position of secretary to the manager of open house, actual work on plans for the event was begun, and the first committee meeting is to be held some time before Christmas.

A senior committee chairman and junior assistant to take charge of displays will be appointed from each department. Assistants will also be chosen for technical work,
and each department will feature
the latest developments in its field.
Special emphasis will be placed on an outside display of flood lights to be placed around the engineering building, according to Rohrdanz.

N-i-b-b-l-i-n-g-s

Two Greeks went to a dance in Junction City the other night. They met two girls at the dance, asked them to ride home, and after the girls had broken their dates, discovered
the two females resided in Herington. The students arrived back in Manhattan at 6 o'clock Sunday morning.

One of the honor society students dashed in the telephone booth in Anderson near 6 o'clock the other night, starting gabbling, came out of the booth and discovered she had been locked in the building and all the janitors had long since departed. She gained an exit through a window.

Eugenia Ebling, caretaker of the keys to the handuff used in one of the Aggie Pop acts, ran off with the things and left the wearer of the cuffs minus
the free use of hands for more than several minutes. There is a student on the hill with 100 hours credit who has never been absent from nor tardy to any of his classes. Cast a medal for that boy. Some little old man sat on the bald-headed row in the auditorium at Aggie Pop and used opera glasses quite frequently.

One of the Phi Kappas, walking out of a show in Kansas City recently, was slugged over the head and taken for a ride.
When he woke up he was in Independence, Mo. Now you know as much about it as he does. Large scarlet flowers blooming on the poinsettia plant at the greenhouse reminds students that Christmas isn't far away. Members of Beta Phi Alpha have been receiving photos of a villainous looking fighter with little notes asking if they want to fight. Protection from the military department would be asked, said a member, if the department was not so busy getting ready for the ball.

A dark form fitting overcoat,
white sear and derby hat complete the costume.

REDMOND SEMINAR SPEAKER.

Successful Newspaper Editor To Be Here Thursday.

Journalism students and other people on the hill interested in country journalism will hear John Redmond, president of the Kansas Press association and publisher of the Burlington Republican, at the journalism seminar meeting Thursday, December 10.

Redmond successfully publishes one of the smallest daily newspapers of the country and has promised to pass on to the students
some of the interesting experiences and incidents of his long years in the printing and publishing business.

PHI OMEGA PI TAKES FIRST AT AGGIE POP

Kappa Sigma Wins Short Stunt—Loving Cup Presented by Dean Babcock.

"White and Gold," the long stunt by Phi Omega Pi, and "Everything for Good Old Nectar," Kappa Sigma short stunt, took the silver loving cups presented by Dean R. W.
Babcock, Saturday night, for first place in the annual Aggie Pop.

"White and Gold" was a musical fantasy staged in white and gold.
Lucile Nelson directed the play.
Splendid cooperation on the parts of all members of the organization helped to put this over in great style. Miss Marion Kirkpatrick of the public speaking department was in part responsible for making this stunt a success.

The Kappa Sigma stunt, "Everything for Good Old Nectar," was written and directed by John Cor-rell. It was a clever take-off on college athletics.

Mary Myers Elliott directed Aggie Pop and credit is due her for the success of the event. There were large audiences both nights, and the stunts were well received.

Feminine Romance and Charm Is Evident In Smart Evening Wear at Formal Events

By Marjorie Stevenson.

The opening of the formal season—the Military Ball—will disclose the new evening fashions. Never have they been more romantic,
more wearable, more charmingly unaffected. They are essentially young fashions, that must have been designed with youth in mind.

Rich velvets, shimmering satins,
soft-toned cantons, and gossamer lace are used to fashion the evening frocks in the long, clinging lines that Paris couture demands for the new season. The backless frock designed by Goupy and the suspender strap frock by Schiaparelli are the high fashions and especially smart is the rhinestone shoulder strap, repeated in long glittering earrings and made more striking with the absence of a necklace.

Costumes are intricate and marvelous with their adroit circular cuts, their tight-to-the-knees effects that end in wide flowing fullness to the instep. They are alluring in their two shades of one color or black mixed with pink in the bodice. There is a lovely new fuchsia and many seductive tones of French blue, pale pink, and citron. White satin still dominates with black velvet rivaling it for its place. Another very smart shade is the new eggshell so lovely in lustrous satin.

Over the frock the smartly dressed coed will wear either a white fur jacquette or wrap or she may choose a luxurious velvet one whose shade will harmonize with the evening gown.

Shoes are smartest when tinted to match the frock and may be of richly brocaded satin or faille. The new designs show marked cut-outs.
Long gloves complete the evening costume either to match the gowns or of white or ivory to contrast.
Party bags may be of tiny pearls, glittering rhinestones or of shimmering gold cloth and this season they are of small dimensions. A crystal necklace is lovely with the evening frock.

This is a season of a little more latitude in men's formal wear. The width of the tuxedo trouser has been widened to twenty inches at the bottom. The lapel must be peaked to be in high fashion and for smartness the gentleman must wear the winged collar, while the less fastidious man may choose the collar with long points for comfort.

THE COLLEGIAN'S PLATFORM.

1. Name the Campus Drives.
2. Proportional Division Representation in Student Council.
3. More Student Participation in Student Governing Affairs.
4. Varities Managed by S. G. A. with Proceeds to Go Towards Union Building.
5. Advanced Degrees for Kansas State.

A recent style dispatch notes that leopard fur is being adopted by young Parisian debutantes for their sport coats, and that fashionable young matrons are choosing panther lining in black and broadcloth coats. Some women insist on being catty about clothes.

Believers in the simple life must have received quite a jolt to their faith when they learned that an hour a day of meditation and a diet of goat's milk couldn't protect Gandhi from a common cold.

A story in the Collegian states that gifts may be secured for men, women, children, and students at the Y. W. C. A. bazaar. The good organization is undertaking a tremendous task to supply the three biological classes of humanity, let alone that hybrid group, students.

A press dispatch says that a bank of Fergus Falls, Minn., served coffee and doughnuts when depositors flocked in to withdraw their money. That makes a chance for some coffee company to have a new slogan, "Good to the last penny."

Some of the rules made by upper classmen regulating the conduct of college freshmen tend to disclose that on the higher branches of learning is where one finds the biggest nuts.

Many co-eds on this Hill will probably vote in the affirmative on disarmament. They're always saying "Remove this arm."

The Black list in today's Collegian may cause the staff to become black and blue.

CORDUROY TROUSERS A LA KING.
 The appearance of numerous articles on the Empress Eugenia hats should not cause any great disturbance to the men for the corduroy breeches likewise have a royal background and a popularity even surpassing that of the afore mentioned hats.

The etymology of the word corduroy is immensely interesting and extremely entertaining. The derivation shows the word comes from the French phrase "Cord De Les Roi," which means "Cord of the King." This reveals that at one time in the past this fabric has been connected with royalty, but through decades of retrogression sion has finally reached the college student. This change has come only in the last twenty years. Before then they were prevalent among the lumber jacks.

The habitual fad of wearing corduroy trousers among college students has become nationally known. This distinction is recognized to such an extent at Purdue that only seniors have the privilege of adorning this regal garment. Competition for the greatest amount of advertisement and art is keen each year. They become very useful as a means of remembering first names and telephone numbers, also facts that should be remembered in certain courses. This convenience was only temporary because of the accumulation of terra firma which altered the color, thus producing new shades. Many students to save time purchased those already of a darker hue.

DONATORS ARE COMMENDED.

Because Kansas State faculty members are donating one day's salary to charity, Manhattan's unemployed are being able to feed their families and live something slightly better than a mere existence during this cold period in the depression. The paving project, being carried on back of Nicholas gymnasium and the drive from Anderson to that meeting the already paved slab winding past the engineering building, is a worthwhile one.

Perhaps the weather conditions are not the most favorable to the laying of concrete, but if the foundation work on the engineering fest was not done this winter, there would be many homes in this city without fires and food to keep the little ones warm and satisfied. Students and faculty car owners may be inconvenienced a little in having to drive a few more blocks to reach their destinations, during the time the drives are under construction, but the bother they are put to is small in comparison to the large amount of good the money paid to those men working is doing to those concerned.

It is the liberality of state employees on this Hill that has made this winter a bright one for those men who are striving to keep their families alive until prosperity again reaches the country. Those state employees have done a good deed. They are to be commended.

— The Snoopers —

Throwing disarmament to the winds and leaving China and Japan to tussle by themselves the war boys of Kansas State will go into a huddle of their own at the official Military whingding Saturday night.

The soldiers will leave their swords at home but no doubt a few daggers will show up when the five rejected candidates catch glimpses of the four honorary officers.

One professor in the ag division has shown a thrifty streak that is second to none. He steadfastly refused to donate a day's salary to charity, and only after a lengthy consultation with the head of his department did he come through. Then, as a last word jab, he added a note to his check equivalent of "I hope you big shots don't get all this."

Walter Zeckser has won a just reward in his election to the captaincy of the 1932 Purple Horde. His voyage will be a rough one, as he must pilot the Wildcats through their toughest schedule. He has been dubbed "a most aggressive little devil" and his selection as captain came as little surprise.

At last we've had a tea that hasn't received the usual panning that most of them get. Lieutenant Colonel John S. Sullivan did the trick. His efforts were approved with enthusiastic huzzahs by the attending advanced military students who swore up and down that they had a whale of a time.

C. E. McBride used a whole column in the Kansas City Star to properly squelch a resentful Nebraska supporter who criticized his praise of Bo McMillin's Wildcats. However, he did the job up right and presented enough facts and figures to keep complaining Mr. Yoder quiet for a long, long time.

One young hopeful burst in sanctum sanctorum last night with the suggestion that publicity be given a candy sale project, the proceeds of which were to be sent to China. Ye gods and little fishes! We're on the dead run now and the depression keeps snapping at our own coat-tails.

It has been urgently requested that we note the fact that one Collegian contributor left his Ford running for nigh onto an hour while waiting for a girl to write a story so he could take her home. Maybe it's one of those faded summer loves.

HOLD RADIO DEBATE OVER STATION KSAC

Unemployment Insurance is Subject of Thursday Night's Discussion.

Robert Wilson, Manhattan, and Malcolm Layman, Concordia, Kansas State debaters, will discuss the high school debate question on unemployment insurance with Drake university Thursday, December 10, at 8 o'clock, over station KSAC. This discussion will be broadcast for the purpose of benefitting high school debaters.

Radio debating at Kansas State is not a new field as the first radio debate was held in the spring of 1926. With the possible exception of Kent College of Law, Chicago, Kansas State debaters do more radio debating than any other college in the United States.

Several different subjects will be discussed over the radio this season.

Some of the discussions will be on: capitalism, recognition of Russia, federal price fixing of farm products, export debenture plan, stabilized dollar, independence of India, Manchurian situation, centralization of industry. These debates will be broadcast over stations WDAF, KMBC, WIBW, WO, WHO, WOW, and KSAC.

REGISTRARS MEET HERE.

Dr. Worth A. Fletcher, Wichita, Elected President.

At the business meeting of the Kansas Association of College Registrars and Advanced Credit Standing committee which convened Saturday, December 5, in recreation center, new officers were elected as follows:

president, Dr. Worth A. Fletcher, of the University of Wichita; vice-president, Miss Esther Hoff, of Friends university, Wichita; and Miss Ruth Bundy who succeeds herself as secretary.

President F. D. Farrell of Kansas State college greeted the delegates at the morning session, and the college trio, composed of Prof. Lyle Downey, cello, Prof. Max Martin, violin, and Prof. Richard Jesson, piano, contributed several musical numbers to the program.

Luncheon at Thompson hall was followed by a tour by the delegates over the campus, and a visit to the office of Miss Jessie McD. Machir, registrar of Kansas State college, who has been president of the association during the past year.

In a close race between three national publications, The American Magazine was voted the favorite periodical publication by Emergo students.

At The Theatres

AT THE WAREHAM

"Once a Lady."

Ruth Chatterton changes her faultless English for a Russian accent. As Anna, free soul in Paris, she marries a young English lord busy sowing his wild oats. She shocks his family by telling them blandly that she married the son because she was going to have a "babee." Her unconventionalities don't fit the staidness of an English manor, so she leaves it all. A decade later she manages to step in long enough to save her daughter's happiness. An excellent drama. —J. B.

AT THE DICKINSON

"The Champ."

Jackie Cooper and Wallace Beery have won honors on this one. Beery is a punch and liquor drunk tenth rate pug, idolized by his little son as a real "Champ." To save his son the Champ comes back for a brief moment, pays for it with his life. Almost the plot of "The Kid" in which Jackie Coogan first was seen, but we'll bet that compared with this show "The Kid" would seem amateurish. Liberty gives this four stars.—J. B.

AT THE VARSITY

"Are These Our Children?" "Are These Our Children," now showing at the Varsity is another achievement for Director Wesley Ruggles of "Cimarron" fame, who despite the fact his cast is comparatively unknown in the film world, has made another picture mighty in its appeal to the human emotions. Young boys, young girls, of high school age, lead a wild existence, then go from that stage on down into the lower levels of crime. From classrooms to court rooms these young things go. It's a good show.—D. L.

M'CORMACK TO SING AT K. U. THURSDAY

Will Be Only Appearance of Noted Tenor in This Part of Country.

Lawrence, Kans., Dec. 7.—John McCormack, noted tenor, makes his only appearance in this part of the country, under the auspices of the School of Fine Arts of the University of Kansas, here December 10. His only other concert in this part of the country will be at Columbia, Mo.

D. M. Swarthout, dean of the School of Fine Arts, has received many inquiries from music lovers of Topeka, Kansas City, Atchison, Leavenworth, Ottawa, and other nearby cities, indicating even more interest in the McCormack concert than was displayed in the piano concert of Jose Iturbi, here two weeks ago, when many visitors came from the cities named.

W. C. Covington, Wellington, went to Kansas City with his father December 7 on a business trip.

Here, MEN, smoke a man's smoke

A PIPEFUL of good tobacco is distinctly a man's smoke. The women (long may they wave!) have taken over most of our masculine privileges. But pipe smoking still belongs to us.

The pipe is not for pretty girls.

In every walk of life you'll find that the men at the top are pipe smokers. And most college men agree that the pipe offers the rarest pleasures a man could ask of his smoking.

When you smoke a pipe, be sure you choose the tobacco that will give you the greatest enjoyment. In 42 out of 54 colleges Edgeworth is the favorite. You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold.

Or for a special sample packet, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va. Sample is free.

EDGEWORTH SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive and exclusive eleven process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—Edgeworth Ready Rubbed and Edgeworth Plug Slice. All sizes, 15¢ packet package to $1.50 pound humidor tin.

POWER PLAYS OF GRAHAM, BUSHBY BEAT SHOCKERS

THRUSTS OF K-AGGIE PLUNGERS TOO MUCH FOR LIGHT WICHITANS.

CRONKITE RECEIVES INJURY

Both Teams Dine, Dance, Elect Captains After Game—Zeckser To Lead Purple Power-house Next Season.

Ralph Graham, Kansas State's ramming fullback, was again the big machine in the purple power-house when he led his team to a 20-6 victory over Wichita university's eleven in a charity game at Wichita last Saturday.

Tom Bushby, Belleville, was another outstanding player for Kansas State. Early in the second quarter, Bushby, in a series of power plays, pushed over a touchdown.

Graham Rips Up Field. Graham was inserted into the lineup at the start of the second half and soon started doing his stuff. First, he ripped off 16 yards for a first down after the K-Aggies had blocked a Wichita punt. On the next play he went over for a touchdown. The K-Aggies caught Wichita flat-footed, when, from a fake place-kick formation, Graham plunged through the line for the point after touchdown.

The K-Aggies scored in the second, third, and fourth periods. After the game seemed to be a lost cause for Wichita, Coach Al Gebert sent in his second string backfield, led by young Fulton. These lads, overjoyed at getting a whack at the big Kansas State team, started throwing passes with abandon. It was in the closing minutes of the battle that the Shockers made their score, on a pass from Tucker to Beeman.

Squad Royally Entertained. After the game the two football squads were entertained by the Wichita Chamber of Commerce at a dinner in the Hotel Lassen. After the dinner both teams elected the new captains for the coming year. Walter Zeckser, Alma, a two-letter guard, was chosen to lead the Kansas State eleven.

Captain Henry Cronkite received an injured ankle early in the second quarter. Cronkite returned to Manhattan Saturday evening to receive medical attention by a local physician.

Outstanding players for the Kansas State club were Lloyd Michael and Captain-elect Zeckser in the line and Tom Bushby and Ralph ("The Rammer") Graham were consistent ground-gainers in the backfield.

Women's Sports

The second tryout for Frog Club (women's swimming) will be held Thursday, December 10, at 5:00.

Those having the highest grades from the tryouts will be tentative members of Frog club and will be eligible to pass the Improvement Chart during open hour or at Swimming club practice to gain permanent membership in the club. Each girl passing the Improvement chart will receive a Frog club emblem for her swimming suit.

Girls entering Frog club are Gwyneth Buckmaster, Manhattan; Charlotte Buchanan, Manhattan; Barbara Lutz, La Junta, Colo.; Harrel Porter, Parsons; Christine Church, Kansas City, Mo.; Clara Bess Garrison, Lincolnville; Edith Miller, Salina; Betty Wagstaff, Topeka; Ruth Sikensen, Dell Rapids,

S. D.; Ella Rae Davis, Manhattan; Margaret Chaney, Manhattan; Marion Wait, Superior, Neb.; Elizabeth Sullivan, Manhattan; Cora Cliphant, Offerle; Jane Kahl, Topeka.

Kappa Delta is the intramural archery champion for this season with 70 points. Kappa Kappa Gamma placed second with 35 points; third place Neophytes, 27 points; fourth place Alpha Xi Delta, also with 27 points.

Sport Quibs

Basketball practice started in a spectacular manner last night when the football playing basketball men reported for practice. Many of them found it hard to hit the backboard, and just a few managed to hit the goal.

Give 'em a little time to get the football out of their systems and their sights adjusted, and then watch 'em go.

That old affliction, "buck ague" prevented one Kansas State football player from breaking into the headlines. . . the story is that he intercepted a partially blocked pass and was on the road to a touchdown and glory with a clear field ahead, when he stumbled and fell. . . Another case of the spirit being willing but the flesh being weak. . . When he recovered from his chill, two or three Shockers were upon him. . . Just another irony of life.

Nebraska claimed first honors for playing before the largest total crowd during the football season just passed. They got that way from playing Northwestern and Pittsburgh. All other Big Six schools reported a marked decrease in attendance.

Cronkite rated a second team berth on the Associated Press all-American football selections. Sports writers and coaches selected the team, and while the electors in this part of the country felt that Cronkite should be on the first team, there weren't enough of them to put him over against the massed vote of eastern schools and newspapers.

"Swede" Anderson, freshman football coach, is all steamed up about the Aggieville-Downtown football game to be played in the stadium next Saturday. Suits were checked out to the players of both teams today, and they're holding intensive practice the remainder of the week in preparation for the battle.

The proceeds of the game will go to Manhattan charity organizations—tickets at four-bits a throw.

WRESTLING TOURNAMENT. All varsity and freshman wrestlers will enter the all-college wrestling tournament this year, to be held December 14, 15, 16, 17, and in addition anyone else desiring to do so may enter. All entries must weigh in Monday morning, Dec. 14. The different classes in the tournament according to weight are 118 lb., 126 lb., 135 lb., 145 lb., 155 lb., 165 lb., 175 lb., and heavyweight class. Medals will be given the winners of each class.

CAGE SQUAD COMPLETE; INTENSIVE DRILL BEGINS

Eight Men From Football Squad Report for Practice Last Night—First Game Friday.

With his full varsity squad out for practice Monday for the first time, Coach C. W. Corsaut has begun intensive practice for a game Friday night against Kansas university.

Corsaut starts practice with one football casualty. Hi Henry Cronkite, two letter center, broke a small bone in his left ankle during the Wichita football game last Saturday and will not be able to play basketball for some time, if at all this season.

Men reporting for varsity basketball who were on the football squad are: Captain Auker, Dalton, Wiggins, and Fairbanks, lettermen; and Graham, Hanson, Breen, and Blaine, freshman numeral men last year. All these men are in fair condition, except Blaine, who is still suffering from a dislocated shoulder. Men who have been reporting for pre-season varsity practice are: Stradski and Brockway, lettermen; and Boyd and Silverwood, members of last year's freshman team. Bidnick, another numeral man, was reporting for practice until he threw a finger out of joint. This will keep him out of practice for a few weeks.

Although the outcome of the game Friday night has no bearing on the Big Six championship race, it will serve to give some index to the relative strength of the two teams. Even though football season was just over the teams that play Friday night will be representative teams of their respective institutions. Neither team has played a game as yet, and this is their initial test. Kansas university has had a little more time to round their team into shape, because they did not have so many men that play both basketball and football. The K-Aggies also will be handicapped by the absence of Cronkite from the line-up.

DEMONSTRATES RULES.

A basketball rules interpretation meeting was held in the K-room in Nichols gymnasium last night under the direction of E. A. Thomas, secretary of the Kansas State High School Athletic association. The meeting is one of a series being held over the state this year for the purpose of acquainting coaches and officials with the latest rules in basketball. Secretary Thomas gave verbal interpretations of the different rules, answered the various questions asked, and explained the execution of the rules. In addition he showed a two-reel film showing them in operation, and the solution of various problems of officials and coaches. The meeting started at 7:30 o'clock, and was attended by the varsity and freshman basketball squads, together with several visitors.

Harlan Birch, Lawrence, and John Kelley, Mayetta, were admitted to the college hospital December 2.

HRABA STILL CONFINED.

Adolph Hraha, senior in flour mill engineering and president of the Student Council, is still confined to the college hospital where he is recuperating from a case of pneumonia contracted during the week end of November 20.

Hraha received a chest injury in the football game with North Dakota State in which he played a guard position. The injuries resulted in an abscess and before he could regain his strength, pneumonia developed.

He is recovering rapidly at the present time and a limited number of visitors are allowed for a short time each day. He will not be released from the hospital until Christmas vacation starts.

4-H CLUB MEETS.

The Collegiate 4-H club held initiation service Saturday evening in Calvin hall. Over eighty new members were brought into the club. Earl Johnson, president, presided at the meeting. Prof. M. H. Coe delivered the charge to the organization to give those initiated a better understanding of the work carried on by the club. The evening was spent in dancing and playing cards.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERS MEET

The local branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers met in seminar Thursday afternoon in the engineering building. J. R. Benson, Topeka, spoke on "Soaring and Gliding." Prof. F. A. Smutz of the machine design department talked on "Refrigeration," and W. D. Vawter, Liberty, spoke on "Alignment in Drilling Oil Wells."

JUDGERS THIRD AT CHICAGO

Team Places Fourth in Exhibition and Seventh in Production Judging.

The Kansas State poultry team, which competed Saturday in the poultry judging contest held in connection with the Coliseum poultry show, in Chicago, ranged third in judging, and fourth in written examinations, according to Prof. H. M. Scott, poultry husbandry department, coach of the team. The team also placed fourth in exhibition judging and seven in production judging.

Those who represented Kansas State at the contest of poultry judging were V. A. Unruh, Pawnee Rock; J. T. Miller, Prescott; G. C. Moore, Manhattan; C. G. Page, Norton; and L. E. Croy, Norcatur.

The Coliseum poultry show is the largest in the middle west, and about 12 states competed. Oklahoma ranked first, Iowa second, Kansas State third, and Missouri, fourth.

FRESHNESS

— that's the thing! CAMELS are never parched or toasted

HAVE you noticed the new trend in cigarettes?—freshness is the popular thing.

That's because a fresh cigarette, as demonstrated by Camels, is something smokers have discovered as better than anything they ever tried before.

Camels are fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack because they're made fresh to start with — blended of choice, delicately mild, sun-ripened tobaccos in which the natural moisture and fragrant flavors are vigilantly safeguarded.

The tobaccos in Camels are never parched or toasted — the Reynolds method of scientifically applying heat guarantees against that.

That's why we say with so much assurance that Camels are truly fresh. They're made fresh — not parched or toasted — and then they're kept fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack.

Try Camels' freshness for a change. Switch over for just one day, then change back — if you can.

Made FRESH — Kept FRESH

Don't remove the moisture-proof wrapping from your package of Camels after you open it. The Camel Humidor Pack is protection against perfume and powder odors, dust and germs. In offices and homes, even in the dry atmosphere of artificial heat, the Camel Humidor Pack delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until the last one has been smoked.

Students Play Checkers When Speaking of Instructors Both Liked and Disliked; Others Rate White In Campus Consensus

Peppery conversations—heated arguments—quite violent disputes—mark the selection of the professors who go on the Checkered list.

The somewhat arbitrary division of the faculty into four classes resulted in groups termed White, Black, Checkered, and Gray. A translation of these colors explains them as: those the majority of the students like, those the majority dislike, those about whom there is a decided difference of opinion, and those about whom no one stops to wonder.

H. W. and Heb (?) The violence with which students state their opinions concerning H. W. Davis and H. Miles Heberer is startling. It is noticeable that those students who are most rabid in their dislike of Heb and H. W. are those one least suspects of having any sort of an opinion on anything. Professor Davis' caustic sarcasm draws indigo blood, while Heb's trenchant remarks flash red before more than one student's eyes. In either case—injured feelings, or nasty rage, the result is decided dislike. Heb's extensive and superlatively precise vocabulary is an overwhelming point against him in the minds of many—one black square in his checkered vote. The white votes for both men are cast for the same reasons—fairness, their unquestioned ability in their respective fields, and the magnetism of their personalities. The result of the student vote on H. W. and Heb, although checkered, does not resemble a checkerboard any way it is plotted. There are too few black squares to make even a passable checkerboard.

Another pair of kindred spirits, apparently, are Miss Katherine Bowers and Miss Cornelia Crittenden. For both of these instructors the black votes are cast by women students, and most of the white by the men. Criticism which has been considered unjust would naturally bring forth a black mark. Equally natural would be the appearance of a white vote from recipients of favoritism in grading, afternoon teas, and chicken dinners.

Floyd Is Checkered. E. V. Floyd is slapped and patted for the same thing, depending upon the personality of the student questioned. Some are enthusiastic about his thoroughness and painstaking explanations. Others feel Professor Floyd is "talking down" to them. They resent this. Resentment breeds dislike, which scores black.

C. M. Correll has a definitely checkered vote—decided ebony and ivory, since the opinions are absolutely contradictory. The white votes come in because the students casting them think Professor Correll conducts an interesting class, hard, certainly, but very interesting. The students casting black votes are equally positive that Professor Correll's classes are a dull drag to simply exist through. Students of both opinions may be found in identically the same classes.

Divided On Geyer. The division of opinions concerning Miss Katherine Geyer is evident in the following observations quoted from remarks made by students in her classes: "like her fine."—"I don't care for her."—"liked her fairly well."—"keen if you treat her fair."—"Oh, she's well liked!"—"a pest."

Prof. F. L. Parrish received his black votes because many of the students feel he expects them to have an unreasonably good background. This very quality is the reason many students are so enthusiastic about Professor Parrish. They feel that his attitude inspires his students to more concentrated effort and consequently they get more from the course.

Iles Demands Much. The decided difference of opinion which places I. V. Iles on the Checkered list concerns the question of fairness. Is Professor Iles fair in his demands of the students who have classes under him? Some feel his requirements are exorbitant while others are quite as positive that Professor Iles simply asks for a vital interest in the subject he is teaching, and that he is glad to reward honest effort fairly. Every one feels he knows his subject and that he presents it logically and methodically.

The few black votes that were cast for Prof. R. R. Price were a result of dislike for his habit of "riding" one single student for an entire class period. Although he takes a different one each time, the students do not like it. Professor Price is an authority on American history, and the students appreciate the opportunity of taking work under him.

Breeden Black, Then White. Votes against A. W. Breeden were packed with punches. "Just terrible," "Unreasonable," "Temperament," "Prejudiced," were some of the notations on the backs of dark ballots. Swearing in the classroom doesn't go so well with most of the students, either. Many groups questioned voted white unanimously for Professor Breeden. "A mighty good fellow," "Just plenty OK," and "He surely knows his stuff," were a few of the favorable comments coming from the students who furnished the white of the Breeden checkerboard.

The "home ec" students found it difficult to make up their own minds about Miss Margaret Ahlborn. Their trouble arose from the fact that the majority of them liked her as an assistant dean, but quite heartily disliked her as an instructor. In her relations with the students as assistant dean of home economics Miss Ahlborn is fair. As an instructor, however, the women in her classes feel that she is partial, prejudiced and unfair in grading.

Washburn Too Precise. There are just a few light spots to relieve the midnight of the student vote on L. P. Washburn. The men in Professor Washburn's classes consider that his desire for precision amounts almost to a mania—tipping him over to the rear in attempting to stand him erect.

White votes in abundance come in for George E. Johnson, in spite of his adamant adherence to the point system of grading. The black votes were all cast by students who dislike his "hard heartedness." Professor Johnson knows his subject, and he teaches it well.

"Rusty" Gates is that hard customer in the botany department who persistently talks in a monotone—a composite quote which crystallizes the black votes for F. C. Gates. Professor Gates' vivid sense of humor turned the black tide, and gave him a balanced showing.

Students Respect Kammeyer.

Among the professors who rate white in the campus consensus there is a select group of some 15 men and women for whom only superlatives are used. Prof. J. E. Kammeyer is one of the favorites. The students admire him as a teacher and respect him as a man. He is master of his subject and has the ability to get the information and love of the subject across to the students. His consideration and kindness endear him to every one of the student body with whom he comes in contact.

Vernon D. Poltz is another one of those fortunate individuals who have both brains and personality. He's a "plenty good sport" and a "darn good instructor."

Cortelyou an Aristocrat.

Everyone likes the "aristocrat" of the faculty, Prof. J. V. Cortelyou. He has the ability to make the students in his classes want to study, and an apparently inexhaustible supply of knowledge from which to deal out information for the students' enjoyment. Doctor Cortelyou is often witty; sometimes subtly, sometimes obviously—but never flashily.

That contagious smile is the first thing one thinks of when "Doc" King's name is mentioned. Chemistry is made endurable for many a sorrowing freshman by the encouragement H. H. King is so willing and capable of giving.

Elcock's Ability Praised.

Miss Helen Elcock's ability and intellect command the respect of every under-graduate and graduate student. She and Miss Anne Sturmer are great favorites with the graduate students in particular because they know their subjects so thoroughly, and are willing and conscientious.

Prof. P. L. Giney is known as one of the most thorough and hardest professors on the campus. In spite of this handicap his personality and ability make him one of the most popular!

Sperry Is Brilliant.

"He's a brilliant man!"—and that begins the praises of Prof. A. B. Sperry. The students admire Professor Sperry's ability, his personality, and his character.

The music department can certainly bask in the light of Max Martin's popularity. Mr. Martin has the good will of all of the Kansas State students.

Prof. R. K. Nabours is universally liked by the students. His idiosyncrasies endear him to them. One of his most ardent admirers was heard to remark, "He's a typical absent-minded professor—and mighty sweet!"

Given Has Personality. The power of a vibrant personality is great indeed. The students, conscious of Professor Given's attractive personality have nicknamed him, "the personality man."

John F. Helm, Jr., was voted the most popular instructor in the architectural department. Not one black vote appeared against his name. The students in his department feel him to be fair, extremely well versed in his subject, and by all means "friendly."

Throckmorton Voted Okay.

R. I. Throckmorton is a "good fellow" say his students. He is unprejudiced and has a great facility for making friends. Only those students coming in contact with him as a member of the reinstatement committee vote black in his favor, and most of those students do not meet him in the classrooms.

C. W. Matthews has only two faults, say students in his classes. He demands more than they can do, and he talks so fast they cannot take notes. Both of these faults, however, students attribute to his extensive knowledge of the subjects he teaches and his earnest desire for students in his classes to (Continued on Page Three)

BIG SIX HEADS SLASH BUDGETS AT ANNUAL MEET

MINOR SPORTS SUFFER MOST IN EXPENSE REDUCING MEASURES.

FOOTBALL RECEIPTS OFF

Estimated Saving of $50,000 Made By Retrenchment Program—Round Robin Schedules Abandoned.

Closing their annual business meeting last Tuesday at the Kansas City Athletic club, faculty representatives and athletic directors of the Big Six conference formulated plans by which almost $50,000 was slashed from proposed expenditures.

All the moves made by the athletic directors were approved by the faculty representatives, who also decided to abandon the spring meeting in order to cut down expenses.

Round-Robins Abandoned.

Probably the greatest economy measure was the elimination of round-robin schedules in wrestling, tennis, and baseball. It was also decided to discontinue the awarding of medals to champions in these sports and track and field events, saving approximately $1,000. The outlay for officials was reduced.

A committee made up of the six directors will have power to determine the champions in the sports in which the round-robin schedules are discontinued.

It was decided that wrestling coaches will serve in the capacity of referee without pay, and that the 175-pound class in wrestling will be eliminated.

A reduction in the cost of officials was made by the fact that Big Six schools can get along with three officials in football instead of four. Since almost half the basketball gate receipts are used to pay officials in that sport, only one official will be used in future games instead of the usual two.

Football Receipts Off.

All of these curtailments of minor sports and expenses were brought about by the fact that football receipts for the past two years have fallen off greatly. As football has been the paymaster of all other sports except basketball, this finance problem has grown in proportion to decreased receipts.

This percentage of decrease was reviewed by the directors. The receipts at the University of Missouri fell off 30 per cent, at Iowa State 26, Kansas university 23, Oklahoma 25, Nebraska 12 to 15, and Kansas State 5.

Radio Hurts Attendance. Director Mike F. Ahearn of Kansas State was certain that radio was an enemy of the box office. A (Continued on Page Four)

BETA CARS DAMAGED

Bulck Sedan Sideswipes Gunn's And Eddington's Autos.

Two Ford cars parked in front of the Beta house were extensively damaged last night when a passing driver "was blinded by the lights of an approaching car, causing him to sideswipe the parked cars."

One of the cars, a model T touring, is owned by Maurice Gunn, Great Bend, and the other, a model A coach, is owned by Harold Eddington, Dodge City.

The driver of the car was a Manhattan man, driving a Bulck sedan.

BACH'S ORATORIO TO BE PRESENTED HERE SUNDAY

Chorus of 200 Voices. College Orchestra, and Soloists to Take Part in Annual Event.

"The Christmas Oratorio," by Johann Sebastian Bach, will be given at the college auditorium, Sunday evening, December 13, at 8 o'clock, by the Manhattan choral union, a chorus of about 200 voices, the college orchestra, and soloists. It will be given under the auspices of the Kansas State college and Ministerial association of Manhattan.

Prof. William Lindquist, head of the music department, will conduct the group. Max Martin will be concert master; Charles Straton, pianist; Richard Jenson, organist; Betty Ransom and Helen Durham, soprano soloists; Hilda Grossmann, contralto; Edwin Sayre, tenor; Benjamin Markley, bass. The invocation will be given by Dr. D. H. Fisher; offertory prayer, Rev. W. A. Jomard; benediction, Rev. Perry L. Platt.

"The Christmas Oratorio" was composed in 1734, when Bach was 49 years old. It was given in the Reformed Church of North Germany at the Festival of Christmas. The work is in six parts to be performed on the three days of the festival. The gospel narratives of the incidents the music glorifies the assigned to a tenor voice. The chorals are songs all German children learn.

BAXTER IN ACCIDENT.

Salina Student Returns to School After Several Days' Absence.

Fred Baxter, Salina, sophomore in civil engineering, has returned to school following several days' absence due to injuries received in a car accident which occurred about a mile west of Manhattan on U. S. 40N, Monday night at 6:30 o'clock.

Baxter was driving west in his Chevrolet roadster and to avert a head-on collision with a car coming toward him, he swerved his car to the left side of the road to avoid hitting the oncoming car and as a result the rear portion of his car was struck. Baxter sustained a cut on his neck and a painfully bruised arm. His roadster was considerably damaged.

The other car was driven by a farmer living west of Manhattan.

J. Parks Hasler, Oklahoma City, Okla., returned to his home, December 10, and will remain until after the holidays.

GRID SCHEDULE FOR NEXT YEAR IS COMPLETED

EIGHT GAMES WILL BE PLAYED DURING 1932 FOOTBALL SEASON.

FOUR HOME GAMES BOOKED

First Clash Comes On September 24 With Wichita; Game With Purdue; K. U. Last On Schedule.

The complete schedule for the 1932 Kansas State football team includes eight games, four of which are to be played at home.

The season will start unusually early next season with the first game being played September 24, which is slightly more than a week after the fall term commences. After starting in September, the team plays seven games on seven consecutive Saturdays. A week of rest is scheduled before the last game which, incidentally, is the annual Kansas State-K. U. battle. This game is the last of the season and is scheduled for November 19. No game is to be played on Thanksgiving.

Only eight games appear on the schedule and it isn't thought that a ninth game will be arranged.

Three newcomers appear on the 1932 battle sheet. These are Purdue, Kansas Wesleyan at Salina, and Wichita university. Wichita was beaten by a Wildcat team in a charity tilt this season. Purdue was played two years ago and won from the McMullin men by a slight margin. Salina Wesleyan has not met a Kansas State eleven on the gridiron for many years.

Wichita and Kansas Wesleyan had unusually bright records in football the past season, being co-champion and champion of their respective Kansas conferences.

The complete schedule for 1932 is:

- September 24—Wichita at Manhattan.
- October 1—Purdue at LaPayette.
- October 8—Kansas Wesleyan at Salina.
- October 15—Missouri at Manhattan.
- October 22—Oklahoma at Norman.
- October 29—Nebraska at Lincoln.
- November 5—Iowa State at Manhattan.
- November 19—Kansas U. at Manhattan.

WITHDRAWN FROM COLLEGE.

Rebecca Hyde, Reading, has withdrawn from college until the second semester.

The Black List

All instructors are still complying with the administration rules. No names of instructors holding classes after the five minute bell have been submitted to the Collegian.

ORCHESTRA ENTERTAINS.

College Students Hear Popular Concert In Assembly.

The college orchestra, under the direction of Lyle Downey, gave a popular concert in assembly Thursday morning. The "Evolution of Dixie," as interpreted by the orchestra, went slowly through the "Creation," "Dance Aboriginal," and the "Minuet." The melody development finally emerged into the immortal "Dixie," which, in turn, became a waltz, a ragtime, and grand opera. It was played as the Boston Symphony orchestra plays it.

Other numbers by the orchestra were "Symphony No. 5," "Dance of the Swans," and selections from "Nina Rosa."

BOARD OF REGENTS MEET

Six Members Attend Meeting Held at Kansas State Tuesday; Harger and Harris Talk.

Members of the Kansas state board of regents held their regular business meeting at the college Tuesday morning, after which they were guests at a luncheon in Thompson hall at 12:15 o'clock. President F. D. Farrell presided over the luncheon, which was attended by the regents, deans, department heads, and several faculty members.

President Farrell announced that employees of the college have contributed $3,589.02 toward the fund for local poor relief. C. M. Harger, chairman of the board of regents, complimented faculty members present on their cooperation in raising the fund. Chairman Harger also briefly discussed the public viewpoint concerning college education. Fred M. Harris, Ottawa, talked on the relation of educational institutions to economic conditions.

Regents who attended were: Chairman C. M. Harger, Abilene; Drew McLaughlin, Paola; Ralph T. O'Neil, Topeka; B. C. Culp, Beloit; W. E. Ireland, Yates Center; and Fred M. Harris, Ottawa. Those unable to attend were: Leslie Wallace, Larned; Oscar Stauffer, Arkansas City; and C. C. Wilson, Meade.

After the luncheon, some members of the board visited various buildings and departments about the Kansas State campus.

F. C. Jorgenson, state business manager, met with the board yesterday morning, and Chancellor E. M. Lindley of Kansas university also conferred with the group here.

TO CHOOSE REPRESENTATIVES

Six Students to be Elected for Voluntary Movement Convention.

Representatives from Kansas State to the Student Volunteer Movement Convention in Buffalo, December 30 to January 3, will be chosen from the student body at large and not just from the local group of Student Volunteers which is in charge of Dr. Helen Sharp.

The meeting in Buffalo will be the Eleventh Quadrennial Convention of the Student Volunteer Movement. The program will have as a general theme "The Living Christ in the World of Today." Features of the convention consist of several short plays, and elaborate pageant, moving pictures, national teas, receptions, and sheer recreation.

PLAN K HILL ILLUMINATION

To Make Estimates and Organize Finance Plan.

Committees have been appointed to act on plans made last week at a meeting of Steel Ring, engineering organization, for illumination of the letters K and S on "K" hill east of Manhattan.

I. E. McDougal, Atwood, is to head a committee to make cost estimates, and J. P. Woolcott, Manhattan, is chairman of a committee to interview the local chamber of commerce with regard to organization of a finance plan.

P. C. Perry, Little River, president of the club, announced last night that no report had been received from the committees.

IN FAVOR OF DISARMAMENT

521 Men and 175 Women Students Vote—Slightly Against Compulsory Training.

Students at Kansas State are overwhelmingly in favor of a program of national disarmament. Of the 696 ballots cast 521 were written by the men and 175 by the women in the poll conducted in Anderson hall yesterday.

The Kansas State students are in favor of disarmament as far as the International Conference is concerned. They favor American adherence to the World Court upon the basis of Root Protocols. The votes were slightly against compulsory military training, although they did not favor dropping military training entirely from the curriculum.

This ballot was prepared by the National Student Disarmament committee to secure the opinion of students throughout the country regarding the policies of our government. The results of the votes taken at Kansas State will be tabulated with a college vote taken from all over the United States.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR PURCHASING STATUE

Sorority Having Highest Scholastic Standing Each Year to Have Name Printed on It.

The chief topic of discussion of the senior women's Panhellenic meeting at the Alpha Delta Pi house last night was the plans for buying a statue to be placed in the library. Each year the sorority having the highest scholastic standing will have its name printed on it.

Prof. Paul Weigel and Prof. J. F. Helm of the architecture department were in Wichita Saturday conferring with Bruce Moore, well-known sculptor. They brought back illustrations of the different statues, and it was decided to buy a statue about twenty inches high. On it is a figure symbolizing American youth.

Professor Weigel believes that Moore's work will live and he also added he thought that Panhellenic was getting a very good piece of statuary.

GUESTS OF CLASS.

Louise Ratiff, Leona Pollett, Wilma Cook and Dorothy McLeod were guests at a luncheon Thursday served by the members of Miss Nina Browning's foods I class.

FAMOUS PLAYS TO BE PRODUCED AUTHENTICALLY

BEN GREET PLAYERS TO PRESENT SHAKESPEARE'S WORK IN COLLEGE AUDITORIUM

NOTED ACTORS TAKE LEADS

"As You Like It" and "Macbeth" To be Given at Matinee and Evening Performances.

The true Elizabethan manner modified only by the use of richer and more elaborate hangings, is to be employed in the two Shakespearean productions of the Ben Greet players at the college auditorium, Monday afternoon and night.

In the afternoon, the famous troupe will present "As You Like It" at 3:15 o'clock and at night "Macbeth" will be given beginning at 8:15.

Third Annual Tour.

Sir Philip Ben Greet and his players, brought here by the Manhattan Theater, are making their third annual American tour since the outbreak of the World war.

Before that time they made a dozen successive tours.

Sir Philip has been on the stage over 50 years, 40 of which have been spent doing Shakespeare. In 1929, he was knighted in recognition of his work as a promoter of drama in education.

In addition to Sir Philip, the cast includes Russell Thorndike who plays the title role in "Macbeth," and Touchstone in "As You Like It." He is an actor as well as an actor, and a brother of the famous Sybil Thorndike. Ellen Terry passed to him the cherished medal which is handed down from the greatest Shakespearean actor of one generation to that of the next generation.

John Correll, self-appointed spokesman for Kappa Sigma, informed a Collegian reporter last night the fraternity thought the Collegian was a lot of hokey, and the members did not care to express their opinions either pro or con on instructors. . . . Tsk. Tsk. . . . And the Kappa Sigmas join the ranks of those who say nothing. . . . Letters, phone calls, and personal interviews have been sent and made the Collegian staff since the appearance of the story pointing out instructors' faults in Tuesday's issue of the newspaper. . . . Some objected to the article, others praised it. . . . All the Collegian desires is a change of habits by those instructors mentioned. . . . In Tuesday's Collegian the instructors will present their opinions on the students on the campus. . . . Doc Holtz ate nearly a whole bowl of sugar, nibbling from a spoon, while a speaker at student forum talked recently. . . . Cadet Colonel Al Reed is busy looking for the culprits who stole the pictures of six candidates for honorary colonel and majors out of their cases in the military department. The pictures have been duplicated, but the originals are being hunted down by the specially-appointed Sherlock Holmes. . . .

MILITARY BALL TO BE SOCIETY'S DRESS PARADE

FORMAL PARTY SEASON TO OPEN TOMORROW NIGHT AT WAREHAM BALLROOM.

NOVEL FEATURES INCLUDED

Honorary Colonel and Three Majors to be Announced; A. L. Reed to Lead Grand March.

Glittering sabers, shining boots, officers in immaculate uniforms, other men in tuxedos, and beautiful girls in equally beautiful formal, will be the features of the annual Military Ball, one of the most distinctive parties of the year, which will be held tomorrow night, December 12, at the Wareham ballroom. The ball formally opens the society season here.

Chief among these aforementioned beautiful girls will be the ten candidates for honorary field officers. The feature of the ball will be the presentation of the honorary colonel and her majors, who are to be chosen from these ten candidates.

Many New Features. The ceremony which includes the presentation of these honorary officers will differ this year from the ceremonies of former years in that a number of changes have been made to include more interesting features.

Following the announcement of the names of the honorary colonel and her majors, the grand march will be played, and will be led by the newly elected honorary officer and Student Cadet Colonel A. L. Reed.

Candidates Already Chosen.

The honorary cadet officers have already been chosen by the military department, but their names will remain secret until Saturday night. The advanced military classes selected the nine candidates from among the most prominent women on the campus, and the basic students then voted on these candidates. The one receiving the highest number of votes is to be honorary colonel, and the next three highest are to be honorary majors.

The candidates are: Isabelle Porter, Stafford; Inez Hill, Topeka; Dora Dean Dunn, Phillipsburg; Mary Alice McCreight, Soldier; Eugenia Ebling, Lindsborg; Jeanne Burt, Manhattan; Vera Bowersox, Great Bend; Marjorie Lyles, Saffordville, and Leora Light, Liberal.

AND THE COLLEGIAN SAYS—

Kansas taxpayers finance the Kansas State college. Sons and daughters of those taxpayers pay tuition here. Members of the college faculty are paid by the money received from taxes and tuition. The faculty members are, therefore, indirectly employees of the students. Employers have the right and privilege to point out the faults and the good points of their employees in order that the former might be remedied, and the latter retained. For that reason and that reason alone, the Kansas State Collegian is printing a series of three articles reflecting student opinion of instructors on the Kansas State campus. The last of these articles appears in today's Collegian.

Students and professors have been calling and writing to the Collegian editor since the appearance of Tuesday's Collegian, saying the article printed was unfair, and it did not represent the general student opinion. Some said it was composed of opinions of journalism students only. The Collegian editor wishes to point out that most of the instructors mentioned were those under whom only a few journalism students take courses, and therefore whatever was said about those instructors would have to come from other sources. When the story was written, from eight to twelve representative undergraduate students were called and asked about the instructors on the Black List. The only instructors' names appearing on the list were those about whom nothing favorable was said by the students called. Since that number of students all agreed on those composing the list, wasn't it reasonable to suppose a similar group of students would also have the same opinions?

The Collegian hoped that by pointing out the faults possessed by these instructors, the instructors would take heed and remedy their faults. If they do not, the result of the Collegian's campus consensus is not what the Collegian editor desired it to be.

It was not the object of the Collegian to pick out specific instructors and pan them, nor to deliberately try to hurt their feelings when the story was written. If any of the instructors mentioned in the story feel the above to be true, they are wrong in their belief.

For several years there has been an undercurrent of opinion running the width and length of the institution's halls on instructors here on the campus. The Collegian merely gathered those opinions, checked them, and presented them to the readers of the college paper. If the students voicing those opinions to their friends and acquaintances, do not like to see the same things in print, the Collegian accuses them of being hypocrites. Afraid to say what they think in public, but howling their heads off in private.

And that's that.

NEW PEACE, YOUNG PEACE.

On February 2, 1932, an august meeting of delegates will convene in Geneva to undertake the stupendous task of adopting a plan by which the nations of the world may form a disarmament program. Hundreds of men will meet there in Geneva, earnestly devoted to the initiation of a definite world peace movement. At least, whatever these men may accomplish will be but an introductory measure, a preparatory step for the actual progress which the future will bring. It is not necessary that they bring about a sweeping reform. Disarmament cannot and should not come over night.

The task of world disarmament lies before younger men and younger women, the students of today, and they will meet that task, unflinching and unafraid because of their buoyant idealism and the background they are now building in colleges. All over the world students are thinking disarmament and are gaining a knowledge of other countries and their problems. With the wholesome vigor of youth, they are questioning the old methods of armed nations; they are doubting the sleek strategy with which statesmen of the past dealt with other nations. Everywhere they are building a foundation for the future by studying the disarmament question in all of its phases. They are attending conferences where they hear every detail of the movement. They are discussing it with their fellow students, and they will form sane opinions.

No modern student will be carried away by an emotional, frenzied pacifist program. Students are facing the matter squarely and whatever steps they are taking to equip themselves for the coming task are being taken without compulsion from higher authority. It will be a free peace which the students of today will bring.

There will be many more peace conferences. One by one the places at the conference table of the nations will be filled by men who are in college today. Bit by bit the blanket of world peace will have woven into it stronger, stouter threads by these young men who were college students in 1932. Sane, unbiased ideas gained in college will not be forgotten when the time comes for them to be brought forth for use.

The conference of 1932 will be a cautious one. Its delegates are working against a past of hatred and distrust among nations. The conferences of the future will not be radical. They will be courageous because they will be attended by men whose ideas took root in 1932 when they were in college.

Youth has not failed in the past. Youth has fought the wars of the world. Youth will bring disarmament and peace.—R. L.

Book Review

WILLA CATHER'S NOVELS.

reviewed by
 Prof. J. O. Faulkner.

Prof. J. O. Faulkner, in his discussion of Willa Cather's recent novels, "Death Comes for the Archbishop," and "Shadows on the Rock," Wednesday evening in recreation center, dealt mainly with the departure of Miss Cather from the traditional type of work depicting the contemporary American scene and of her entering a type of fiction that abandons the usual cautions of the novel as it is generally known. Professor Faulkner's lecture was one of a series that is being given by members of the faculty of the department of English.

In description of Miss Cather's work, Professor Faulkner referred to her two recent novels as "Catholic novels," but continued saying they had been "written by a Protestant with sympathetic understanding of the Catholic church and its great tradition. In these novels there is no castigation of the Church or its methods."

Professor Faulkner spoke of the art of Miss Cather and the effects that she had secured in applying it to her fictional works. In the course of his talk he read a number of selections from the novels that he discussed and referred to them as chronicles. One was of the Santa Fe country from 1851 to 1888, in "Death Comes for the Archbishop," and the other of the Quebec country during the last year of the life of Count Frontenac, about 1697.

— The Snoopers —

The collitch is going to the bowwows. Just when we get all set to chortle in glee at the capering Scabbard and Blade pledges something happens that the organization ceases demonstrations on the campus. It may not be so hard on us, we've seen the neophytes in action before, but think what all the fresh are missing.

We've even heard grumbings that the K fraternity will follow the suit of the warriors. When that happens everyone may as well fold up and resign themselves to tripping on their lower lips.

It was a great day when one of the "K" initiates pedaled through Anderson hall on a bicycle and crashed into a most austere faculty member. In fact, that is the principal reason that no one rides a bicycle through the corridors any more. And their—shall we say—bizarre costumes were feature adornments for Fryal Purple snapshot sections.

Parties are coming thick and fast. The Wareham, Johnnie's and the Country club are sharing alike in accommodating the revelers. Then off for home and the annual Christmas holiday spurge to the tune of "I'm a little prairie flower growing wilder every hour."

We learn that President Farrell's office bears the brunt of the attack of uninformed persons who send parcels addressed to Kansas State college. Everything from post mortems for the veterinary division to calico for the hemstitching classes has been received. If this condition continues, perhaps our highest executive will seriously consider the possibilities politics have to offer.

The college disarmament election has come and gone apparently without a stir on the serene surface of daily life. Which brings from us the original conclusion that if present economic conditions continue to exist, disarmament will take care of itself.

We heard there was a petition being circulated around the chemistry department so we got to work and snooped. It didn't take long to find out that one of the school's most loved (by the instructors) students had thought of a new way to get next to the instructors' hearts and out came the petition. After a little more keyholing we found that he had also thought of a bright way to get all the students to sign. He merely waited until the instructor was at his heels and then asked someone to sign it. Well, we're for him, it would help us in points if we could get some of those bright thoughts.

Judge For Yourself

Editor's Note: This column is open to any and all students and faculty members who care to express themselves in print, concerning any matter of student interest. Anything will be accepted with the exception of obscene or otherwise objectionable matter. Copy must be accompanied with a full signature, but upon request only initials will be used in the Collegian.

Two "Judge for Yourselfs" were withheld from the Collegian this issue because the writers did not make their identity known to the editor. If the authors of the two articles mentioned will inform the editor of their identity, their letters will be printed.

IN DEFENSE OF ALMA MATER.

We, as alumni of Kansas State, have often heard, and have ourselves said, of the students, "They get younger every year." The "black list" of the last Collegian has made the remark utterly pertinent. Regarding the journalism students, let us say, "Let him who is without fault cast the first criticism." The most amusing part of the article, to us, was the fact that our budding journalists should apply the terms "big head" and "smarty" to our professors. We had always understood journalism students had a copyright on the above characteristics.

Had it occurred, we wonder, to the precocious children who wrote this article, that alumni recommend Kansas State to probable college students? The black list, naming our dreadful faculty, forbids our doing so.

We wonder if this black list represents the opinion of the majority, as the Collegian boldly stated? Frankly, we think it to be the opinion of the friends of the Collegian staff, and we say to these "friends," beware of the company you keep!

Let these young writers remark, when next they see one of the hapless black-listed professors, "There, but for the Grace of God, go I."

We alumni bow our heads in shame!—D. K.

STUDENT OPINION.

Where would you actually find the opinion of Kansas State students? They have views and express them verbally, yet when it comes to printing candid opinions the majority are ready to take a step backward. There is so much difference in saying a thing and seeing it in print. To most people the spoken word does not seem as daring as the printed one, but how much farther and less accurately conversation travels.

The article in the Collegian on the professors aroused much comment from the students, and from behind a paper one would hear, "Wasn't that awful to print such a thing?" Yet students complain about professors, growl about attitudes, quirks and temperaments, but print their ideas—well, I should say not! How many people here at Kansas State could give any reason for signing the disarmament petition other than the fact that everybody seemed to be doing it? Are the students afraid of expressing themselves publicly? Must they follow blindly all strict convention on opinion? If the things they say can't be printed and they can't account for their written expression, where are you going to find student opinion?—M. L. W.

PUBLICITY VIA THE BLACK LIST.

Even if it has no other results, the Black List has set people to thinking and talking about it. A question that will make people stop and think, and consider the right and wrong and the logic of it is not useless.

To be listed in the "Black" is not wholly a cause for perturbation or chagrin, for it is at least an indication that the victim is not mediocre. It may be that the Black List is getting to be a habit, and soon those who have received only the lamb's share of publicity will arrange with their press agents for a lion's share of notoriety via the Black List. It is said that the Y. W. cabinet is considering the innovation of a black list.

"To see ourselves as others see us," Bobby Burns said, "It would frae many a blunder free us, and foolish notion." The wisest way to take the criticism offered is to wear the shoe if it fits and profit by the information, or take the affair with a grain of salt and forget it.

Only too many people go along in smug blindness of the impression they make on other persons, supposing blandly that because they haven't been publicly "razed" they are still illy white.—E. M.

GRAY—NOT BLACK.

It was stated, in a recent feature story in the Collegian, that the black list of instructors was compiled from the general consensus of the student body.

Perhaps so, but is that fair—fair, that is, to the instructors in question? Surely even the blackest of the black list are not as ebony-hued as they have been pictured.

For instance, one teacher is said to be insufferably dull. Perhaps it is the students themselves who are dull. While it is true that a dull teacher does little to inspire his pupils, it is also true that dull pupils do less than nothing to inspire instructors.

Another instructor is accused of being sarcastic. Perhaps this so-called sarcasm is merely misdirected humor. And who wouldn't rather have an instructor with a sense of humor, even though misdirected, than one without a sense of humor at all? Sarcasm, after all, is only a form of defense; a sort of shield or guard that sensitive people erect to protect themselves from expected thrusts.

Another instructor is said to be hard to approach, hard to get acquainted with or to understand. Probably that instructor is just as aware of that short-coming as are his critics, and just as anxious to correct it. Some people do not have the ability to make friends as readily as do other people. Is there any reason why he should be blamed for possessing an unfortunate personality?

After all, students DO refuse to think, DO act like children, and ARE sadly lacking in a sense of humor. So, why object so strenuously to having these facts recognized by the faculty?—E. A. T.

By what right does the Collegian express a "unanimous" opinion on anyone or anything?

We of the Industrial Chemistry and Chemical Engineering courses are assured that we are best fitted to pass judgment on such men as Doctor Colver and Doctor Van Winkle. Our ideas do not line up with those expressed by the uninformed author of the so-called "black list."

Doctor Colver is recognized as one of the best organic chemists. He knows his subject and teaches it willingly and enthusiastically. He is fair to any who are ready to learn, although he is severe with his lazy students—that's probably how the journalist met him. He commands plenty of respect as a gentleman.

We also feel that any student has a genuine friend and advisor in Doctor Van Winkle. He likes to teach, and he wants you to get what he is teaching. He really is a very human sort of teacher.

These are the opinions of students who have had or are having these men as instructors.

The last two numbers of the Collegian would lead the reader to believe that there is a lack of constructive attitude on the part of the author or authors of the articles criticizing the faculty members of K. S. C.

Everyone respects scientific research and unbiased impersonal and unprejudiced information gathered for the solution of a problem, but there are numbers of students whose opinions have not been solicited, at least questionnaires have not been circulated to get the opinion of the entire student body.

A fairer test would have been to note the number of times faculty members have refused to aid or advise sincere and industrious students. How much more constructive and effective would the criticism have been had the complaining group gone directly to the so-called "blacklisted professor," or to the authority in control, calling attention to the method or mannerism that inhibited the students' progress and suggested a way for improvement, rather than to stoop to unnecessary, unkind and unjust "mud-slinging."

The writer has done work in one college and three universities before coming to K. S. C. and can honestly say that no fairer nor more courteous treatment has been received than that tendered by the faculty here. Should any unfairness be felt, there would be no hesitancy in going directly to the professor, the Student Council, Dean or President if necessary, confident that adjustments would be made and justice received.—F. D., a graduate student.

The article which appeared in Tuesday's Collegian filled a long felt need at Kansas State, a chance for student opinion. It probably was a little too radical in its statements regarding 100 per cent of the students liking certain of their professors, for undoubtedly students who have a chance to become acquainted with their professors do like them. However, the average student never has an opportunity of knowing his professors except as he meets them an hour a day two or three times a week.

The opinions which were given in the article are those of average students, not of those of Phi Kappa Phi members or students who are special friends of the professors. More than 2,000 of the students on the campus are average, normal students, representing the majority of student opinion.

As to the professors. To some of them it was a hard blow between the eyes. It was a jolt and a bad one. But if they are the real men their friends know them to be, they will take it standing. Perhaps to some of them it will be a means for earning more friends. Justified criticism never hurt anyone. Even a professor on the black list will admit that.—L. J. R.

Congratulations to those having the courage to print student opinion regarding professors.

He who cannot accept criticism with good spirit and with benefit to himself, must certainly be conceited enough to consider himself perfect. No one was ever perfect, and the intelligent professor will welcome criticism as a means of improving his attitude, method, personality, or whatever is his abnormal defect.

The writer has heard one or two timid students object to Tuesday's article because of its bluntness and frankness. Since the professor is only human, such criticism probably hurt his feelings and vanity, but after all, of what significance are these when compared to the prof's effectiveness in getting knowledge across to students? Professors are paid to teach, not to develop egotism.

The professors concerned are indeed fortunate that these things have finally come to light after years of murmurings in "bull" sessions. Probably some of the profs have been handicapped without realizing it. This is their opportunity to remove their handicaps, and incidentally, win the respect of their students.—N. H.

Whatever other results there have been, the student consensus has proved decisively two things: there are a greater number of Kansas State instructors who are liked than are disliked; the student body of Kansas State values high standards—moral and intellectual.

Problem: how to answer a million a day

Users of Bell System service ask "Information" more than 1,000,000 questions every day. Providing facilities for answering them promptly, correctly, was one problem put up to engineers of the Bell System.

So effective was their solution that this prodigious task is now a matter of smooth routine. They designed desks which enable each operator to reach quickly the listings of some 15,500,000 telephones. They developed apparatus which automatically routes calls to operators not busy—and should all operators be busy at once, it stores up calls and releases them in the order received!

Efficient telephone service depends upon working out interesting problems like this.

TWO BASKETBALL GAMES TONIGHT FOR K-AGGIES

Jayhawk and Wildcat "A" and "B" Teams To Tangle at Lawrence Tonight.

The K-Aggies and Kansas university will play two basketball games at Lawrence tonight, according to an announcement made by C. W. Corsaut, K-Aggie basketball coach. In addition to the "A" teams playing, there will be a second game by the "B" teams. The entire squad will make the trip to Lawrence.

On the A squad are: Skradski, Brockway, Graham, and Breen, forwards; Dalton, center; and Captain Auker, Wiggins, Fairbank, and Boyd, guards. Of these men, Skradski, Brockway, Dalton, Fairbank, Wiggins, and Auker are lettermen. Breen formerly played at Bethany college and Graham and Boyd are sophomores. Blaine and Silverwood, sophomores, also have been working some with this squad. Men on the B squad are: Harsh, Goring, and Hanson, forwards; Weybrew, center; and Meyers and Morrison, guards.

The squad has been practicing hard this week in preparation for the first game. Monday and Tuesday nights practices consisted of work on fundamentals and conditioning drills. Wednesday night, Corsaut held a long scrimmage. Thursday night the squad held a short practice.

This first game has no bearing on the Big Six championship race. The Wildcat will be handicapped because of the short time available for practice before the first game. Kansas university will also be handicapped somewhat. Ted O'Leary, letter forward, will not play Friday night because he is a Rhodes scholarship candidate and will be taking the examinations on that day.

These games with Kansas university tonight are two of five pre-season games which the Wildcats will play prior to Christmas vacation. They play Washburn at Topeka, December 14; Kansas university at Manhattan, December 16, and St. Louis university at St. Louis, December 19.

Ditt's Dozen

And another bad break came our way. Henry Cronkite, that lanky center of the Wildcat basketball team for the past two years, will not be able to play during the major part of the basketball season. In the Wichita game last Saturday a small bone in one of Cronkite's ankles was broken.

Cosch C. W. Corsaut has another tall boy to take Cronkite's place on the team, however. Lloyd Dalton, with his six feet four inches, lacks just one inch of being as tall as Cronkite—and that's something. Dalton lettered in basketball last season, and that's something else.

The winter fishing season is ushered in with 36 Kansas State students fishing for grades by giving one of the pro's on the black list a vote of confidence in signing their names to a resolution appearing in the "Judge For Yourself" column in the Collegian.

That's another indoor sport, and a clever way to polish the old apple. Luck to you, boys.

Kansas State students will see Corsaut's basketball squad do their stuff next Wednesday night when the "A" and "B" teams play Kansas university's teams. Two games in the same evening should be enough to satisfy the most rabid basketball fan.

"Doc" Holtz will probably have big blisters all over the palms of his hands if he sees both games.

The sports editor of the New York Sun writes nine paragraphs of praise in telling why he chose Cronkite as an end on his all-American team. One of the paragraphs: "Cronkite is all football player. He couldn't have starred at tackle if he had been deficient in any of the bread and butter fundamentals which are the bedrock of winning football. This throwback to Neanderthal man can 'take out' a defensive tackle unaided. That term is too mild—Hank blows 'em off the map."

The Sun's sports editor puts in another which reads: "But he plays in a minor league," skeptics may say. Well, Tom Gray answered that objection in his Churchyard essay. You recall the lines: "Full many a gem of purest ray serene, the dark, unfathomed caves of ocean bear." Manhattan, Kans., is the antithesis of a cave, but the analogy applies to Cronkite."

Intramural basketball is getting its share of attention now with games being played nightly in Nichols gymnasium. It is expected that the winners of the various divisions will go into the semifinals some time next week.

M. F. ("Mike") Ahearn, director of athletics, has completed the arrangement of Kansas State's 1932 football schedule. The first game will be with Wichita U. here. . . and the Purple Horde goes to Lafayette to battle Purdue's Bollermakers on October 1.

There are four home games scheduled, and include in addition to Wichita university, Missouri university, Iowa State, and Kansas university. The games away from home are Purdue, Kansas Wesleyan, Oklahoma university, and Nebraska.

The students at Missouri, Nebraska university and Kansas are getting lots of attention by their criticisms of college athletics, coaches and directors. Oklahoma university students are demanding the resignation of Ad Lindsay, coach, and Bennie Owen, director, football. . . K. U. students are after the scalps of Dr. F. C. Allen, director of athletics, and Chancellor Lindley. . . Missouri students charge that the M. U. teams have accomplished nothing and that the athletic department is "half dead-wood." . . The Daily Nebraskan, student publication at N. U. declares editorially "the football team has become nothing except an advertising agency for the university."

At The Theatres

AT THE VARSITY

"A Woman of Experience" The scene is in Austria during the war. Wishing to aid her country, Miss Twelvrees enlists as a spy. Next, she falls in love with a count in the navy; and consequently fails to do her duty for her country. Then she has a change of heart; sends her lover on a submarine expedition and she is shot by her enemy. If you want to know what happens after that, see it yourself.

The beautiful blond, Helen Twelvrees, is charming in this love story. She does her usual good acting and is ably assisted by Lew Cody, William Bakewell, and H. B. Warner.—L. E.

AT THE DICKINSON

"Riders of the Purple Sage" There are those who like horse-operas—and those who don't—but anyone liking a real action picture, no matter what it deals with, will like the picturization of Zane Grey's novel. The scene is laid in Arizona in 1871, with a lawless judge and his gang involved in a plot to grab all of the land, accomplishing their dirty work, except for the ranch of Jane Withersteen. George (Bulging Muscles) O'Brien, whose sister has been wronged by the judge, arrives on the scene just in time to stage a one-man clean-up of the gang, incidentally winning the girl's heart. The heroine, Marguerite Churchill, is pretty—a far cry from the usual buck-toothed babes in westerns. There are three good shorts, too.—J. B.

BIG SIX HEADS SLICE BUDGETS AT MEET

Dr. H. H. King, faculty representative from Kansas State, was elected to succeed the late Dean S. W. Beyer of Iowa State as the Big Six representative to the National Collegiate Amateur Athletic association.

The request of Missouri to play a ninth football game next season was granted as was a request of Nebraska to play Southern Methodist university at Dallas, December 3, 1932.

One important problem was settled when it was decided to use electric timers patterned after the one at Nebraska at all gridirons. The field judge has always had the job of holding the watch, but as that official has enough to do without being timekeeper, the timing will hereafter be done by official timers seated on the sidelines.

The indoor track and field meet will be held at Brewer Field house, Columbia, March 12; the outdoor meet at Lincoln, May 20 and 21; and the swimming meet at the new University of Nebraska pool in Lincoln.

The conference rule allowing three competitors in an indoor meet was revised so that only two may now compete. The number in outdoor competition was also decreased from five to four.

May Play Haskell. A decision was reached about Haskell's football status with Big Six institutions. It was decided that Haskell can play any member of the conference in any sport if that member desires to play.

A proposal was made to combine the Missouri-Kansas indoor meet in Convention hall at Kansas City with the annual Kansas City Athletic club relays but no action was taken on it.

As many schools are dropping their relays since they have failed consistently to make expenses, the Kansas university athletic board has not as yet decided to stage the annual Kansas relays.

The schedules in tennis, baseball, and cross country will be made at the regular March meeting.

FARM AND HOME WEEK IN FEBRUARY

February 9, will draw poultrymen of the state, and February 10 will be dairy day. February 11, livestock raisers will convene, followed by a special day, February 12, for all crops growers.

Special home economics programs will be daily for women visitors. During the afternoon of February 11, the Kansas crop improvement association will hold its annual meeting, followed by luncheon in the evening.

Evening features include the combined program of home economics and taxation, February 9; better homes and communities with illustrated talks on rural homes and attractive surroundings, February 10, with the livestock show the following day.

The program this year will stress the international, national, and state outlook toward consumption of each major farm commodity which will be followed by the latest improved practices in production and marketing developed by the experiment station and field workers of the state.

As usual, the climax of the week will be the achievement banquet the evening of February 12 in Thompson hall, at which will be the official presentation of the Kansas Master Farmers. Prize winners in corn production, beef and pork production, poultry improvement, and dairying contests will be named at the banquet.

CAGE SQUAD AT K. U. PREPARES FOR K. S.

Jayhawkers Strengthened by Addition of Four From Football Squad.

Lawrence, Kans., Dec. 10.—Strengthened by the addition of Page, Bausch, Rost and Casini from the football squad, the University of Kansas basketball team this week began practice for the opening of the basketball season with the game against Kansas Aggies here Friday evening. Because Coach F. C. Allen was in Kansas City discussing with other athletic directors of the Big Six the problem of curtailment of minor sports activities, Forrest Cox was in charge of practice. He spent most of the time of the early practice acquainting the men who had been out for football with the new plays devised by Doctor Allen for this year's court games.

One combination that worked especially well in early practice was Bausch and Page as guards, William Johnson as center, and Harrington and O'Leary as forwards.

Passing showed some improvement over that of earlier practice sessions.

M'MILLIN ON PROGRAM EL DORADO BANQUET

Coach Accompanied by Seven K-Aggie Squad Members From El Dorado.

A. N. "Bo" McMillin was the principal speaker at the annual football banquet given by the El Dorado high school in El Dorado last night. McMillin was accompanied to El Dorado by Oss Maddox and Carl "Swede" Anderson of the Kansas State athletic department and the seven squad members from El Dorado.

McMillin gave the high school football squad an insight into the ways of college football and at the same time set a splendid example for the boys to follow when he praised the work of Ralph ("The Rammer") Graham, a former El Dorado high school football player.

Other Kansas State football squad members who went to El Dorado with McMillin were Harry Hsler, Dan Blaine, Glen Harsh, Elden Teter, Kenneth Harter and Emmet Breen.

The former El Dorado high school players were guests of honor at the banquet.

BARNETT IS REELECTED.

The third and fourth pre-season practice games will be played between Kansas State and Kansas university tomorrow night when Coach C. W. Corsaut will match his "A" and "B" teams against similar teams coached by Dr. F.
C. Allen. The outcome of the games will have no bearing on the final standings of the teams.

E. C. ("Quig") Quigley will officiate during both games. In these two games a man can compete only in one game or on one team. If the coach uses a player in the first game, he will not be allowed to compete in the second game.

Kansas will come to Manhattan

It is expected that Corsaut will use practically the same teams he used against K. U. last Friday night. His "A" team was composed of Brockway and Skradski, forwards; Dalton, center, and Auker and Fairbank, guards. The "B" team lineup was made up of Harsh and Hanson, forwards; Weybrew, guards.

Harfield's department store, Duff and Repp furniture store, Donnelly garment company, and the James china shop were visited by the girls in the house furnishings class and the costume design class in Kansas City, Friday.

A fashion show, prepared especially for the girls in these classes was given at Harfield's and a tour through the Donnelly garment company showed how Nelly Don dresses were made, from the designing,
through the cutting and sewing, to the finished product.

Period furniture and modern textiles were the chief objects of interest at the Duff and Repp furniture company. At the James china store different types of glassware, china, silver, and pewter were explained.

Miss Carrie Weber of the art department had charge of the trip and accompanied the girls. Those making the trip were: Vivian Albright, Netawaka; Gersilda Guthrie Jettmore; Geraldine Freeman, Hamilton; Lois Windate, Nickerson;
Elizabeth Keegan, Great Bend; La
Faun Astle, Hutchinson; Catharine Zink, Lincoln; Bertha Barre, Tampa; Audrey Cramer, Webster. Ruth Crawford, Burns; Maxine Blankenship, Downs; Elizabeth Songster, Wellington; Harrel Porter, Parsons;
Mary Kelley, Winfield; Mary Holten, Manhattan; Helen Davis, Topeka; Justina Kroeker, Hutchinson; Leona Tibbets, Westmoreland;
Golds Young, Manhattan; Bertha Cook, Effingham; Emma Rathbone, Helen Hughes, Manhattan; Katherine Reid, Manhattan; and Vera Martin, Hastings, Nebr.

GAPEN WRITES ARTICLE.
Former Student Here Author of Feature in "The Quill".

The Quill, the official publication of Sigma Delta Chi, in its December issue carries a feature article written by Kenneth Gapen, who graduated from Kansas State in 1930. The article is entitled
"One Way to Specialization," and is an article about the opportunities in radio for trained newspaper
men.

Gapen while attending Kansas
State college was enrolled in agriculture, but majored in journalism.
He was affiliated with the radio station while a student and since his removal to the University of Wisconsin where he is now enrolled as a graduate student, he is also taking extensive work in radio announcing and generalship.

J. P. Campbell, McCracken, went to Lincoln, Nebr., Saturday.

will speak at the last assembly
before Christmas holidays, Friday, December 18, on the subject, "My Pet Aversion—Paternalism."

Tinscher is a former member of the Kansas legislature and is now a prominent attorney.
He has a daughter, Corine, who is a student at Kansas State.

COACHEL TO SPEAK HERE.

Will Talk to Journalists.

Weekly Kansas City Star, and manager of the Sni-A-Bar farms at Grain Valley, Mo., which are owned by the Star, has been scheduled to speak in the journalism seminar for January 7.

Mr. Coachel was formerly head of the animal husbandry department of this college.

and speaker at a dinner in Thompson hall tonight for the home economics staff.

BEN GREET PLAYERS GO OVER BIG WITH AUDIENCES

Shakespearean Dramas Score a Hit; Casts Prove Exceptional;
Crowds Appreciative.

"As You Like It," a sparkling comedy, and "Macbeth," the tragedy of a man betrayed by his own ambition, were the presentations of the noted Ben Greet players before two appreciative audiences in the college auditorium yesterday.

In both performances masterly acting characterized the plays of Shakespeare, the master playwright.
Ben Greet, in his parts as Jacques in "As You Like It," and as the drunken porter and as the doctor in "Macbeth" drew applause at each appearance.

Russell Thorndike turned in a superb performance as Macbeth, his able handling and clear articulation making the familiar role clear at all times. He was equally appreciated as Touchstone, a clown, in
"As You Like It."

When Llewellyn as Lady Macbeth was a brilliant performer. Her interpretation of the difficult sleep walking scene held the audience spellbound throughout.

The simplicity of the stage settings, a characteristic of Ben Greet productions, also added to the inspiration and sincerity of the dramas.

Large audiences attended both of the performances of the Ben Greet actors and Shakespeare is more real and more glowing today as a result of their productions in Manhattan.

K-AGGIES RANK HIGH IN ESSAY CONTEST

Three Students Place in National Competition Sponsored by Saddle
And Siroin Club.

Three K-Aggie students ranked high in the national essay contest held by the national Saddle and Siroin club, according to F. E.
Charles of the journalism department. The winners were students in agricultural journalism and wrote on the subject "The Significance of the Junior Live Stock
Club."

The members placing in the contest were Dallas Alsop, Pittsburg, tenth; L. A. Jacobson, Horton, fifteenth; and Leland Sloan, Leavenworth, twentieth.

Iowa State college won the school event, having the highest number of placing contestants. The large cup trophy will become the permanent possession of the school winning it three times and at present Kansas State is the only school that can boast of two signatures on the trophy.

WITHDRAWN FROM COLLEGE.

Mildred Roberts, Formoso, have withdrawn from college for the remainder of this semester.

HOLD TAX HEARING SOON

In a letter to the Collegian
C. E. Vance, Garden City attorney, advised that the matter of the hearing in the tax case would not be taken up until the first of the year.
Vance has been appointed by the supreme court to sit as commissioner to hear the cases and determine the facts and law.

Faculty Remains Sullenly Silent When Asked To Retaliate On Student Opinions

Scarlet student sins as suggested by professors include: unnecessary tardiness, yawning—or worse yet—sleeping in class, an attitude of "watchful waiting" for any laughable mistake an instructor may inadvertently make, an obvious air of toleration for the instructor, and smart alecky attempts at humor at inappropriate moments.

One professor wittily and rather heatedly observed, "It fairly makes me boil when I think I'm being so interesting and presenting such valuable material to my class—strewing pearls from my years of practical experience and research right and left as it were—and then have some student open his face in a huge yawn!"

Some Weep For Grades.
Another thing that rubs all the instructors wrong is this habit some coeds have of weeping for grades.

"You'd be surprised," one young instructor remarked, "how many fellows pull the sob line, too!"
Fraternity and sorority members

are particularly violent offenders along about initiation time. This business of asking for a grade simply on the grounds that, "I need it to get initiated," doesn't go so well.

Others Are Too Casual.
"It doesn't make any difference to me whether they get initiated or remain a pledge for years," declared one professor who has been besieged several times. "If the student does the work, he gets the grade. If he is casual and haphazard about getting his work done,
the grade is apt to be equally casual."

Few of the instructors were willing to deal in personalities or to make too specific comments. Comments containing valuable bits of information it would behoove the students to note are:

Attitude Makes Difference.
"The thing I notice first about a student is his attitude toward the information I am giving him—whether he is really interested in the knowledge for its own sake—or for the grade he rates at the end of the course."

"—and then there is the sorority members of which are known to the majority of the faculty members as 'grade-grabbers.' These girls make a practice of sitting on the front seats, mouths open to absorb any wisdom which might possibly be floating about. They rarely think, and wonder why mere parroting of the textbook material fails to bring the desired grades."

Complexes Irritate Some.
"These people with 'persecution complexes' are almost insulting, inferring as they do that the instructor is so narrow-minded and small that he cannot overlook personalities."

"Just as some business men and teachers try to ride through on their personalities, so some students depend on their magnetic personalities to get them through courses.
It is hard to withstand such students, because they are so likeable,

but just the same they are extremely irritating, too."

Personal Habits Maddening.

"I've had but one student who could ruffle me to any extent. She was one of these high powered Phi Kappa Phis, and did her work well
—but she insisted upon climbing all over her lab stool, and she nearly drove me nuts." N. B. Beware these irritating personal habits!

Faculty Turns Coolidge.

"The type of student I dislike most to find in my classes is the 'small town' smart aleck who wants to be noticed."

"I find less cheating in classes
each year."

"Courtesy seems to be coming back into vogue again. Perhaps it's the Eugene rage. Whatever the cause, the faculty sings praises."

Most of the faculty seem to agree with the professor who said, "Like President Coolidge, I feel that the things I say get me in more trouble than the things I don't say, so I think I'll be discreetly silent."

TANK SQUADS TRAIN FOR COMING SEASON

Big Six Swimming Meet To Be Held At Nebraska This Year.

Varsity swimming prospects are better this year than for some time
as a much larger squad is reporting and more material is available, according to C. S. Moll, swimming coach. The Big Six conference swimming meet will be held in Nebraska's new tank this year on March 5.

Returning lettermen this season
include D. E. West, Hartford, sprint and relay man; Max Poekle, Ottawa, breast stroke and medley relay; and Arthur Baxter, Little River, distance swims. Former varsity squad men returning this year are W. B. Snodgrass, Manhattan, backstroke; L. E. Boley, Topeka, distance swims and relay; and A.
I. Mall, Manhattan, distance swims.

New candidates for the varsity are L. G. Montre, Topeka, sprints; Don Grammer, Junction City,
sprints, diving, and relay; Raymond Spilman, Manhattan, sprints; Hayden Phillips, Salina, breast stroke; and Dale Dixon, Norcatur, breast stroke.

Freshman swimmers will practice with the varsity this year in preparation for future competition and to give the varsity practice against competition. Some of the outstanding freshman swimmers are Joe Creed, Bartlesville, Okla., sprints and breast stroke;
Roland Huggins, Burdick, diving;
Leslie Murphy, Galena, sprints; Bill Justice, Hill City, distance swims; Walter Wakelin, Los Angeles, Calif., all free-style swims; John Held, Ottawa, sprints and diving; Martin Henderson, Topeka, backstroke; Wesley Kefer, Ramsay, Mo., free-style; and Buck Chambers, Icard, and Berez, utility swimmers.

Iowa State won the Big Six swimming meet last year, with Nebraska second, Kansas third, Oklahoma fourth, Kansas State fifth, and Missouri sixth. Events competed in are 60-yd. free-style, 100-yd. free-style, 150-yd. back stroke, 200-yd. breast-stroke, 220-yd. free-style, diving, free-style relay, and medley relay.

ADDRESSES DEBATORS.

Professor Faulkner Talks on Relationship of Faculty and Students.

Prof. J. O. Faulkner, of the department of English, addressed the active and alumni members of Pi Kappa Delta, debating fraternity,
at a dinner at the Wareham hotel
Friday evening.

Professor Faulkner's talk was on the relationship of faculty and students. In his talk Professor Faulkner said, "I am convinced that a very large majority of college students would bear acquaintance of their professors might well outside the classroom. Students, with few exceptions, develop merely as students; and upon college graduation
look upon the college and campus
as their world, aside from the social and business of which they have not yet become a part." Professor Faulkner left the group with this question: "Would the tradition of a freer and closer relationship between students and professors be a worthwhile one?"

APPLE JUDGES COMPETE.

The apple judging contest for all advanced students of horticulture will be held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, December 18, in the Horticulture department. The reason for this contest is that the team has no intercollegiate competition.

TO GIVE LAST BOOK REVIEW

Prof. H. W. Davis Will Discuss Works by Strachey, Tuesday Evening.

Prof. H. W. Davis will present the last of a series of lectures given by members of the English department, Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in recreation center. Professor Davis will discuss "Eminent Victorians" and "Portraits in Miniature" by Giles Lytton Strachey, making incidental reference to Mr.
Strachey's "Elizabeth and Essex," and "Queen Victoria."

Lytton Strachey has done more than any living writer to turn the current of biography. Although he is more of a hero-destroyer than hero-worshipper, he has his sympathies, and with a peculiar artistry he makes his characters seem very much alive and human.

His early writing did not excite much comment. Publishers rejected his "Eminent Victorians" until one saw its value and made it a best seller within a few weeks.
Biographic writing changed its trend at that time.

Mr. Strachey prefers his people to be just human beings and the irony which he uses is not bitter and unpleasant.

KEITH TO CONVENTIONS.

Prof. E. T. Keith will go to Minneapolis, Minn., during the holidays to attend two journalism conventions, which will be held December 27-30. One is the American association of schools and departments of journalism and the other is the American association of teachers of journalism.

N-i-b-b-l-i-n-g-s

The most disgusting scene of the week end was the one which the intoxicated young man presented at the military ball. His actions were the only mar at the only all-school formal function of the year.

The student cadets deserve a lot of complimentary things
said to them about that dance.
It was one of the best ever.

Three collegians decided they needed a tree to improve the Christmas atmosphere around their rooming house.
When coming through Aggieville last Sunday night they picked one up from in front of one of the Aggieville shops.

From out of the cold and moonlight night came the sounds of Christmas carols.
The Pi Beta Phi chapter braved the elements Sunday night and went a-singing to the fraternity boys. It is an annual custom.

One student parking his car on the campus, came out of class and found a note attached to the steering wheel, "Don't Park Here," and signed "Prexy."

A mental image is immediately formed of the dignified president of this institution running from car to car with little notes for those who park where they shouldn't.

Just another one of those so-called jokers.
Burr Smith and an assistant in the English department office, made a white flower and tacked it to the door of Charley Matthews, with the little inscription "Lily White." Professor Matthews is one of the instructors found to be "white"

in the student census.

Rumor that all students must pay $1.00 for admittance to the basketball game Wednesday night with K. U. is unfounded says Frank Myers. All students will be admitted on their student activity tickets.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL INTO FINALS THIS WEEK

Winners in All But Two Groups Determined in Games
Last Night.

Intramural basketball is rapidly coming to a close as all but two of the games in the preliminary brackets have been played. The games played last week gave interesting results, with favorites pulling through with wins in nearly all games.

The results of last week's games are as follows: M. E. A. C. 33, Alpha Kappa Lambda 21; Aggie
Knights 30, Theta Xi 17; Apaches
40, Macks 18; White Shirts 30,
Lone Stars 4; Beta Theta Pi 2, Acacia 0, (forfeit); Phi Sigma Kappa 29, Lambda Chi Alpha 24; Delta Tau Delta 2, Alpha Rho Chi 0, (forfeit); Sigma Phi Epsilon 21,
Farm House 17; Alpha Gamma Rho
19, Sigma Nu 12; Kappa Sigma 16, Phi Kappa Tau 14; Alpha Tau Omega 25, Phi Kappa 10.

Six games were played last night,
determining group winners in all but two groups. In previously played games Beta Theta Pi has clinched the first group with four wins and no losses. In Group II Sigma Phi Epsilon remains unbeaten. The winner of Group III is undecided as yet, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, with three wins and one loss, leading the group, and Phi Delta Theta, which has won three games and lost none, having one more yet to play.

In a hard fought battle last night
Alpha Tau Omega defeated Kappa Sigma 21 to 20 to become winners
in Group IV.

Two teams are tied for the leadership of the fifth group, the Aggie Knights and M. E. A. C., each having won three games and lost one.
The M. E. A. C. outgated Theta
Xi to win 19 to 9 and tie the Aggie Knights. The White Shirts were the class of the sixth group, taking the measure of the Apaches 28 to 13.

The three other games played last night have no effect on the group winners. Alpha Kappa Lambda beat Phi Lambda Theta 12 to 11,
Phi Kappa won over Phi Kappa Tau 24 to 16, and the Athletics defeated the Macks 40 to 19.

Semi-final and final games will follow soon after the determination of the winners of the two undecided groups.

CONTEST MANAGER ELECTED.

C. G. Thompson To Plan Annual Event.

C. G. Thompson, Randolph, was elected manager of the fitting and showing contest, by members of the Dairy Club, in a meeting held December 1.

The fitting and showing contest,
which is sponsored by the Dairy club, will be held in connection with the annual Farm and Home week, in February. Last year about 50 students from the dairy department entered the contest.

WILL TALK TO STUDENTS.

Dr. Ada M. Field, formerly of the department of home economics at the University of California, Berkley, will explain a chromium plated standard measure laboratory spoon
Thursday, December 17, in L. 58.
This lecture is for seniors who expect to teach foods, institutional workers, and those interested in household equipment.

SOCCER FINALS SOON.

The semi-final and final soccer games which were to have been played last Saturday were again postponed because the fields were not in condition. These games will probably be played before the holidays.

Seaton G. O. P. Officer

Fred Seaton, Manhattan, a senior in journalism last year, was elected vice-president of the Young Republicans' club of Kansas. The meeting was held in Topeka, Saturday. Seaton was prominent in activities while on the hill. He is publicity director of the athletic department and sports radio announcer over station KSAC. He is associate publisher of the Mercury-Chronicle.

TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE.

Chi Omega will hold open house tonight for townspeople, faculty and students, from 7:00 o'clock to 10:30 o'clock at its new home, 1803 Anderson street.

MILITARY BALL STANDS OUT AS MOST BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Marjorie Lyles Elected Honorary Colonel With Majors For Each Battalion.

An atmosphere of distinct formality prevailed along with the precise correctness of the seventh annual military ball as the affair ushered in the winter season last Saturday night at the Wareham ballroom. Marjorie Lyles, Saffordville, was elected honorary colonel of the Kansas State R. O. T. C. unit.

The announcement of the honorary field officers preceded the grand march which was led by Cadet Colonel A. L. Reed. The three majors elected are: Isabelle Porter, Stafford, major of first battalion; Leora Light, Liberal, major of second battalion; and Dora Dean Dunn, Phillipsburg, major of third battalion.
All four girls are physical education students.

The ballroom was effectively decorated with machine guns and sabers, festooned overhead with Christmas wreaths. Margaret Hughes and Virginia Shafer, Manhattan, acted as pages. The four honorary officers were given beautiful corsages of roses.

These four girls were chosen from the ten candidates for honorary field officers by freshmen and sophomores in the R. O. T. C. They will take part in the annual review of the R. O. T. C. next spring.

Guests at the ball were Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Harger, Brigadier General and Mrs. A. G. Lott, Lieut. Colonel and Mrs. J. S. Sullivan, Major and Mrs. T. O. Humphreys, Major and Mrs. H. E. Van Tuyl, Captain and Mrs. Ellisworth Young, Captain and Mrs. W. A. Swift, Captain and Mrs. I. E. Ryder, Lieutenant and Mrs. J. H. Madison, Lieutenant and Mrs. H. H. Myrah, Lieutenant and Mrs. R. E. Marshall, Dean Rodney W. Babcock, Dean R. A. Seaton, and Dean Mary P. Van Zile.

MRS. G. J. BOUGHNER TENDERS RESIGNATION

Helen Hostetter Will Take Her Place on Journalism Faculty;
Rogers Leave Is Extended.

The resignation tendered by Mrs.
Genevieve Jackson Boughner, assistant professor in the journalism department, was accepted by the board of regents at their recent meeting here. Mrs. Boughner's resignation will become effective January 31. She will be succeeded by Miss Helen P. Hostetter, a member of the journalism faculty here from 1926 to 1928.

Miss Hostetter is a graduate of Northwestern university and has taught English for the past three years in Lingnan university, Canton, China. She has also attended the Mexico school of journalism.

Prof. C. E. Rogers, head of the journalism department, who is taking graduate work toward his doctor's degree at Leland Stanford university, received permission to extend his leave of absence from June 30 to September 8.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

Today's issue of the Collegian is the last to appear before the Christmas holidays. The Collegian staff extends to all students and faculty members the most hearty wishes for a Merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

TREES SPARKLE IN EVIDENCE OF YULETIDE SPIRIT

RECREATION CENTER, CALVIN
HALL RECEIVE CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS.

GREEKS DRESS UP HOUSES

Plan Dinners for Students Remaining Here—Officers Vacation Begins Saturday Night at 8 O'Clock.

With vacation less than a week
away, Christmas spirit is permeating Kansas State. Cedar sprays, red ribbon bows, and holly are decorating recreation center and Calvin hall in keeping with the season.
And Christmas carols ring out in the frosty air when the Pi Phi's go serenading.

Many college students took advantage of the opportunity to see Santa Claus last week, and although most of them looked on with cynical smiles, perhaps a few of them whispered in the good saint's ear, for even college students aren't so grown up at Christmas.

Organizations Decorate.
Fraternity and sorority members
and pledges, especially the pledges, have decorated their chapter houses on the exterior and interior
in keeping with the holiday season.
Many lighted Christmas trees sparkle on the lawns of the houses, while inside smaller trees are placed in the spacious rooms.

THE COLLEGIAN'S BEST WISHES.

Every newspaper in the country will write a Christmas editorial wishing its readers a Merry Christmas and a happy New Year. Every newspaper in the country has written a similar editorial since time immemorial. This newspaper like all the rest, extends to you the same wishes and greetings and feels unnecessary repetition of the same sayings would be superfluous. Anyway, happy holidays.

IT'S ALL YOURS FOR THE ASKING.

This week when Kansas State faculty members were asked what they thought about this and that student, most of them declined to make any statements concerning individuals, but had plenty to say about the student body as a whole. A few of those who disapprove of the Collegian's series of stories on student and faculty opinion, firmly stated they did not care to express themselves.

As with the faculty series of stories, the Collegian thought criticism should and would be beneficial to the student if it was given in the proper spirit. Faculty members however, believed parents and friends of the students mentioned would become more than a little irritated at any professor who would dare say anything uncomplimentary about any of his students. Consequently, the professors didn't talk as the Collegian wished them to, and as a result the story appearing in today's Collegian is not exactly as the Collegian had planned it to be.

If the student body as a whole will take the criticism given on this front page, and apply it to themselves, they would probably no doubt trace the source of their low scholastic standing and remove that source.

If they do, the article has accomplished its purpose.

— The Snoopers —

We've been informed that the disarmament vote taken last week had no intention of creating "a stir on the serene surface of daily life." That part, although hidden, was the feature—it's the first election that didn't attempt to make some sort of a rumble. And it got the opinions of 23 per cent of the student body, by cracky!

Animals of Scabbard and Blade came in for a sound trouncing last Thursday night when they could get no further than the half way mark in the Star Spangled Banner while serenading. Brick Garrison, animal No. 7, spent most of his time at the A. D. P. party Friday night in saluting his superior officers.

Another pack, this time three, wound up a night during the week end emitting long-drawn nasal howls under windows of sorority house dormitories. Meeting with little success and many Bronx cheers, they hiccupped on their way.

After watching the grand march at the military ball we've decided that the co-eds are a trifle rusty on their military tactics. However, the affair was beautiful and impressive and clocked off with customary military precision.

Bob Wallerstedt hung up a new record at the same affair for ballroom flips. A determined pair hit him amidst and knocked him flat while he was threading his way alone from the dance floor to the safety zone on the side lines.

June Layton and his boys burst forth at the army hooperdoo with a brand new novelty number. Dick Gossett apparently left all his brains home on the dresser when he assumed a facial expression that had the hunchback of Notre Dame backed off the map. And Sid Robinson abandoned his characteristic monotone to plead with the public to "to save my soul."

Incidentally, the banjo-strumming Gossett has only about one more rung to ascend to reach the level of that modulating marvel, Bing Crosby.

Upon emerging from a morning class last week, Max Wickham was heard to voice a caustic muttering that "There's debits and credits all over the dang building."

A news note reveals that authorities at the University of North Dakota stopped a "most kissable lips" contest the students had under way. The monkey wrench tossed in the gears could no doubt be traced to somebody who lost out in the election of judges.

One faculty member has complimented the Collegian upon its timeliness. The edition containing the first installment of the "black list" came out the day the board of regents were here. Another has suggested that the entire staff take a trip to the infernal regions!

Judge For Yourself

The "Collegian" requested that I state my opinion concerning my students.

I have found the greater number of them industrious, interested and gentlemanly. In a professional school the instructor knows that it is his duty to equip the student with the knowledge and technical skill so necessary in earning a living.

If those very few students who display indifference or antagonism find the going rough, it is because the instructor believes that in their indifference, they will not be able to survive the vigorous competition of a highly specialized art. In these men the standards of architecture and the good name of the school are at stake.

In appreciate the kind request that I publish an unsigned statement. If the "Collegian" expects me to indulge in anonymous slander, I hope the staff will not be too greatly disappointed.—Linus Burr Smith.

We of the disarmament committee desire to give our thanks to those students who expressed their opinion during the recent balloting upon this most important question.

It was rather interesting to note the query in the "Judge for Yourself" column as to where one might actually obtain the opinion of Kansas State students in regard to any question. It was stated that when it comes to printing candid opinions, apparently all students are ready to take a step—backward, and implies that students signed the disarmament petitions purely because others were doing it.

While the former statement is true in many cases, we do not believe that such was the case in regard to the latter. I, personally, can state approximately 175 to 200 students refused to vote on disarmament on the ground that they did not know anything about it. This number represents a group equal to more than a quarter of those who did vote, and might well be used as an argument for the necessity of general student education along the lines of current history. We do feel though, that many were almost afraid to express themselves, although there could be no reason for such a course.

While the election did not create "a stir upon the serene surface of daily life," such was not its purpose—it did definitely express the opinions of at least 23 per cent of the active students, and therefore we feel that the work should be carried on.

At its last meeting, the committee proposed that we organize deputations (similar to those already established at Pittsburgh) which would endeavor to concentrate student and public attention upon the importance of this question, and this proposal will be decided upon immediately after the Christmas vacation. In the meantime, we urge everyone interested, to act as the nucleus of accurately informed groups upon the subject, so that the work may go forward, and again we say—Thank You!—F. W. Hill.

LIONIZING OUR ATHLETES.

Recently, the editor of the "Columbia Spectator," the college paper of Columbia university, was threatened by two of the university football players if he continued to write editorials against football and depreciating the efforts of the football players.

This just goes to show to what extent college football players think themselves above reproach, either on the football field or on the campus. They believe that if they do a good piece of work on the field that everyone should praise them and look over anything that they might do off of the field.

The attitude of the Columbia Spectator, is that football has been exploited too much and is becoming a semi-professional racket. The editorial program of the Spectator is for the complete eradication of football from intercollegiate sports.

It is certainly true that football players and also other lionized college athletes have an opinion of themselves that is far above what it should be. Nevertheless intercollegiate sports should not be done away with because of this fact. Athletes are not the only ones to suffer from swelled heads. Other students have been known to suffer from the same ailment.

But, because athletes are so much in the public eye, and as human beings, are susceptible to publicity and notoriety they are the most picked-on group of college individuals. Why not give them their due? They work hard and suffer much during any season. The least thing that we can do is to let them glory in what praise they do receive.—H.W.A.

Sport squibs

The chances are that a ukelele craze will hit the University of Oklahoma campus after the Christmas holidays. Their football team left Tulsa last Saturday morning for Honolulu where they have two games with the University of Hawaii. One game will be played Christmas Day and the other on New Year's Day.

Idle wonder for the week: Wonder what Pete Fairbank or Harry Hasler would do if surrounded by a bevy of hula-hula dancers?

"Hank" Cronkite was released from the college hospital yesterday after being confined for a week because of the injury to his left ankle. "Doc" Selver has Hank's ankle all plastered up in a cast, and on crutches, of course.

Cronkite was again honored last week by being named on the NEA all-American football team. That "NEA" means Newspaper Enterprise association.

The annual embroglio between the Aggieville Avengers and the Downtown Demons, played last Saturday in Memorial stadium, ended in a scoreless tie. Several former Kansas State stars played, but neither side was able to get their powerhouses into motion.

One of the Downtown players, a member of the police force, managed to come out of the fray with a cauliflower ear. No other injuries were reported.

Kansas State's basketball team defeated the Washburn college quintet last night in a pre-season tilt at Topeka last night. The final score was 29 to 24.

The Wildcats, except for a short time at the start of the second half, led the Ichabods all the way.

The K-Aggies appeared to be rounding into condition, with the possible exception of Dalton, who has not as yet hit his stride and who had some difficulty in getting his wind.

Skradski and Brockway tied in scoring for the Wildcats with six points each, with Dalton following them closely with five. Every member of the Wildcat team who entered the battle succeeded in scoring a field goal, and all but Breen scored a free throw.

Boyd, forward for the Ichabods, was the high scorer of the game with 15 points to his credit. Two of his field goals were sunk from almost mid-court. His floor work was good and he appeared to be in mid-season form.

Washburn started the scoring with a free throw and added another before the K-Aggies could get going. The Corsautmen soon found themselves, and sunk several baskets in succession to lead 13-12 as the first half ended.

Washburn was first to score at the start of the second half and gained a three-point lead before the K-Aggies broke through the Ichabod defense, or several minutes thereafter both teams put up a spirited battle to get the lead.

ENROLL IN SHORT COURSE

Registration Is Slightly Below That of Last Year

Registration for the Farmers' Short Course eight-week term was held yesterday in Anderson hall.
The number of students this year is somewhat smaller than that of last year, according to Hugh Durham, assistant dean of the division of agriculture which sponsors the courses. Twenty-nine were enrolled late yesterday.

The work given in the short term school is of a highly practical nature. A certificate is issued to students completing two terms of the required work or making a total of 40 hours credit. The school is open to all students above 17 years of age and there are no entrance requirements.

PAVING PROJECT FINISHED

The paving of the driveway west of Nichols' gymnasium and Calvin hall was finished during the Christmas vacation. The new paving extends from Anderson avenue northward to Anderson hall, and includes two circular driveways leading up by the doors of the gymnasium and Calvin hall. This work was done by laborers recruited from the ranks of the unemployed by the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, while the materials were furnished by the college.

STUDENT ASSEMBLY FRIDAY

Manhattan high school students will have charge of student assembly which will be held at the auditorium at 10:15 o'clock Friday, January 8.
"The Great Stone Face," a pageant written by Lucile Fuller and Ellen Payne, will be presented. The pageant is appropriate to the feeling of the beginning of a new year creates.
The next student assembly
will be Wednesday, January 13.
Dr. William T. Foster, distinguished economist, is to be the speaker. His topic is, "East is East and West is West." Following this assembly, there are no more scheduled for January due to final examinations and the beginning of second semester. Dr. J. E. Kammeyer, chairman of the committee of public exercises, announces.

WHAT PRICE ROYAL PURPLE QUEENS SAYS SORORITIES

For $5 the Privilege of Entering a Candidate in the Beauty Contest Is Granted—No Limit Placed.

In order to have more nominations from which to choose the five beauty queens whose pictures will appear in the 1932 Royal Purple, rules of the beauty contest have been changed so that organizations may enter one girl by paying a fee of $5, according to James Chapman, editor of the yearbook.
Sororities which sold books during the sales contest in October will be credited 25 cents for every book sold so that they earn one nomination with each twenty books. This is the same as the original plan except that those organizations which were unable to sell sufficient books to make nominations still have a chance to enter one of their members in the contest.

"We believe that more candidates mean a fairer contest," said the editor. "From many girls
we will be better able to choose the one most truly beautiful. This year there will be two distinct contests. One set of judges will choose from photographs of the contestants. The other will select the most outstanding of the group
as they appear in person."
Candidates are being chosen in sorority houses and Van Zile hall now and the final selections will be determined by Saturday, January 9. Nominations for the most popular man and woman, best liked student, and most popular athlete will be made later.

Tessie Agan, instructor in home economics, spent the holidays at St. Edward, Nebr., visiting relatives and friends.

which reminds one that this is leap year, and that there are more single women on the college faculty than there are men. . . . Heaven help 'em. . . .
Six students in the general science division were suspended from college over the vacation, with the suspension to become effective yesterday. . . . Pennats Pratt's relatives have been giving the boy a bad time of it since his return from the Student National conference in Toledo last week where he was reported by the newspapers as making a motion to repeal the Eighteenth amendment. Pratt earnestly denies making such a motion, although he says he and Zeke Sullivan both feel prohibition as it now stands is not satisfactory in their estimations. Zeke and Peanut's changed name cards the day
all the activity occurred in Toledo, and as a result Pratt was Sullivan and Sullivan was Pratt
in all the news reports. . . .
one student rightfully expresed it when she said, "If you don't like Kansas weather, just wait a minute. . . ."

R. Ewing, Topeka, will have the affirmative side of the question for Kansas State while Donald Gentry, Manhattan, and R. C. Munson, Junction City, will discuss the negative.

To Discuss Russia

Larned, and Mary Lou Clark, Burr
Oak, will broadcast a debate over radio station KSAC with Kansas university on the Russian question.

Kansas City station, on centralized control of industry on January 24.
On January 30 Kansas State will

LIVESTOCK JUDGES WORK ON CONTEST

Twelve Men Practice During Vacation for Annual Meet in Denver, January 16

Twelve men spent the last two days of their vacation hard at work practicing for the junior livestock judging team which will compete in Denver January 16.

In last year's competition Robert Blair from Kansas State was high individual for the contest and the Kansas State team won second place. By taking first place three times teams from this school have permanently won one trophy and have twice placed first for the present cup.

The men who are working out under the direction of Prof. F. W. Bell are Earl Coulter, Willis; A. E. Miller, Cottonwood Falls; L. R. Daniels, St. Francis; C. G. Page, Norton; A. C. Thomson, McCune; F. H.
Seybe, Pretty Prairie; H. A. Dally,
Waverly; O. F. Denton, Denton;
G. R. Munson, Junction City; H.
W. Clutter, Larned; E. S. Sullivan,

mission groups in their last discussion on "Men and Women."
Tuesday night at 7:15 o'clock in Calvin hall. Jeannette Moser, Blue Rapids, and Dorothy Blackman, Manhattan, will assist in leading the discussions.

Barbara Brubaker, Manhattan,

and Vera Kellogg, Herington, are the cabinet members who are responsible for freshman commission.

TO PRESS MEETINGS

R. I. Thackrey, E. T. Keith, and F. E. Charles of the journalism department will attend the meeting of the Kansas Press association in Wichita January 15 and 16. On January 16 Professor Charles will conduct a news-writing school for the Sedgewick county 4-H club reporters.

COLLEGIAN STAFF CHANGES.

Paul Dittmore is Elected Business Manager of College Paper.

Paul Dittmore, Manhattan, was elected business manager of the Collegian for the remaining of the first semester at a meeting held by the Collegian Board Monday morning. Dittmore's election followed the resignation of Harold Hofmann, Manhattan.

Ralph Van Camp, Council Grove,
was selected assistant business manager by Dittmore.

INVALID ATHLETES IMPROVE.

Henry Cronkite's ankle, which was fractured in the Wichita university football game, has improved much during the holidays and is now out of its cast.
Adolph Haba, another member of the football squad who was injured is at home in East St. Louis, where he was sent just before Christmas vacation.

TEN MINUTES ALLOWED FOR CLASSES TO PASS

New Ruling Goes Into Effect Next Semester—Action Taken by Council of Deans.

Students next semester will have a full ten minutes in which to pass between classes, due to a recent ruling by the Council of Deans. Under the new regulation the bell will ring for one full minute starting ten minutes before the hour. Each class must be dismissed before that bell stops ringing.

The action followed a recommendation made by the faculty of the general science division, of which R. W. Babcock is dean, and a campaign launched by the Collegian.

Five minutes after the bell dismissing the class, there will be a warning bell, and five minutes after that, the bell signaling the start of the next hour.

It is believed that the new system of bells will remedy the difficulty of professors holding class-too long, which has been experienced in the past. The longer interval between classes will give students a better opportunity for consultation with their instructors.
It will also remove the cause of much tardiness by giving plenty of time for students to get to their next classes.

TO CELEBRATE FOUNDERS DAY

Recognize 69th Birthday of College
February 16

There is a romantic story of struggle and triumph behind the 69 years of the existence of Kansas State college, the birthday of which will be celebrated for the first time on Founders' day, February 16.
Alumnae of the college will gather to acclaim its age and to reminisce about its past. The first annual radio program will be broadcast over station KSAC from 10:15 until 2 o'clock.

In 1863 Kansas State college was first founded on its present site.
Its growth was so inhibited by its location, by insufficient finances,
and by rival colleges that at the end of 10 years there were only 15 alumnae. Kansas State has overcome these difficulties, however,
and in its 69th year, 1931, 424 students received B. S. degrees and 91 received masters' degrees.

Charlotte H. Swanson returned to her duties as professor of fine arts at Albion college, Albion, Michigan, Saturday night after spending the Christmas vacation
at the home of her parents, Dr.
and Mrs. C. O. Swanson. Miss Swanson received her B. S. degree from Kansas State in '26, and her A. M. from the University of Chicago in '27.

Distracted Oregon Man Asks Advice About His 'Damned' Kansas Farm

"If this damned farm was your farm instead of my farm, what would you do with it?" An Oregon man who owns a Kansas "crick bottom" farm asks that question in a letter to Prof. R. I. Throckmorton of the agronomy department at Kansas State.

The writer explains that he raised wheat last year, sold it at 30 cents per bushel, and put the money in a bank which promptly closed. Now he is selling furs in Oregon and is so desperate that he "would commit suicide for 50 cents, three for a dollar." The letter ends with, "I am raring to go but I don't know which way to go, how far to go,
or what to do after I get there."

After having deciphered the writing, which was done with a lead pencil on both sides of the sheets of paper, Professor Throckmorton hasn't announced his advice to the despairing land-owner.

MISS FANNIE DALE DIES.

Flag Flies at Half Mast For Valuable College Employee.

The flag was flown at half mast over Anderson hall yesterday for Miss Fanny Dale, for many years an employee of the business office at Kansas State, whose death occurred Friday. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon.

Miss Dale was secretary in the business office for the past 15 years. Previous to that period she was employed in the engineering division. She was graduated from the college in 1901.

FARRELL TO SPEAK

President P. D. Farrell will talk at the annual convention of the Kansas State Farm Bureau Wednesday on the subject "Know the Truth." On January 12 he will speak at the University of Illinois Farm and Home week. The title of his address will be "The Farm
as a Home."

SCIENTISTS CONVENE FOR MEET IN NEW ORLEANS

Twenty-Five Kansas State Faculty Members Attend Sessions of Various Societies

The convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, held at New Orleans last week, attracted 25 instructors and professors from the ranks of the Kansas State faculty.

The various groups in attendance met at New Orleans hotels and on the Tulane university campus for conferences and special dinners for individual societies. Kansas State people who appeared on the programs of various meetings were: R.
W. Babcock, J. E. Ackert, T. Mossdelegate of Phi Kappa Phi, was re-elected president of Gamma Alpha, graduate scientific fraternity. He attended meetings of the American Mathematical association, Phi Kappa Phi, and Gamma Alpha.

Doctor Ackert and O. H. Elmer attended the convention as delegates of Sigma Xi, graduate fraternity for the encouragement of research. Ackert attended sessions of the American Society of Parasitologists, Sigma Xi, the American Society of Zoologists, and was elected national secretary of the American Microscopic society in session for the fiftieth time. G. E.
Johnson went as secretary of the Kansas Academy of Science.

Those who attended were: W. T.
Stratton, R. D. Daugherty, T.
Mossman, Ina Holroyd, Madeline Avery, Charles Stratton, R. W.
Babcock, J. E. Ackert, R. K. Na-bours, R. C. Smith, G. E. Johnson,

NATIONAL CONCLAVES DRAW LOCAL GREEKS

Three Fraternities Hold Annual Conventions During Christmas Vacation—Nine Go From Here.

Kansas State students representing the local chapters of Phi Lambda Theta, Alpha Rho Chi and Delta Sigma Phi fraternities attended national conventions of the groups during the Christmas holidays.

Milton Zimmerman, Osborne;
Louis Schwanke, Alma; William Sills, Effingham; Russell Stewart, Lowmont; Hobart Blazdell, Sylvia returned Sunday from the State College of Pennsylvania where they attended a national convention of the Phi Lambda Theta fraternity.
Prof. F. L. Parrish, of the history department, was elected grand chaplain. The group visited Chicago, Illinois; Cleveland, Ohio; and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. The next convention is to be held in Manhattan next August.

C. L. Alberding, Kiowa, and A.
L. Reed, Cassoday, returned from Columbus, Ohio, Sunday evening where they attended the national convention of the Alpha Rho Chi fraternity at the Demetrius chapter there. The convention lasted from December 29 to January 2.
They visited Butler university at Indianapolis, University of Illinois at Champaign, University of Ohio at Columbus, and University of Missouri at Columbia.

Clarence Gatch and Harold Wright of the local chapter of Delta Sigma Phi attended the fraternity's national convention at Atlanta, Ga., during the holidays.
The convention met at the Bil-
more hotel there December 28, 29, and 30.

Gatch and Wright returned last Friday.

Prof. L. W. Hartel spent the vacation in Kearney, Mo.

KANSAS STATE FARES WELL IN ATHLETIC FIELD

ALL WILDCAT TEAMS FINISH SEASON FAR ABOVE AVER-AGE SET IN OTHER YEARS.

K. U. N. U. HIGH IN BIG SIX

All Conference Titles Change
Hands and are Equally Divided Among Six Member Schools.

A sports review of 1931 reveals Kansas and Nebraska gathering
the lion's share of honors in Big Six sports, with Kansas State winning one minor championship and placing high in other minor and major sports.

Nebraska placed first in football and indoor track and Kansas university won the basketball, outdoor track, and tennis championships.

Kansas State carried off wrestling honors, undefeated in Big Six competition. Iowa State regained the swimming title from Nebraska while Missouri and Oklahoma were co-champions of baseball.

Nebraska Re-Captures Title.

Under the expert coaching of Dana K. Bible, Nebraska won its second conference football championship in three years. No conference team defeated the Cornhuskers but games were lost to Northwestern and Pittsburgh in intersectional contests.

A highly rejuvenated Iowa State football team coached by a newcomer in Big Six circles, George F.
Veenker, was runner-up to Nebraska. The expert kicking of Dick Grefe was instrumental in winning several games for the Cyclones by a one-point margin.

Coach A. N. (Bo) McMillin turned out a successful Kansas State gridiron machine which won eight games and lost two, the two being crucial games lost to Iowa State and Nebraska. The Wildcats placed third in the conference.

Cronkite Stands Out.

Henry Cronkite, captain of the Purple Horde, proved to be one of the outstanding wing men of the nation, rating many All-America elections. His ability at end and drop kicking made him one of the greatest football players ever to wear the colors of Kansas State.
Naming other good performers would necessitate listing the entire Wildcat squad.

After winning the conference in 1930, Kansas university dropped to fourth place in 1931, winning only one conference game. Missouri and Oklahoma fared no better,
each winning only one of five conference titles to hold down the cellar position.

The most noticeable fact of the gridiron season was the tumble of gate receipts, dwindling 20 per cent under 1930 figures. In the decline of gate receipts, those of Kansas State fell off less than those of any other institution.

The Jayhawks added another conquest to their list by bagging
the basketball championship under the tutelage of "Phog" Allen.

Other Big Six schools finished in the following order: Nebraska, second; Kansas State, third; Missouri, fourth; Iowa State, fifth;
and Oklahoma, sixth.

The championship was only set-

GEMMELS INJURED IN CRASH

Car Accident Proves Painful to Mrs.

Gemmell and Daughter
Dr. George Gemmell is in Pittsburgh this week with his wife and nine year old daughter, Virginia, who were injured in an automobile accident December 27, in which six others were injured and Mrs. Gemmell's mother, Mrs. Nannie Smith, 74, was instantly killed. Mrs. Gemmell's injuries were reported severe but not dangerous, while Virginia was badly bruised. Both are confined in the Mt. Carmel hospital at Pittsburgh.

The accident occurred seven miles west of Pittsburgh as the party were on their way to Cherokee.
Mrs. Gemmell's brother, D. D.
Smith, was driving the automobile which collided with that of Floyd Murphy of Cherryvale. The Smith car was demolished. Both drivers were injured. Officers said Murphy would be held pending an investigation of a charge that he was driving too fast.

TO NATIONAL CONCLAVE

G. S. Fox, Rosel, returned Friday night from Chicago where he attended the national convence of Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity, as the representative of the Kansas State chapter.

All-American Cares Increase--Cronkite A Godfather at 20

A godfather at twenty—a status which few achieve at so early an age, even if they have made all-American football teams. Henry Cronkite, as usual just a jump ahead of most other collegians, generally speaking, and most other football men, particularly speaking, is the favored individual.

His small chocolate godson is now twenty-four days old. He was born December 12 to Mr. and Mrs.
Wilbur Pitts at 1012 Yuma street, quite unconscious of the honor that was to be bestowed upon him by his proud father. Mr. Pitts officially named his new son, his fifth by the way, but there seems to have been a power behind this throne as there is behind most thrones. The power in this instance was Roscoe Pitts, brother of the new Cronkite. Roscoe, well known newsboy of Manhattan, has acted as water boy for a number of the Kansas State football games this year and is consequently quite well known on the hill.

The public has a most disconcerting habit of forgetting the names of the all-American football members. Henry Cronkite, however, can rest comfortably—assured that his achievement will be remembered for some years to come. The "memory" may be a dark one, but it will assuredly be a growing one!

CAST CHOSEN FOR NEXT MANHATTAN THEATRE PLAY

Five to Play Leading Parts in "Berkeley Square"; H. Miles, Heberer Enthusiastic

"Berkeley Square" by John Balderson, one of the best received plays of last year, will be presented by the Manhattan Theatre February 5 and 6 in the college auditorium. The play has a setting in the eighteenth century and is being given as the theatre's part in the nation-wide celebration of the bicentennial anniversary of George Washington's birth.

M. D. Olmstead, Manhattan, Lucille Correll, Manhattan; Professor
H. W. Davis, Manhattan; Marjorie
Allman, Manhattan; Virginia
Burch, Eldorado; and H. Miles Heb-erer, have leads in the production.

"Berkeley Square" is a love story of a present day American, who is unconsciously thrust into a be-wiggled and powdered life of 18th century London, and an English girl who has been dead more than 100 years before his birth. The story is a fanciful romance. This play has had a "long run" in New York and on the road with Leslie Howard in the lead. It has been quite successful everywhere and

THE WHEELS GRIND SLOWLY

Following a campaign launched by the Collegian this semester, the Council of Deans recently voted that at the beginning of next semester, ten minutes should be allowed for the passing of classes. A time honored custom was broken. An obsolete custom since the erection of the many widespread buildings upon this campus. A new dean, coming here from another campus, with his general science faculty made a recommendation that the change be made. A member of that faculty even timed himself with a stop watch, and found it was impossible to walk from the agricultural buildings on the north end of the campus to the gymnasium on the south in less than nine and three-quarters minutes.

Nichols gymnasium was erected in 1911, the east wing of Waters hall in 1912, and the west wing in 1923. For practically 20 years students having a class in the gymnasium one hour, and one in the agricultural buildings the next hour have been late to that class. Yet it took the Council of Deans 20 years to bring about a change which would partially, if not entirely, eliminate all tardiness to classes.

Veterinary medicine students having classes in the gymnasium one hour and in the veterinary hall the following have also been tardy to classes since the erection of the gymnasium. On the deans cards in those two divisions, no doubt, many tardy marks have been placed besides the student's names. How unfair. If the administration of the college could only adjust the customs in accordance with the existing situations, how much trouble and grief would be taken from the students' shoulders. For tardy marks often result in lower grades. And the reason for that tardiness was no doubt in almost all cases not the students' fault, but rather the administration's for failing to remedy a situation it should have recognized as a result of an antiquated rule.

The general science faculty and the Collegian congratulate themselves for at least assisting in erasing an ancient rule.

THE ALMIGHTY DOLLAR WINS OUT

Money buys anything in America, say critics of this country's capitalistic ideas. Whether or not that's true, is sometimes a matter of controversy. But money can buy one thing. That's a chance to place any co-ed on this campus in the Royal Purple beauty contest, which apparently is going to turn out to be a paid show, with admission coming at $5 a seat.

In today's Collegian the Royal Purple announces a change in its annual contest. All sororities or other organizations wishing to enter a candidate in the contest must sell 20 yearbooks, but if those yearbooks are not sold by the organization, that organization may enter a candidate if it pays 25 cents for each book it didn't sell to make its quota of 20. For example, one organization may sell 17 books. In order to enter any member of that organization in the contest, an additional 75 cents must be paid. Therefore the organization that wishes to spend the most money can put up the largest number of candidates.

Candidates for beauty contests, in former years have often been chosen for their physical beauty. Now they can be nominated by their organization's money. Perhaps the idea is alright. Perhaps the organizations would rather pay the $5 than go out and conduct the sales campaign. However, some organizations are at a disadvantage, after the goal is placed higher than it has ever been placed in order to name a candidate, and then the chance is offered to pay the way of any candidate.

Since the Royal Purple wants to make the contest a money instead of a beauty contest, it should have announced its intention earlier in the year so those organizations which went out and sold yearbooks, might prefer paying 25 cents a member rather than spending the time and energy used in salesmanship. It'll be a great contest, as long as the money lasts.

THINK—WHAT?

Every semester one, or half a dozen, of our instructors deplores the inability of undergraduates to think. Every day newspapers repeat criticisms of machine minded students. Each year a chapel speaker and a minister weep over the herd instincts of college youth.

In the classroom, the student ventures the opinion that the general preference for black shoes may be due to tradition, to prejudice handed down from ancestors, to dislikes acquired from and "conditioned" by the older schools of thought.

And he is told that practical experience won't bear him out, that he's trying to start a silly argument, or perhaps gets the hint that he's a "mere infant" in knowledge of the world; in the experience of life. And he ceases to wonder, ceases to challenge, and seeks only to memorize the wisdom of ages.

(Of course, this concrete illustration is insane; perhaps easily refuted. But if we should take an actual example from the classroom the instructor might recognize himself, and we would become disrespectful upstarts.)

So it is with him who answers printed comment. If he doesn't sign his name he is a coward, hiding behind the cloak of anonymity. If he does, he is a cheap publicity seeker.

And so perhaps with him who replies to the minister. He speaks sacrilege, has revolutionary ideas, is subversive to morals, or just trivial.

Granted that this argument is strong, perhaps a bit overdrawn. Granted that students do have moronic ideas and start silly arguments; that they are immature, needlessly insulting and insubordinate; that they seek publicity. Granted that undergraduates drift with the herd and that they need and lack originality.

Yet when genius must withstand jeers and wait on posterity for acclaim or oblivion; when most of the easier paths have been explored, reduced to formula, and honored by tradition; when students have no contact with the world of business, how may they know whether their ideas are new or erratic? How may they tell whether they are near to new discoveries, which the instructor, steeped in routine, can't appreciate, or whether they are dumb?

Certainly, students should think. Think what?—F. T.

"THEY SHALL NOT PASS"

To stamp a boy or a girl as a failure is a terrific responsibility. Teachers have been doing it all these years because custom condoned it. Consequences were not considered, except the single consequence of relieving the school of pupils who are likely to be a drag.

Think of the crimes that have been committed by instructors in the utterly unscientific and unjust tests which were applied—tests that did not separate the able from the unable or the attainers from the non-attainers, but merely drew an arbitrary line of demarcation.

Tests and passing marks may be slow in reaching the discard, for they have had a long tradition; it is not easy to see precisely what should take their place. But certainly the hour has come to avoid the old glib manner of flunking by percentages which every teacher knows are partly guesswork.

More understanding of the pupil and his difficulties; more allowance for abilities that are low in some respects and high in others; more checking of marks with common sense and careful weighing of each pupil's performance—these are even now possible under almost all conditions.

The business of teachers is not to discourage and condemn but to inspire and help. Nothing would be more pernicious than the assumption that every class must contain a certain number of failures.—The Salina Public Schools.

— The Snoopers —

Aggieville conflicts occurred frequently for the folk of the college yesterday. They bore full indication of the futile struggle to settle down to the humdrum of this $9-a-day education. And incidentally, what college student wouldn't trade his four-year stay for the daily $9 in cash?

Stories of the Christmas doings of the home-owners were far overshadowed by accounts of the New Year's eve hilarity. Many were voluble and spun hair raising yarns of the tussle they had in shoving old 1931 out into the cold. Others suffered a complete lapse of memory and had to read of the great event in the morning papers the next afternoon. It's a toss up as to whether the blinge or the hangover dominated in the majority of conversations.

The dancing gals of Enchiladas are throwing a party Saturday night. And for the first time since we learned to pronounce it, we wonder just what that ceiling-smashing word means. A trip to Webster informs us that Noah knew no more about it than we do. One titan haired charmer says it's an article of food used in Mexico. And at the same time we did, someone pipes up that enchiladas is "hot stuff." So there you are.

While spending part of the holidays in Clay Center we sat through that time worn and bewhiskered sports speech of "Phog" Allen's. After 10 years of practice the K. U. athletic director has fixed himself up a dandy piece. He changes only the words that are necessary to suit the occasion, and now Mr. Allen even manages to emit an emotional choke now and then. However, he got over in a big way and won the admiration of many of his listeners.

Fairchild Zoo Attracts Many to View the Great Wonders of Animal Life

In past years, hundreds of people have visited the museum in Fairchild hall. They have seen the sea shells, fossils, meteorites, and rocks in the exhibition cases, and looked upon the works of the taxidermist, which represent all types of animal life.

But a more vivid, more realistic picture, representing a part of the animal life around Manhattan, is presented in the zoo. Although the zoo is small, it contains many interesting specimens.

In this zoo you can learn a number of interesting things which you did not know before.

Did you know, for instance, that most snakes shed their skin three times a year?

Did you know that the age of a rattlesnake cannot be told by the number of rattles it possesses, but instead it gets a new rattle every time it sheds its skin?

Did you know that carnivals some times use the indigo snake, a type that never bites, in their "hair-raising" stunts?

That snakes seldom strike the full length of their body, although recently such cases have been seen?

That there is no such thing as a snake charmer?

Hobart Smith, the zoo-keeper, feeds the reptiles, pets them, plays with them. He knows every individual snake, and uses big zoological terms in describing them, and telling of their nature. Mr. Smith said he first became interested in animals during his freshman year in college. Later he took full charge of the zoo.

Mr. Smith enjoys his work. The smaller snakes that he takes from the small glass cages clamp their jaws to his fingers, but he seems to consider it only as part of the routine in handling them.

On one side of the zoo is a wire cage containing eighteen terrapins, moving lazily across the water covered bottom. In another cage, colored lizards from Texas and Arizona dart across the wire cover, and large turtles crawl slowly along the bottom.

The zoo contains a collection of 22 varieties of snakes, including the Western coach whip, the timber rattler, cannibals, copper heads, ring snakes, and water snakes.

On the south side of the zoo, near a large window, is a large cage containing a specimen very rare in this part of the country. It is a crocodile, a very terrible appearing creature, with bulging eyes, and a large mouth containing sharp teeth. If any one goes near his cage, he immediately begins a very low hissing, opening his mouth as wide as possible, and exhibiting a challenge in his glaring eyes. Mr. Smith explained the noise it was making. "That low dull noise can be heard a very long distance in the country, where crocodiles are located," he said. "Some hunters listen for this noise and thereby determine where the crocodile can be found."

On the west side of the zoo is a cage containing white mice. "We keep these mice as food for the snakes," Mr. Smith said. He opened the doors of the cage, and filled the small food containers with a balanced ration of food. Sometime soon, perhaps, these mice will make a very good meal for the snakes coiled up in the opposite cage.

ENGINEERS SHOW COLORS.

Mechanical and Electrical Seniors Decorate Suede Jackets.

Seniors in the electrical and mechanical departments of the engineering division have blossomed forth with emblems of their academic standing on suede jackets during Christmas vacation.

The electricals show their loyalty to the school by using purple and white as the color scheme of their emblems. The emblems have a round white circle as a background, a purple streak of jagged lightning through the center, a large E on each side of the lightning, and a small white circle in the center with the figures 32 in it.

Mechanical engineers are using a United States highway sign in black as the background in the emblems. An old gold bar crosses the sign obliquely from top to bottom and has "Mechanicals" lettered on it. Above the bar the initials KSC are embroidered on, and the numbers 32 are beneath the bar.

DEAN JUSTIN TO NEW YORK

Attends Conference on Home Economics Education

Dean Margaret Justin has gone to New York City to attend a conference on home economics education called by a group of the American Home Economics association to deal with problems of curriculum organization and division of subject matter into different levels of the four years of college work. Consideration was also given to home economics research.

Dean Justin stopped for two days at the University of Ohio at Athens, where she was joined by her sister, Dr. Florence Justin. The two went on together to the bureau of home economics at Washington, D. C., where the dean met several women who had received degrees from this institution.

After two days in Washington, Dean Justin went to New York City where she was entertained by a number of graduates of Kansas State college who were in the city.

PERFECTS TEACHING DEVICE

J. C. Peterson Patents "Self Instructor and Tester"—Aided by Brother

A new teaching device called the "Self Instructor and Tester" has recently been invented and patented by Dr. J. C. Peterson of the department of psychology, and Dr. H. J. Peterson of Hattiesburg, Mississippi, and is now being used by Dr. B. H. Fleenor, of the home study service, in his reorganized course in general psychology.

The textbooks and reference works are covered thoroughly by a series of objective questions mailed to the home-study student along with the "self-instructor" card. The card is chemically treated so that when the student punches out his answer to the objective question, a color reaction flashes out showing him at once whether or not his answer is correct. The student is thus able to check for himself the accuracy of his answers. This device not only shows the student immediately whether his answer is correct or incorrect but also leaves a permanent record for the instructor's use in grading. Use of this device will dispense with the laborious writing out of answers to questions commonly required in correspondence courses.

The objective questions used in the final examinations for resident and non-resident students will be identical, thus making it possible objectively to compare the efficiency of home study instruction and resident classroom instruction. The same texts are used for resident college and correspondence students.

THERE ARE EXCEPTIONS.

New York, Jan. 4. —That classic fable about women being in mortal fear of mice doesn't apply to Miss Katharine G. Watson, graduate student at New York university. She has just finished a three day stay in a windowless room where her only companions were 160 white mice.

The purpose had something to do with a thesis she is going to write about how mice react to pneumonia germs.

Here's A BARGAIN For Advertisers!

The merchant hunting bargains in advertising will do well to consider the Kansas State Collegian as an advertising medium. Collegian advertising does pay dividends! Here's why:

1. The Collegian is read for what is THERE—not for what is left out.
2. The Collegian is read by students in ALL divisions of the school.
3. Kansas State faculty members are well represented on the Collegian's subscription list.
4. More students read the Collegian than any other student publication.
5. Collegian advertising rates are not only reasonable—they're CHEAP.

K. U. ADDS FINAL TOUCHES

Intersectional Play Brings Out Defects in University Team—Prepares for Big Six.

Lawrence, Kans., Jan. 4.—With a second intersectional series facing them in three games with the University of Colorado tonight here to-night and tomorrow night, the University of Kansas basketball team has returned to Mount Oread during the final days of the mid-year vacation period to brush up their play and overcome stiffness induced by days at home with Christmas turkey. The Jayhawkers successfully completed their first intersectional test of the season by taking two of three games from the University of Pittsburgh team in Kansas City last week to give Big Six basketball an edge over the eastern type of play as used by the Pitt Panthers.

The Pittsburgh team went directly from its meetings with Kansas to Denver where it beat the University of Colorado team 25 to 23, thus indicating that there is little difference between the abilities of the Kansas, Colorado and Pitt teams.

Coch Howard Beresford and his Colorado team is playing a return home series with Kansas, the Jayhawkers having won three straight from Colorado in Colorado last season.

The Kansas team this season however retains only three or last season's championship five, while Colorado has four of last season's veterans, indicating that the series here will be a close affair.

The play by Ted O'Leary, forward; Bill Johnson, center, and Lee Page, guard, vets from the K. U. championship team of last year has been up to the usual standard in the early games, and the playing of three new men and Pete Bausch, letter guard of two seasons ago has fitted in well with the trio of veterans. The new players who have shown well are Paul Harrington of Kansas City, Kans., forward; Ernest Vanek, Elsworth, ans, guard; and Ernest Casini, Jeanette, Pa., guard. Vanek has been out of play the last four games, due to an injured knee, but may be in action against Colorado.

Coch Beresford is coaching Colorado for the seventh year and his teams have never finished lower than fourth in the eastern division of the Rocky Mountain conference. He himself played his basketball and football at Colorado. Pete Mid-dlemist, star forward of Colorado, also is a star in football and his field goals have twice enabled his team to defeat University of Missouri teams the past two seasons.

Clevenger, now an extension agronomist. Sloan would ordinarily have completed his work at the end of the current semester, but, through a special arrangement, completed it before Christmas in order to take the position.

NAME FARM FOREMAN.
Crews.

F. G. Ackerman, who was graduated from Kansas State in the division of agriculture last spring, has been appointed to the position of foreman of the agronomy farm. He succeeds C. M. Crews, who became superintendent of the south central Kansas experimental fields by a recent appointment. Ackerman has been doing graduate work since his graduation.

FARRELL SUMS UP EVENTS OF THE PAST YEAR

PRESIDENT CHARACTERIZES 1931 AS A PERIOD OF RETRENCHMENT.

EVENTS ARE PROGRESSIVE

Problem Now is That of Reducing Public Expenditures Without Impairing Usefulness of College As Educational Institution.

With the dawn of 1932 comes the realization that the past year has been one of achievement for Kansas State college.

Perhaps the achievement does not measure up to the standards set in other years, but with President F. D. Farrell characterizing the year 1931 as a period of retrenchment for the college as well as for most other institutions, the progress made on this campus compares favorably with that made elsewhere.

Many events have been of a progressive nature. President Farrell said in a recent statement. Those "include the ending last June of a twelve month period having the second largest enrollment of resident students on record—4,045 students; the granting of degrees to 515 students; the achievement of a record enrollment of graduate students—506; the creation of a division of graduate study; significant improvement in library facilities."

Research Work Continued.

He called attention to the fact that although a cut of 20 per cent in maintenance funds was made, necessitating retrenchment, it has been possible to continue most of the research work in agriculture, home economics and engineering. "Improvements during the year in the physical plant include the purchase of approximately $20,000 worth of new equipment for the scientific laboratories; and provision for a new dairy barn and experimental plant to cost $60,000; installation of new book stacks and other library equipment costing $30,000; improvement of the college radio station at a cost of $25,000; installation in the auditorium of a pipeorgan valued at $24,000; the construction of paved roads and walks costing more than $8,000," stated President Farrell.

One of the chief problems encountered in 1931 will continue in 1932, President Farrell believes. This problem is that of helping to meet the need for reduced public expenditure without seriously impairing the usefulness of the college as a public institution.

The most outstanding thing done in 1931 from the standpoint of the agricultural experiment station, according to Dean L. E. Call of the division of agriculture, was the establishment of seven experimental fields in south central and north-east Kansas and the planning for the establishment of one more. The last legislature appropriated funds for that purpose.

New Ag Equipment.

Notable advances made locally, he said, include the construction of a poultry research building at the poultry farm, the construction of a new plant breeding laboratory for the department of agronomy, the addition of better equipment for the study of meats in the abattoir of the animal husbandry department, and the addition of better facilities for work in plant physiology by the equipment of new laboratories.

"One striking development of the agricultural experiment station was the growing this past year on farms of some 40 Kansas farmers of a new variety of sorghum, known as Wheatland Milo, and the distributing of it for the purpose of placing in the hands of the farmers a variety of sorghum that can be harvested with a combine," Dean Call said.

Dr. O. H. Elmer, assistant professor of botany and plant pathology, while doing research work on diseases of potatoes, discovered somewhat accidentally the fact that potatoes placed in storage in the vicinity of apples sprouted less readily than when stored alone. This fact, authorities believe, may have some practical value where it is desirable to store potatoes for a period of time under conditions where they will not sprout.

In 1931 Kansas produced the largest wheat crop in the history of the state, and its value was the least that has been known since marketing records have been maintained.

Wheat Prospects Poor.
In contrast to that record, the year ended with the poorest prospect for a large wheat crop there has been in the last 10 years, according to Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, head of the department of agronomy. The major causes for the poor prospects are the poorly prepared seed beds, and the lack of rainfall in the summer and fall. There has been an increased interest in the production of feed crops in the central and western portions of the state.

Included the equipment added to the division of engineering is a testing machine in the applied mechanics laboratory which is capable of testing strengths up to 300,000 pounds. Graduate work in the division has more than doubled, according to Dean R. A. Sexton.

The power plant realized a gratifying economy in fuel consumption. The cost was much lower this year than for the preceding year. Paving was done quite extensively, helping the appearance of the campus and adding to the convenience.

One important piece of work was the grading of the area south of the engineering building and moving the parking lot to a place west of the engineering building. The old unsightly parking lot has been transformed into a lawn. With the construction of a new football practice field north of the stadium, it may be possible to do away with that north of the tennis courts and extend the new lawn to the courts. The making of the new fields is part of the unemployment relief project which has been under taken here.

An X-ray apparatus with the newest type of tube has been installed in the chemistry department and will soon be put into use, according to Dr. J. L. Hall, who will use it to determine the molecular structure of proteins and the orientation patterns in liquid surfaces. The tube, developed to its present state in the past year, is all metal and is adaptable to a wide variety of purpose.

Isabel Porter, Stafford, and Roberta Shannon, Geneseo, visited at the home of Ruth Jessup in Hutchinson during the holidays.

DANGEROUS UNDER FOOT.

Several Automobile Accidents Result from Slippery Streets.

Slippery streets and sidewalks kept Manhattanites busy today guarding against accidents and falls. Several automobile accidents resulted, however. The ice covering was observed upon arising this morning, and rain and snow fell much of the day. Large flakes of snow began falling at noon, but they soon disappeared.

To guard against automobile accidents, Police Chief Arthur Scheelen suggested motorists leave their cars in gear while applying the brakes to avoid sliding, at least until the cars are under control.

J. P. SCOTT'S UNCLE DIES.

C. F. Scott, One of England's Best Known Journalists.

C. F. Scott, editor of the Manchester (England) Guardian, who died last Friday, was an uncle of Dr. J. P. Scott of the Kansas State college veterinary faculty. Mr. Scott in 57 years had shown the heights to which journalism based on idealism and humanitarianism can attain. He was 85 years of age. He developed the Guardian from a little provincial paper into a great editorial medium whose voice reached daily around the world.

HAVE SMALL REGISTRATION
The annual farmers' short course sponsored by the agricultural division at the college began its 1932 session with a total enrollment of 28. A few more, who have communicated with Hugh Durham, assistant dean of the division of agriculture, are expected to enroll today. Last year the enrollment was 52. Ten of the 28 enrolled Monday are second year students, the percentage of former years thereby being maintained if not increased.

BASKETBALL TO START IN BIG SIX THIS WEEK END

TWO WEEKS OF INTENSIVE PRACTICE HAS GROOMED
ALL CONFERENCE SQUADS
FOR CHAMPIONSHIP RACE

KANSAS STATE TO MEET M.U.

Missouri and Kansas Loom as Strong Title Contenders After Winning Hard Pre-season Tills

The Big Six conference basketball race starts this week. All conference teams swing into action with Iowa State playing Nebraska January 8 and Kansas and Oklahoma and Missouri and Kansas State opposing each other January 9.

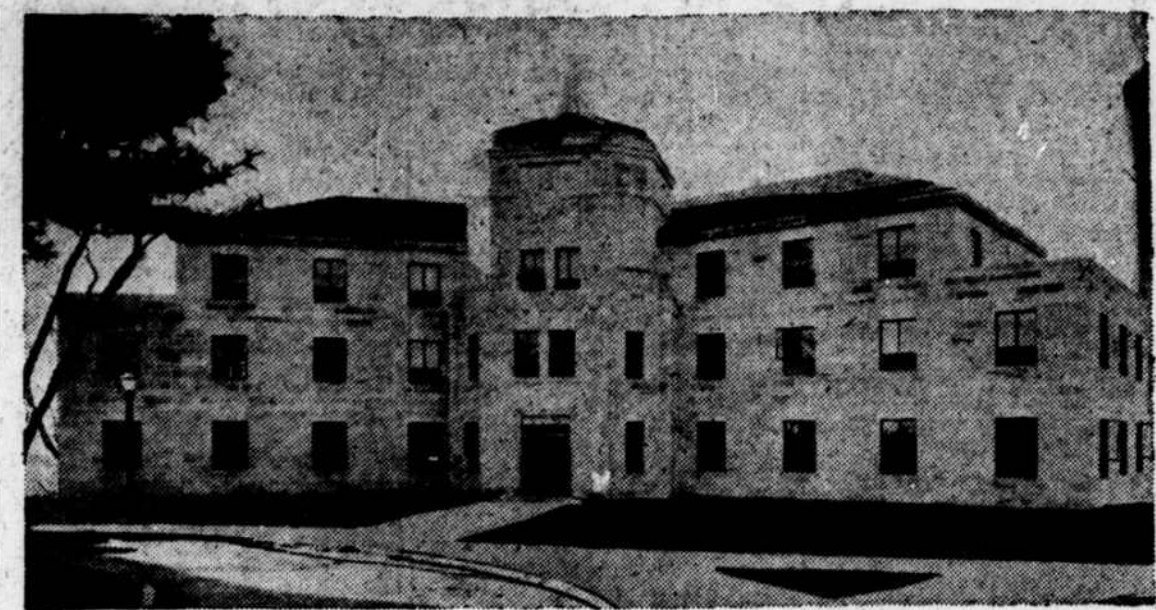

In preparation for the opening of the conference season, all the Big Six basketball squads held intensive practice during the holidays. Coach C. W. Corsaut had ten men report for practice December 28 and they worked out twice daily last week. Men who reported for these practices were Skradski, Brockway, Breen and Silverwood, forwards; Dalton and Graham, centers; and Captain Auker, Fairbanks, Boyd, and Wiggins, guards.

Pre-Season Tills Upsetting
Missouri and Kansas State both played four pre-season games and each lost three out of the four games. On the basis of comparative scores, Missouri should have a slight advantage over the Wildcats. The Tigers won a close contest from St. Louis university, a team which later defeated the Wildcats.

Coach Edwards has a veteran squad at Missouri led by Captain Collins, who was on several all-American teams last year. Other veterans on the Tiger squad are Wagner, center; Davis and Zinn, forwards; and Palfreyman, guard. Sophomores on the squad are Cooper, forward; and Hasser and Henry, guards. In the pre-season games Wagner and Cooper have been the heavy scorers for Missouri.

Injuries Limit Squad
Ralph Graham, Wildcat football star, reported for basketball practice during the holidays. He recently recovered from a knee injury received in football and did not participate in the pre-season games. Cronkite, two letter center, is recovering from a broken ankle and may be able to return to the basketball court in a few weeks. This will give the Wildcats another experienced man who has always been a consistent scorer.

RECENTLY COMPLETED K. U. HOSPITAL

The new Kansas university hospital building, located at the southeast corner of the campus, is the gift of Mrs. J. B. Watkins. It was erected at a cost of $150,000 for the structure and $25,000 for the furnishings. It is of a modernistic type of architecture.

perienced man who has always been a consistent scorer.

In practice the last week Corsaut has been using several different combinations in the hope of finding a satisfactory one before the opening Big Six game. All the players are rounding into mid-season form and have been executing plays accurately. This improvement, according to Corsaut, shows that the football men are developing basketball form.

TO SHIP HOGS HERE.

Forty-five head of hogs owned by the United States government and fed at Kansas State since last September will be shipped to Kansas City soon. Each year hogs from Ardmore, South Dakota, are shipped here and to other places by the government as an experiment to determine the importance of climate and location in the rate of growth made by the animals according to W. E. Connell, instructor in animal husbandry.

RETURN FROM TOUR.

Louise Everhardy, of the art department. Russell Cooey, zoology; Mary Keilen, secretary of the student health department; Myrtle Zener, secretary of the vice president; and James Siever, son of Doctor Siever spent the two weeks vacation in Louisiana. They visited St. Martinsville, New Orleans, Montgomery, and Nashville.

Y. W. C. A. RETREAT SOON

Plans for the Y. W. C. A. membership retreat which will be Monday, February 4, were made last night at the first Y. W. M. A. cabinet meeting of the year. Daphne Smith, Manhattan, has charge of retreat plans. The retreat will be held somewhere in Manhattan. It was held in Wamego last year.

LITWILLER TO WASHINGTON

Prof. Earl Litwiller of the department of home study service returned last week from Washington, D. C., where he attended the conference on better homes called by President Hoover. Litwiller returned home by way of New York and Chicago.

PRESS TEAM TO CLAY CENTER

A press team composed of Ward Colwell, Onaga; Mary Houser, Wooster, Ohio; and Franklin Thackrey, Manhattan, went to Clay Center last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 28-30, where they edited the Clay Center Dispatch.

Prof. G. W. Maxwell spent the vacation at his home in Michigan, stopping on his way at Ann Arbor, Michigan, where he visited Prof. E. K. Chapin, who is on a leave of absence from the college and who is attending the University at Ann Arbor. Professor Maxwell reports Professor Chapin as progressing with his research work.

Vee White, who is attending the University of Illinois, visited her parents, Prof. and Mrs. L. V. White, over the holidays. Miss White is a former student of Kansas State.

Genevieve Nowlin, who received her master's degree at Kansas State college in 1929, was guest of Myrtle Gungelman the latter part of the week. Miss Nowlin is teaching in East high school, Kansas City, Mo.

Myrtle Gungelman, instructor in home economics, spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. E. W. Wuthnow, Hope.

Myrtle Gungelman, instructor in home economics, visited Mary Anna Grimes at her home at Lee Summit, Missouri, during the holidays.

CHANGE EXHIBITS IN CASES

The exhibit cases in Calvin hall have been changed by the members of the food economics and nutrition department. One case is made up of interesting arrangements of glassware and linen from different countries. It contains cocktail napkins; a Minton plate used with highly colored glass; Japanese china and handmade Mexican glassware; Italian linen; hand woven linen from Berea, Kentucky; and bits of Chinese raw silk.

The other case, which is made up of things of long ago, contains an old maple table with a brass candle holder and a very old piece of china on it; a hooked rug belonging to Mrs. W. H. Riddell's grandmother; a brass preserving kettle and a toasting fork. The things used are those picked up or borrowed by members of the department.

Mrs. E. L. Shreve returned with her daughter Mary from Augusta, and spent Sunday and Monday visiting at Van Zile hall.

IOWA STATE EXPECTS STRONG MAT SQUAD

Prospects Brighter Than They Have Been For Years; Finished Second Last Year

(Special to the Collegian)
Ames, Iowa.—Development of the best Cyclone wrestling team since the organization of the Big Six is predicted by Coach Hugo Otopalik for his Iowa State college grapplers, training now for the winter season.

Otopalik considers his prospects the brightest in many years and already has his eyes glued on the Big Six championship which Kansas State won last year through the only defeat the Cyclones suffered in dual competition.

More than 75 men are reporting regularly for practice. The competition is so stiff, Otopalik says, that no man, veteran or sophomore, is assured of his berth. The annual all-college mat tournament was held recently, at which time the Cyclone coach tested his men in competition for the first time this year.

AT THE DICKINSON

"Palmy Days"

This is said to be Eddie Cantor's funniest, and we believe it. The depression candidate for president stumbles into the job of efficiency expert in a bakery with throngs of the best looking and most scantily clad girls we have ever seen concentrated in one spot. A fake Swami gains the confidence of the owner of the bread factory and almost swipes the bankroll, but Eddie foils the plot. The plot is thin, but the chorus is just right and the songs and dances well done with plenty of wise cracks and the famous "pich-pich" (It really can't be done on paper).—J. B.

"The Front Page"

The original of the newspaper dramas, taken from the clever play by Charles McArthur and Ben Hecht, although slightly expurgated, still packs more kick than any of its later imitators. Pure farce, artistically done, savored with spicy dialogue that is hard to keep up with, the show is about the antics of the Chicago criminal courts press room crew. Hildy Johnson, star reporter, is just about to resign from the ranks of reporters to marry a sweet girl (Mary Brian) and become civilized and is saying farewell when the biggest of stories breaks. From then on the story moves with amazing speed, Hildy missing his train, losing his money, capturing the escaped murderer, and having his future mother-in-law kidnapped. One can't do it justice in a review: you'd better see it.—J. B.

AT THE VARSITY.

"Consolation Marriage"

In a newspaper atmosphere of the greatest metropolis in the world, Irene Dunn and Pat O'Brien learn that disappointment sometimes turns out to be joys... joys in living and loving. For these two were disappointed when their first loves married others. To drown their sorrows, they decide to marry and console each other. The outcome is unusual in the life, although fiction often hints of such things happening. Its clever show, with good lines and equally good acting.—V. D.

John Hamon, Valley Falls, will be out of school for an indefinite length of time because of the serious illness of his grandfather.

the statement yesterday of Prof.

RELAYS AGAIN THIS YEAR

Depression in Big Six Finances Falls to Stop the Track Classic.

Lawrence, Kan., Jan. 8.—The Kansas Relays, colorful field event of the middle west, will be held again this year. The athletic board of the University of Kansas decided late yesterday. The date was set for Saturday, April 23. This will be the tenth year for this event, which has brought contestants from scores of American colleges, some of them on the far Pacific Coast.

Decision was reached to continue the relays while the athletic board was considering items for its 1932-33 budget, and means of cutting expenses in that department, due to lessened receipts
from the fall football games.

Other and minor sports events of the coming spring will be curtailed
by the scheduling of a smaller number of events and also by the taking of smaller teams to the various events entered.

Other schools of the Big Six conference are making similar efforts to effect economies, and it is possible that several of the usual dual events, such as track or swimming, will be run off as conference meets. It will be recalled that a race of three two-mile teams was scored as two dual meets at Columbia last fall.

Temple Sheldon, Topeka, who has been ill with pneumonia since November 19, has returned to college.

PHI DELTS AND BETAS WINNERS IN BASKETBALL

BETA THETA PI HAS LITTLE TROUBLE DOWNING SIGMA PHI EPSILON 28 TO 10

BOTH GAMES HARD FOUGHT

Phi Delta Theta Has Tough Battle
Before Downing Alpha Tau Omega 16 to 12; Few Free Throws Made

In characteristic intramural battles, basketball quintets representing Beta Theta Pi and Phi Delta Theta fraternities last night outclassed teams of Sigma Phi Epsilon and Alpha Tau Omega respectively for the privilege of participating in the finals for the championship of Kansas State intramural basketball.
Beta Theta Pi humbled Sigma Phi Epsilon with a score 20 to 8 while Phi Delta Theta downed the A. T.
O.'s to the tune of 16 to 12.

Betas took the lead early in the first quarter when Hutchinson sank a short shot. A moment later Thornbrough made a field goal for the Sig Eps and the score remained tied until Kennedy shot another for the Betas, giving them a 4-2 lead at the end of the first quarter. At no time after this were the Sig Eps close.

In the second quarter the Sig
Eps had many shots, but were unable to make them good. Field goals by Hutchinson and Stoner, and free throws by Van Aken and Kennedy gave the Betas a 10-2 lead
as the half ended.

Van Aken Scores Baskets
The third quarter opened with Stoner sinking a long shot. Van Aken followed later with a set up and Cooley dropped one through for the Sig Eps. Entering the fourth period with the Betas holding a 14-4 lead, Van Aken made two more shots good. Thornbrough countered with a field goal and Van Aken made another. In the last few moments of play, Garrison made a field goal, and the final score was 20-8.

Throughout the game the Sig Eps had more shots than the Betas, but were completely outplayed on the floor.

Hutchinson, Stoner Stars
Hutchinson and Stoner were outstanding players for the Betas, playing excellent defense at guard positions, yet contributing much to the scoring.

The second game, between the Phi Delt and A.T.O.'s was a close, hard-fought battle, ending 16-12, in favor of the Phi Delt. The teams were evenly matched and it was anyone's game from the start until the final whistle. Neither team held over a four point lead at any

CONRAD IS ELECTED DYNAMIS PRESIDENT

Campus Society to Award Prize for Achievement to an Upper Classman.

Ralph Conrad, Manhattan, was elected president of the Society of Dynamis at its regular monthly meeting in Calvin hall this week.

Other officers elected are as follows: Virginia Peterson, Manhattan, vice-president; Mary Holton, Manhattan, secretary; Margaret Buck, Derby, recording secretary;
Robert Roberts, Manhattan, treasurer; Ralph Van Camp, Council Grove, publicity chairman.

Dorothy White, Burlington,
chairman, and her committee are working on plans for an award to be given for achievement, rather than for grades alone, by the society to an upperclassman. This award will probably be in the form of money, and it is hoped to be given this year by the organization.
The next meeting of the society of Dynamis will be February 9, in Calvin hall, room 61.

MINNESOTA DEKES KILLED

These fraternity pins have a habit of causing a lot of worry, of one kind and another. This time the Dekes at the University of Minnesota are doing the worrying. You see, a certain Minneapolis street car conductor found one of the badges of the fraternity in his car some time ago. It was turned over to the company, but no member of the fraternity ever appeared to claim it. A. E. Thom, the conductor in question, thought the badge too nice an ornament to roll around in some dusty drawer waiting for a claimant. So, Mr. Thom now proudly displays it on his coat lapel, much to his delight and the Deke's consternation.

Property Trade May Be Result Of Collegian Story

Prof. R. I. Throckmorton believes he has solved the problem of the distracted Oregon man who wished to know what to do with his Kansas farm and decided to get Throck-morton's advice on the matter. A story about the letter received from the Oregon man appeared in the Collegian and later appeared in the Mercury and Chronicle.

Shortly afterward some unidentified woman telephoned Professor Throckmorton and asked for the name and address of the Oregon man. When questioned as to the reason for her curiosity she explained that she owned two houses in Portland, Oregon, which were to her almost as demoralizing as the Kansas farm was to the Oregon man, and she thought that perhaps a trade in worries could be negotiated. The professor isn't boasting but he says that he thinks the answer to this one has presented itself.

FARM AND HOME WEEK HAS MANY HIGHLIGHTS

Event Will Be Held at College February 8 to 12—Stage Little American Royal.

The recognition of five master farm home makers as outstanding home and community builders, the Little American Royal livestock and dairy show, the corn show, and the announcing of new members of the one-hundred bushel corn club are among the annual events scheduled for Farm and Home week which will be held here February 8 to 12.

At a luncheon on February
five master farm home makers of the state will be honored, according to Miss Amy Kelly, state home demonstration leader, Kansas State college. This is the fifth annual recognition of Kansas women as master home makers. The honor will be awarded by the Farmers' Wife, national farm women's magazine, in co-operation with the extension service of the college. Miss Orrine Johnson, representing the magazine, will have charge of the program.

An outstanding feature will be the awarding of a silver trophy for the best ten ears of corn at the annual corn show.

The rules, as explained by L. E.
Wiloughby, extension agronomist who has charge of the show, allow the entry of any blue ribbon winner at state, county or community fair providing entries are made later than February 6.

At the Kansas crop improvement banquet on Thursday evening, February 11, new members of the one-hundred bushel corn club will be announced according to F.
B. Wells, extension crops special-

WHY SIT ON SUNDAY?

When Judge John C. Pollock of the district court in Kansas City, Kansas recently ruled Sunday motion picture shows are allowable until there is a decision otherwise by the United States supreme court, he did not settle the Sunday motion picture problem in Kansas, but he did tell the people shows were lawful. And why shouldn't they be? When every state bordering Kansas can have Sunday shows, there is no reason why Kansas shouldn't have them. That is, there is no reason except Kansas and that's a big enough reason for anyone.

Nevertheless, Sunday picture shows in Manhattan would be patronized and supported by many students. Students who otherwise must park on the lone country roads, ride forever throughout the evening, or sit in drug store booths sipping coke after coke simply because there is nothing else to do. Of course there are churches to attend, but many students attend services in the morning and want a change in the evening's entertainment.

And students here seek that change at Fort Riley where shows are held each Sunday night. However, the entertainment there proves quite expensive during these times since all seats in the reserve section are 75 cents, so if the girl is along, $1.50 is paid the proprietor of the theatre. In addition to the expense comes the question of the Fort's selection of pictures and vaudeville. Very few of the student's morals suffer from the witnessing of these shows, but at the same time, little educational value is derived from the scene's offering. The Kansas censor board doesn't have a chance to do its cutting on the pictures shown on federal property. Whether that is a factor to consider is up to the individual.

It is impossible for all members of organized houses to entertain their guests within the houses Sunday nights. The rooms would be too crowded. There would be nothing to do but stand and talk since there would not be chairs enough to go around. In rooming houses, the same problem if not a more serious one is confronted. The landlady might not care to turn over her entire lower floor to the roomers in order that guests might be entertained. And there you are, with winter here and no place for students to go but roaming out in the cold.

All truly religious persons would attend church if or if not there were picture shows running. So the argument that the churches would suffer because of the shows is a silly argument. People in America, and especially students, go where they want to go, not where others wish them to go.

Far less harm would result in the showing of pictures in Manhattan or any other Kansas city, than results from idle time lying on the hands of students who have no place to turn but down the country lane. It would be much better to have those young people witnessing a show than sitting in parked cars embracing. And after all, that's what some of them do.

It's a problem and a serious one in Kansas which is said to be the Puritanical state of the Union. Puritans believe in worshipping. So do students, but they might as well be worshipping the hero or heroine of the movie drama as the boy or girl they are holding hands with on the side road.

THE OLD PARKING PROBLEM

When the new ten minute passing rule comes into effect on the Kansas State campus next semester, Anderson hall is going to be more congested than it is now when only five minutes are allowed between classes. Students who now pause for only a moment on their way to the next hour, will no doubt pause five, and as a result, the building will be more crowded than a dime store is at Christmas time. Many students make a habit of waiting at the door of recreation center or in the middle of the hall for their fraternity or sorority sisters, or someone else's sorority sister, or fraternity brother. Unorganized groups gather all over the place. The Collegian intends to eliminate some of the congestion by printing in the college newspapers the names of those students who are seen chatting between a majority of the classes. Their names won't be published unless they are seen there by a Collegian reporter several consecutive times.

Perhaps the publicity will not be too favorable towards their grades in the classes to which they sometimes will drop in late because they just had to hear that last bit of interesting gossip before making it to class.

The list will be called "The Parkers."
 If you're one of them, beware.

— The Snoopers —

This Y. W. C. A. organization is as full of ideas as this morning's Collegian is of house ads. We believe it has sprung a brand spanking new one this time. Possibly with leap year activities in mind, the Young Women are conducting a dancing and bridge school for girls for only a nickel a whirl. If the gag meets with success, there may be a slight chance that there will be a demand for those persons whom everyone has heard, but few have seen—the gigolos. And, the life of the gigolo, at least in the mind of the Snoopers, is no less than Utopian existence.

After he had blurted the fatal question to his best girl, one campus lad wrote home to his father for a box of cigars to pass to his demanding friends. Later he received a note from the parent saying, "the cigars are on the way—but why?"

Our eyes could have been knocked off with a stick yesterday when, in glancing through a pamphlet revealing salaries of persons on the state payroll, we found K. U.'s football coach, Bill Hargiss, received the paltry sum of $2,000. What can the cultural school of Kansas be coming to when the salaries of most football mentors range from $5,000 up? Is it possible that Mr. Hargiss is receiving a monthly allowance from some insurance man? Far be it from us to yelp about the situation—we can't help envying him even his paltry $2,000.

Peanuts Pratt has grown so accustomed to denying that he submitted a resolution opposing the Volstead act that he frequently denies knowledge of questions directed at him in the classroom.

The eminent authority on student government has had his latest denial published on the front page of a capital city daily. His first denial was no doubt made at home. Dial 3-7308 for more denials. (And come across with that piece of pie, you big stiff, or we'll air other views.)

A recent trip to the west ag building brings from the flat-footed refusal to cover any meetings occurring there during the Farm and Home week activities. The sour milk odor which permeates the structure was almost enough to corrode our teeth and cause a stinging sensation in the eyes. It has only one meritorious effect—the fresh air tastes so good when one gets outside.

Judge For Yourself

There has been a gratifying increase in the amount of American student expression lately. For years one has read of foreign student uprisings and protests. The foreign students take an interest in their national affairs.

We have just begun to do the same in the United States. The Associated Press has recently carried stories regarding student opinion on disarmament, prohibition, and compulsory military training. One school in Wyoming openly rebelled against its superiors, because of interference in student's affairs.

All of which shows development of a fine student spirit. College students intellectually are the cream of America or of any other nation. Our success as a nation depends upon intellect.

This life will become much more pleasant when our young people learn to form logical opinions based upon true facts, and then battle for recognition of those opinions, as college students have taken to doing recently.—M. N.

To the editor of the Collegian: It is quite seldom that I write to the papers. But I cannot withhold my admiration for your very fine series on the professors at Kansas State. The idea was superb and the handling was independent and courageous. Your newspaper has been what few college papers are, informative, original, daring. You have given the college circle something to think about, besides themselves.

Do not let the professors highbrow you with the insinuation that the black and white list was youthful, or amateurish. It was distinctly intelligent and equally adult as anything that occurs in or out of class rooms at Kansas State.

If the college world should frown too blackly upon your enterprise, remember that the newspaper world is looking for the editors of such outspoken and entirely useful publications.

Give them more. A little truth will do a world of good in the academic atmosphere. Sincerely, E. H. Shaffer, editor New Mexico State Tribune, of the Scripps-Howard chain of newspapers.

One of the recently married professors on the Hill heard a student say in Russia the man and woman to be married know what they are getting into. The professor firmly asserts those getting married never know what they are getting into, not even in Russia.

At The Theatres

AT THE WAREHAM
"Street Scene"

Should you happen to be one of those who care for a movie that is more like a stage play, with finely drawn characterization in all parts, and a stark realistic plot, you will like "Street Scene." Luckily the producers of this Pulitzer prize play did not meddle with the plot, nor did they inject it with Hollywood, but merely set up the scene, a tenement front, and shot the show as per stage directions. The story has to do with a half dozen families living in one tenement and their troubles with each other, Sylvia Sidney does a good part, as does William Collier Jr. J. B.

BUDDHISM IS DISCUSSED

"Buddhism" was the subject of a talk given by Mrs. C. H. Whitnah at the meeting of Theta Pi, college women's Presbyterian organization, in Calvin hall Tuesday evening. The lecture was part of the society's study of the different religions of the world. Mrs. Whitnah, who has spent eight years in missionary work in Burma, gave an account of the customs and religion of the natives, illustrating her talk with pictures and images as carved of teakwood.

The next meeting of Theta Pi will be held at the Westminster home, Tuesday, February 2. Miss Dorothy McLeod will be the speaker.

REVIEWS "SO BIG"

Assistant Professor Annabel Garvey of the department of English, reviewed Edna Ferber's "So Big" in a radio talk over station KSAC Tuesday afternoon. This was one of the reviews of prize novels, plays, and poetry presented by the English department every Tuesday afternoon from 5 to 5:30 o'clock.

taken over most of our masculine privileges. But pipe smoking still belongs to us.

In every walk of life you'll find that the men at the top are pipe smokers. And most college men agree that the pipe offers the rarest pleasures a man could ask of his smoking.

When you smoke a pipe, be sure you choose the tobacco that will give you the greatest enjoyment. In 42 out of 54 colleges Edgeworth is the favorite. You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold. Or for a special sample packet, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va. Sample is free.

 stage of the game, and the score was tied at six different times during the game.

Phi Delt's Loss Chances
 The Phi Delt's were handicapped by their inability to make their free throws, failing to score once out of ten chances.

The first quarter was scoreless, with few shots, neither team able to penetrate the opponents defense effectively.

Early in the second quarter Leek opened the scoring with a field goal. Morgan retaliated by taking the ball off the backboard and tipping it in to tie the score. Leek made good another shot, and Nixon, ATO center, tied the score again. Just before the half ended, Nubar sank a field goal to give the Phi Delt's a 6-4 lead.

Leek Is Spectacular
 Late in the third period, Nixon and Nubar each made field goals. The Phi Delt's still holding the lead, 8-6. As the final period opened, Leek made a spectacular goal, giving the Phi Delt's the largest lead of the game, 10-6. Damon came back with a field goal and Nixon added two free shots and a field goal to give the ATO's a 12-10 lead. Leek tied the score again with a field goal. With only two minutes to go, Nubar made a field goal, and Leek added another, making the final score 16-12 in favor of the Phi Delt's.

Leek and Taylor were outstanding for the Phi Delt's with Nixon and Morgan performing like honors for the ATO's.

KANSAS STATE AGREES WITH NATIONAL POLL

Disarmament Votes Tally With Other Schools; Local Enthusiasm Boost Military Training

The tabulated results of the Kansas State student poll on disarmament agree with the nation wide results, with one exception. That exception concerns the question, "Do you favor compulsory military training in colleges?"

The 600 Kansas State students voting on that question were almost evenly divided in opinion, 317 voting for compulsory training and 283 against it. The national results show almost five to one vote against compulsory military training.

Tabulations of the national results present the following conclusions: The majority of students favor a reduction varying from 25 per cent to 75 per cent on military and naval establishments, if all nations joined in disarmament. An overwhelming vote, almost six to one, favored the American delegation to the general disarmament conference taking the initiative in calling upon all nations to join the U. S. in reducing armaments. A majority of the students favor the U. S. setting an example for other nations by reducing expenditures on armaments. There was a pronounced difference of opinion as to how much that reduction should be, however. An approximate three to one vote was cast favoring American adherence to the World Court upon the basis of the Root Protocols. A decided majority were against dropping military training in colleges.

The most pronounced differences of opinion are to be noted in the votes of the men and the women of Kansas State on the question, "Do you favor compulsory military training in colleges?" Approximately 49 per cent of the men favored compulsory training, while only 38 per cent of the women voters favored it.

KANSAS STATE BASKETEERS OFF FOR MISSOURI

COACH CORSAUT TO TAKE SQUAD THAT DRILLED DURING HOLIDAYS

ENTER GAME AS UNDERDOGS

Tigers Have Shown Power Against California, St. Louis, and Washington; Wildcats Appear Weak
in Pre-Season Games

The Kansas State Wildcats and the Missouri university Tigers clash in a basketball game at Columbia, Mo., Saturday night which will be the curtain raiser for each in the 1932 Big Six conference play. The team will entrain tonight at 5 o'clock for Columbia.

Looking over pre-season play, we find Missouri boasting a better record than the Wildcats. In a hotly contested game with St. Louis, Missouri was able to defeat its opponent while the St. Louisians humbled a Wildcat attack and easily defeated the Kansas State machine.

Wildcats Play Ragged Ball
Kansas State has lost about all of this season's games while Missouri has fared much better. In a sloppy and loose game, the Corsaut men defeated Washburn's court team. This brings the only victory for the Wildcats during the 1931-32 season while the Tigers, playing a flashy brand of basketball, have shown power in winning from Washington and St. Louis teams.

The strength of the Wildcat machine is untested after a strenuous holiday season practice. In the pre-season games their shooting, passing, and handling the ball was ragged. Recent practice has developed a smoother working offense and a strong defense and it is reported that the coaching staff has been successful in correcting a large percentage of the teams' mistakes.

Corsaut Shifts Men
In practice the last two weeks Corsaut has been using a combination composed of Skradski and Breen, forwards; Dalton, center; and Auker and Fairbanks, guards. As substitutes to this team he used Brockway at forward, Graham at center, and Boyd at guard. In practice Wednesday night Corsaut started a new combination. Auker was moved up to forward to team with Breen, Skradski was moved over to center, with Fairbanks and Boyd playing the guards. This team showed offensive power and a strong defense.

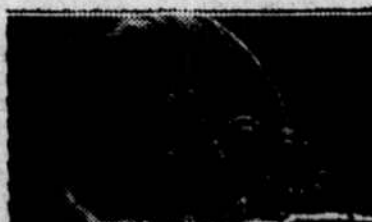

The Wildcat squad will leave for Missouri Friday afternoon. Coach Corsaut hasn't announced the personnel of the trip, but will probably take the squad which reported during the holidays. This squad consists of Breen, Skradski, Graham, and Silverwood, forwards; Dalton and Graham, centers; and Captain Auker, Fairbanks, Boyd and Wiggins, guards.

CYCLONE HOPES HIGH

Boast Most Polished Team in Big Six.

Ames, Ia., Jan. 6—Coach Louis Menze, starting his fourth year as basketball mentor at Iowa State college, has cocked his eye toward a Big Six championship.

Equipped with a veteran team, headed by the fast and shifty Jack Roadcap, diminutive Kansas City boy who headed the conference scorers last season, Menze will start the conference season with a more polished team than any other loop coach can put on the floor.

Only two teams bid fair to threaten his championship hopes, Kansas and Kansas State. Given an even break in games with these powerful foes, the Cyclones should show their heels to weaker opponents without much difficulty.

TWO MILE TEAM WINS HONORS IN PAST YEAR

Squad Coached by Ward Haylett Places Second in the Big Six.

One of the outstanding sport achievements during the year of 1931 was the excellent work of the two-mile team. The team, coached by Ward Haylett, placed second in the Big Six conference, losing only one meet, that to Iowa State, winner of the Big Six title.

At the end of the second year of two-mile racing, Iowa State won first; Kansas State, second; Kansas university, third; Nebraska, fourth; Oklahoma, fifth; and Missouri, sixth.

JONES LEADS CYCLONES

Sophomore Scores 37 Points in Three Games

Ames, Iowa, Jan. 7.—Teamed with four veterans on the Iowa State college basketball team, Victor Jones, sophomore from Sioux City, has made an impressive showing in the three games the Cyclones have played to date in preparation for the opening of their Big Six schedule here Friday night against Nebraska. In his debut in collegiate basketball, Jones stepped into the scoring lead with 37 points in three games.

Miss Jessie M. Machir, registrar, will return today from Kansas City where she has been for the past two days on business.

More and More Formality

Tails for Evening Wear With Trend Towards Formal Accessories Noted Among Men at Social Affairs.

HOLIDAY social festivities have turned the attention of young men everywhere to the subject of evening dress and a review of prevailing styles shows that the trend is toward more and more formality. The movement in this direction, observed as definitely under way about two years ago, has been accelerated until it is, this season, not only the accepted mode but practically the imperative.

The surest barometer is the full dress, or tail, coat. As a style feature, this garment has probably moved faster the last two years than anything made for men in a long, long time. It appeared in increasing numbers last season but this fall and early winter it has become almost unanimous for formal functions. Reports of stylists indicate that the return of women's evening dress, to more formality has been largely responsible for the trend in men's evening clothes.

With the tails, of course, there must follow formality in appurtenances—hat, shoes, shirt, collar and overcoat. Opera hats are said to be the favorites still for formal evening wear but a growing trend toward silk hats is also reported. The dress pump in patent leather, rather than in dull finish, is growing in favor with the trend towards tall coats.

Styles in dress shirts seem to have settled quite definitely on the two-button shirt in birdseye pique, both ribbed and plain. The single button shirt is occasionally seen at the smarter affairs but by far the majority are two-button. The one-button, however, is popular with the tuxedo. A new wing collar, even smarter than the always smart wing, is worn this season with the tall coat and pique shirt. The collar is slightly higher, 2 to 2½ inches, the opening more pointed though shorter. The most popular shirt opens in the back, so that the bosom always presents a smarter, smoother appearance and cannot be broken when studs are inserted. The bosom is also longer and more tapering, to slip snugly inside the higher-waisted trousers. Narrow spade, blunt end and square bow ties are equally good in black, for tuxedo, and white, for tails.

Newest dress shirt with (inset) enlarged view of bosom fabric.

CYCLONE BASKETEERS FIGHT F L U ATTACK

Roadcap and Five Others Stricken on Eve of Opening Game

Ames, Iowa, Jan. 6—Captain Roadcap occupied a bed in the Iowa State college hospital today as his mates on the Cyclone basketball team made final preparations for the opening of the Big Six conference season here Friday night against the University of Nebraska.

Roadcap had company in the hospital, as Harold Templeton and Dills, also squad members, were there taking treatments for flu. Three other members of the Cyclone squad are bothered with attacks of flu, among them Victor Jones, sophomore member of the first string, and Hood and Burrell, members of the second squad. Roadcap will probably see action against the Cornhuskers Friday night in the conference curtain-raiser. The injured knee of Ralph Thomson, regular forward, is the cause of more worry to Coach Menze.

Coach Menze yesterday cut his squad and divided his men into varsity and "B" teams. Eighteen men were retained, nine on each squad. Menze announced that regular games will be scheduled for the "B" team.

FOOTBALL ATTENDANCE SUFFERS SMALL DECLINE

Wildcat Gridsters Performance on Memorial Field Watched by 25,185 Persons

The total football attendance at Kansas State for the 1931 season was 25,185, a drop of 2,428 from that of the previous year.

Many colleges and universities suffered a severe decline in football attendance the past season, no doubt due to the fact that interest is declining somewhat and that the depression has caused others to forego the pleasure of witnessing the gridiron sport.

Attendance figures for the home games are distributed as follows: Pittsburg Teachers college, 3,594; Oklahoma university, 6,228; Nebraska university, 12,304; and North Dakota State, 3,059. The attendance for the 1930 season was 27,611.

K. U. RIFLE TEAM GROWS

Women Shooters Added to Squad
After Competitive Shooting.

Lawrence, Kans., Jan. 7—Seventeen more women have been added to the women's rifle team at the University of Kansas, bringing the squad to 35 members. The additional membership followed a period of competitive shooting. Pauline Durrett of Lebanon, who was high scorer on the women's team in 1928, has re-entered the university, and is again in rifle competition. A brisk contest is expected between Miss Durrett and Miss Peggy Perkins of Lawrence, high scorer last year.

Miss Winder spent the past summer in Europe meeting leaders of international affairs, and she spent two months in Geneva studying world problems and the League of Nations.

Another speaker at this meeting will be Mrs. J. E. Ackert whose subject is "Opportunities for Women in Europe."

All college women students, faculty women, and women of the town are cordially invited to attend.

OFFER SIX-HOUR COURSES

Modern Language Department
Combines Sections

Beginning next semester the modern language department will offer six classes with six hour credits. The classes meeting six times a week are German I-II, and German readings, two classes in French I-II, and one class in French readings, and Spanish I-II. It is necessary to take the two beginning courses in language together the second semester because no second course classes are offered in the fall. Dr. J. V. Cortelyou, head of the department, stated that the average number of students in six hour classes in the past has been about 20.

In Pioneer hall at the University of Minnesota six special length beds, 6 feet 4 inches long, have been installed for the use of tall men who live in the dormitory. Wonder what this is, a bid for bigger and better men?

STUDENTS WILL VOTE ON SUNDAY SHOW QUESTION

COLLEGIAN WILL CONDUCT BALLOT IN ANDERSON
HALL THURSDAY

CONSENSUS IS IN FAVOR

Results of 31 Campus Organizations
West Sunday Entertainment; Judge Pollock's Recent Decision Results in Shows

Students on the Kansas State campus will have a chance Thursday to vote for or against Sunday picture shows in Manhattan. The Collegian will conduct a poll in Anderson hall, and at that time all students are asked to cast their ballots favoring or not favoring the Sunday entertainment.

If the opinions of 31 campus organizations carry weight, the consensus is that students here want Sunday shows. Out of the number of presidents the Collegian was able to locate last night, only two individuals voted against the Sunday entertainment, and those two head the college Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A.

Most College Towns Have Shows
In all university and large state college towns in the surrounding states, students are given the advantage of witnessing Sunday picture shows. Last Sunday the shows at Lawrence opened, leaving Kansas State students as the only ones being denied the privilege of not having Sunday shows.

Theater managers here have expressed their desire to open the motion picture house providing the students and Manhattan people want the entertainment. The consensus indicates students are in favor.

Seven Shows Open Sunday

In addition to the shows opening Sunday in Lawrence, the citizens of the following towns enjoyed entertainment at the motion picture houses: Topeka, Emporia, Wichita, Kansas City, Arkansas City, and Hays. At Lawrence, two theater managers were arrested and charged with violation of the Sunday blue laws. The case, which will be heard Friday, will be in the nature of a test of the state law prohibiting work on Sunday other than household or other necessary or charitable duties.

Church Attendance Increased
Sunday shows have resulted in increased church attendance from outlying districts in several of the cities in which they have been inaugurated. According to reports, there has been an increase in business done by merchants in the towns affected.

Judge J. C. Pollock in federal court has refused to dismiss a temporary injunction against interference with Sunday shows.

DANCING SORORITY HOLDS ANNUAL PARTY

Enchiladas Winter Formal Featured by Absence of Customary "Gate Crashers"

Enchiladas, women's dancing organization, held its annual winter formal Saturday night at the Wareham ballroom. Prof. and Mrs. A. N. "Bo" McMillin and Prof. and Mrs. Frank Root acted as chaperones of the affair and were accompanied in the receiving line by Vera Bowersox, president of Enchiladas, and Carl Ossman.

The upper class girls looked at the world through rose-colored glasses in anticipation of the party because no underclassmen are admitted to the organization. Six girls from each sorority are elected to membership at the end of the school year.

The feature of the function, according to members present, was the fact the "crashers" were in minority in comparison to other years. Music was furnished by June Layton and his Varsity Club orchestra.

ENTER PORTRAIT STUDY

Picture of Floyd Hanna to be Hung
In Eastern Art Gallery.

A portrait study of Floyd J. Hanna, college photographer, which was made by George Wiley, a senior in mechanical engineering and assistant in the illustrations department, was among those selected to be hung in the salon of photography in the Rochester Memorial Art Gallery.

The portrait was "The Photographer," in which Mr. Hanna is shown in a developing room leaning over the pans and working. The facial expression is very impressive and the background is interesting, making the picture a real study.

The picture is entered in the third international salon in which it is to exhibit the best in photographic art.

Six classes serve two dinners each. Each class is divided into groups of two. One of these two girls acts as host and the other as hostess. They plan their own menu and cook the meal. Each group invites a girl as guest and some senior in home economics or a faculty member to act as critic. These meals are served in the dining room of the home economics building.

DANCING AND BRIDGE UNDER 'Y' INSTRUCTION

LEADERSHIP GROUP OFFERS TO TEACH KANSAS STATE
CO-EDS SOCIAL ARTS.

PROGRESS SEEN IN MOVE

Miss MacLeod Believes Many Women
Miss College Fun—A Nickel
Admission for Chance
To Learn.

There are leaders and leaders and all kinds of leadership, and probably it wasn't so many years ago that folks would consider that the Young Women's Christian association was leading Kansas State co-eds straight to the bow-wows by teaching them to play bridge and dance. But bow-wows or not, the leadership group of the Y. W. C. A. will teach these arts to women of Kansas State who wish to learn Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in recreation center.

It wasn't so long ago that cards and dancing were considered immoral by the good college fathers at Kansas State. In fact the catalogue stated very definitely that "undue social activities are frowned upon."

Cards No Longer Frowned Upon.
And it is a little more than a year ago that a rule forbidding playing cards in a college building was rescinded. Times change and now the Y. W. C. A. is offering to teach card playing and dancing to Kansas State women.

Not only are the members of the group offering their services but faculty members and townspeople are cooperating. Laura Ward, St. Joseph, Mo., and Geraldine Gourley, Nickerson, are in charge of the arrangements. Miss Lorraine Maytum of the women's physical education department will instruct in dancing.

Good Ideas Says Secretary.
It is expected that many women will take advantage of the opportunity, as Miss Dorothy MacLeod, executive secretary of Kansas State believes that many women have not had the opportunity of learning bridge and dancing and as a consequence lose out on social activities. Since social instruction by the Y. W. C. A. or any other organization, a nickel admission will be charged Friday night.

N-i-b-b-l-i-n-g-s

H. Miles Heberer is all for Sunday shows and his reason is a personal one. It'd be more convenient for him to review shows on Sunday rather than on Monday. . . . Zeke Sullivan kept the Phi Kappa pledges busy Sunday running to the Kappa house for Scot tissue. . . . One of the young Spanish instructors is growing professor-like. She walked home the other night to discover she'd left her car parked on the Hill.

... The pledges of Kappa Delta are conducting an endurance wind contest over the telephone. In observing the annual "Courtship Week," the pledges there answer the phone and in a sweet and unassuming voice say, "This is Sigma Gamma of Kappa Delta, 1716 Fairchild, Susy Smith, three years old speaking. It is my duty to call whenever you wish to speak to." . . . The listener grows discouraged and hangs up. . . . Not only the drain pipes on the new Tri Delta house bear the insignia of the sorority, but also does the new smoke stack on the campus which is to be painted shortly. Perhaps the Deltas there only resemble the Tri "Deltas," . . . and that isn't a smutty crack. . . . One of the campus social lights has already accepted one and turned down two bids to the Leap Year varsity Saturday night. . . . Bud Graham, the Pike entertainer, can put a whole cigar in his mouth and not even look like he's choking. Phyllis marvels. . . . Sally Shafer, after spending most of Sunday afternoon calling persons to ask for the abbreviation used when continuing a foot note to another page, found she couldn't find a place for the "ibid."

Journalism professors wonder why it is the Collegian thinks red ties and green shirts aren't the thing, and in attempting to show they are, were the two articles together last week. The color scheme, while including two of the most elementary of combinations, according to art students, indicates a barbarous spirit. . . .

Delts Hunt For Arline Kowe When Bovine Is Lost

"If you're going in for the life of a practical joker, make yourself letter perfect in every detail of the art," said the sage of Clay Center to the fraternity hotshot as Max departed south to the hurry and bustle of the college metropolis. The Wise Man failed, however, to warn his protegee to caution all his Greek brothers to beware of the clever foe—for the practical joker had a foe or two scattered about. For the most part these friendly enemies were innocent females who had put a misplaced faith in phone calls. Thus, inattention to detail caused the downfall of the aspiring youth, and proved the oft-repeated maxim of the venerable sage, that "A fraternity is only as smart as its dumbest member." The sad tale is briefly told.

The telephone of the fraternity house rang and the Greek who answered it heard a worried woman's voice ask him, "Is our lean cow there?" His chivalry was immediately aroused, (typical Delt, that pledge) and he searched madly over the premises of the colonial fraternity house, calling the while for "Arline Kowe! Arline Kowe! What the devil, you fellows! Can't you answer a guy? Is there any dame in this house by that name?" A bellow of "Nos" assured him that the lady was not present so he hastened back to the phone to break the sorry news as gently as possible to the gasping girl who had inquired for "our lean cow."

When he had finished telling her the tale of woe a sound broke from her lips suspiciously unlike the expected sob. He knew it for what it was, a giggle, a moment later when she told him, "I'm sorry to have bothered you, but the pasture gates were down, and she's lost. We just thought she might have strayed in to your front yard."

Dr. William T. Foster to Address
Student Assembly.

Dr. William T. Foster, well known educator, author, and economist will speak on "East is East and West is West" in student assembly tomorrow at 10:15 o'clock.

He will come to Kansas State on a speaking tour which includes the University of Missouri, the University of Kansas, Topeka, and the University of Oklahoma.

Among his writings one of Doctor Foster's books is entitled "Should Students Study?" His most recent work is "The Road to Plenty" which has received wide comment.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL TO END THURSDAY

FINAL GAME TO CLIMAX SEAS-

PETITION AMONG FRATS

SEMI-FINAL BATTLE TONIGHT

Phi Deltas and Betas to Fight It Out for Privilege of Meeting White Shirts in Final
Game

With two fraternities and one independent team still in the running, the intramural basketball question remains in the fire and the championship will be decided in the finals to be held Thursday evening in Nichols gymnasium.

Beta Theta Pi and Phi Delta Theta are the only teams that have weathered the tough competition between the fraternities that entered the meet. Phi Delta Theta has had considerable trouble in getting to the top of its bracket while the Betas have had easy sledding except for one game in which they were led up until the final minutes of the battle.

Semi-Final Game Tonight

The Phi Deltas and Betas will meet tonight in a semi-final game to decide the fraternity championship of the college. The winner of this game will meet the White Shirts, an independent team that is winner of the bracket composed of independent teams. This game will be final and will decide the school championship. At the present time all indications are that the winner of the Beta-Phi Delt game will be the champions and should easily outclass the White Shirts.

The Beta Theta Pi fraternity has an outstanding team entered this season and on it are several stars. The team as a whole is tall and has had considerable experience in basketball. The Betas were undefeated in their bracket which was composed of teams representing Tau Kappa Epsilon, Acacia, Lambda Chi Alpha, and Phi Sigma Kappa. The members of the Beta team that (Continued on Page Four)

"Y" PARTY PROVES SUCCESS

Committee Is To Be Commended
For Work on Entertainment.

The Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. party held last Friday night in recreation center and sponsored by the freshman commissions of both organizations was a big success due to the work of Joe Creed, Bartlesville, Okla., Pauline Compton, Manhattan, and Rose Skradski, Kansas City.

The first part of the evening was devoted to a program and games which were in charge of Creed. Dorothy MacLeod gave a short talk on what Freshman commission is and its activities. The rest of the evening was devoted to dancing and playing bridge. The refreshment committee, Pauline Compton and Rose Skradski, served cocoa and doughnuts. Scottie Hunter's three-piece orchestra furnished music for the dancing.

DEBATE OVER RADIO

Bernice Mosser, Larned, and Mabel Louise Whitford, Hutchinson, will broadcast in a debate with the University of Kansas over KSAC Thursday at 8 o'clock. "Russian Recognition" is the topic for discussion.

Y. W. C. A. VESPER TONIGHT

Vesper services will be conducted by the Y. W. C. A. this afternoon from 4 to 4:15 o'clock in Calvin hall rest room. June Gage will furnish the music and Miss Dorothy MacLeod will be in charge of the devotional exercises.

TABLES TURNED ON MEN; WOMEN TO MAKE DATES

MEN WILL RELINQUISH ALL INITIATIVE DURING LEAP YEAR VARSITY.

DOE LINE TO REPLACE STAGS

Co-eds Given Long Sought Freedom—And They Will Pay For It As The Men
Do.

A Leap Year that really means something—1932 promises to fill that bill at Kansas State if the first big varsity of the year is any indication at all. Saturday night at the Wareham ballroom June Layton and his red-hots will supply the rhythm for the Leap Year varsity at which all those good old leap year customs will be observed.

The co-eds are going to appropriate the men's prerogative of being the ruling body, according to Theta Sigma Phi, which instituted the movement. The girls will do the bidding, supply the transportation, furnish the cigarettes, refreshments—and even have exclusive rights at cutting.

Men In Mental Anguish

The men will be forced to go through the same hours of mental anguish, uncertainty, and disappointment which many of the co-eds have experienced. They'll know just how it feels to be faced with the prospect of an undesired dateless week end. A girl can now have that longed-for date with "my suppressed desire" legally.

Instead of the "stag line" there will be its counterpart, the "doe line." Cutting-in will be up to the co-eds, and there will be no limitation upon the number of "does" admitted. The Leap Year varsity supplies the independently natured girl a good means of displaying her independence by cutting in on any couple her vacillating fancy dictates. This feature alone will be a good index as to what Kansas State men are most preferred as dancing partners. Results may be damaging to the egos of some of the Kansas State Romeo!

The Man Will Now Wait

The man fortunate enough to have a date will be expected to stay in his house until his girl calls for him. The girl, of course, will stop at her Aggieville rendezvous for the customary pre-dance "chacha" while the poor male sits twiddling his thumbs, waiting.

A few of the men students, upon hearing of the proposed plans for the Leap Year varsity, were skeptical as to whether or not the girls would take advantage of the opportunity. "Aw, these girls just like to talk about 'doing the pickin'" and all that stuff, but there aren't many of them who have the courage to do as they desire. They are afraid to." That was the way one skeptic put it, and his statement was regarded as a direct challenge to the women to show that they are not hesitant in taking advantage of the arrangements for Saturday

WILL MANHATTAN HAVE SUNDAY SHOWS?
 If students here want Sunday picture shows let them cast their "yes" votes Thursday. If they don't want them, let them dampen the idea with "nos." Then the theater managers in this town will know if or if not the students will attend the entertainment if it is provided for them.

The Collegian believes the students here want something other to do on Sundays besides riding in cars on cold nights, sitting in the drug stores, and trying to find something to do in the over-crowded living rooms at the organized houses. If the Collegian is mistaken, the students will indicate that at the poll. If the Collegian is correct in its assumption, the student vote will show that. It is up to the student body. The time is ripe for the opening of Sunday picture shows since Judge J. S. Pollock recently refused to dismiss a temporary injunction against interference with Sunday shows in Fox theatres. If Kansas is ever to have Sunday shows, now is the time for those who wish them to indicate their approval.

Manhattan is unlike Lawrence. There the students are in driving distance of a large city where excellent Sunday shows are afforded. The university officials want Sunday pictures for the students there. Chancellor Lindley expressed his approval in a statement. Many accidents have resulted on the highways near Lawrence on Sundays when students were driving to nearby towns where Sunday entertainment was offered. The Lawrence officials agreed shows in the university town would result in the students' remaining in the town over the week end rather than spending their time and money elsewhere.

Sunday night more than a dozen Kansas State students attended the show at Fort Riley. Students who frequently attend Sunday entertainment there say that number is small, in comparison to the number usually in attendance.

One student here says she believes Sundays should be reserved for something besides the same entertainment that is offered on week days. She is no doubt right in her belief, but many students on this Hill as on other ones do not have time during the week to attend picture shows. They attend classes instead and listen to instructors talk. On Sundays they would no doubt prefer using their eyes instead of their ears.

The argument that Sunday shows would cut down church attendance is one which in the Collegian's opinion should not be used by a conscientious church-going individual. Churches should not attempt to compete with theaters. When they do, they place themselves in the same category as theaters, and by doing so, put themselves on a competitive basis. Churches like art museums and other institutions which appeal to the individuals spiritual nature, should be attended by those who would attend no matter what other entertainment was offered. A person who goes to church merely because he has nothing else to do, is doing himself and the church no good.

However, it is unnecessary to present arguments for or against Sunday shows. If the students want them, let them vote for them, if they don't, let them vote against them.

The result of Thursday's polls will solve the question of what the students want.

— The Snoopers —

When someone puts an exam schedule under our nose that we can figure out all by ourselves without the assistance of another durned soul, he has done a noble and beneficial service. We wrestled grittily the first few years without a fall with the usual blind alley puzzle sold at the post office each semester and finally lapsed into a state of indifference to let the instructor announce the date of the final himself. Sometimes we lifted our head and asked some member of the class as exam week drew dangerously near.

The Collegian did the trick. We've got our exam dates found out already—had 'em for nearly a week, and did it all alone. It's a great feeling to be so smart.

The old Sunday show issue has again jumped into the limelight, all because Federal Judge Pollock told everybody interested to jump in the lake and stomped out of the state to "jedge" some other trials. As a result the injunction the theatermen have against state officials is as good as gold and a thorn in the side of every loyal early-to-bedder in Kansas.

We witnessed a premier Sunday night at a show in an outlying town last week. The discreet manager began the performance immediately after church services at 8:30 o'clock. And, lo and behold, when the thing was over, almost all the church-going persons of the city gathered their prayer books under their arms, pulled coat collars around their faces and scurried out the door. It's the time-worn idea of a man going to the polls drunk as a lord and casting his vote for prohibition.

Hooray for leap year! Next Saturday night the old Snooper will barge out of his lodging quarters without a dime in his pocket (as will many other fellows), go to a dance, eat the equivalent of a Christmas dinner, smoke free cigarettes—and still not go to jail. The girls pay all the bills. The person who turned loose this idea is the greatest all-time hero of Kansas State, and is well deserving of the chocolate covered clockwork awarded by the trouser-clad members of the student body.

We sat bolt upright in our seat in an Aggieville drug store yesterday and felt a crystalline glaze form over our eyes as the thought struck of how the Kansas State health department had been spared all razberry publicity this whole semester. It was suggested by a young hopeful grumbling about the treatment he received for a blistered heel.

The medical staff members were plenty sassy when he told them how to treat the injured appendage, so he asserted his independence by pulling on his sock and walking out.

We'll bet half the frosh on the hill don't know the daily color combination of the Siever pill emporium right now. How many are aware of the fact they're supposed to take pink pills on Tuesdays for athletes' foot—or is it green ones this year?

Blake Wareham, traveler to distant parts and erstwhile varsity dance manager, has let fly another brain child and advertised his dances to get under way at 8 o'clock. There is only one defect to it. No girl in the world could ever get ready to go anywhere by that hour—not even for a walk around the block. It is possible, though, that some couples can get there by nine. That would revolutionize social customs of the college folk.

Two banquets for Kansas State exponents of the pigskin sport this week. Tonight the Pi Phi will stuff the gridsters with food and drink and before the aches from overloaded stomachs recede, the Chamber of Commerce will haul the boys down to the Community house to put on the feed bag again. Both are swell incentives to keep Bo's proteges from becoming lazy. It will take them till next fall to train down to normal.

AT THE DICKINSON

"Strictly Dishonorable"

Clever lines, a good plot and superb cast—what more could be wanted for a most entertaining movie? This risqué, sparkling play enjoyed huge success on the stage and has lost nothing in being translated to the verbiage screen. It starts in a speakeasy, with a young couple getting ready for their honeymoon. They quarrel, and the girl makes up with "Gus," opera star. Deserted by her fiancé she decides to spend the night with the singer. It is a nice family speakeasy with an amiable barfly judge who takes it upon himself to see that the little girl keeps her honor. Well, morning finally comes, but not before one has enjoyed a lot of good laughs. I especially liked Sidney Fox as the little girl from "Missippi" and Lewis Stone as the judge.—J. B.

AT THE VARSITY

"Fanny Foley Herself"

If you want to laugh and laugh hard you ought to see "Fanny Foley Herself," in which Edna May Oliver takes the lead and holds it. She plays the part of a clever vaudeville star, and goes through what her position forces her to, plus a lot more. And it's all laughs. The comedy is carried out in technicolor which always makes a hit with the audiences. Helen Chandler and John Darrow carry out minor parts. Better see it.—D. L.

A husband tries to love his wife and mistress at the same time and is not a howling success at either endeavor, courageous and tactful as he tried to be. Clive Brook as the husband, ends up at the old fireside with the kiddies on his knee after his eventful fling. You may like it—depends upon your taste.—J. B.

NATIONAL WORKER FOR PEACE TO SPEAK HERE

Miss Mary Ida Winder To Tell of Problems Before World Conference

Miss Mary Ida Winder, associate secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War and Mrs. J. E. Ackert of Manhattan will speak in Calvin 58 Thursday night from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock. Miss Winder's subject will be "The Problems Facing the World Disarmament Conference" and Mrs. Ackert's subject will be "Opportunities for Women in America."

Miss Winder has been associated with the peace movement since 1922 and is familiar with its various phases. As secretary for the Fellowship of Youth for Peace in New York City in 1925, she organized the first national conference of the fellowship. She has traveled extensively, and in five years has spoken 1,400 times.

While Miss Winder is here in Manhattan, she will speak to high school and other groups interested in disarmament. Student members of Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. are especially invited to hear her, for she was at the State Disarmament Conference in Topeka last fall. The public is also invited as the problems these women will discuss are of nation wide interest. The meeting is sponsored by the American Association of University Women.

FINAL EXAM PERIODS LONGER

The new plan for final examinations at the University of Nebraska limits the quiz periods to two periods a day and permits the student three hours instead of two in which to complete his paper. This plan is to be tried and cast aside, if, after one year of trial, it does not meet with the approval of the university faculty.

The library at the University of Nebraska has on display six illuminated manuscripts, the work of monks who lived between the tenth and fifteenth centuries. The miniatures are also being shown one dating back as far as 1380.

Professor Jones was the only one of six candidates who successfully passed the examinations which were given under the auspices of the University of Kansas.

STUDENTS STRIKE AT WYO. U.

Students' Recent Efforts of President to Control Morals

December 9 about two-thirds of the student body of the University of Wyoming went on a 24-hour strike over the question of the right of the president to control the morals of the students where university laws are not concerned. In spite of the fact that Dr. A. G. Gray refused to apologize to the students for denying them from cars parked outside the gym where a college dance was being held by the engineering students, and for making derogatory remarks about their characters, a truce was finally reached. After a meeting of the Laramie business men, faculty members, and representative students, Dr. Gray withdrew an order expelling all of the striking students from school. Classes were resumed December 10.

COLLEGE ACTIVITIES COUNT

Goodyear Company Takes Nebraska to Check Factory Employees
 It seems that collegiate newspapers do, after all, have a practical place in the world of big business. At least the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company seem to think they do. Recently the placement bureau of the University of Nebraska received a letter from the manager of the office personnel of the Goodyear firm, requesting that the company be put on the mailing list of the Daily Nebraskan. The letter explains this request by stating that the company is not entirely satisfied with the method of selecting employees heretofore used, and that they feel that the best indication they can have of the worth of an individual applicant is the interest and achievements in extra-curricular activities which he has shown while in school. The best and easiest way for the firm to check the students is through the accounts of their activities in the college paper.

FRATERNITIES GUARD HOUSES

Man of the fraternities at the Ohio State university took extra precaution and had their houses guarded during the winter vacation, due to an $885 loss through robberies during the autumn quarter. Clothing and cash were chief among the articles "missing." Others included were watches, a traveling bag, a candy dispenser, a head-bag, fraternity pin, and toilet articles.

KANSAS SATTE BASKETEERS LOSE OPENER

MISSOURI PLAYER GETS HOT AND DEFEATS WILDCATS MACHINE IN LAST MINUTE

WILDCATS POOR ON DEFENSE

Offense Also Below Par; Auker and Boyd, Guards, High Point Men on Wildcat Team

Kansas State opened its Big Six basketball season last Saturday night losing to Missouri university 32-29. The Wildcats led most of the way but three baskets in the closing minute of the game by Cooper, Missouri forward, outpointed the Wildcats.

The Wildcats jumped into the lead at the start of the game when Captain Auker sank a field goal from the side. Kansas State clung to the lead throughout the first half which ended 14-11 in the Wildcats favor. Soon after the start of the second half the Wildcats increased their lead to 18-13 and Missouri called time out. After resuming play, Missouri made three baskets in rapid succession to take the lead 19-18. Both teams scored at will during the next five minutes and with four minutes left to play the score was tied 26-26.

At this point Cooper got hot and scored three baskets in short order. The Kansans countered with a field goal and a free throw but the game ended soon after with Missouri the victor 32-29.

Wagner and Cooper Stars
Wagner and Cooper played sensational basketball for Missouri. Cooper led the scoring with six field goals and three free throws. Wagner, besides controlling the tip and playing a good defensive game, was able to score four field goals. For the Wildcats Auker, Breen, and Boyd scored six points each.

The Wildcats showed some improvement in this game over their pre-season contests but were unable to cope successfully with the Missouri team. Missouri placed a smart and well coached team on the court. It handled the ball with precision and broke loose for many unguarded shots during the first half.

Kansas University Next
The next conference game for the Wildcats is against Kansas university at Lawrence next Friday night. Both teams will enter this game with one conference defeat against their records. Kansas university having lost to Oklahoma last Saturday night.

The box score of the Kansas State-Missouri game:

CORNHUSKER MACHINE DOWNS CYCLONE FIVE

Nebraska Courtsters Upset Dope
And Hand Iowa State Defeat
In Season Opener.

In one of the most ragged games ever played on the Iowa State court, the Nebraska Cornhuskers defeated the Cyclones 28-24 last night. Twenty-four fouls were called during the course of the game by referee E. C. Quigley.

The score at the half was 14-14. The Cyclones ran up a five point lead immediately after the second half opened, but tired rapidly and failed to hold the lead.

The Iowans were badly crippled due to an epidemic of flu. Captain Jack Roadcap, leading scorer of the conference last season, wasn't in uniform.

Coach Menze used nine substitutes but failed to strike a winning combination. The Huskers played without substitution.

Hawk, Cyclone guard, was high scorer with four field goals. Henrion, Husker forward, was close behind with two field goals and three free throws for a total of seven points.

OKLAHOMA OUTPLAYS KANSAS TO WIN OPENER

Oklahoma Quintet Playing Without Two Regulars Down Highly Advertised Jayhawkers.

Oklahoma defeated Kansas 31-26 Saturday night in an overtime game which was the first conference game for both quintets.

Play was close throughout the game, the score being tied 13-13 at the half and 24-24 at the conclusion of the regular playing period. Percy Mann, Sooner guard, put the game on ice in the extra period by sinking two field goals.

The play of Andy Beck, Oklahoma forward, was outstanding. He was high point man with five baskets.

PAGEANT EXEMPLIFIES CHARACTER, EARNEST

High School Students Present Effective Program at Assembly Friday; Ideals Introduced

The great stone face of the mountain, from Hawthorne's well-known short story, looked down on the student body from the auditorium stage Friday as the high school students presented an effective pageant, "The Great Stone Face." The pageant, written by Lucille Fuller and Ellen Payne, was a modern version of Hawthorne's "The Great Stone Face" and expressed the New Year's wish of the high school to the college that 1932 might serve to exemplify the character of Earnest.

"The Traitor," a short play, was introduced into the pageant to show that heroes may not always live up to the ideals of the stone face. Other characters who might have been the ideal were introduced as musicians, readers and dancers. Students performing as these characters were: Gene Willoughby, Ona Lee Burson, Sybil Crocker, Cleo Wilson, Eleanor Otto, Ivernia Danielson, Lucille Rust, Gladys Axelton, and Kenneth Conwell.

OHIO ACQUIRES OLD UNIFORM

A cadet uniform, which was worn from 1874 to 1881, was donated to the museum at the Ohio State university by a member of the Columbus Cadets, which was organized soon after the Civil war. The uniform consists of a waist jacket slightly faded blue, lined with once-glittering gold-plated buttons, smartly set off with a white strap over each shoulder. The scabbard containing a straight dress sword is held by a white belt about the waist.

Dr. George Gemmell and son, Lee, spent the week end in Pittsburg visiting Mrs. Gemmell and Virginia, who were injured in an auto accident two weeks ago.

BERKELEY SQUARE NEXT THEATRE PRODUCTION

M. Correll and Lucille. Ten of the 15 cast members are from Manhattan. "Berkeley Square" is the first Manhattan Theatre production for four members of the cast, while seven have played leads in previous productions. Two of the cast have been on the stage professionally.

Although Virginia Burch has only been on the Kansas State campus one semester, she has already played a lead in a Theatre production, "Broadway." Miss Burch has had quite a bit of experience in amateur productions previously, however.

Professor Davis is quite famous as the body in the "Subway Express." He has had leads in three other Manhattan Theatre productions—"Meet the Wife," "Children of the Moon," and "Holiday."

Lucille Correll, a senior in general science, has been in the cast of two Manhattan Theatre plays, "Children of the Moon," and "The Shannons of Broadway." She had the lead in "Children of the Moon."

M. D. Olmsted has gone from one extreme to another, as far as parts are concerned. He played the villain in "Chip, the Miner's Daughter," and the detective in "Broadway." Before he came to Manhattan, two years ago, he had had quite a bit of theatrical experience.

Marjorie Allman, who played the lead in "Dulcy," is a graduate of the department of dramatics of Mills college. Last year she was at Radcliffe doing graduate work in dramatics.

Heberer has quite a string of Manhattan Theatre leads to his credit. He has done everything from tragedy to comedy in the eight following plays: Meet the Wife, One of the Family, You and I, The Shannons of Broadway, Merchants of Venice, Subway Express, He and Your Uncle Dudley.

Mary Myers Elliott, the Duchess of "Berkeley Square," had a lead in "Torchbearers" and in "He." She is a graduate of K. U. While she was in school there she took part in a great many plays. She has had two years' experience in Chattanooga, playing the lead in "Sun-up" for one entire season.

STUDENTS WILL VOTE ON SUNDAY SHOW QUESTION

ence with Sunday shows in Fox theaters. This action has the effect of a permanent injunction. In his opinion, Judge Pollock states that in many cities Sunday shows are in operation without complaint from state officials, which amounts to discrimination. He also states that numerous churches display moving pictures the same as those shown in theaters without complaint from pastors or church members, and that shows in general furnish a great deal of knowledge and instruction which can only work for the good of those who attend.

Judge Pollock's Order
The conclusion of Judge Pollock's order follows: "It is needless to state, that which should not be tolerated and must not be tolerated in this representative republic of ours, is intolerance and oppression, and in so far as this court is concerned it will not be. That the business by plaintiffs conducted in the manner in which it is done, I am fully persuaded, is not condemned by the right-minded, thinking people of this state. And this state has seen many criminal enactments not favored by the candid opinion and solid judgment of the people of the state, and hence, not endorsed by the courts and juries of the state, because not in harmony with public opinion."

The organizations whose presidents are in favor of Sunday shows are: Alpha Delta Pi; Alpha Xi Delta; Chi Omega; Delta Delta Delta; Delta Zeta; Kappa Delta; Kappa Gamma; Zeta Tau Alpha; Fraternity Alpha Kappa Lambda; Sigma Delta Chi; Theta Sigma Chi; Ionia; Alpha Rho Chi; Alpha Tau Omega; Delta Sigma Phi; Delta Tau Delta; Farm House; Lambda Chi Alpha; Phi Delta Theta; Phi Kappa; Phi Kappa Tau; Phi Sigma; Kappa; Pi Kappa Alpha; Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Sigma Phi Epsilon; Theta Xi; Sigma Nu; Senior Men's Panhellenic; Pi Epsilon Pi; Collegian.

Eight members of senior men's Panhellenic attending a meeting last night at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house all voted for Sunday shows.

Thursday every student on the hill will have a chance to vote for or against Sunday shows in Manhattan.

play regular positions are: Nip Van Aken, Lyons; Don Hutchinson, Hutchinson; E. E. Kennedy, Chase; T. R. Johnson, Topeka; and O. P. Stoner, Sabetha.

The Phi Deltas have had some tough battles in winning their bracket and started off the season with a one point win over Sigma Nu. This was their hardest battle and they won the right to play for the championship when they defeated Alpha Tau Omega in an easy game last Thursday night. Other teams in the Phi Delta bracket are Phi Kappa and Alpha Gamma Rho. The regular members of the Phi Delta team are: Max Leek, Great Bend; Milton Ehrlich, Marion; Don London, Topeka; E. D. Luder, Caldwell; and H. O. Taylor, Topeka.

White Shirts Independent Champs

The White Shirt aggregation which will meet the winner of the Phi Delta-Beta game is a team composed of several members of the freshman squad who have the advantage of the daily practice sessions and play a good brand of basketball. They won the right to play in the finals when they defeated the M. E. A. C. team, another independent organization. They won this game which was played last Friday night by a score of 17 to 12.

The game was featured by erratic passes and inaccurate shots at the basket. This may have been due to the fact that it was the first game for either team on the large court. Comparative performances show that they will have to improve their basketball if they want to win over the victor in tonight's semifinals.

CO-EDS RULE ON CAMPUS; GIGOLO ROLE FOR MEN

WOULD-BE "HOTS" FACE DIS-APPOINTMENT AS LEAP YEAR YEAR DANCE DRAWS NEAR

ADVANCE TICKET SALE GOOD

Party Promises To Be One of Best When Women Take Initiative
in Entertaining for Men
Students

All the "doe" tickets which were printed for the Leap Year varsity have been sold. All the date tickets which were printed for the Leap Year varsity have been sold. So many requests for tickets of both colors have been received that more are being printed—all of which indicates that the dance Saturday night is to be one of the best of the season.

Leap year to the lassies of Scotland once may have proved quite remunerative for there was an old law in that country which stated that any man turning down a girl's proposal of marriage had to give her either a good and sufficient excuse or pay her the sum of 25 pounds.

Profit of this kind is lacking so far as the co-eds of Kansas State are concerned this Leap Year, but great is the satisfaction they are deriving from being able to turn the tables on the men for once.

Was It For Me?

The college man is getting a sample of how it feels to have his heart leap with hope every time the phone rings—and then thud with disappointment when it's a call for one of the brothers.

"I've hung around the Rexall hoping someone would ask me to go for so long that I'm going to have to buy something to make it all right with the management," one of the men-about-the-campus is quoted as saying yesterday afternoon. It's fortunate for the Aggieville drug stores that the girls are so proud to hang around for bids to the "normal" varieties!

Another one proclaimed loudly that he had a hard Sunday school lesson to get and guessed he'd stay home Saturday night.

The number of smokers being given the night of the sixteenth is flagrantly noticeable!

The topic of the day among the girls is whether to stay or not to stay, and which man to ask so that he'll get out and be a favorite with the "does."

Bargain Makes Busy
"I'll cut you if you'll cut me," is the bargain they are making with one another and there is much giggling about arrangements for calling for dates before the dance. On this score the men plan to do some getting even on their own.

"I'll not even begin to shave 'til she gets to the door and I hope she finds out how much fun it is to wait for an hour or two," was the threat one of them made.

One of the big questions upon which there is much speculation is that concerning parking—etc. Some of the men who are most enthusiastic about all the other leap year aspects of the event get quite "Het up" over any possible usurpation of their rights along that line.

For once the man will have to watch the clock, worry about getting in on time, and obeying the flicker of the porch lights.

"And believe me, they're mighty strict at our house about the Hill rules," one Sigma Nu stated.

DELEGATES TO REPORT

Account of Convention To Be Given at "Y" Meet

Reports from the National Student Volunteer convention which was held in Buffalo, New York, during the Christmas holidays, will be given at the joint cabinet meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. at 4 o'clock in recreation center Tuesday, January 19, by the delegates who went from Kansas State.

Those who attended the convention were Marie Antrim, Spivey; Theodore Skinner, Manhattan; Harold Kugler, Abilene; and Dr. Helen Sharp of the department of Child Welfare and Euthenics.

The meeting will be open to all students interested.

WITHDRAW FROM COLLEGE
Jack Householder has withdrawn from college for the remainder of this year. He will be employed in an oil station at Clay Center, his home.

ATTEND PRESS MEETINGS

Professors Keith, Charles and Thackrey Are in Wichita
Prof. E. T. Keith, Prof. F. E. Charles, and R. I. Thackrey of the journalism department left late yesterday for Wichita where they will attend the fortieth annual Kansas Press association and Kansas Editorial association meetings being held today and tomorrow. Professor Charles will conduct a news-writing school for the Sedgewick county 4-H club reporters while there.

TO APPLY FOR POSITIONS
Applications for the positions of editor and business manager of the Kansas State Collegian for the spring semester are due January 29. The applications should be made to Rachel Lamprecht, chairman of the Collegian Board which votes on the candidates.

The poultrymen will hold sway that day, and are planning for a complete review of poultry raising conditions in the state and study for the prospect for 1932. In the forenoon farm women and men will attend the same meetings on poultry business and economics and production problems. A special homemakers' program has been planned for the women in the afternoon. A visit to the college poultry farm and announcement of poultry champions will follow the program of poultry discussions.

In the evening will be held a combined program of home economics and taxation.

To Stress Farm Beautification.
Dairymen will arrive for dairy day, February 10. The evening session that day will be a discussion.

WILDCAT GRIDSTERS DINE WITH THE PI PHIS

Following Annual Banquet the Purple Horde Works Out on the Dance Floor

Members of Pi Beta Phi entertained the lettermen of the Kansas State football team with a banquet at the chapter house last Tuesday night.

It has been the custom of the sorority for the past several years to honor the Wildcat grid teams in a similar manner.

The banquet began at 6:30 o'clock and following the dance, the remainder of the program was turned over to dancing.

The guest list for the banquet included Mr. and Mrs. A. N. (Bo) McMillin, Lloyd Michael, Harry Hasler, Walter Zeckler, L. B. Pilcher, Homer Hanson, Neil Weybrew, Eldon Teter, Alvin Stephenson, M. H. Wertzberger, Lloyd Dalton, Henry Cronkite, Dan Blaine, Paul Fairbank, Shelby Neely, Emmett Green, Glenn Harsh, Ray McMillin, Tom Bushby, Ralph Graham, Raymond Doll, Deland Shaffer, Eldon Auken, George Wiggins, Oss Maddox, Carl Anderson, and Owen Cochrane.

WASHBURN CO-EDS DANCE

COLLEGE BECOMES MEMBER OF LARGE STUDENT SOCIETY

TOLEDO CONFERENCE OF NATIONAL STUDENT FEDERATION APPROVES K. S. C.

LISTS EXTENSIVE PROGRAM

News Service, Student Problems, Debate, and Radio Broadcasting Named—Sullivan and Pratt Get Announcement

The conference of the National Student Federation of America, held at Toledo during the Christmas holidays, resulted in the admission of Kansas State college into the organization, according to Ed Sullivan, Mercer, Kansas State student council delegate.

The petition for membership in the federation was presented in Pittsburgh, Pa., by James Bonfield and Frank Conell, student council representatives last year. Sullivan and Lawrence Pratt, Manhattan, also a member of the student council, attended the recent Toledo meet in the capacity of observer delegates in compliance with regulations of the organization regarding election to membership.

Has Greater Scope
Kansas State was formerly affiliated with the Midwest Student association, consisting of a group of the smaller schools in this section of the country. Inasmuch as the National Student Federation of America has a greater representation among the larger schools of the United States and is broader in scope, it was considered a wise move on the part of the student council to become a member of the larger organization. The cost of membership ranges from $25 to $125, depending upon the number of students enrolled. According to Sullivan, Kansas State's membership fee will amount to approximately $60.

The National Student Federation of America was formed at the 1925 Princeton conference of student representatives from 245 educational institutions, assembled to discuss the question of the United States' entrance into the World court. It was carried on for two years as an experimental organization during which time it enjoyed expansion and steady development.

Today the federation is an organization representing more than 160 of the 560 accredited colleges and universities of the country, with a permanent central office carrying on four main lines of activity: to achieve a spirit of cooperation among the students of the United States; to give consideration to questions affecting students' interests; to develop an intelligent student opinion on questions of national and international importance; to foster understanding among the students of the world in the furtherance of an enduring peace; and, in working toward these ends the federation acts independently of any political party or religious creed.

Issues News Releases
The federation consists of a well distributed representation throughout the United States, extending from schools of the New England States, through the middle west, to the colleges and universities of the Pacific coast. The projected program for 1932 includes: to develop an intelligent student opinion on questions of national and international importance; to foster understanding among the students of the world in the furtherance of an enduring peace; and, in working toward these ends the federation acts independently of any political party or religious creed.

BARN NEARLY COMPLETED

Work on the new breeding experimental barn for the agronomy department is almost completed according to Prof. R. I. Throckmorton. The building, which is to be used in small grain improvement work under Dr. R. L. Parker's direction, was erected on land acquired by the agronomy department some years ago.

WEBS-EUROS TO MEET

NOTICE, DOES

Wanted: A date for the Leap Year varsity by a man whose intentions are honorable, who is six foot tall, and who is over 21. See Swede Anderson in the athletic department.—Adv.

(Paid for by Blake Wareham)

Chappell's carry four delicious Micks in stock. Dial 4441.

Ad Starts His Phone to Ringing From 'Nervy' Girls

"It pays to advertise," Ray Phelps can testify to that. The results from the following ad run in the Manhattan Mercury were immediate.

"Desirable young man wishes date for leap year varsity. 2-8184. Ray Phelps."

Last night Phelps' phone was kept ringing every other moment—one girl after another calling him in answer to the ad. He was very willing to give any information requested by the first girl to whom he talked—"Why I'm five feet ten—weigh 170 lbs.—have a healthy appetite. . . Oh, I'd order a coke at intermission, and probably a tuna-fish sandwich and another coke after the varsity. . . I can walk, but I'd rather ride. . . Oh, I've high principles—I'm a Methodist, and the parking would be up to my date. . . No, I didn't want a date as much as I wanted to see if any girl would have nerve enough call me!"

JUDGING TEAM TO DENVER

Livestock Team Must Win First Place in Show For Permanent Possession of Trophy.

Kansas State's junior livestock judging team left Wednesday afternoon for Fort Collins, Colo., where they will work out for two days before going to Denver to compete in the National Western Livestock show. The team was accompanied by Prof. F. W. Bell.

After competing in the judging contest Saturday against six other western schools the team will remain in Denver for a banquet Monday night and will return Tuesday. If the team wins first place this year it will win for all time the cup which is the trophy of the contest. One cup has already become the property of the college as a result of three firsts.

The six men on the Kansas State team who made the trip are Earl Coulter, Willis, A. C. Thomson, McCune; C. G. Page, Norton; J. I. Miller, Prescott; G. R. Munson, Junction City, and L. R. Daniels, St. Francis.

QUILL CLUB SPRING CONTEST CLOSING SOON

Manuscripts Must Be Submitted Before February 15 Says Marjorie Pyle—Rules Are Announced.

The spring membership contest for Ur Rure, local chapter of Quill club, national journalism organization, will close February 15, according to Marjorie Pyle, Manhattan, chancellor. Manuscripts may be submitted by any freshman, sophomore or junior in any division, and by any faculty member, and may be in the form of poems, feature stories, short stories and other written work that is original and is of literary nature.

If very short manuscripts are written it is suggested that more than one be submitted. Three copies of each article should be sent to the judges and these should be double spaced and written on one side of sheet only. The name should not be on the article but should be sealed in an envelope and attached to the copies so that the judges will not know names of individual contestants while considering their work. The members of the committee who will judge the manuscripts this spring are: Helen Hemphill and R. I. Thackrey, instructors in journalism, and Prof. H. W. Davis of the English department.

MU PHI SPONSORS DANCE.

NEWLY PAVED DRIVE OPENED YESTERDAY

Road East of Tennis Courts Constructed by Student Union—Unemployed—More Improvements.

The campus drive on the east side of the tennis courts which has been closed for more than a month for paving was opened to traffic Thursday afternoon. The drive was paved at this time to supply work for unemployed Manhattan citizens.

According to G. R. Pauling, superintendent of maintenance at Kansas State college, work on campus improvements for unemployment relief will be "continued as long as the money holds out."

At present the football practice field just north of the tennis courts is being terraced and enlarged. Pauling stated that there is a plan soon to fill in the fill on the baseball field making it possible to place the bleachers even further from the actual diamond.

The embankment on the south boundary of the baseball field will be terraced and improvements will be made on the adjoining road.

STUDENTS TO HAVE AID FUND

Campus Chest Drive To Start February 16 Will Be Conducted for Needy Students

Money obtained from the solicitation during the Campus Chest drive this year will be used to create a Student Aid fund on the hill. In former years the money has been sent to students in foreign countries, but this year the committee decided to make the drive for the needy Kansas State students. The solicitation will begin on February 16.

Members of the student Campus Chest committee are Otho Koutz, Jetmore, chairman; Phil Lautz, La Junta, Colo., campaign manager; Louise Davis, Nashville, Tenn., assistant campaign manager; John Johns, Abilene, publicity chairman; Margaret Chaney, Manhattan, assistant publicity chairman; Willard McMillin, Manhattan, treasurer; and H. W. Coberly, Gove, purchasing agent.

Faculty members who have been appointed by President F. D. Farrell to assist with the drive are Prof. F. L. Parrish, chairman, Prof. W. H. Andrews, Dr. H. T. Hill, Dr. A. A. Holz, Miss Jessie M. Machir, Dean Mary P. Van Zile, and Miss Dorothy MacLeod.

ETCHING CLASSES TO EXHIBIT WORK

Prof. John Helm Announces Schedule of Exhibits to Be Shown—Students Etch Campus.

An exhibit of etchings done by etching classes of Prof. John Helm, Jr., will be shown for two weeks in the gallery of the architecture department in the engineering building beginning January 29. According to Professor Helm there are a number of unusually fine etchings of campus views and sketches of scenes around Manhattan. This is the first year there has been an etching class here.

In February there will be an exhibit of prints from the "Prun" Print Makers and John S. Curry will exhibit his paintings.

From March 7 to 26 A. R. Woodall, Clay Center, will have an exhibit of folk art, which will include colored wooden sculpturing.

HOLTON INSTRUCTS STUDENTS

Education Head Tells Prospective Students About Placement Bureau

Approximately 100 students attended the prospective teacher's meeting Tuesday afternoon. Dr. E. L. Holton, head of the department of education, spoke on the procedure of getting a job, and gave instructions for enrolling in the placement bureau of the college.

Members of the education faculty advise that the few students who should have attended the meeting and didn't, should come to the department immediately for the information given at the meeting.

GREEK HOUSES NOT TO SUFFER NEXT SEMESTER

53 AFFILIATED WITH ORGANIZATIONS WILL LEAVE BUT 57 WILL RETURN

ENROLMENT TO BE AVERAGE

Vice President's Office Receives Usual Number of Requests for Catalogues; Reasons for Leaving College Numerous

The depression will not keep students from returning to school the second semester, according to a recent survey of organized houses made by the Collegian. In fact, for the 53 students leaving school there will be 57 enroll who were not in school last semester. Financial difficulties account for the loss of 33 of the 53, 14 will graduate, five are changing schools, and one will leave because of illness.

Phi Beta Phi will make the largest gain with four or five members returning and only one leaving. Sigma Alpha Epsilon will suffer the greatest loss with five men leaving and only one returning, and Kappa Kappa Gamma is a close second with three or four members leaving and none returning.

Figures Are Indefinite
These figures, however, are not at all definite because no sorority or fraternity is able to say positively how many will leave and how many will return. In a similar survey last year the estimated decrease was twice as large as the increase. However, when the enrollment was completed the number of students were almost the same as that of previous years.

The usual number of requests for catalogues and information has been received at the vice president's office. This is not a true indication of enrollment of new students as those who write in do not always come to college.

Wheat Prices Affect Some
Reasons given for leaving school were numerous. Wheat prices will determine the fate of many, bank failures account for some, and "just quitting" is the excuse of others.

"When final grades come out, I can say more definitely what I am going to do," one student said, and one young woman has decided to try to get a job at home so she can have "extra money for those little expenses which make college life agreeable."

W. A. Bechtel, Garden City, will change his course of study from electrical engineering to general science next semester. Bechtel has not been in college this semester but will enroll for the spring term.

N-i-b-b-l-i-n-g-s

One student was seen walking to class yesterday wearing a gay striped magenta green, and blue pajama jacket in place of the conventional shirt.

Two of the eligible bachelors on the Kansas State faculty were seen listening intently to a sermon given at a local church last Sunday on "Why Modern Marriage Fails."

More students were said to have attended that service than any other held in the church this year. . . . Many of the voters who said "No" on their Collegian ballots yesterday insisted the ballot box was being stuffed. At least, Harlan Rhodes is known to have voted twice. . . . A student recently giving a class report said "Monkeys monkey but they don't ape."

Inferring the ancestor of man worked out his own solutions while modern man mimics others. . . . One of the professors can tell all about the five best "cellars" in Richmond, Va. . . . As simple as the Collegian ballot was yesterday, some students apparently didn't understand how they were to mark it. One placed a cross after the question, another answered yes or no, another "My Gawd! Yes. . . . While another wrote "yes and no, but mostly no."

Six ballots were thrown out for the above answers. . . . At rehearsals for "Berkeley Square," lines other than those in the play are heard. . . . Most of the fellows not attending the dance Saturday night are staying home because the right girl didn't ask them. . . . The Lambda Chi's are rising to the occasion by having one of the pledges be "butler" to answer the door when the coeds come after their dates. . . . Don Wyatt turned down two bids for the dance.

CARTER ACCEPTS POSITION
J. C. Carter, Bradford, has accepted a position as demonstration man for Synthetic Egg Products. He took over his new duties January 1. Synthetic eggs are used in the manufacture of ice cream. Carter was a senior in agriculture and is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho.

WILSON TO DEBATE

Will Argue With K. U. Monday Over WDAF

Robert L. Wilson, Manhattan, will go to Kansas City Sunday to take part in an intercollegiate debate with the University of Missouri. The question for discussion is: "Should the Japanese policy in Manchuria be condemned?" David Lu who will talk on the affirmative side of the question is a graduate student at the University of Missouri and is a native of Canton, China. The debate will be broadcast over WDAF at 5:30 o'clock Sunday.

Wilson is a junior in commerce.

MAT SQUAD TO OPEN SEASON HERE TOMORROW

KANSAS STATE TO DEFEND BIG SIX CHAMPIONSHIP; CYCLONES RUNNERS-UP

BOTH BOAST WINNING TEAMS

Iowa State To Bring Wrestling Squad That Is Doped To Take 1932 Conference Crown

Kansas State's Big-Six wrestling champions will begin their quest for another title when they meet the Iowa State Cyclones here tomorrow night at 7:30 in Nichols gymnasium.

Iowa State was runner-up to the Wildcat matmen last year and promise another good team this year.

Tryouts for the team have been in progress since the holidays and ended this week with a team selected by Coach B. R. Patterson.

Only two men of the championship 1931 team are back on the squad this season. They are Captain Bill Doyle and Floyd Tempero of the 135 and 145 pound classes respectively.

F. L. "Whitey" Tempero, Broughton, will be the representative in the 135-pound class, after defeating L. D. Kleiss, Coffeyville, in the trials.

Bill Doyle, Douglass, Bix Six and national champion in the 145-pound class last year, defeated George Watson, Vining, in the team selections. His ability was proven in his record last year.

The 118-pound class will be represented by Newton Hinkson, Halstead. Hinkson is a junior and in his first year of varsity competition.

Newcomers Show Up Well
Another newcomer on the team is Wayne Burbank, Benton, who defeated R. H. Campbell, Grenola, for the right to represent Kansas State in the 126-pound division.

Burbank, a sophomore, won the state high school championship for one year and was runner-up the preceding year.

Another Wildcat grappler with some experience is June Roberts, Larned, who will represent Kansas State in the 155-pound section by virtue of a defeat over H. Bohnenblust, Leonardville.

F. M. Bzarth, Lenora, defeated J. Miller, Independence, for the (Continued on Page Three)

VAN ZILE SELECTS BEAUTY

Grace Ahlstrom Will Be a Candidate in Royal Purple Contest

Grace Ahlstrom, Kansas City, Mo., has been selected to represent Van Zile hall in the beauty queen contest sponsored by the Royal Purple, according to James Chapman, editor of the yearbook. Miss Ahlstrom is a freshman in home economics.

A total of 21 nominations has been made for the competition. The five winners will be announced in April at the yearbook's beauty ball.

ORATORS TO COMPETE HERE

Kansas State has been selected for a state-wide oratorical contest, March 11 and 12 in which 15 Kansas colleges and universities will compete.

The contest will be sponsored by the recently organized Kansas Intercollegiate Oratorical association, which plans to hold a similar contest on even numbered years.

Josephine Merryman, Topeka, will return to college next semester, and plans to change her course of study from home economics to general science.

You'll agree, Chappell's Lemon Custard is delightfully different.

KANSAS STATE STUDENTS WANT SUNDAY SHOWS

COLLEGIAN POLL RESULTS IN LANDSLIDE FOR "YEAS"

RECORD VOTE IS CAST

Outcome of Trials Against Lawrence Theater Managers Is Determining Factor in the Controversial Question

Manhattan will have Sunday shows if the student ballot cast in Anderson hall yesterday has anything to do with the theater's opening on the Sabbath. Students want the shows. That was proved when 765 voted for them yesterday, while only 189 voted against them.

The poll, conducted by the Kansas State Collegian, resulted in an approximate four to one vote for Sunday entertainment at the picture houses in this city. Faculty members as well as students voted on the question on the ballot, "Do you favor Sunday shows," answer yes or no. The votes cast set a record for informal elections on this campus.

Trial in Lawrence Today
Whether or not the theater managers in Manhattan will attempt to open the shows may depend upon the outcome of the case now pending in the Douglas county courts of two Lawrence theater managers who were arrested and charged with violation of Kansas' Sunday "blue laws," after showing pictures Sunday. The trial is being held today.

University authorities as well as the business men of Lawrence are in favor of Sunday shows in the Douglas county seat. They believe the opening of shows there will result in the university students remaining in the town over the week end rather than spending their time where more entertainment is offered.

"Blue Laws" Discriminatory
Shows were opened Sunday in Topeka and other Kansas cities on the strength of the restraining order recently issued by Federal Judge J. C. Pollock refusing an injunction which would prevent Fox theaters from operating on Sundays. Judge Pollock in his opinion cited discrimination by state officials in enforcing the "blue law."

In Manhattan the theaters are under the supervision of the Welfare Board which is composed of five city electors. This board has the power to regulate the hours and days upon which shows may be shown, and it is through the Welfare board that the theaters must gain permission to operate on Sunday. That permission will not be sought until after the decision is given on the trial today at Lawrence.

Gigolos will come into their own tomorrow night when the co-eds here bring about an innovation by taking men to a leap year varsity and footing all the bills.

The "Doe" line is going to be a large one, nearly equalling that of the Homecoming shin dig if reports from the sorority houses are accurate. Kappas will be in evidence when the cutting is done, and the Tri Deltas will have many members and pledges scampering wildly through the dancers looking for one of the "men they've always wanted to dance with."

The co-eds are apparently getting wise to the ways of dances and are beginning to realize the ball room opens at 9 o'clock and not 10 o'clock. Many have made it known they're going to be there when the curtain rises, and stay 'til the sun does the same thing.

The Kappa Sigs are to be given the privilege of riding inside and not outside of the open air job of one of the members. The co-eds have borrowed the car for the occasion and will ride the running boards while their dates sit on the cushions and smoke.

STUDENTS WANT SUNDAY MOVIES.
Although Kansas State students have voted that they want Sunday shows in Manhattan, the problem still remains of how to bring about that revolutionary change in this city. The Welfare Board here, which supervises the theaters and issues permits for their operation, recently refused to let one of the local managers give a charity movie on Sunday. If the Welfare Board won't give in to charity, will it give in to the demand of 765 students?

Towns around Manhattan will have Sunday shows within the next few weeks, the Collegian is informed. If such is the case, Manhattan will have to compete with those towns in offering entertainment here at the theaters, or see the citizens of the small towns in this trading territory go elsewhere to find amusement. When these citizens reach the other towns they are going to see many articles they wish to purchase, in the display windows of the stores, they are going to eat dinners in the hotels and restaurants of these towns, and they are going to patronize the drug stores there. The mothers and fathers of the young people will accompany their sons and daughters to these towns, and while the children are attending a show, they will go to church.

Those people will become accustomed to driving into other towns than Manhattan. They will make those towns their trading centers and forget Manhattan existed, because Manhattan will be considered a back number.

Students here will also attend those shows in other adjoining towns. They will also see merchandise in the windows which they can and will purchase there on week days.

Business men in the other towns will benefit. Manhattan's business men will stand the loss.

It would be to the interest of the Chamber of Commerce in this town to see that the Welfare Board permitted Sunday shows here. If the Chamber of Commerce cannot persuade the Welfare Board there should be Sunday shows, perhaps the citizens of Manhattan can do the persuading.

No one will be harmed by Sunday shows. The morals of the younger generation will not go to rack and ruin because of Sunday movies. The churches will not suffer in attendance because those that want to go to church will go anyway despite what entertainment they might be offered.

The Collegian believes all would benefit, and no one would lose through opening the theaters here on Sunday.

WHY BROADCAST FOREIGN BANDS?

Requests are to be made or have been made to President F. D. Farrell by managers of two of the Hill's largest parties for the broadcasting of music from the Wareham ball room over radio station KSAC.

Many alumni have expressed their desire to hear June Layton's band play over the air. The band, in most of the alumni's minds, is more closely associated to the college than any organization other than the athletic teams, the glee clubs, and the college orchestra and band which they occasionally hear over the air.

It has been rumored that the managers of one of the two parties is considering hiring a negro orchestra from Omaha to play for the dance, rather than using June Layton's band.

What alumni would want to hear a negro band playing music over station KSAC?

What would be the object of broadcasting a dance over radio station KSAC if the music is to be furnished by a negro band not associated in any way with the college?

THE KANSAS IS MAGNIFIQUENT

Our esteemed contemporary, the University Daily Kansan, gets off some of its usual brilliant humor at our expense, the excuse being the Collegian's campaign to reduce congestion in Anderson hall between classes.

The Kansan managed to fill up more than a column of its valuable space with the type of remarks that first drew a laugh from K. U. students in the days when an Episcopal seminary roosted atop Mount Oread instead of (y-a-w-n) the home of the dod-er, pardon us, Jayhawk.

We suppose that at Lawrence, where the Phi Psi's speak only to Thetas, and the Thetas speak only to the Chancellor, a movement to eliminate congestion in the Ad building would not be in order. The ox university's only between class problem seems to be one of speed, as the boys and girls dash past one another with noses held high in rarified atmosphere.

The Snoopers

Just as Swede Anderson was about to release the gist of the speech he made at the chamber of commerce football banquet last night for exclusive publication in the Snoopers column, Blake Wareham came in and gummed the works. He planked 60 cents on the barrel-head for an advertisement denoting Swede's desire to attend the leap year varsity tomorrow night and frightened the coach away. Just a gigolo—

Report has it that Roscoe Pitts, dusky devotee of Kansas State football, projects himself in startled flight at the mention of the name "Cronkite," in the vicinity of his shoe shine chair in Cohen's cafe. Superfluous publicity has made him wary.

Professor Conover has suggested the means of some philanthropist gaining some publicity and getting rid of a portion of his wealth by offering a prize for the most silly and senseless editorial of the year. It so happened that a number of Collegian staff members were sitting before him. As a thought in idle reverie, we've never seen Mr. Conover in other than a double breasted suit.

If the number of handshakes and congratulatory remarks are taken as conclusive evidence, Curt Steele was the hero of the Phi Delta-Beta basketball fracas Tuesday night. He was in the game one minute and scored a basket. One Beta grumpily said if it were raining hot dogs, Curt would be there with a sack, but the proud basketballer stoutly maintained that his percentage was 1.000. Steele has announced that he will consider any likely propositions from professional clubs.

Judge For Yourself

Editor's Note: The Alpha Kappa Lambda house was called Monday night by a reporter who asked for the president of the house, and explained he was calling all houses to ask what the heads of the organizations thought of Sunday shows. The individual talking left the impression he was president and answered in the affirmative when asked if he was in favor of Sunday shows. A mistake was made. The man talking was not the president, and the Collegian thought he was. This Judge for Yourself is the result:

The Collegian quoted the Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity as favoring Sunday shows in the article published in Tuesday's Collegian.

Alpha Kappa Lambda does not favor Sunday shows. One of the fundamental principles of this fraternity is Christian character and the chapter feels that Sunday shows would not be in keeping with the spirit of the Sabbath.

In regard to this matter, the president of this fraternity was never called and the proposition never mentioned to him. One of the members here, a president of some organization on the hill gave his views, but that can not be taken as the views of the president of this organization or of the standing of this chapter on the question.

As this error has caused some comment among those who are acquainted with this fraternity and its ideals, I would suggest that some correction be made in the next issue of the Collegian.

Yours truly,
JOHN S. SCHAFER.

CRONKITE DEFINITELY OUT OF BASKETBALL

Unexpected Complications Prevent Court Star From Entering Further Athletic Activities

An X-ray made Wednesday of the injured foot of Henry Cronkite, letterman on the Kansas State basketball team, discloses injuries heretofore unnoticed and it has proved necessary that his foot again be placed in the cast from which it was removed only recently.

Cronkite's foot was injured in a post season charity football game in which he piloted the Wildcats to a win over the Wichita university Shockers. One of the smaller bones in his foot was broken and medical attention was given immediately. The injured limb was placed in a cast where it was kept for several weeks.

The cast was removed last week and it was expected that Cronkite was in shape to practice basketball along with the team in which he was a regular center last year. He spent several practice periods on the basketball court before the doctors could order him to wait until the bone had healed and the entire leg had more strength. The X-ray taken Wednesday shows weight has caused the bone to spread at the break and it will be necessary for the bone to be broken in the same place and the process of mending repeated.

"It has been definitely decided that I can't play basketball this season and I guess I'm going to spend several weeks more on crutches," Cronkite told a Collegian reporter when asked about his future in Kansas State basketball.

"Yes, I am considering going to West Point after graduation from Kansas State, although I haven't decided definitely. Everything depends upon how my ankle heals," he said when asked about his future. He added that, "If I get the job I want, I'll take it; if not, it's a toss-up between West Point and professional football. I have been offered contracts by the New York Giants, Green Bay Packers, and the Chicago Bears."

STUDENTS HEAR FOSTER DISCUSS DEPRESSION

Money Driven Out of Circulation With Crash, According to Assembly Address

"Lack of purchasing power on the part of people who want to be consumers, is the cause of the present business depression in this country," declared Dr. William T. Foster, well known educator, author, and economist, in speaking on "East is East and West is West" in chapel Friday morning.

"Money has been driven out of circulation. . . When the crash came, money disappeared. At that time $720,000,000 went into time deposits. Bankers refused to lend money," continued Doctor Foster in discussing the main cause of the depression. It is his opinion that our high standard of living in this country after the war was due, not to extravagance, but to a large amount of money in circulation.

General public opinion is that the depression was caused by over-production. According to Doctor Foster, the citizens of Tuloch, Cal., decided to get rid of an overproduction of eggs, not by speaking to the hen about it, but by throwing the eggs at each other. "This may work all right with eggs but would it solve the over-production of steel rails in Pittsburgh?" asked Doctor Foster.

He pointed out that according to the theory that overproduction was the cause of the depression, the only thing that is wrong with our country is efficiency. In that case it might be well to declare a moratorium on inventions or close all universities for a period of ten years. This would give rise to bigger and better inefficiency experts.

In conclusion, Doctor Foster recalled the definition of depression as given by a country editor. "Hard times is a period when people quit feeding the cow and wonder why she gives less milk."

A student working his way through the chemistry school at the University of Minnesota is "the" jack of all trades. He delivers ice cream during the day, and, being an undertaker, is always ready for work at night in the mortuary where he sleeps. During the school hours he mixes chemicals.

PUBLIC OPINION FACTOR IN GENEVA CONFERENCE

Mary Ida Winder Stresses Student Thought on Question in Round Table Discussion

"Public opinion will be a decisive factor in the Geneva conference and in the ratification afterward by our government of any treaty which may be drawn up." This statement was made by Miss Mary Ida Winder, associate secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, Washington, D. C., and Des Moines, Iowa, in a round table discussion of disarmament in Calvin hall rest room at 4:00 o'clock yesterday.

Miss Winder was introduced by Blanche Duguid, Olathe, who heard her speak at the college disarmament conference in Topeka this fall. In her discussion of "Can Germany Pay?" Miss Winder stated that most people "see only the surface" where they do not see signs of depression. She stated that Germany's trade has been crippled because of high national tariffs and that "psychologically, Hoover's debt moratorium was not a good thing for Germany because it made other nations think she was able to pay and thus destroyed her credit."

When asked, "Do you feel Hitlerism in Germany is a serious menace?" she answered, "Yes, I do."

In closing her talk on "What I Learned in Europe about the Disarmament Conference," Miss Winder said, "Delegates to Geneva will go as far as public opinion will support them and no farther. Your future and my job as citizens of the United States will not end when the Geneva conference ends. Students can and should think about this question."

WILL SPEAK TO KIWANIANS

Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the public speaking department, will talk to delegates attending the annual district trustees conference of the Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas district of Kiwanis. Doctor Hill's topic will be "The Club President's Job." Dr. E. C. Miller of the botany department, Prof. K. W. Given of the public speaking department and Frank Bergman, Manhattan, will also attend the conference.

TO STIMULATE RELATIONS

The latest thing in the trend toward adult education is the course Columbia university is offering for its alumni in an attempt to stimulate intellectual relations between the university and the alumni. The courses will be given by prominent members of the faculty on such subjects as art, science, and international relations. Two hours of outside preparation are required each week.

INDIANA GETS OLD PIANO

A rosewood piano, 111 years old, was recently bequeathed to the Indiana university by Mrs. George Roberts, Vicksburg, Miss. It is three feet high, and measures about nine feet in length by two feet in width. It is decorated in gold. The beautiful gold and rosewood case has never cracked, in spite of the fact that it was transported half the width of the continent by wagon and flatboat in the days before the railroads stretched over the country.

DISCOVERS SIMPLEST ELEMENT AT COLUMBIA

Newly Discovered Isotope of Hydrogen Points Way to New Field of Scientific Research.

New York, Jan. 14.—Discovery of an isotope of hydrogen, simplest element, by Dr. Harold C. Urey, associate professor of chemistry at Columbia university, this week was believed to have pointed the way to an entirely new field of scientific research.

The nature of the new form of hydrogen, showing the presence of two protons in the atomic nucleus instead of the usual one, was established by Dr. Urey in cooperation with Dr. G. M. Murphy, research associate, and Dr. F. C. Brickwedde of the Bureau of Standards.

"A large number of chemical problems can be investigated, if the isotopic form of hydrogen can be instead of the usual one, was established," Dr. Urey said. "It is very possible that Dr. Brickwedde may do this."

Besides being approximately twice as heavy as ordinary hydrogen, the isotopic variety also is inclined to occupy more space. In the form studied by the Columbia chemists, the volume of the isotopic hydrogen is about 4,500 times greater than the type with the simple nucleus.

Dr. Urey's conclusions were based upon the discovery of a displaced line in the spectrum of a small amount of hydrogen that was obtained in the form of residual gas, collected by Dr. Brickwedde after he had liquefied ordinary hydrogen.

Abuse and Misuse of the Eyes

There is a general misconception that eyestrain results only when some eye defect exists. But normal eyes suffer from eyestrain when they are abused or over-worked.

Continued abuse or over-work of the eyes can and does produce a defect and the results are the same as if the person was born with a structural defect of vision.

Improper lighting is a prevalent cause of eyestrain. The light is often too bright, the source unshielded or the brilliancy not constant. Modern science has given optical practitioners methods of testing eye sensitivity and has provided eyeglass lenses to control excess light rays.

165-pound title, Arthur Thiele, Marysville, won over Shelby Neely, Hopewill, to wrestle in the heavyweight division. Bozarth has had some experience although this is Thiele's first year of varsity competition.

No 175-Pound Grapplers

There will be no 175-pound class in Big Six wrestling this year due to the action of conference athletic directors in their program of curtailment of expenses.

Kansas State lost three Big Six champions by graduation last year. They are "Duke" Errington, captain and Big Six heavyweight champion; John Richardson, 155 pounds; and Joe Fickel, 126 pounds.

Iowa State is bringing a strong squad here tomorrow night. Little will be pitted against Hinkson in the 118-pound class. Williams, former Big Six champion, is the Cyclones' 126-pounder. Either Burley or Golden will wrestle in the 135-pound division.

Doyle-Thomas Match Outstanding

Probably the outstanding match on the program is that between Doyle of the Wildcats and Thomas of Iowa State. Thomas was a runner-up to Doyle in both the Big Six and National Collegiate Athletic association championships last year.

Prevert or Ruggles will be the representative in the 155-pound division. Martin is the Iowa State 165-pounder. Hess is their heavyweight and was also runner-up in the Big Six and N. C. A. A. last year.

The match tomorrow night promises to be a decisive battle regardless of it being the curtain raiser for both teams in the 1932 wrestling season.

Patterson Deserves Credit

Coach B. R. Patterson is now in his fifth year as coach at Kansas State. He came here from Oklahoma A. and M. where, as a student, he won the national championship collegiate of his weight.

Patterson has brought Kansas State from the bottom to the top of Big Six wrestling circles. They were winners of the Big Six crown last year and one of the members won one national championship. Two others were runners-up in their classes.

The complete Kansas State wrestling schedule for this season is: January 16, Iowa State at Manhattan; January 30, Kansas university at Lawrence; February 5, Oklahoma A. and M. at Stillwater; February 6, N. E. S. T. C. at Tahlaqueh, Okla.; February 12, Oklahoma university at Norman; and February 20, Nebraska university at Manhattan.

RELEASE LIST OF FARM AND HOME WEEK FEATURES

sion by architects and gardeners of how rural homes and rural home grounds may be beautified by remodeling, by the use of paints, and by landscaping.

February 11 will be an important day for the Kansas Blue Ribbon Corn show, which is a feature of the week. A silver trophy will be awarded for the champion ten ears of corn. New members of the One-Hundred Bushel Corn club will be announced at the Kansas Crop Improvement banquet Thursday evening.

Miniature American Royal.

Live stock raisers convene on February 11. The annual "Little American Royal" livestock and Dairy show is to be held that evening as one of the attractions of the week. The show is staged by the Block and Bridge and Dairy clubs of the college.

Dean L. E. Call will present the medals to the winners in judging and fitting and showing competition; President F. D. Farrell will introduce the judging teams; L. D. Morgan, Manhattan, heads the entertainment committee; Ralph Munson, Junction City, is chairman of the decorations group; L. S. Perkins, Argonia, and A. Helm, Chanute, compose the committee in charge of refreshments; George Washington, Manhattan, has charge of entries; Fred Bowles, Walnut, is in charge of publicity; W. M. Myers, Bancroft, heads the ushers; and Robert Blair, Manhattan, will be ringmaster.

Achievement Banquet A Feature.

February 12 is all crops growers day and marks the finale of Farm and Home week. The achievement banquet will be held the evening of that day, at which time the Kansas Master Farmers will be presented, and prize winners in various contests, such as corn production, beef and pork production, poultry improvement, and dairy production, will be announced.

This year's program will devote somewhat from those held in past years. On each of the four days devoted to the major farm enterprises, consideration will first be given to the international, national, and state outlook for the consumption of that commodity and then the latest improved practices in production and marketing developed by the experiment station and field workers of the state will be presented.

gram of the organization includes the development of a student news service, consisting of a weekly news release sent to the editors of college newspapers and to student leaders abroad. Through this medium efforts are made to improve present contacts in foreign countries for the securing of accurate information concerning student affairs.

The solution of student problems pertaining to information regarding student self-help, scholarships and loans will be taken up in subsequent sessions of the federation.

It will sponsor the development of a unique system of student travel, concentrating not only on sending American students abroad, but also on bringing European students to America at the least possible cost.

Debating and radio broadcasting are considered in the program of the federation. European debate teams will be brought to America and two German-speaking American students will be sent on a speaking tour through Germany and other countries of the continent. Semi-monthly radio broadcasts over the Columbia national network by noted persons are carried on and arrangements for a nation wide hook-up on the opening of the Geneva disarmament conference next month are nearly completed.

Sullivan and Pratt, as observer delegates at Toledo, were allowed all rights and privileges extended to members, being prohibited only in voting upon major questions. In this capacity, the Kansas delegates led a fight on the floor of the conference to oppose the prohibition law as it now stands, the result of which has already been published.

K. U.—WILDCAT COURT CLASH SET FOR TONIGHT

TEAMS HAVE PLAYED TWO GAMES THIS SEASON—K. U. WON BOTH.

BIG SIX TITLE AT STAKE

Each Team Has Lost One Conference Battle—Another Loss May Prove Very Costly.

The Jayhawkers and Aggies have met twice before this season. Those two games were non-conference affairs. The first game, played at Lawrence, December 11, was won by Kansas, the score being 32 to 30. Another close game was won by the Jayhawkers when they defeated the Aggies at Manhattan, December 16, by the score of 27-25.

Both teams have been defeated in conference games this year. Kansas State lost to Missouri and Kansas was defeated by Oklahoma. The Jayhawkers have a victory to their credit, having downed Nebraska university Tuesday night.

K. U. Holds Advantage of Past. In the 62 games between the two schools previous to the 1932 season, Kansas has won 35 and Kansas State 27 with the total scores of 1,817 for Kansas and 1,578 for Kansas State. Previous also to the two non-conference games played in December, of the 62 games, four were won by a margin of three points, five by a margin of two points and two by the minimum difference of one point. Last year Kansas won both games from the Wildcats by scores of 37-29 and 40-26.

Big Change in Line-Ups. This year the personnel of the two teams is considerably different from last year. At Kansas, Cox and Bishop, two all-conference men, have been replaced by Harrington and Casini, sophomores. The other three regulars from last year, Johnson, Page, and O'Leary, are playing their respective positions this year. Of the nine men who made letters at Kansas State last year all but Captain Nigro, Vohs, and Cronkite remain. Nigro and Vohs have completed their competition and Cronkite is probably out for the season due to injuries received in football.

Twelve Men Make Trip. The Wildcats leave for Lawrence

this afternoon in a bus, returning after the game. Coach Corsaut will take 12 men on the trip. Men who will make the trip are Brookway, Green, Graham, and Silverwood, forwards; Dalton, Hanson, and Skradski, centers; and Captain Auker, Boyd, Fairbanks, Wiggins, and Hasler, guards.

The probable starting line-ups for tonight's game are:

Kansas State	Kansas U.
Skradski forward	O'Leary forward
Graham forward	Harrington forward
Dalton center	Johnson center
Auker guard	Casini guard
Boyd guard	Page guard

NEBRASKA UNIVERSITY CAGE TEAM HERE MONDAY

Cornhuskers To Meet Wildcats on Local Court in Big Six Tilt

One of the hardest games of the present basketball season will be held on the local basketball court Monday night when the Kansas State Wildcats meet the Nebraska university Cornhuskers in a Big Six conference court tilt.

The actual strength of the two teams will remain somewhat doubtful until after the games scheduled this week end.

Nebraska is doped as one of the weaker teams in the conference this year but the victory over the powerful Iowa State squad last Friday makes the Huskers a team to be feared. The Cornhuskers are enjoying the services of only one letterman on their squad, yet a group of sophomores have been able to hold the winning hand in any game played thus far this season. They won only one of their pre-season games but the four that were dropped were only lost by a few points each.

The Nebraskans had little trouble in holding the Iowa State five which was playing without the services of its captain, Roadcap, and two other regulars who were in the hospital recuperating from attacks of influenza.

Kansas State will enter the game with a poorer record than that of the Cornhuskers unless the Kansas State team is able to win from the Jayhawkers in the tilt at Lawrence tonight. The Cornhuskers were defeated by the Kansas university team earlier this week by the score of 34 to 31. The same Kansas university team has defeated the Wildcat five in two games earlier this season and each game was won by a two point margin.

The two teams are playing about the same brand of basketball this season and much action is promised because of the honors at stake. A win will assist either team toward a Big Six cage championship while a loss will practically eliminate either team from the conference race.

This court battle marks the opening of the conference season on the local court. It is the first of the five conference battles that will be played here and is the second home game of the present season.

Women's Sports

W. A. A. women's athletic association, will hold a spread for recognition of W. A. A. awards, Tuesday night in the women's gymnasium. One of the features of the evening will be a volleyball game between the "K" team and members of the women's physical education department.

ALL BIG-SIX TEAMS TO SEE COURT ACTION

Second Lap of Conference Basketball Race Will Be This Week End.

This week's basketball activities will have as a feature, the game between Kansas and Kansas State at Lawrence tonight. Iowa State is scheduled to meet Oklahoma at Norman, Saturday night, with Nebraska booked to battle Missouri at Columbia the same night.

At present, Missouri and Oklahoma lead the conference. A defeat would send either team into second place. A victory for Nebraska would send the Huskers into a tie for first place, while a win for Iowa State would enable them to move up a notch in the standings.

Last season the Wildcats split games with Kansas, losing the first 37 to 40, and winning the second 29 to 26. Iowa State won from Oklahoma 35 to 21, only to lose to the Sooners 25 to 26, later in the season, Missouri lost to Nebraska 32 to 33 early in the season, but gained revenge with a 42 to 20 victory in the second game.

W. A. Fox, Junction City, is at his home because of the illness of his father, William Fox.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HOST TO FOOTBALL SQUAD

Varied Program and Banquet Given College and High School Gridsters.

The gridiron athletes of Kansas State college and Manhattan high school were guests of the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce at its thirteenth annual football banquet held in the Community house last night.

The Chamber of Commerce arranged an entertaining program following the banquet, with M. F. "Mike" Ahearn, athletic director at Kansas State, as toastmaster. Speeches were given by coaches from the college and high school and the captains of the college and high school football teams. Clarence H. Little, coach at the high school, talked on "Things That Have Helped." This was followed by songs by Edwin Sayre, a member of the college music faculty. "The Beginning" was the theme of the toast of Carroll Nelson, captain of the high school gridsters, Carl "Swede" Anderson, freshman football coach, had as his subject "Wild Kittens of '31." Ward Haylett, Kansas State track mentor, used as his theme "Fighting for the Finish." Henry Cronkite, All-American captain of the Purple Horde, who has completed his last year of college football, gave a talk suitably entitled "The End."

The main speech of the evening was given by A. N. "Bo" McCallin, head football coach at Kansas State for the past four years. "Bo" spoke on the "Reactions of a Football Coach."

The new officers of the Chamber of Commerce were installed at the banquet. The Chamber of Commerce had as its guests the Kansas State football squad, the freshman numeral men, the two-mile team lettermen, the high school coaching staff, the high school football squad, and the high school all-conference first and second teams.

Approximately 365 attended the banquet.

K. U. BEATS NEBRASKA

Lincoln, Neb. (Special) — After having trailed Nebraska throughout the entire first half, Kansas university staged a comeback in a Big Six conference game played here last Monday night, to win the affair by a score of 34 to 31. Nebraska led at the half by the score of 17 to 11. The Jayhawkers at one time during the second period held a 12 point lead but this was soon cut to the final three point margin.

The defeat shoved Nebraska out of first place and Kansas jumped into a tie with them for second place.

FRATERNITY TAX HEARING TO BE HELD HERE SOON

EVIDENCE WILL BE PRESENTED IN LAWRENCE JANUARY 27.

WITNESSES IN EACH HOUSE

Queries Have Been Sent to All Organizations—C. E. Vance Will Hear The Case.

Evidence on the fraternity tax case will be heard in Manhattan before C. E. Vance, Garden City, appointed by the supreme court, probably sometime within a month, according to Clammer and Evans, attorneys for the Kansas State college Greek organizations.

The first hearing has been tentatively set for January 27 at Lawrence. The case may be brought up the next day or two after at Topeka in the interests of Washburn college, or it may proceed directly from Lawrence to Manhattan.

Questionnaires Sent Out

Three persons, one not an active member, have been appointed as witnesses from each organized house. A questionnaire was sent to the witnesses by A. R. Jones, chairman of the committee on fraternity taxation, so that they could familiarize themselves on by-laws, financial conditions, and budget plans of their organization and with the rules and regulations as promulgated by the college authorities.

Several queries were concerned with the rules of study periods and grade requirements. There were four questions about employees of the organization, what they are paid, how long they work, their duties, and the number employed. Eight questions concerned housing capacity.

Ask Many Questions

Some of the questions were "Is your fraternity organized for financial profit? How was the money raised with which to finance the purchase and construction of your chapter house and the furnishings thereof? What is the total mortgage indebtedness on your property at this time?"

The general theme of the case is that fraternities and sororities are adjuncts to the college and are therefore educational institutions. The attorneys are attempting to prove that organized houses are non-profit organizations similar to dormitories and therefore should not be taxed. The members of the committees from each house have not been definitely announced yet.

COSTUMES ELABORATE FOR "BERKELEY SQUARE"

Next Manhattan Theatre Production Written By An American—Berkeley Pronounced "Barclay."

"The costumes for 'Berkeley Square' will probably be more elaborate than those for any of the previous Manhattan Theatre plays," H. Miles Heberer said last night. "They will be ordered from some large costume company, with the women's costumes designed especially for the Manhattan Theatre by Madame de Maintenon."

"Berkeley Square" was one of the most outstanding plays of the 1929-30 season. The play has just this winter been released for amateur production, and the Manhattan Theatre is among the first of the little theaters in the States to stage it, according to Heberer.

The play is so unusual that American producers were afraid to attempt its production when, early in 1925, John Balderston, an American author, showed them the script. The first English manager to see it, however, accepted it within 24 hours after it was offered to him. The first production consequently took place at the St. Martin's theatre under the management of Alec Rea, thus giving rise to the current opinion that "Berkeley Square" is an English play.

Mispronunciation of the title of Balderston's play is common. "Berkeley" is correctly pronounced as though it were spelled "Barclay."

TO NAME MASTER HOMEMAKERS IN FARM PROGRAM

NOMINEES MUST HAVE SIGNATURES OF FIVE NEIGHBORS; FIFTH CONSECUTIVE YEAR

HOLD CATTLE FITTING SHOW

Event Will Be Feature of Dairy Day, February 10—Prizes Offered by Dairy Club to Student Contestants

A ceremony which has been a part of the Kansas farm and home week for the past five years will take its place on the program of this year's convention when the five master homemakers are formally recognized February 8.

The women must first be nominated by five of their neighbors. A list of 500 questions is then submitted to the women regarding their homemaking record. According to May Miles, district state home demonstration agent and leader of the extension service in this college, these records show a remarkable similarity among master homemakers. These women have promoted their families' health through careful meal planning, have helped in money earning, have canned many quarts of fruit and vegetables annually, and have devoted a good deal of time to community work. The children of more than half of these women have attended college.

As these women are recognized they automatically become members of the Homemakers' Guild. The recognition is sponsored by the Farmer's Wife Magazine in co-operation with the home economics extension of the college.

The dairy cattle fitting and showing contest will be a feature of the event for the sixth consecutive year. It will be held Wednesday, February 10. The contest is for the purpose of training students for fitting and showing animals in the show ring. The contestants will draw individual animals on January 27, and for two weeks they will groom and fit them for the showing.

A list of prizes have been contributed by the Dairy club of the college. C. G. Thompson, manager of the contest, has announced that entry tickets are now on sale at the dairy office and by members of the Dairy club.

Dairy day is the time when the three major dairy associations will hold their meetings. James W. Linn, extension dairyman at Kansas State, reports that the associations will include the Holstein-Friesian association of Kansas, Kansas Guernsey Cattle club, and the Kansas Ayrshire Breeders' association. The Kansas Jersey club will hold its meeting February 9. The meeting of the Kansas Blue Stem Pasture association will hold its third annual meeting February 10.

The general session February 9 will be led by Walter Pleasant, chairman of the state tax commission, on the subject of Kansas taxation problems. Harold Howe, specialist on taxation problems, will talk on taxation.

KANSAS STATE DOWNS HUSKERS IN BIG SIX GAME

COURT SQUAD HAS LITTLE TROUBLE STOPPING CORNHUSKERS.

SKRADSKI HIGH POINT MAN

Coach Charley Corsaut Uses Entire Squad—Conference Standing Boosted By Virtue Of Win.

In a game that was everything but closely contested, the Kansas State team defeated the Nebraska university quintet 32-20 last night in Nichols gymnasium before a full house.

The game was loosely played and each team was liberal in wild shots and careless handling of the ball.

Wildcats Get Early Lead

The scoring started soon after the starting whistle when Boyd was fouled and he converted the shot into a one point lead. Skradski dropped the ball through the basket in short order and raised the score to 3-0. Henrion of Nebraska was fouled on the tip off and made his free throw. But the Wildcats started showering the basket and the Cornhuskers never again endangered the Kansas State lead. The Wildcats held a 17 to 6 lead at the half.

Skradski is High Point Man

Andy Skradski playing center for the Wildcats was high point man of the game. The aggressive center scored 13 of his team's 30 points with five field goals and three free throws. Brockway and Boyd on the Kansas State squad were next in line in scoring with three field goals each for a total of 12 points. The Cornhusker scoring attack was led by Mason who was playing guard. He scored five points with a field goal and three free shots.

The game was played slow on the part of both teams which may be attributed to the large lead piled up by the Corsaut men. Both teams played a rough game and each lost a player in the second half due to personal fouls.

Cochran-Johnson Officials

Dwight Rhem of Topeka who was to referee the contest was taken ill shortly before the start and Chilli Cochran and Gene Johnson acted as officials.

Millers Use Chicago Tactics to Drive Out Ag's Public Enemy

Staging a gas raid in the accepted "civic cleanup" fashion Saturday, George B. Wagner of the bureau of entomology, United States department of agriculture, asphyxiated at least 52 mice which had been residing in the flour mill in the east agricultural building.

This number is only approximation, according to Wagner, who says that the various employees in the building will doubtless continue to find more of the defunct rodents as time makes them more evident.

Wagner fumigated the flour storage compartments of the mill with liquid hydrocyanic acid, and says he thoroughly enjoyed using some tear gas there since so many mice should hardly go unwept.

Upperclassmen in college the first semester this year will enter the gymnasium for registration at the east door on the north side. All other students will enter at the west door on the north side.

KAPPA DELTA WINS INTRAMURAL ARCHERY

Thirty-Five Points Take First Place in Women's Athletic Event—Three Tie for Second Place

Kappa Delta won with 35 points the women's intramural archery contest, according to results compiled recently. There were 24 teams signed up for archery and these were divided into four groups of six teams each. Each group had three meets and the organization scoring the greatest number of points was winner.

A team consisted of two girls, only one of whom could be a physical education major. Each girl shot 12 arrows and a score was kept of her hits.

Results of the highest nine organizations are: Kappa Delta, 35; Kappa Kappa Gamma 30, Alpha Xi Delta 30, Neophytes 30, Tri Delta 25, Van Zile Hall 25, X team 25, Phi Omega Pi 25, and Chi Omega 20.

NEBRASKANS GET CONFUSED

There seems to have been some confusion in the minds of the students at the University of Nebraska concerning a new plan for conducting final examinations which is being instituted there. The new system merely limits the quiz periods to two each day and permits the student three hours in which to complete his test paper. The majority of the students were under the impression that the new plan required them to sit through three hours whether they had finished the exam or not. The misunderstanding caused quite a flare of discussion.

CABINET MEETS TODAY

The cabinet members of Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. will have an open meeting today at 4 o'clock in recreation center. Marie Antrim, Spivey, Ted Skinner, Manhattan, and Harold Kugler, Abilene, will give reports concerning the Student Volunteer conference which they attended at Buffalo on January 4.

STUDENTS HERE MUST WAIT FOR SUNDAY SHOWS

THEATERS WILL NOT OPERATE IN MANHATTAN FOR A WHILE AT LEAST

LAWRENCE HOUSES OPEN

Managers in K. U. Town Found Guilty and Fined; Crowds Pack Theaters There in Disobeyance of Blue Laws

Sunday motion picture shows will not materialize in Manhattan until the present litigation in Lawrence and other Kansas cities are more fully settled, according to the local theater managers. It is expected that definite action will be taken by the courts during the next few weeks, settling the Sunday movie question in Kansas. Until that time Kansas State students will have to wait for Sunday theater entertainment.

Manhattan business men and others interested in Sunday movies in this city have expressed their desire to cooperate with the students in trying to bring about the Sunday entertainment, but more pressure than that of those business men will probably have to be brought to bear. The Welfare board of Manhattan is not believed to be in favor of Sunday movies, and that board has the say so as far as the theaters here are concerned.

Arrange Convenient Schedule

Sunday movies were played in Lawrence last Sunday in spite of the fact that S. E. Schwahn, manager of the Patee theater, was found guilty of violation of the Kansas Sunday labor law. He was found guilty on all three counts charged against him, and was fined $10 on the first count, $10 on the second count, and $25 on the third count. Two other theaters in Lawrence were open on the Sabbath, and like charges were made against them.

In running these shows last Sunday, the managers showed consideration in arranging their schedules so as not to conflict with church services. A matinee was given early in the afternoon and the evening show was opened at 9 o'clock.

Shows Successful Elsewhere

Students at the University of Kansas, Lawrence citizens and residents of nearby communities packed the three theaters for the Sunday performances. The students expressed their satisfaction with the opening of the theaters, saying that otherwise if they cared for amusement it was necessary for them to go outside the state or to nearby towns where the Kansas blue laws are not enforced. However, the county attorney declared himself of the opinion that if a vote were taken, excluding University of Kansas students, opponents of Sunday shows would out-number the proponents.

Successful Sunday operation by Fox theaters in the past several weeks in Wichita an Arkansas City, was the signal for other exhibitors to disregard the law, with or without official sanction.

Local Men To Attend History Association Meeting.

Instructors in the department of history and government will attend the sixth annual meeting of the Kansas History Teachers' association which will be held at University of Wichita, February 6.

The program will include several papers on George Washington, a survey of recent text books, and election of officers for next year. John Rydjord of University of Wichita is president.

FROSH PAN-HEL DANCE SOON

THE COLLEGIAN'S PLATFORM.

1. Name the Campus Drive.
2. Proportional Division Representation in Student Council.
3. More Student Participation in Student Governing Affairs.
4. Varieties Managed by S. G. A. with Proceeds to Go Towards Union Building.
5. Advanced Degrees for Kansas State.

Students might want Sunday shows but Manhattan isn't going to have them for several weeks at least. And those several weeks will mean the beginning of a new semester in Kansas college towns. Prospective students will weigh the various towns along with the colleges when they decide where to continue their education, and Kansas State may come out at the low end of the score. Young people like amusement, and they will go to the places where that amusement may be found.

NO "PARKERS" IN COLLEGIAN.

Upon serious consideration and investigation, the Collegian has decided to make no mention of the so-called "Parkers" in the corridors of Anderson hall between classes. One staff member who found himself unintentionally in the midst of the milling multitude advised that few, if any students, deliberately blocked the main halls for the sake of merely being seen. It is a problem well worth the consideration of the Student Council, for no doubt the situation will become more acute when ten-minute intervals between classes are effected next semester.

SAFETY FIRST SAYS KANSAN

Trust the Jayhawkers to pull a fast one. Even if it isn't a display of superlative intelligence, at least their reasoning is original. Recent petitions which have appeared on the Hill concerning Sunday shows give as the reason for advocating Sunday movies in Lawrence that "We believe that motion pictures on Sunday will make it possible for more K. U. students to remain in Lawrence for entertainment thereby reducing the hazards of traffic accidents on highways."

INTELLIGENT CRIPPLES

From the Penn State Collegian:
Every college has intellectual cripples. They are a perennial race, hobbling cleverly through four years of college on the crutches that a sophisticated world offers to the pseudophilistiate. The New Yorker, or Vanity Fair, or the Nation (we choose at random from a long list) are the props on which these witty souls depend for their gymnastics. And the setting may be any occasion when admirers will gaze at their antics.

It's a question whether all the lines of poetry, all the neat phrases culled by the cripples were memorized at random or not; it's doubtful if all the musical comedies and plays discussed with such casual completeness of knowledge were ever visited by their critics. But it's unhappily true that without their props the intellectual cripples are lame people indeed. Talk about a poem hidden deep in an inside page of one of the cripple's favorite magazines, and he'll falter; ask him what he thinks of it, and he stumbles and falls.

There are, to be true, a few who know all the tricks of the cripples because it's natural with them. It's their life, and they like it, and it must be pretty good or there wouldn't be so many who tried to imitate them. But unfortunately it's hard to distinguish between the intellectually healthy and the cripples. A few faint distinguishing marks alone serve. He (or she) who flicks cigarette ash carelessly and asks "Did you see this . . ." is to be suspected, a dozen such queries, and he is definitely a cripple, hopping around the bush of current literature, or current drama, or current thought in a vain attempt to hide his lameness. The healthy person doesn't need to show how clever he is; he's silent.

This wasn't written to discourage clever thought; rather, to encourage the hopelessly uncultured in those sad moments after the crippled band has passed them by in a wild dash. "Have you seen the latest by . . . ?" "Here, here, a clever bit . . ." "Did you read . . . ?" "No, we didn't," were inclined to say "And neither did you."

SPEAKING OF AMERICAN SPEECH

From the Christian Science Monitor:

The provincialisms of speech peculiar to several large sections of the United States will be laid away among forgotten things when present groups of western students begin to take part in national affairs.

This is the conclusion of a no less august body than the Western Association of Teachers of Speech, which met recently in Pasadena, Calif. The hope is not new, inasmuch as it is generally conceded that the speech of the great American public is far below the level which might reasonably be looked for in a country where such vast opportunities prevail for even the humblest to gain knowledge.

Standardized speech has long been the aim of educators in the United States, but it is a difficult task, to say the least, to separate the New Englander, the southerner and the middle westerner from their so-called favorite bits of dialect. So, in the interests of intellectual progress, the success of this association in isolating a particular group to serve as models of good pronunciation must be viewed with admiration. No doubt this is a definite step forward. People have long been quick to note and put to use what is "good" in manners, but equally slow in recognizing and using what is "good" in speech.

However, there may be those, though recognizing the obvious advantage of a standardized speech, who will regret the passing of many of the delightful speech mannerisms which now prevail—not omitting the "Yankee" twang which some educators deplore.

For in many parts of the United States, dialect almost amounts to a definite folk language. The New Englanders' "a's" that have the sound of "ah" have their own charm, and many an easterner visiting the South would be loath to relinquish the pleasure of standing between the white pillars of a southern colonial doorway and hearing a soft, courteous voice drawl: "Please, suh, won't yo' all jes' step right inside?"

— The Snoopers —

After receiving a congratulatory nod from Referee Chilli Cochran for his entrance to the game, Harry Hasler proceeded to turn the Nebraska basketball tilt last night into a side-splitting circus. He would spit after the fashion of an enraged tom cat when an opponent attempted to throw the ball and bring howls of mirth from an appreciate crowd.

Once the impulsive Hasler shouted for the referee to "wait a minute" while he dashed madly about the court in an effort to locate the player he had been instructed to guard. Even Coach Corsaut cracked a smile behind a discreet hand.

Any logical suggestions pertaining to Saturday night's activities in the Warehouse ballroom will be attentively listened to by Manager Black Wakeham. June Layton is deserting his faithful public that night to dispense tunes in Salina. One young hopeful gurgled that he'd like to see the place plentifully stocked with divans and radios and the lights turned low.

The wise-cracking Doug Cain made impossible any sensation of horror or fear during the picture, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," when, at the most hideous moment of the show he calmly remarked, "I hear he has fits." Nevertheless, we still maintain we can be sufficiently frightened without paying someone to stand our hair on end.

George Venneberg of the Mercury telegraph desk has been wondering about two things for the past year. One of them is what the catcher says to the pitcher when they both saunter together in front of the batter, and the other is where Dave Griffiths, city editor of the Chronicle, goes between halves of basketball games.

About two weeks from today the reinstatement board will be the target at which puns and smart cracks will be hurled no end. It is one group on the hill that, because of its necessary function, literally invites trouble. Those who don't "get the breaks" will have plenty to say.

Swede Lutz was warned to refrain from eating the chicken bones while dining at a nearby chicken farm Sunday night. He was informed that the management wished to put more chicken on the aforementioned bones for use again next Sunday. This too from the brain of the Kittenish Hasler.

An out-of-town visitor was the only one to lose anything in the Tri Delt transfer. Vera Farrell came down from Clay Center for the week end, and during the moving scramble from the Tri Delt train to the Tri Delt palace, her traveling bag was lost. It has been recovered.

Joe Menzie has a new coat.

By a vote of 293 to 116, Barnard college students this week had indicated their disapproval of a proposal that the present method of grading be abandoned in favor of the so-called "passed-failed" system.

The poll was conducted by an undergraduate committee in order to determine the students' attitude toward the grading problem.

Difficulty of determining which students should be awarded scholarship honors by the "Passed-Failed" method was cited as one of the objections to the proposed change.

Many professors change their lectures only a very little from year to year, but they never change their jokes.

The Emory university students voted Norma Shearer as the favorite actress of the student body in a contest conducted at a chapel service. Robert Montgomery was voted the most popular actor.

FROG CLUB MEETING WED.

Evidently this habit of weary students to nap in the library is one which has to be dealt with in institutions other than Kansas State. At Juana college students who are found sleeping in the library are given a sleeping slip. Three slips deprive the student of the use of the library.

PRESENT SILHOUETTE PARTY

Members of Margaret Justin Club Hold Affair in Rec. Center

About 150 girls were present at the silhouette party of the Margaret Justin club in recreation center Tuesday, January 12. Ruth Crawford, Burns, had charge of the arrangements for the party. An attempt was made to carry out the silhouette idea in both decorations and program. The room was decorated with black silhouettes with bright spots of color added by the paper hats which the girls made. Carol Moore, Ashton, gave a special dance entitled the "Silhouette" dance. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games, dancing, and playing bridge.

The girls who assisted Ruth Crawford with arrangements for the party were Hollis Sexon, Goodland; Lois Windiate, Nickerson; Margaret Lynch, Hutchinson; Betty Bongster, Wellington; Elizabeth Crawford, Madison; Frances Bell, Marysville; Eva Townsend, Phillipsburg; Roberta Jack, Russell; and Jennie Schweiter, Wichita.

BARNETT TO MEETING

R. J. Barnett, professor of horticulture, and W. B. Balch, assistant professor of horticulture, will attend the meeting of the Western Nursery Men's association in Kansas City, Mo., January 28.

One of the reasons why college instructors develop "black list" dispositions was amplified in a current history class recently when, after the teacher had carefully explained that an event to be classed as current history must change the course of civilization, one young intellectual ventured the remark that Gandhi had just purchased a bicycle.

C. M. Kopr, '30, is spending a few days at the college. Kopr is now located in the postal service at Okarche, Oklahoma.

DRAWN SHADES Won't Sell Goods

You say you don't draw the shades in your show windows. Well, DO you draw the shades in the biggest show window of them all, in the window that everyone sees, in the window that sells thousands of dollars worth of merchandise overnight? That window is the advertising pages of the Kansas State Collegian.

A window which doesn't wait for prospective buyers to pass by, but goes right into their homes and demands attention. Give your merchandise the sort of display it deserves. The public won't buy what it doesn't know about, no matter how strong the inducements; or how big the bargain. The Collegian show window should be YOUR show window.

OFF THE CAMPUS

A person can't even attempt a humane act toward dumb animals these days without someone interfering—this is the conviction of Bill Keasar.

Young Bill, who plays the drums in June Layton's orchestra, came home from a dance late one cold night and found a half-frozen kitten on his door-step. Having a heart of gold, Bill gathered the creature in his arms and took it inside, where he put it in bed with one of the brothers, who immediately awakened and evidenced his displeasure at Bill in no uncertain terms. It's a cruel world.

One of the boys-about-school received a violent shock recently as he drove up in front of a storybook house to fulfill a library date. He sounded his horn, as per instructions (the girl having been restricted from dating), and settled down to wait. Soon a figure emerged from the house and came out to the waiting automobile. Surprise and consternation abounded as the boy soon found he was driving off with the colored cook employed at the house, and the cook discovered she was riding with a college youngster instead of the driver of the taxi she had called.

Disgust took the place of content in the set-up of L. W. Streets, Altoona, freshman in architecture, as he made numerous fruitless attempts to finish a sketch. He was adding the trees and the usual shrubbery that occasionally sells the building to the customer of the architect. At last he placed the piece on an easel, stood back in contemplation and caustically quoted, "poems are made by fools like me, but only God can make a tree."

Matters of money exchange sometimes become complicated with college students, at least at the end of the month when the allowance is exhausted. This was the case in the Kampus Side Cafe recently when one student purchased a "two-bit" meal and after fumbling through all 13 pockets, produced three nickels, eight pennies and a two-cent stamp.

Ray McMillin can't decide whether he played the part of the gentleman or the fool at the Pi Phi dinner for the football lettermen the other night. One of the lovely young things glancing at the balloons around the room, said she would so like to have one. And the young man from Texas started for the balloon. Without moving, he reached for a large red one, misjudged his distance and went sprawling on the floor near the feet of the housemother.

LEND CARS FOR TESTS.
 Big business again takes a real interest in college activities. A Plymouth automobile has been loaned to the Ohio State university chapter of the Society of Automotive Engineers by the Chrysler Corporation of America to complete vibration tests. These tests are being given under the auspices of the departments of mechanical and industrial engineering.

And then, they even teach these hard-boiled "medics" to be sympathetic. Medical students at Tulane university are required to swallow a rubber stomach tube so that they may appreciate the feelings of future patients when the stomach pump is used on them.

At The Theatres

AT THE WAREHAM
 "Around the World in 80 Minutes"
 Douglas Fairbanks (the elder) presents his glorified travel picture. The scenes shift from Honolulu where Doug surfs-rides with Duke Kaukamosa... he hunts leopards in India... looks at the Taj Mahal while the orchestra softly plays "My Little Gray Home in the West"... playing golf with Japanese happens at Yokohama... all with a running fire of talk by Doug, and some atrocious puns, and even Mickey Mouse does a Gaiety dance. If you like travel pictures you probably will like it.—J. B.

AT THE DICKINSON
 "Manhattan Parade"
 Winnie Lightner plays a more subdued part as the wife who saves the business when the husband pleasures to Europe with a pretty stenographer. A far-fetched and rather fatiguing effort at comedy, done in the grand manner with technical skill. An all-star comedy cast that work hard to make the show.—J. B.

AT THE VARSITY
 "Bright Lights"
 The alluring Dorothy Mackall achieves another success in this musical revue of New York stage life. She attains great heights as a Broadway "hooper" a role in which she is suitably cast.
 Following a murder in her dressing room, Miss Mackall discovers the man she loves, and the show moves happily on.
 It's a fast moving talkie with many high lights. Frank Pay-ably takes over the male lead. The production is in technicolor. Good show.—D. L.

TO SCHOOL YELL LEADERS

Iowa State Offers a Novel Course for Underclassmen
 Something new in the way of classes has been inaugurated at Oregon State. Classes in yell leading will be held for the first time this year. All underclassmen are eligible. No previous experience is necessary. It is a complete course in which all men will be taught the fundamentals of yell leading, and the class will advance together.
 The candidates will have opportunities for practice in the varsity games. The student body will be given a chance to see them perform at the coming basketball, track, and baseball contests. The six best men will be placed on the spring election ballot, and the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes will be chosen as the present yell leader's assistants.

Girls vote for PIPES (for men!)

ASK any girl you know to name her favorite smoke—for men! Ten to one she'll say a pipe!
 She's discovered—trust her bright little eyes—that it's the BIG men, on the campus and off, who welcome the mental stimulation and relaxation they get from this real man's smoke.
 And if she's very wise in the ways of smokers, she'll go one better than that. She'll tell you the men who know, smoke Edgeworth!

No, two ways about it, you do get a doubly satisfying smoke when you fill up your pipe with this famous old blend. It's a happy combination of choice "burleys"—cut long to give you a cool, slow-burning smoke. And its mellow flavor and rich aromahavemade Edgeworth the favorite pipe tobacco on 42 out of 50 campuses.

Help yourself to a pipeful next time someone pulls Edgeworth out of his pocket. Pick up the familiar blue tin yourself at any good tobacco stand. Or for a special free sample packet write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

MATMEN DOWN CYCLONES IN A BIG SIX MATCH

WILDCAT WRESTLING SQUAD WINS MEET FROM IOWA STATE HERE SATURDAY

BURBANK THROWS CHAMP

Coaches Satisfied With Showing—Next Meet With Oklahoma University at Norman
February 22.

Winning four matches out of seven, Kansas State wrestlers defeated Iowa State 16 to 13 in their first conference meet of the season here last Saturday night.

The Wildcats won falls in the 126 and 155-pound classes, and decisions in the 135 and 145-pound divisions.

Lillie Throws Hinkson.

Iowa State jumped into the lead by winning the first match on the program. Lillie threw Newton Hinkson, who was wrestling in his first conference contest, with a crotch hold and half nelson.

Kansas State retaliated when Wayne Burbank pinned Williams. Big Six champion in the 126-pound class, with a body chancery, after a nine minutes and 16 seconds of wrestling. This proved to be one of the best matches of the evening. Both wrestlers showed exceptional ability with Burbank finally coming through with a victory.

Tempero Wins on Time.

Following close on the heels of this victory was another one by Floyd "Whitey" Tempero over Erickson with a time advantage of five minutes and 37 seconds.

Captain Billy Doyle, Big Six and national champion in the 145-pound division, won another decision over Thomas, whom he defeated in Big Six and national championship races last year.

June Roberts completed the quartet of K-Aggle wins by pinning Frevert with the key lock in three and a half minutes.

Wildcats Title Contenders.

Iowa State won the last two matches on the program. Martin won a decision over F. M. Bozarth in the 165-pound class. Hess, runner-up in the heavyweight division last year, threw Arthur Thiele in six minutes and 49 seconds after the Wildcat grappler had given him a stiff battle.

This Kansas State victory over Iowa State makes the Wildcats an outstanding favorite to win the conference wrestling title for the second consecutive time. Oklahoma university may prove to be a difficult hurdle as they swamped the University of Kansas 24 to 3 last week.

WHY IS CRONKITE OUT?

Dr. C. M. Siever, M. F. Ahearn, and
the Collegian Sports Editor
Tell You Why

Many stories from many different sources are circulating about the campus as to the reason why Henry Cronkite, the versatile Kansas State athlete, was permitted to use his injured foot before it was entirely well.

Henry Cronkite, two-letter man and prospective center on this year's Kansas State basketball team is at the present time suspended from basketball activities because of an injured bone which was broken in a charity football game at Wichita December 5, 1931. Cronkite returned to college soon after the injury, but had to use crutches several weeks and when he returned from his home where he spent most of the holidays, he had removed the cast and started basketball practice. He went through several practice sessions but swelling in his leg after exercise brought about an investigation by Dr. C. M. Siever and Director of Athletics M. F. Ahearn.

Rumor has it that Cronkite disobeyed doctor's orders and regained the use of his foot before he was permitted by his doctor. To a certain extent, this is true because Cronkite was advised to keep off of the foot and not to remove the plaster cast until after the recent holiday season, but instead, Cronkite removed the cast approximately ten days before the date set by Doctor Siever. Cronkite consulted a doctor in Augusta, and this doctor said the foot was ready for use and removed the cast.

Doctor Siever, realizing the seriousness of the injury placed the limb in a cast and asked that it remain there for the required time, but it was removed and the weight was put on the foot before he gave permission. Siever has continued to give medical attention since the break has not healed as speedily as Cronkite had expected. Doctor Siever and Ahearn aid yesterday that it was doubtful if Cronkite will play on the team this season. Siever will not give his permission until the injury is recovered and Ahearn will not allow the basketball star to play until Siever grants him permission.

The statements reported last week relating to the fact that Cronkite's ankle would have to be put in another cast and the bone rebroken are unfounded. This is not the case, according to Doctor Siever. Instead, Siever asked Cronkite to use crutches or even a cane until the leg was stronger. Siever made this request because Cronkite's leg swelled whenever he walked on it or practiced basketball. Cronkite did not follow these instructions.

Ahearn said yesterday that he realized Cronkite's attitude toward the affair and also felt the need that the basketball team had for the veteran center. But regardless of how Cronkite felt about returning to the court, Ahearn says he will refuse to grant him this privilege until the college physician says he is able to play ball. It isn't the present, but the future complications that may develop that stand behind the decisions set about by Doctor Siever and Director Ahearn. After an investigation had been made and additional X-rays taken last Wednesday, Siever asked Cronkite to let the foot rest and advised him to use a cane or crutches for an additional few days. But Cronkite was seen at a dance Saturday night, and only yesterday afternoon, it is reported, was seen attempting a few shots with a basketball in the gymnasium.

JAYHAWKS BEAT WILDCATS

Skradski High Point Man as Court-sters Lose Second Conference Tilt.

The Kansas State basketball team dropped their second consecutive conference game Friday night, losing to Kansas university 27 to 26. The game was close throughout with neither team having more than a six point lead at any time. A field goal and free throw by O'Leary, Kansas forward, late in the game was the final deciding factor.

Kansas university scored first in the game but the Wildcats took an early lead and soon after the start, led 10-4. The Jayhawkers overtook this lead late in the half and the period ended with the university ahead, 13 to 10. Kansas held the lead throughout the second half but never enjoyed a comfortable margin.

The game was exceptionally fast with Referee Quigley making a desperate struggle to keep up with the play. Besides being fast, the game was also marred by unavoidable roughness. Johnson, star center on the Jayhawk squad was removed soon after the start of the second half because of fouls. Andy Skradski was high point man on the Wildcat squad with six field goals and one free throw. O'Leary of the Jayhawkers was also able to score 13 points but they were from four field goals and five free throws.

SOONERS BEAT CYCLONES

Oklahoma in First Place Tie After Close Contest

Norman, Okla. (Special)—Rallying in the last half of Saturday night's game, Oklahoma overcame Iowa's early lead and defeated the Cyclones 37-32. The score at half time was 21-18, Iowa State.

Bec, Oklahoma, led the scoring with 14 points by virtue of six field goals and two free tosses. Helman, Cyclone pivot man, was high scorer for the losers with nine points. Captain Roadcap, Iowa's diminutive scoring ace, was held scoreless during the last half after making five points in the opening session.

TIGERS DOWN CORNHUSKERS

Missouri Keeps Unbeaten Standing in Conference.

Columbia, Mo. (Special)—By defeating the Nebraska Cornhuskers 30-18 Saturday night, Missouri maintained its perfect record in the Big Six race.

Johnny Cooper, Tigers' sophomore star, won individual scoring honors with six field baskets. Neither team was able to convert its free throws into points.

Captain Collings, of Missouri, injured his ankle early in the game and was forced to retire in favor of Stuber, who performed well.

WORK ON FIELDS PROGRESSES

Work is still progressing on the football practice fields west of Calvin hall and north of the college tennis courts. The fields are being graded and with drainage facilities in order to be of more use in spring football practice. Spring practice is carried on there, as is fall practice in rainy weather.

The Manhattan Chamber of Commerce is furnishing labor for the unemployed of the city by means of this work, and the college is furnishing the materials.

KLOEFFLER TO TEACH

Professor R. G. Kloeffler, head of the electrical engineering department at the college has been invited to join the teaching staff of Massachusetts Institute of Technology for the summer session of 1932. Mr. Kloeffler will handle the work on the theory of direct-current machines.

Kloeffler received his master's degree from that college in 1930.

Elise Lambertson and Harriet Schrack, Topeka, were guests at the Alpha Delta Pi house Friday.

WHITE SHIRTS CHAMPIONS INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

Independent Aggregation Defeats Betas 3 to 2 Friday Night in Hard-Fought Game.

In one of the most unusual basketball games ever played on the Kansas State basketball court, the White Shirts, an independent organization, last Friday night defeated the Beta Theta Pi fraternity by the amazingly low score of 3 to 2 to win the Kansas State college basketball intramurals.

Pre-game dope favored the Betas but a fighting White Shirt five took the floor and held the strong Beta squad scoreless for three ten minute quarters.

Competition Strong.

The Beta fraternity and White Shirts teams are the two victorious in the intramural tournament which has been going on since the first of December. More than 30 organizations entered quintets in the event but all except these two fell. The competition was exceptionally strong this year and many games ended in a tie which had to be played off. The Betas and White Shirts were both undefeated in tournament play.

The game Friday night saw two teams in action that were not unorganized teams as the score might indicate but instead, are made up of freshmen stars and other men who are ineligible for competition on the varsity basketball squad.

The game started with each team holding the other in the center of the court when the ball was recovered and the first quarter saw only few shots being attempted. It was late in the second quarter when a White Shirt forward was able to sink a field goal which gave the independents the only points made in the first half.

The first, second, and third quarters were marked by fast and hard play with neither team being able to make a tally on the scoreboard. Several shots were attempted but none were successful.

Betas Score Once.

The final quarter started with the White Shirts holding the slight margin of the 2 to 0 lead. Soon after this period had started, Grove, six foot five inch center of the White Shirts registered a free throw. This was too much for the bewildered Beta squad so they opened a scoring attack which netted them a total of two points when Hutchinson sank the Betas lone marker from the center of the court.

Only one of the seven charity shots resulting from personal fouls was recorded as a counter. This poor percentage of free throws was no doubt due to the tension resulting from the keen competition.

Sport quibs

(By Edith Dobson)
Crazy ball is being played on the hill these days. Naismith called a similar game basketball, but Kansas State fans are wondering what to call it. However, the Wildcats called it a victory last night so why worry about a name.

The starting lineup didn't look so bad out there last night. Auker plays a mighty sweet game, while Boyd and Skradski do their best, and that's something, with this ball tossing. Skradski repeated his performance at K. U. last week, by mounting up more points than any other man on the team.

Something's wrong with the way these Wildcats foul, though. Nebraska made 12 points last night by free throws. Too many, too many. However, as long as the Corsautmen can keep the opposition from getting these baskets that come at two points per, the local fans will be happy.

Boswell, the blond broken-nosed boy from N. U. is said to be a brother of the famous Boswell sisters. They can sing, he can play ball. Maybe the male member of the famous family learned to throw things when his sisters were practicing the scale.

Hi Henry Cronkite's presence is missed on the court. Cronkite is still nursing a broken bone in his foot.

Koster, Nebraska's star, went out of the game last night with a grin on his face despite the fact he was removed on account of fouls. He's a good ball player, and a game one.

Coach Patterson's men have a big chance of winning the Big Six title again this year by virtue of their victory over the Iowa State matmen Saturday. Some of the Wildcat grapplers know their holds and practice them.

Chili Cochrane, pinch hitter for referees, claims too much potato soup for dinner isn't the best thing in the world for a man to eat before having to run all over a court for an hour or so.

The doped champion Beta five went down to defeat at the hands of the White Shirts, independents, Friday night, and thereby lost the

Smarter Tones in Men's Overcoats

Ullsters Shorter and Fitted Coats Longer With Increase in Velvet Collar Garments for Outdoors and Business.

CHECK up on the season's football crowds—north, south, east and west—show a definite trend toward shorter ullsters this winter for men's wear. Although the drift was observed in all groups it was most pronounced among college men.

The prevailing lengths were fifty-two and fifty inches last season, this season, they are fifty and forty-eight. Many of the fifty inch garments have an all-around belt and the forty-eight, a half-belt.

Fitted and semi-fitted overcoats are reported as longer. The closer bodied coats said to be most popular are from forty-eight to forty-nine inches in length. A great many overcoats of soft, fleecy material were observed and not alone in ullster or semi-ullster type. Many of the fine, fleecy coats were semi-fitted, with high square shoulders and half-belts.

In conformity with the prevailing color trend in suitings, overcoat colors run mostly to the darker shades, except in the light, fleecy garments. Brown ullsters and semi-fitted overcoats have been exceedingly popular and many grays are seen. Even in the fleecy materials, the colors are often a silver sheen on blue or other dark background. Solid blue, in rich dark shades, continues its usual popularity.

A definite trend towards a fitted coat with a velvet collar was observed in the football crowds, especially among college men. These were in dark shades and seemed to be especially the vogue also among young business men but a few years out of college. Worn with a Homburg hat, starched, white collar and tie of colorful pattern to set off the dark suit and overcoat, this garment contributes materially to a smart ensemble for outdoors and business.

intramural title. The score, 3-2, ended a game which was one of the most unusual ever played on the court here. The White Shirts played an excellent defensive game but like the Betas failed to score when in their own territory. The shots were wide and ragged. The independents, most of them first year men, worked well together, many of them having been team mates during their high school days in Manhattan high.

START NEW EXPERIMENT

To Determine How Much Alfalfa
Meal Can Be Used

A new hog-feeding experiment will be started by the experiment station here Thursday in an effort to determine how much alfalfa meal can be successfully used in a protein ration as a substitute for tankage and other more expensive feeds.

Seven lots of ten hogs each will be used in the experiment, according to C. E. Connell. One ration will contain alfalfa leaf meal, the first time that this meal has ever been tried out in this way.
